

THE SOUTHERN MISSIONARY COLLEGE LIBRARY

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, October 1, 1954

Number 1

Leaders Are Needed McKinney Tells Group

SA President Speaks in Chapel

The student body is the center of tomorrow—the president of the conference, the director of an institution, the superintendent of the health school, and the manager of a factory," pronounced James Ray McKinney in his keynote address at the first meeting of the SMC Student Association on Friday, September 27, during the chapel hour.

All student leaders are seated on the platform as well as the entire student body. The president says that the program and motto must be willing to be altered. Leaders are expected to only by active participation in all forums, clubs, and classes.

This year the Student Association will be considered "big business," McKinney stated. "It will handle approximately $1,000,000 through the Student Association periodicals (Georgia News, Access, and Southern Means), the clubs, the classes, and the extra term fees."

The president stressed the importance of faculty student cooperation in conducting the affairs of the college. He said as students have more to do at the college, we do not desire the college to run away from us," McKinney said.

The purposes of the Student Association in Southern Missionary College are:

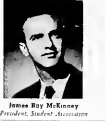

1. To train the student in the arts and ways of group action.
 2. To educate the student in the academic and organizational skills needed in modern society.
 3. To express student opinion.
 4. To participate in administration.
- All this will have real meaning only in the extent that each individual student shoulders his part of the burden in the Student Association, in the work in the clubs and classes, and in the various committees," concluded the president.

Leaders Preside Over Elections

Under the direction of James Ray McKinney, Student Association president, the first four college classes conducted their election of officers for 1954-1955 on September 15-20. Each class is organized by the Student Association and is fully Senate, which body coordinates all class activities as involve two or three classes, which body coordinates all class activities as involve two or three classes with other units.

The classes voted to elect a committee of nominations that met with McKinney. Among the Student Association president presiding over the elections were senators Chester Wootley, Kathryn Woolley, Student Association secretary, deputizing for McKinney, presided over both formal sessions of the Senate class. Faculty sponsors were recommended by the Senate. McKinney by the class at the time of the nominations of the class.

S.M.C. provided $350,000.00 in student fund last year, reported Dr. L. H. Hales, business manager, during his address in his chapel address Friday, September 24.

James Ray McKinney
President, Student Association

Pres. Wright Says "Have a Goal"

President Kenneth A. Wright agreed with Dr. Richard Hammill, who had stated in his convocation address that the student is the most important person at Southern Missionary College, at the first chapel service on September 17, 1954.

"Southern Missionary College, Southern Junior College and the Southern Training School were not established to provide teachers with jobs," President Wright informed the group. He explained that man does not get very far when he is not exerting any energy. He also made it plain that he feels college students should have high goals—goals for grades, for work to be accomplished, and for success in God's work. President Wright said that he could pick out those students who had succeeded through high school by the results of performance on the entrance examinations.

"The chapel period at New Year's day was the president told his listeners, and then referred to Philippians 3:13—Forgetting what is behind and reaching toward what lies ahead."

"Now is the greatest word in the English language," he continued, "for the past is gone, and the future is not yet here. Buildings are not started from the top, but are built from the bottom up, brick by brick." He begged the students to start ahead, to discipline themselves, and to run under that own steam.

President Wright also brought out that a college education is one thing we are willing to pay for and get, for every time a class is missed $16.00 is lost.

"The president handed his address with a few words regarding the habit of complaining about the school." "When you complain about the school, just whom are you talking about?" he asked, and concluded with the poem which appears in the editorial column.

Student Association Organizes Classes

The administrative council of the Student Association, consisting of James Ray McKinney, president, Chester Wootley, secretary, and Norman Truby, treasurer, has taken a firm grip on the reins of an energetic student body this year.

The fact that class elections have already been held is a demonstration that the Student Association, under the leadership of a strong, independent organization, S.M.C. is the only adjacent college where classes are organized, not by the faculty, but by the Student Association, and presided over by students.

Doctor Hammill Conducts First Convocation Service

"This college exists for the students," Dean Richard Hammill stated in his annual College Convocation address, Thursday evening, September 16, 1954. Speaking before the entire student body and the faculty for the first time during the new school year, Dean Hammill pointed out some of the rich opportunities for education for life that Southern Missionary College provides for anyone who wishes to take advantage of such a program.

Dean Hammill told his listeners that this college is conforming to be a community of learners, since a true teacher never ceases to learn; furthermore, the college exists to bring teachers and students together in a favorable environment for learning.

"We cannot educate you here," he acknowledged, "we can only provide the opportunity for learning. The student must take advantage of the program we have to offer."

Speaking especially to the large class of incoming freshmen, Dean Hammill warned that college would be more difficult than high school, and told them, "Before you can become a doctor, preacher or teacher, you must first become a man, and we want to help you. The college is more interested in helping students become well adjusted, with good attitudes and dispositions, than about degrees and honors."

The dean continued his address by saying that the various curricula are established to give the student a balanced intellectual experience, and he pointed out that Southern Missionary College is trying to provide a basic general education course to give every student a broad foundation to carry throughout life. In connection with this Dr. Hammill reminded his audience that in the group of students that followed the Master Teacher there was a judge, and that Satan will surely send an adequate number of his agents to help any unwary youth get with a head start down the wrong path.

Dean Richard Hammill

Dean Hammill closed his talk by making an appeal for gold diggers—diggers in the campus gold mine, the college library.

X-RAY

Don't forget that the chest X-ray is a required part of your physical examination. The mobile X-ray unit of the Hamilton County Health Department will be located in the usual place it occupies on an occasion when you estimate, and the north end at the Admissions on Building. The hours will be as follows:

October 6 — 9:30-12:00 A.M. and 1:00-2:30 P.M.

October 7 — 9:30-12:00 A.M. and 1:00-2:30 P.M.

October 8 — 9:30-11:00 A.M. and 1:00-12:00 P.M.

October 9 — 9:30-11:00 A.M. and 1:00-12:00 P.M.

Elder Carcich Will Conduct Religious Emphasis Week

Elder Theodore Carcich

Kabool, Cup Join Senate

Two new student representatives take their places every other Sunday at 7:30 P.M. in the Senate Building lecture room to discuss, along with other senators, important matters, and to formulate plans and policies for the Student Association. The new senators are Mike Kabool, elected to the office of Chairman of the Student Committee on Religious Activities, and Johnny Culp, who assumes the chairmanship of the Student Committee on Publications.

Mac Kabool is a theology major, and Johnny Culp served as the first editor of the Highlander, the student periodical published by Mount Pisgah Academy. Both appear to be well qualified for their new responsibilities.

The SMC Student Association maintains seven standing student committees, which have representation through their chairman on the Student Senate. They are as follows: The Student Committee on Scholarship, chairman—Dean Davis. The Student Committee on Religious Activities, chairman—Mike Kabool. The Student Committee on Health and Recreation, chairman—Dwain McIntosh. The Student Committee on Labor, chairman—Bela Collins. The Student Committee on Publications, chairman—Johnny Culp. The Student Committee on Programs, chairman—Joan Stewart. The Student Committee on Social Education, chairman—Joan Stewart.

These committees work together with the faculty standing committees of the same names for the best possible cooperation between the faculty and students in school matters.

College Day Dates Set for April

College Day, the date having been advanced due to the Union meeting, which occurs in Miami, April 10 to 15, has been scheduled for April 3 and 4, 1955. On these days the Student Association expects four hundred guests from the academies and high schools in Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, the Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. The arrangements for College Day are prepared and administered by the offices of the Student Association under the direction of the Student Senate and the several standing student committees. Further plans will be announced later in the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

"Christian Vistas" Will Be Topics Of Daily Talks

Elder Theodore Carcich, president of the Washington Conference, will be conducting the Fall Week of Religious Emphasis held the week of October 8 to 17 at Southern Missionary College. His theme for the week will be "Christian Vistas," and his topics follow in this order:

- "The Price Paid"
- "Divine Ceramics"
- "When Life Grows Difficult"
- "Get Right With God"
- "Keep Right With God"
- "Land of Beginning Agony"
- "Unlimited Forgiveness"
- "The Art of Forgiving"
- "Flowers or Weeds"
- "Powers of Satan at Work"
- "Actors in a Drama"
- "Standing Alone"
- "Keep the Light Burning"
- "The Song of Moses and the Lamb"

"It counts it a privilege to be able to attend your college for the coming week of religious emphasis. I trust that our ministry will prove beneficial to all heads of the school," says Elder Carcich.

"The purpose of the week is to help the individual to become better prepared for your college for the coming week in the world, as well as in the world to come," he states.

Elder Carcich is on his way East to attend the Autumn Council in Washington, D.C., and will stop off in Collegedale to conduct the fall week of talks.

Radio Station WSMC Back on Air

Radio station WSMC is back on the air after a year of silence imposed upon it by numerous expansion and technical improvement activities. The potential cause is being strengthened to cover not only the entire campus, but to reach faculty members living on Aprison Pike and the community area. The station is being managed by Dr. W. W. Williams, station manager. Dr. Williams will start Monday, October 27, all chapel programs have been broadcast.

Other members of the station staff are Walter Ward, business manager; Fred Eberhart, technical operations director; and E. J. McMurphy, sponsor.

Recreation Program Planned for School Picnic Oct. 5

Dwain McIntosh, chairman of the Health and Recreation Committee, stated today that at the students cooperate, the annual school picnic, promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

Beginning at 8:30 in the morning, October 5, will track and field events on the recreation area and skating in the gymnasium, the program of activities will last until 3:30 in the afternoon, offering numerous types of contests and recreations, such as basketball, tennis, and volleyball, tennis tournament, and volleyball. The awarding of prizes and trophies will be made that evening, presided by Dr. W. W. Williams. The picnic will be followed by two Walt Disney "True Life Adventure" films.

Total Enrollment - 160

STUDENT ROSTER

States Represented 32
Foreign Countries 21

ALABAMA
Annons, Bob Bellev, Don
Bickette, Ryan
Burham, Sam Nell
Calloway, Oral
Calloway, Vernon
Duth, Howard
Durth, Ted
Dunham, Mary Fay
Gutz, Gwen
Hall, Ivy
Holley, Jessamine
Landon, Larou
Mason, Arthur
Merrimon, Jennie
Miller, George
Mishell, Charles
Moriell, Gladys
Moore, Shelia
Mougin, Charles
Nix, Shook
O'Connor, Joseph
Peel, James
Peterson, Ethel
Smith, Carol
Walden, Kenneth
Walden, Ralph
Ward, Walter

ARIZONA
Van Pelt, Evald

ARKANSAS
Cullis, Bob
Lusk, Dolmar
Tauler, Aubrey
Wagner, Dean
Wilton, Harold York, Lamar Barclay
Zelinski, Vernon
Walt, Dean

CALIFORNIA
Alk, David
Anderson, Virginia
Fordard, Carolyn
Isler, Bob
Lougheed, Phil
Mackie, Herman

FLORIDA
Ayers, Silio
Avant, Carol
Baker, Druval
Bishop, Joe
Bobb, James
Borer, Charlotte
Brooks, Bill
Buchheit, Saltha
Caulds, Yvonne
Chandler, Mary
Chandler, Richard
Cujon, Juliet
Couch, Barbara
Colpeper, Carl
Dames, Claver
Dierhoff, Fred
Duxson, Paula
Durrell, Charles
Ehrhard, Charlotte
Fack, Ruth
Fancy, Tom
Harris, Dorothy
Garrison, Art
Guns, Paul
Gunn, Ernest
Gross, Jesse
Gross, Tom
Gross, Betty Graves, Jeanne
Green, Bob
Harris, David
Harrison, David
Hess, David
Hillingsworth, Carol
Hick, William
Hunt, Jeanette
Jones, Bill
Jones, Katherine
Kibod, Mike
Kemp, Jean
Loren, James
Lusk, Sue
Lumbarger, David
Lowe, Ruby
Lytle, Dayline
Lynn, Joys
Lynn, Kenyon
McCabe, Carol
McCabe, Lawrence
Martin, Mary Ann
Minton, Patricia
Mittle, Delores

Merrin, Larry
Mestre, Lowell
Mistell, R. C.
Moffat, Constance
Mullis, Milene
Moore, Clarie
Mugger, William
Mull, Elizabeth
Noble, Ronald Norris, Darrell
Owens, Frances Palm, James
Phillips, Tom
Roberts, La Sina
Roke, Lester
Roberts, Dyle
Roberts, Robert
Russell, Flosie
Schon, Arvo
Scott, James Shard, Hugh
Shepard, Richard
Smith, Janet
Smith, Lowell
Stahaker, Mary
Strange, Bill
Sunderland, Ava
Thomas, Kerne
Vice, Shirley
Tendall, Monte
Thompson, Joel
Tinker, Norman
Trombley, Clarence
Wheaton, Gerald
Williams, Jean
Williams, Jerry
Wooly, Kathleen Young, Richard

GEORGIA
Adams, Ellen
Allen, Ostra
Anderson, Ga
Barnett, Peggy
Batkman, Jack
Brazwell, Fred
Burtis, Leonard E
Burke, M. Eugene
Carter, Richard Cohen, Arnold
Cofer, Rene
Coff, Martin
Coff, Nancy
Crawford, Mabel
Echels, Elyse
Ehlers, Mame
Fisher, Clara
Fisher, Abigail
Henderson, Paul
James, Joyce
Mawell, Ann
May, Elizabeth
Merrill, Robert
McClord, James
McMillan, Frank
Nash, Beverly
Neff, Don
Nuckels, William
Sherrill, Robert
Stone, James

ILLINOIS
Grossbill, Rose Marie
Kerr, Norma

INDIANA
Bates, Verna
Sigler, Katherine

KANSAS
Beshoff, Vernon
Crawford, Mabel

KENTUCKY
Beltzger, Gene Biggs, Marilyn Botchifford, Joe Brown, Glenda
Howard, Mabel
Keller, Chilton
Lynn, Jim
Madison, Carl
Mayer, Jean
McIntosh, Dwan
Patterson, Ward
Saylor, John
Stevenson, Leonard
Taylor, Ann
Trickland, Carl
Walt, Barbara
Waters, Jimmie
Wilson, Patricia

LOUISIANA
Amodeo, Adolph
Beltzger, Paul Fichauds, Deywood
Homer, Larkin
James, Cab
Lanoue, Robert

Sunder, Arthur
Suter, Betty

MARYLAND
Christians, Ingrid
Conrad, Eleanor
Fairchild, Richard
Goy, Dorees
Hughes, Margaret
Owen, Iris
Piper, Lavonia
Robbins, Marianne
Roberts, Richard

MASSACHUSETTS
Suzuki, James

MICHIGAN
Brown, Margerite
De Voe, Connie Sue
Dunlap, Freda
Kenfield, Richard
Steen, Carl
Vaughn, Constance
Workman, Ralph

MINNESOTA
Bishop, Ralph
LeBar, Robert

MISSISSIPPI
Bishop, Wilbur
Bishop, Rebecca
Davis, Jo Ann
Davis, Thelma
Evans, Barton
Koch, Christian
Stacks, Shirley

MISSOURI
Busnell, Catherine
Lambuth, Joseph
Allen, Ostra
Anderson, Ga
Gastard, Josephine

NEW MEXICO
Gastard, Josephine

NORTH CAROLINA
Adams, Robert
Anderson, Louise
Barnett, Fannie Baskwell, Helen Calkins, Calvin
Buller, Rachel Case, Helen Cranston, Katherine
Clark, Alvin
Culp, Edward Johnson, Charles
Kennedy, Wilma
Kilren, Francis
Klen, Edwin Kurt, Lee
Matthews, Nancy
Miller, N. C.
Mull, Dorothy
Oliver, John
Rudde, Janice Satterwaite, Louise
Stasler, Stanley
Slattery, Bob
Smith, Vernon
Ward, John
Winters, Alton
Wyon, Kenneth

NORTH DAKOTA
Hieb, Russell
Kunz, Wynona

NEW HAMPSHIRE
Thurber, John

NEW YORK
Chapman, David
Keller, Harold Kenny, Phyllis
Swager, Gerald
Taylor, Carol

OHIO
Dever, Paul
Dever, Harold
Haines, Carolyn
Haines, David
Kellise, Dorothy
McClain, Jim Polen, Don
Starr, Donald
Wolcott, Charles
Wuntz, Terde
Wright, Drake
Tate, Marford
Thames, Barbara
Thurber, Dan

OREGON
Cody, Jerry

PENNSYLVANIA
Burdett, Emma Pifer, John Sarver, George

SOUTH CAROLINA
Boughtman, Pansy
Dunnet, Mary Janet
Gibert, Patricia
Hoddy, Ben
Rogers, James
Wolch, Walter
Wolch, Walter

TENNESSEE
Abernathy, Clarence
Alexander, Beth Alexander, James
Allen, James
Allen, Josiah
Anderson, Clytem
Auerbach, James
Buisa, Joyce
Becker, Horace
Berkley, Rebecca Bishop, Ema
Blasch, Tommy Brooks, Ann
Brown, Carl
Brow, Jane
Brown, Julie
Bryant, Mary
Carlson, Ed
Carlson, Mrs Josephine
Carter, Robert
Cobb, William
Cooke, Stewart
Curtis, Mary
Curtis, Reba
Davis, Joe
DeBenedictis, Rudolf Demons, Frank
Dorset, Rieba
Dreyer, Louise
Duke, Jim
Durschke, John
Durschke, Peter
Dorochee, Ann
Edgeman, Marjorie
Epps, Barbara
Fillman, Dolly
Fillman, Donald Ford, Joyce
Fuller, Dorothy Fuller, Fred
Gaylon, Robert
Gibson, Gwan
Gibbert, Jack
Gins, Irene
Hall, David
Harris, Johnny
Hays, Richard
Haupt, Ronald Higdon, Gwan
Huggan, Mrs Ruth
Ingram, Robert
Jensen, Anne
Jensen, Janet
Jensen, Lamo
Jensen, Mary
Kerney, Henaad
Lewis, Betty
Lowe, Preston
Lottel, David
Loren, Bobby
Luttrell, Kenneth
McCall, John
McKinney, James Ray
McNelly, Linda
Masas, Jeannette
Masas, Lester
Munson, Ardonna
Munson, David
Munson, David
Morris, Shirley
Mull, Iris
Owen, Ella Mae
Petroski, Michael Petroski, Joseph
Rabinson, Norman
Severs, Bill
Stevens, Marjorie Stevens, Gerald
Styer, Violet
Styer, Walter
Stone, Ann
Strong, Donald Suidhalt, Wayne
Sutherland, Robert Taylor, Carlin
Tate, Marford
Thames, Barbara
Thurber, Dan

Tullock, Paul
Tullock, Wanda
Urick, Howard
Venezky, Jack
Weir, David
Whetstone, David
Williams, James

TEXAS
Keller, Barbara
Colpeper, Evelyn
Colpeper, Melba
Dolanore, Aylene
Gallagher, Juan
Hamilton, Albert
Hunt, Evangeline
Serrv, Conner
Weber, Donna

VIRGINIA
Davis, Thomas
Giles, Jackie
Harris, Barbara
Manuel, Carroll
Van Meter, Grant

WASHINGTON
Davis, Dean
Law, Robert Miles, Harold

WEST VIRGINIA
Ester, Mary Sue

WISCONSIN
Blanton, Herman
Bottisford, John
Jacobson, Patricia McGulpin, Glen Schank, Joanne

ARGENTINA
Darschenberg, Robert
Biffel, Waldemar

AUSTRIA
Fenz, Emanuel
Fitz, Haas

BAHAMAS
Brow, Betty
Brow, Joyce

CANADA
McCombs, Alvreda

CHINA
Leh, Alice
Leh, David

COSTA RICA
Guzman, Jenny

CUBA
Gonzalez, Rene
Hicks, Roger Ruz, Aida
Sanchez, Manuel

DENMARK
Christiansen, Hugo

EAST AFRICA
Lind, Gerd

ENGLAND
Gulley, Norman
Leak, Mark
Muffind, Lydia
Reed, Peter
Veck, Edward

HONDURAS
Alfaro, Donald Hicks, David Meade

INDIA
Votaw, Heber

INDO CHINA
Tran, Charles Tan

ITALY
Veck, Esther

JORDAN
Abu-El-Ha, Ewaz

PERU
Mendoza, Augusto
Mendoza, Vincante
Montoya, Luiza

PUERTO RICO
Acosta, John
Carbosa, Fernando
Castillo, Carmen
Cruz, Est
Juncos, Juan
Juncos, Nueeni

URUGUAY
Weir, Harold

SOUTH AFRICA
Bulohhorst, William Bulohhorst, Mrs William

Alumni Remember "Southern Accent"

Bernice Baker (1954) — "I have moved to Dalton, Georgia, where I will be teaching the third school. I taught here for two years, three years ago, then moved here to complete my first-year teacher-training program. My first-year teacher-training program. I feel honored to be asked to return to Dalton.

Edward Collins (1951) — "I received my Master of Education degree from the University of Mississippi on August 6th, 1954, soon after which date he became the father of a boy, Donald Edward 'The Colonel' Jossel, at Madison College where he serves in the capacity of librarian and secondary math teacher.

Mae Colquhoun (1953) — "This year I will be at Fletcher Academy, Fletcher, North Carolina, as an English teacher for the ninth and tenth grades, and as a typing teacher. For the first month I have been sent to Blanton's Business College in Asheville to gain more experience in the business field. I wish to express my appreciation to Dr. McMurphy for her personal efforts in helping me to prepare for the work of teaching English.

"I hope that this will be a pleasant year for everybody."

Marjorie Davis (1950) — "After working on a construction job in Riverside, California, this summer, I am now ready to start teaching four classes in Bible and two biology here at Denver Junior College.

Cathryn J. Fisher (1953) — "I am working for the Veterans Administration bank here in Lincoln and enjoy my work very much. I am, my husband is attending Union College and will be a junior about the middle of next year. We think of our old SMC quite often and of the good times we used to have there. We like it fine up here, but, in my opinion, there is no place quite like home. Now that we are away from here, we enjoy keeping up with things down here by reading the ACCENT, and are looking forward to returning for a visit some time in the next too distant future."

Obad Graham (1954) — "We are teaching grades 1-10 in the beautiful city of Pensacola, Florida and are enjoying our work. Our address is 1308 East Strong Street. We would like to hear from our old friends."

Camille Hollier (1952) — "Henry (Bottom) makes high school the summer of 1955. He worked with the Louisiana Plumbing and Electric Company part of this last summer. I finished the Louisiana Practical Nurses course and worked four months in surgery. I am teaching at present."

Julia Ryle (1952) — "I have just moved to Lakeland, Florida, where I will be teaching grades 7-10 in our new school here. On our way south we spent a few hours on the Collegiate campus. It was good to be back at SMC, and we look forward to the SOUTHERN ACCENT."

Rebba L. Walden (1953) — "I work as the treasury department of the Southern Publishing Association. Teaching a Sabbath school class, filling the position of church school secretary, and working with the Bible funders, keeps me pretty busy. Besides, my wife, is secretary to the book department manager here. Enclosed is $2 for the SOUTHERN ACCENT. I am glad for the opportunity to subscribe again — I'd hate to miss an issue."

Henry Wilmot (1950) — "He was ordained to the ministry August 1st at the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference camp grounds, and is now pastoring the Bethesda, Ashland City, and Clarksville, Tennessee, churches.

Banks Speaks on World Prayer Day; McMurphy Narrates

"Super-H bomb now in possession of the United States—Fear of war pervading all nations" Such was the theme described by Elder K. C. Banks, chairman of the division of chaplains of Southern Methodist College, as an introduction to the special chapel program held Wednesday, September 22. He urged that the student body offer earnest petitions for peace, as three students—Daniel Lutz, from China; Elder Baderhorst, from South Africa; and James Ray McKinney, from the United States—offered prayer. The Elder Banks pointed out that meditation is being brought into unfavorable light by bias Christians, who feel that praying in their frenzied efforts to help their fellow-men to sit quietly and think things over is shrinking duty. "Meditation is not just sitting with your mind and amid—it means reflective thinking, thinking on what we see. Such activity is needed in these times, he concluded.

The remainder of the program form of a background conducted in meditation, with related slides shown on the saved selections in prose and verse narrated by Elder E. J. McMurphy of the speech department of SMC.

Newcomers Join in Watermelon Feast

As a final step in the orientation program for new students this year, the young men and women of the college met on the night of the 17th of September to receive admission and to advise on the part of the Collegiate club, Elder Horace Becker. Dr. Sulz acted as chairman of the meeting. President Wright led in prayer, and then, under a program in a get-acquainted-with-meetings-hale. The evening's entertainment consisted of a luncheon in the gymnasium in which the new students met all the sophisticated and characterful young men and women of the present generation. But the excitement over the ten post-ten and the activity with which they parted in the watermelon treat afterwards indicated that they were quite normal after all.

Woodshop Starts New Line of Bedroom Furniture

The Collegiate Wood Products has for many years been the largest supplier of work opportunities in the SMC campus, according to general manager, Charles Fleming, Jr.

From the time of its inception, the type of product manufactured has changed with changing market conditions, back in 1928-29 the woodshop first started volume production, at which time most of the output consisted of screen doors. Soon afterwards procedures were changed to accommodate the manufacture of screening boards, step ladders, and folding chairs, about eight years ago the line was changed again—the time to desks and chairs with a few end tables and head boards for beds.

During the past few months the production of the shop once more has undergone a reorganization to keep up with a changing economy. The shop has departed from the low-priced, competitive line of chests and desks to a more stylish and better constructed line of two-piece bedroom furniture. This new line boasts a sturdy case construction, well styled design, and high quality four-foot products. The acceptance of this new line has been very good, adds Mr. Fleming, and the shop management is happy to be turning students into the manufacture of a quality product.

SMC Quartets Active in Various Services

The SMC quartet has added two new members this year, having had Art Butterfield and Johnny Harris in the last graduation exercises. The new members are John Thumber, who sings second tenor, and Jack Vesely, who sings first bass. The two students who remained from last year are Duane Sirey, singing first tenor, and Jim McClintock, singing second bass.

Forre Lutz, Academy, has sent as quartet to SMC this year, starting this year has already participated in various programs, alone, and in combination with the regular SMC quartet. The singers in the quartet are Billy Jones, first tenor, Arthur Garrison, second tenor, Monte Tendall, first bass, and Buddy Hasley, second bass.

Chester DeWitt
Vice President

Ruby Wexley
Secretary

Norman Tubrey
Treasurer

John Auerhahn
Social Education Committee

Bill Collins
Lobby Committee

Johnny Culp
Publications Committee

Don Davis
Self-ship Committee

Darin McIntosh
Health and Recreation Committee

Mike Kozub
Class Officers

Joan Hedgeship
Program Committee

The above units in the new line of bedroom furniture put out by the Collegiate Wood Products are available in the two-tone color of Chestnut and Linen. Ebony and Silver Gray, and New Carolina. This line is retailed by the Southern Mercantile

Bookworms Are Not Required at CME President States

Critics of the medical profession who have been wildly claiming an alleged shortage of doctors and a scarcity of teaching facilities, will find no comfort in the latest annual report on medical education in the United States, so say officials at the College of Medical Evangelists.

CME President W. E. Marpherson points to a report by the American Medical Association that tells a heartening story of continued progress and expansion to produce an ever-increasing supply of well-trained physicians dedicated to the welfare of their patients. Among the highlights:

The number of doctors is at a record low rate of one for every 730 people, a proportion exceeded only by Israel, which has an abnormal number of religious physicians.

The nation's medical schools have record total enrollments and graduation classes, and the largest freshman class.

Ten new four-year medical schools are scheduled to begin operation with in the next five to six years, and three more are under consideration.

The expansion bears out the opinion of many medical education experts that the high problem in the near future may be a shortage of well qualified applicants rather than a shortage of teaching physicians.

Young people will be interested that only 21 per cent of the freshman entering medical school last fall had "A" averages in their pre-medical studies, 69 percent had "B" averages, and 10 percent had "C" averages.

In other words, they don't have to be "genius" bookworms, or Phi Beta Kappas to get into medical school. Most young people who have the character and a sincere desire to serve their fellow men as physicians have an excellent chance of entering medical school.

Don Bethea Directs Officers' Council

The student club, directed by the Club Officers' Council, under the leadership of Don Bethea, president, and Jerry Larsen, vice president, will lead officers soon.

The Club Officers' Council is one of the many branches of the Student Association of SMC, and maintains two representatives in the Student Senate. The clubs which will soon hold elections are these Apollo Guild (Future ministers wives), Gamma Club, Colporteur Club, Crafts Club, Daowaketa Club (Women's Domestic club), Future Nurses Leaders of America, Future Nurses Club, General Science Club, Home Economics Club, International Relations Club, Ministerial Seminars, Modern Languages Club, Music Club, Radio Club, Stamp Club, Teachers of Tomorrow Club, Union Dilett Club (Men's domestic club), Yikes' Club.

Students are invited to join two or three clubs, following the lines of their interests.

Dr. Subire Plans Keene Workshop

Dr. Ambrose L. Subire, resident educational consultant for Southern Missionary College, has recently departed for Keene, Texas, where he will assist in the preparation for the intercollegiate workshop in student activities, commencing this year at Southwestern Junior College.

This workshop delegates from the student associations of AUC, WMC, Madison College, Oakwood College, EMC, Union College, the Canadian colleges, and SMC are expected. Dr. Subire has been commissioned by the General Conference to assist the SWJC student association in the arrangements.

The SMC delegates will be appointed by the Student Senate early in October.

The first intercollegiate workshop in student activities was held on the Collegiate campus in December 1950 on the initiative of the SMC Student Association.

As Seen By Two

By LORRAINE PETER

Welcomed back folks to the campus of SMC. Now, as school is in full swing, most of us know already made new friendships which we will cherish, and we hope to share every-thing in Collegiate is busy. I thought I would interview several of these new contacts so you can get their right at home.

Let me introduce to you two of our neighbors, George and Betty Sauer. This couple, with their three children (Buddy, 7, Barbara, 6, Jimmy, 4) come to us from Rowland, Miss. Meador, where George was engaged with the Air Force for eight of the 11 1/2 years he served with Uncle Sam.

Approximately five years ago George and Betty were captured by the beauty of their independent College. Betty, study as George had never been told he couldn't be a very good Christian, he kept the Sabbath, and had an amazing amount, he had to learn for himself through experience. He came to realize through experience that he was a communicating officer and asked to be transferred from an armed corps to a training post. His Colonel had recognized that George was only "pulling the leg" since he knew that George loved flying.

The result was that George quit flying altogether and worked at the field he had learned before coming to the States.

Now George and Betty have made their home here in Collegiate so that George can get training to be a minister and teach others of his knowledge of the Master.

This column is in hopes that each one of you will be strengthened by the experience of others in waiting for Christ.

If you know of an area pertaining to the married couple, please do not keep it to yourself. Write it down and send it to the library so that we can publish it.

A related student is a college student who finds it necessary to study in chapel to keep up with his more intelligent neighbors. President Wright.

Classes Name Semester Leaders

CLASS ELECTION RESULTS
Freshman Class, President—Gerald Swartz; Vice President—Ronald Hays; Secretary—Phyllis Noyce; Treasurer—Clarence Foster, Sponsor—C. G. Bushell.

Sophomore Class, President—Howard Link; Vice President—Joan Williams, Secretary—Carolyn Haines; Treasurer—Heirun Hanman, Pastor—James Peel, Sponsor—J. H. Kublin, Jr.

Junior Class, President—Paul Kl 800c

Senior Class, President—Gresh Sauer; Vice President—Hazel Greenleaf, Secretary—Ann Maxwell, Treasurer—John Furr, Sponsor—Dr. Richard Hammett.

Gerald Swartz
President Senior Class

Joan Williams
President of Junior Class

Howard Link
President of Sophomore Class

Gresh Sauer
President of Freshman Class

NOTICE TO PRE-MEDICAL STUDENTS. An application for admission who are applying in student to the College of Medicine must be in the class which begins next September. MUST list the Medical College Admissions Test, to be given Monday, November 1, 1954. Applications MUST be completed before October 1, 1954. This class has the advantage of getting your information and application blank of Dr. T. W. Brennan's office.

Subscribe to "The Accent"

Student Association Picnic Provides Recreation

Holiday Welcome; Studies Come Later

The annual school picnic, organized and supervised by the Student Association under the leadership of the Student Committee on Health and Recreation and on Social Education, was held on the Collegedale campus Tuesday, October 12.

The official inauguration consisted of the flag raising ceremony in front of the World Hall at 12:30 A. M. Immediately following came the team contests on the recreation grounds, under the direction of Dean Kinney, and ending with the best team of central reels.

The sports and winners were as follows:

Football	Woodshop
100 yard dash	Dolly Fullman
200 yard dash	Johnny Cole
400 yard dash	Dolly Fullman
800 yard dash	Johnny Cole
1600 yard dash	Clara's Family
3200 yard dash	Johnny Cole
5600 yard dash	Hobby Davis
8000 yard dash	Hans Rena
High Jump	Jackie Anderson
Long Jump	Jackie Anderson
Trials Tournament	singles Paul Allen

"Join a Caravan" for Temperance ATS Sponsor Urges Students

Temperance Caravans will soon be organized on the SMC campus, sponsored by Dr. A. R. M. Lauritzen, faculty member of the ATS, Friday, October 8, in the revealing of the SMC chapter's plans for the coming year.

A caravan will consist of 12 young people who are trained to present a basic, scientific, factual, unemotional program before churches, civic organizations, schools, and open forums throughout the Southern Union, spreading the message of clean living and Southern Missionary College all over the Southland. Dr. Lauritzen stated "Join a Caravan" — he pursued this idea as a two faced, lightning oration that's out for business!"

Furthermore, the ATS this year will be active in many other ways — The Collegedale society is keeping a finger on the pulse of legislation, reported Richard Shover. The chapter has contacted with all the state capitals, and all the other temperance societies in the Southern Union and can thus keep tabs on all developments, favorable or unfavorable toward the liquor traffic in legislation, he continued. The Bryan Bill was defeated in the House by only one vote, so one can see that a continued problem in nearing its solution. A temperance committee has been formed to issue suggestions to the brewers and distillers, suggestions that would ban the liquor group, liquor advertisements from television, and numerous other proposals, Mr. Shepard told the students.

Optimistic-optimist on winner, Miss

A record of 725 x 1935 was given on the SMC campus, October 6, 8, by the mobile X-725 unit operated by the Hamilton County Health department.

Early student was required to take the stuf as a part of his course in physical examination. Community members were urged to participate also.

Immediately following the track events the girls' softball game was won by the team under the captainship of Ann Maxwell over the team of Jeanne Harz. Score—16 to 9.

At 11:00 cross-ds gathered along the sidelines of the football field to witness the winners team play a 19 to 6 victory over the battling outsiders team. The game was marked by clean play and marvelous blocking on both teams.

In the annual outdoor football game, the academy walked away the winner by an unknown, but large margin.

After dinner in the Collegedale park, the outside-football team, aroused after losing in the football game, came to meet out the made in an 8 to 7 close game.

After an hour and a half of stalling on the College gymnasium, two basketball teams came into, and a high score, fast moving game ensued. The final score 40 to 27, ended in the third period. Claves' team failed to be present for the evening program.

Presentation of awards took place in the college tavern at 8:00 P. M., following which the hours held by the "Mighty Bullet," was shown.

Carich Inspires at Week of Prayer

The presence of Elder Theodore Carich on the campus of Southern Missionary College has proved to be an unimagined blessing to students and faculty alike from the moment that he arrived. His Sabbath afternoon lecture entitled "From Catholicism to Christianity" (labeled the "in the interest of the student in him as a man, and subsequent contact with him have demonstrated clearly that his religious zeal, that it is possible for anyone on the campus of Southern Missionary College to walk closely with Jesus.

God has also blessed the college with the presence of Mrs. Janet, an experienced Bible worker who is here especially to help the young women.

Elder R. W. Numbers from Chattanooga is giving a strong spiritual lift to the students in the aidem, and Ted N. Greaves, to the boys and girls in the elementary school.

A shortened class schedule allows time for Elder Carich to speak at chapel each morning before the meeting of the prayer bands. In the evening after the service those having special burdens meet for prayer in the front of the tabernacle.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Chapel each morning before the meeting of the prayer bands. In the evening after the service those having special burdens meet for prayer in the front of the tabernacle.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Southern Missionary College, wishes to thank Elder Carich and his co-workers for their help and to wish them God's richest blessings wherever they may go in the Master's service.

Cabinet Shop Provides New Industry; Offers Additional Work for Students

New Building Will House This Industry

By CHARLES FLEMING, Jr.

The findings of the Lord in mysterious ways are evident in all branches of work—including the establishment of industries on the SMC campus. The construction of a cabinet shop on the SMC campus for the manufacture of chairs and laboratory furniture has come about through what many might call "chance"—we feel it has been provided.

Three years ago when the new science building on our campus was under construction, the matter of tables, desks, and other furniture installation for the laboratories came up for consideration. The men in the science department of the College studied the various styles of equipment produced by the top manufacturers in the line, took the best features of each, combined these features, with some original ideas of their own, and drew up the plans. The cabinets were made and installed by our cabinet shop in the engineering department.

A year later the McCall Preparatory school on Chattanooga embarked on an expansion program in its science department. The professors from this famous school visited various colleges to determine the style of cabinets they desired. They were unanimous in their desire to duplicate our equipment. On the laboratories came up our idea, they inquired if we would make cabinets for them. This we were glad to do. Later we did work for other educational institutions in Chattanooga and vicinity.

When we were ready to order plans for the chapel in our Fine Arts building, we decided to make them in our cabinet shop. This was accomplished at a saving financially and certainly with no sacrifice of quality or design. Since that time we have continued making both science and church furniture for other institutions in Chattanooga and vicinity.

Two weeks ago a friend of the College, learning of our need for additional space in manufacture laboratory and church furniture, sent the College a gift of $10,000 to cover the cost of construction of a new building.

The new building will be located between the present engineering building and the Fine Arts building and the ground is already being prepared for the construction of this new addition.

Elder Edwards Is New Dean of Men

Elder James Edwards, formerly of Shepopton, Louisiana, arrived on the campus recently to take up the duties of the new position.

A graduate of SMC in the Class of 1931, Elder Edwards was ordained to the ministry of the Alabama Conference of the SMC in 1934. He has since spent his ministry camp meeting last summer.

Elder Edwards received his second degree from Broadview Academy in 1937. He has been college life at SMC, studying theology in preparation for the ministry. He had been associate leader of the Industrial Arts Club, a superintendent in the Sabbath school, and has been active in the Lawmaking Union. He has also been a member of his home here, Elder Edwards worked in the woodshop, store, and in the campus department.

1955 Lyceum Series Released by Leader

The Lyceum Series for the year 1954-55 officially opened last Saturday night, with the presentation of Stan Midgley and his interesting lecture, "Keep Goals through Trials."

Students who have been in past years will recognize Mr. Midgley as an old friend of Collegedale, as he has been invited on different occasions by this institution to present some of his films taken in different seasons of the college, providing a splendid opportunity to his audience to get better acquainted with the wonders nature has provided for our enjoyment.

This program, together with some others which will be presented throughout the school year, to the profit of the combined efforts of the committee to provide the best kind of entertainment to our student body.

The overall purpose is to enrich the general cultural background in the college under the care of our student, stated Professor E. J. McMurphy, chairman of the committee in charge of our Lyceum series.

In carrying out this goal several things come into consideration. Whatever the nature of the program may be, the first thing considered is its quality. Every program presented to the students must be an direct testimony with the high standards of denominational schools.

"We are not looking for mere entertainment," said Prof. McMurphy, "it must be considered important, it must be pertinent, but cannot be the only thing. We believe we have an intelligent audience, we realize it is a (Continued on page 4)

Student Clubs Group Presents Program

The Student Association club program is now under way, having been initiated in the chapel assembly, October 29, under the direction of Don Dittie, president of the Club Officers' Council.

The following clubs applied for members: the Secretarial Club, the Home Economics Club, the Camera Club, the Industrial Arts Club, the Radio Club, the Modern Languages Club, and the Gymnasium Club.

Other groups chartered by the Student Association and already in the process of organizing are the Ulliers' (Continued on page 2)

FUTURE EVENTS

October 18: Games, presentation, and educational movies

October 20: Faculty meal; musical October 29: Mid-Semester examination

October 29: Elder Carl Sunden will speak at Friday evening chapel services and evening reports

October 30: Elder V. C. Anderson will speak at the Sabbath school convocation

November 5: Student Association, members Junior Colloquia, Tennessee

November 5: Don Waller B. Clark at Loma Linda will speak at chapel

November 5: B. Elder L. H. Orby will be in charge of the Friday evening chapel service and the Sabbath school service

November 15: Juan Carlos, pastor

(Continued on page 3)

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published bi-weekly except for Christmas and spring vacations during the school year and once during the summer, by Southern Messenger, College, Collegeville, Tennessee. Entered under the "Southern Messenger" as second-class matter June 20, 1930, at the Post Office at Collegeville, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress August 24, 1912. Registered at THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, September 29, 1947. The domestic subscription rate is $2.00 per year, the foreign rate is $2.75 per year.

MEMBER ADVENTIST COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

EDITOR	Vernon Buchanan	REPORTERS	Erin Gibson
ASSOCIATE EDITORS	Johnnie Culp Paul Adair	REVIEWERS	Renee Smith Bernice May
SECRETARIES	Conover McEwen	EDITORS	Leslie Bales Shirley Banks
CONTRIBUTORS	Olivia Allen Claree Fisher Wanda Taylor Lorraine Fink	PHOTOGRAPHERS	John Gibson Paul Allen
ACPA REPRESENTATIVE	John Bondford	BUSINESS MANAGER	Walter Wood
EDITORIAL ADVISOR	Fluores Andrews	BUSINESS ADVISOR	H. B. Londonick

Your Cheapest Commodity . . .

This year the SOUTHERN ACCENT is ten years old! In past years it has been a publication we claimed with pride. Although it is an infant among denominational school journals, the SOUTHERN ACCENT has already taken its place beside its sister publications. This can be traced directly to your loyalty and the loyalty of those who have gone before you. Had you not shown your interest in preceding years by an active and concrete demonstration of loyalty, no staff—however skilled—could have been successful.

This year will be no exception. The staff you have chosen has determined to give to you a journal you will enjoy and look forward to receiving. We wholeheartedly wish to give you a paper you can be proud of.

Your staff, however, will have only a minor part in making this year's volume a success. Each of YOU must shoulder the responsibility for our paper's success or failure by the loyalty shown in the coming subscription campaign. The very life and existence of our SOUTHERN ACCENT depends on the loyal word subscriptions we brought in. We are asking each of you to do all you can—then do some more.

We are promising you a good paper for this tenth year, and in return we are asking for your help in the coming campaign by appealing to your cheapest commodity and your most priceless possession—your loyalty.

A boarding school, with its excellent opportunities for developing friends and ideals, offers a never-ending source for expression and development of loyalty to high standards.

There will be several times during the course of the school year in which every member of the school family will be presented with the opportunity of displaying his loyalty to the school he has chosen. Campaigns are the life blood of school loyalty and morale—In-gathering, the yearbook campaign, and, as important as any, the yearly campaign at the beginning of school for the circulation of the SOUTHERN ACCENT!

Be the Best of Whatever You Are

If you can't be a pine on the top of the hill,
Be a scrub in the valley—but be
The best little scrub by the side of the rill;
Be a bush if you can't be a tree,

If you can't be a hush be a bit of the grass,
And some high way happier make;
If you can't be a muskie then just be a bass—
But the liveliest bass in the lake!

We can't all be captains, we've got to be crew,
There's something for all of us here,
There's big work to do, and there's lesser to do,
And the task you must do is the near.

If you can't be a highway then just be a trail,
If you can't be a state, be a street,
It isn't by size that you win or you fail—
Be the best of whatever you are.

Douglas Mallory

Darawahita Damsels

By ONYX ALLEN

In case anyone is wondering why Carolyn Haines was sleeping in the hallway at 11:30 A.M., she has a very logical excuse for it. She had a 3 o'clock and she was planning on studying in a hall somewhere she didn't know quite yet around studying her lesson.

Paula Dowder and Phyllis Noyes were awakened by a loud crash. True to their fears—there was Barbara Eggs' head on the floor. Surprisingly enough there was a stray cat, his paw in the cage, trying his best to catch the bird. After showing the rat out and setting the cage up they started to scuffle down only to be disturbed again. This time it was Barbara coming in to feed her head and tell them about the culicid little beetle that had just come into her room.

Kathy Jones and Pat Martin are hospitable people, but they allow the louse when it comes to bus construction—rug stuffing and all. During their absence one that assumed it felt good to see their room and stinked out '33 front of their door.

On the 28th of September the Damsels' first year had a hike to the rock quarry, followed by an interesting program, to welcome the new girls.

The school picnic was over and everyone was getting ready to go to the program when this announcement came over the speaker: "Attention! All girls! There are a couple of good looking fellows down here who want dates. Anyone interested please come down now, in a minute we'll have half of the girls in the dorm had come down (only to see what boys would have) for an announcement made by Trina Kelley and Bob Addison are quite ingenious 'old chaps'."

The scenes from Patsy Gilbert and Phyllis Moore's room were loud enough to have everyone on first floor arrive in time to see two of our older girls come abruptly out of the closet. Ann Maxwell and Pat Welch showed a bad case of claustrophobia by so.

Kathryn Woolley, Connie Moffitt and Kay Hiving gave a full hour show Saturday night. Although unexplained and unannounced it was quite well received. I don't believe there will be more such performances.

If Frances Owens and Delores Mathe still believe they had two twin girls the other night, they are wrong. Those that might be of interest to them those phantasms were the real thing—as real as any two girls' stockings. Their faces and attitudes in glowing robes can be

Book Reviews Given To Faculty Group

The Inevitable an Delightful Story, a book by Milton L. Barron, was reviewed by Eldez Levi K. Tobiasen at the Library Study Club on Thursday, October 7, in the library faculty room.

Thirty-five members heard the speaker review the author's scathing analysis of modern American society today, as chief weakness being its neglect of the official values, such as family life, fair play, etc., and its worship of the "unofficial" values, such as success at any cost, the triumph of physical construction, etc. or, in other words, as a solution to human problems, it is society today seems to say "Evel" is unavoidable, therefore we should not waste time combating it.

The propagators of the "unofficial" values are mainly the movies, the TV and radio programs, the comic books, and the examples of the adults, adults in the juvenile's own family circle or in public life.

The author does not seem to think that the church, the school, the good parents and other promoters of the official values can compete successfully with the carriers of the low "unofficial" ideals. The responsibility for delinquency among juveniles can not rest so much on families as on society as a whole, except as the members of the family are members also, of society.

Mr. E. C. Banks reviewed for the group the interesting Story for Our Times by Ann P. Roe, the story of a family with three children of their own who adopted three more, the adjustments that the family made and the intelligent attitude of the mother in integrating the new children to family life is delightfully told by the author.

Mr. Stanley D. Brown and Mrs. Everett T. Warren, librarians, are in charge of the monthly supper club meeting.

Annex a La Mode

By CLARICE FISHER

"Oh I've never been so sore in my life." Every bone in my body aches. "I've never been so embarrassed before." These were only a few of the many re-they were muttering from their throats. "I've never been so sore in my life." Every bone in my body aches. "I've never been so embarrassed before." These were only a few of the many remarks I've heard since the day of the school picnic. I am sure they'll all agree that the fun they had at the picnic would make up for all the ill effects left afterward.

Both Torrie really had as funned the other girls. She dressed up just as though she were going on a trip to each one in her school case to take of one room to tell on good-by. She told us she was going back to Puerto Rico until she could learn to speak English better. Her secret was that when someone asked to pick up her suitcase—it was empty.

Monday day a sign appeared on the post at the head of the stairs, it read, "The Phantoms strike, who knows—y ou may be next." Attached to the sign was a nylon stocking that the breeze swayed to and fro. This set several people to wondering but not for long. The ballroom doors were popping in between these sheets but quickly popped out when they discovered their bed was filled with salts. They weren't the only ones who the Phantoms struck, soon all up and down the hall

Tales of Talge

By WAYNE TAYLOR

Whenever there is a party, there is usually quite a number of excitement. One of these parties was the one that was held at the school after the first of the year. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls.

for than before. There was a party for the new girls and the old girls. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls. It was a party for the new girls and the old girls.

Our washing machine has been gone for a couple of weeks and we are beginning to really miss it. Men of us know very little about washing clothes at the washing machine and seeing Jacobs almost flooded the dormitory with suds during his attempt at hand washing.

Bobby Joe Davis, Bobby Sherrill, Bob Addison, and Paul Tullock were playing popcorn on night after the lights went out. They went out their door to finish it, but were met by a crowd of friends who had come to see them.

On the school picnic, the dormitory football team brought home to Talge Hall by defeating the other teams. It was a different story in the softball game though.

We are happy to see Mike Kabool out of the hospital and back in the dorm again.

"Annex a La Mode" is a common name around here now. Frank Whitman is in charge of our dormitory until our new dorm, Elder James Edwards arrives. We are sure a few weeks and hope he enjoys serving us.

There were mutters from their throats. "I've never been so sore in my life." Every bone in my body aches. "I've never been so embarrassed before." These were only a few of the many re-

Mark Hamel says she had an enjoyable time last week and when sleeping the night in the dorm. We hope if it comes back for visits and gifts.

Lynd Wack Howard didn't have much trouble getting the girls to study during study period. The reason was, of course, as weeks back were all around the corner. We surely say glad they're over with now and we can start studying harder for what's to come and maybe there won't be so much 'last minute cramming' next time.

STUDENT CLUBS

(Continued from page 1)

Club, the Nature Club, the Drama Club, the Lipson Delta Phi, the Future Nurses' Club, and the Teachers of Tomorrow. The Colporters' Club will resume its activities later in the year. The Officers' Council, who participated in the chapel program as Paul Kilgore, Joyce Larson, and Nancy Martin. The Club Officers' Council is composed of four representative officers from each club chosen by the Student Association. The council meets once a month to approve the club's budget, discuss policies governing the club activities at SMC. No club can function and be chartered by the Student Association, the constitution set by laws of the State of Tennessee, which provide for efficient planning and regulations regarding the club's financial holding. The latter regulations are designed to distribute responsibility and to prevent any one member from becoming a spendthrift as many different responsibilities are possible.

"As Thers See Us"

By SHIRLEY STARKS

Have you ever wondered how it would feel to go to another country to school? What would you think of the way the way the people dressed, the way they talked, their manners?

Attending classes with us here at SMC was a student, who has done just that—red Karol Antonella Darsie, of Florence, Italy. She graduated from an Adventist school, Villa Auro, in Florence as a first booker.

She has traveled extensively through Europe, and she attended Newbold College for two semesters to be coming to the United States.

When people come to this country, they receive impressions both bad and good, from which we could profit if we would.

One of Antonetti's problems is the way we pronounce English. "You eat

(Continued on page 3)

"His Woodens to Perform"

By JEANNETTE MAAS

Not many folks are faced with the choice of giving up the results of their entire week for less than the cost of getting his call, but that is exactly the choice that Ken Randolph, now stationer for Calhoun Community College, lately had to make.

Mr. Randolph was for many years a radio stationer at New York City's radio station W. C. F. P. A. work he is now accomplished pianist, and played frequently, even playing for Billy Sunday at one time. Like many folks, he became tired of working for others, and decided that he would like to own and operate his own station. He and his wife finally purchased a broadcasting station in Corona, California, and settled down to make a permanent home in a beautiful locality.

Radio Station K. R. O. G. was the fulfillment of many dreams for the Randolphs, and by hard work and good management it soon began to show results. There was one feature that made a little difference between other radio stations, however, for Ken Randolph gave free time every week to his own programs, and by taking them on the churches in the area, he was able to run every two weeks. The present Sunday Adventist minister, Pastor Clyde Cooper, was 300 miles away but once every two weeks he made the trip to Sozera to put on a program over K. R. O. G.

Among the crowd of events, Pastor Groover found out that Mr. Randolph was a pianist, and asked him to play in his program, which Mr. Randolph did. Soon it was decided that a S. D. A. evangelist, Elman Folkenberg, should lead a series of meetings in Sozera, and Pastor Groover decided that he wanted Mr. Randolph to play the piano. This Mr. Randolph was reluctant to do, since he felt he would be identifying himself as the leader of his own band. Pastor Groover and Evangelist Folkenberg would not like "to be for nothing" and so finally Mr. Randolph gave up to their pleas. Good night after night to an Adventist evangelist, there has been an effect on folks, and the Randolphs were no different. At the close of the series of meetings, Pastor Groover had to leave to enter the waters of baptism, followed by his husband.

The Randolphs were now faced with the problem of what to do about Station K. R. O. G. After 2 years of hard work it was emerging as a paying proposition. Now they had to choose between following God, or running the station, which must be operated seven days a week, and which must carry the advertisements for motivating beauty, dentists, theaters, and other things that do not interest them. The choice was a hard one, but it had to be made, and the Randolphs made it in favor of God's station. This was put off for a while; then began a test of faith no one appeared to buy it. The price was low, and there was no success. Finally the day came when it was either sell, or lock up and leave. The Randolphs decided to sell, and they were with Elman Folkenberg, praying that if the Lord wanted them to stay in the station, he should send someone that week, or they would know that they were just to leave it. Friday afternoon that week, just half an hour before sunset, there came a man who really wanted to buy station K. R. O. G., and the contract was signed then and there. It is not necessary to ask the price, if you think the day of miracles has passed, for they know by personal experience that it has not.

"The Long and Short of It"

By SHANNON

A group of fellows clustered around the steps of the men's dorms. It was a cold day and the program was going enough to suit their fancy, and the majority showed their disgust in an unbecoming tone. "Shifty" Smith, wearing a flannel shirt and slacks, was grinning loudly in an appreciative and naive way. "I've never seen you here before," he said.

"This is the fourth year I've been in this dorm—the fourth year, I mean—and this is the winter mess yet. They talk about efficiency, but what's all they do about it. Here I am, wearing my precious time while they try to get some of those teachers nudged up and over to the library to mess up on our program. I think we'd be better off a whole lot better off, if they let us fix up our own program."

"That's the way I feel about it too," muttered Fred, a lanky blonde whose obstinate bar refused to let down an spiteful layer after layer of grease. "I had a date to play tennis with Margie Dow, you know, that little blonde-eyed beauty. I was just about to go in as chapel about half an hour ago in spite of having all the time about sitting in the winter mess yet."

"I saw Margie going down to the courts a couple of months ago just back."

"She wanted for me outside of chapel for about a half hour and when 'Butch' came along with his respect and that great big grin of his he forgot all about me. It sure gets me down when the school messes me up with my girl friend."

"So you think a fellow has to get out of Texas to get some 'learning,' by the way, that short P. H. stand for anything, Ben Haddock?"

Austin's smile lightened up his face again as he talked to Shifty and Chuck. "But that's all right with me. Half-Pit I can take if you can."

The one so addressed turned to his pals for support, but, seeing they related to him with indifference, he turned and replied "That's O. K. Toes. We're glad you're here. He'll let a lot of whatever you've got to get along here. I live up in room 210. Come on up to see me."

"You'll think the dust devil?" laughed Fred as he dodged one of Shifty's misplaced kicks. "Half Pit has the record on that and this year for 'em. And with that he jumped aside to avoid Shifty's rush."

"P. H. Austin went into the building wondering how anyone could live in such a beautiful valley, a valley which it actually caused, and still be unhappy over anything. He made a mental note. There was missionary work to be done at beautiful SM. (To be continued)

CLUB HIGHLIGHTS

The Parliamentarian club promises to be one of the best, most interesting clubs operated by the Student Assembly. The amount of interest shown by the nucleus that met last Saturday night gives reason to believe that the club will be active and progressive.

Dr. A. L. Suber, sponsor, assumed the chairmanship of the first meeting and briefly outlined what the club intends to accomplish for the student. Each member will soon become his own parliamentarian, he stated. To carry up the procedure a bit, drills will be held regularly whereby arbitrary choice chairman will be acted upon before the club and shot at with motions, etc., until they make a mistake, leaving them to take their seats.

This course should be imperative for students who at some time aspire to be leaders in the school, on the disputation—anywhere.

Lates ALUMNI Letters

1950
K. E. Heston, 21 E. Ingleton St., Arcadia, Florida. "I am still doing pastoral work in Florida. At this time I am in the Arcadia district."

Paul G. Greer is now at 8108 Greenwood Avenue, Telford Park, Maryland.

1951
Arthur R. Coles "This year, while continuing work on my degree, I am an instructor in chemistry at Western State. I was present at the organization of the Kentucky-Tennessee S.M.C. alumni chapter."

F. E. Zell, Narayac School, West Godwardi District, South India. Forest and Mary Abner see the parrots of a holy girl, Kathleen Ann, born in September.

1952
Gerald Hays, Box 86, San Andrew, California. "My heart and I arrived just two weeks ago after a grand trip from Baton Rouge, Louisiana. We like it very much here, and such God's continued blessing we look forward to a successful school year. Mrs. Hays will teach grades 1, 4, and I will teach grades 5 to 8."

1953
William Hays, 1666 Lois Way, Route 2, Greer, California. "Mrs. Hays and I are teaching at the Modesto State Elementary school, Modesto, California. We are enjoying a good school year."

1954
Lola Graton is teaching church school at Boynton Beach, Florida, this winter.

Penetrating further back into the oak formations that shape one's eye defies description in deeper color, especially in such places as "Giant Valley," an isolated place full of grotesque figures and fantastic shapes. Some of the formations have been named "Grassy Gulch," "Parade of the Beelzebubs," and because no one could describe them, the "Wak-oots."

Don't Miss an Issue!

OF THE "SOUTHERN ACCENT"

Simply fill out the handy subscription blank below and send to Circulation Manager, SOUTHERN ACCENT, Collegedale, Tenn.

Please enter my subscription to THE SOUTHERN ACCENT for one year. Enclosed is $2.00.

NAME _____
STREET OR P. O. BOX _____
CITY _____
STATE _____
CREDIT THIS SUBSCRIPTION TO _____

College Choir Names New Officers

The choir recently elected officers are: Chairman, John D. Lott; President, Lynn Van Pelt; Treasurer, Bob Green; Librarian, Pat Martin; and Secretary, Stewart Cook.

John D. Lott

Recitals coming up are a music skill program in Lynn Wood Hall, October 23, and a piano recital by the pupils of Mrs. T. W. Sisco on December 10, 11 and 12.

Dr. A. R. M. Laurance, professor of music. The concertmaster of the Chattanooga Symphony orchestra is the string instrument teacher of S.M.C. Mr. Theodore Marmock directed on the Empire Orchestra and takes the place of Mr. Joseph Pearlman, who has accepted a position with the Atlanta Symphony orchestra.

News Writing Class Learns Editors' Art

By BERN GONZALEZ

The divisions of languages and literature in Southern Community College are working an interesting course in news writing this year. Students registered for this course will receive two hours of lowest division credit.

This seems to be an adequate addition to the program, and the importance of such training for those who may be interested in this kind of work is obvious to those who have helped others along this line.

It is a well-known fact that journalism is an important phase in the dissemination of news. The task that has been given to us as a people is to warn the world of the second coming of Christ. The activities of the church are being reported through the pages of the newspaper, which is read by nearly everyone in the country.

The feeling expressed by members of the church is that the practical already learned so far this year can carry over into the several common occupations of the student. Therefore, of course, need to know how to deal with meeting members of the press, teachers, newsmen, and so on. It is a pleasant newspaper article, since many should be able to put down their findings in experiments so that the paper will print them.

"To develop in our young people the ability to write for newspapers so that our message can be spread, and to acquaint them with the details of the process of editing and printing for the purpose of their class," stated Mrs. Frances Andrews, instructor in news-writing.

The SOUTHERN ACCENT stands behind the class by printing articles which have been turned in for class credit. The editors of the paper offer a fine opportunity to put into practice what they have learned from the textbook.

"AS ITHERS SEE US"

from page 2
all your needs; they are hard in the throat." She says: "People are hard to split apart, too, and to add to her confusion there are many students who split apart. There is too much rushing around, and it's a hard to find the ones that are really natural. Other things that have favorably impressed her are our spirit, our many campus activities, our work, and the fact that we are a "passie in the dining room."

What I like to hear most of all is that, according to her (from page 2) she here is getting friendly than in any other place she has been.

As was writing this article, there came to my mind the words of Robert Burns: "O wad some Power the giftie gie us that we might speak as libart we are!" It's a good idea, don't you think?

Stan Midgley Takes Listeners to Utah

By BERN GABORN

"Keep Trails through Utah" was the first lesson of the school year, presented by Stan Midgley last Saturday afternoon in the college tubnasium auditorium.

The program consisted of two films, the first taken at the festival in Pasadena, California. Each of the films in the festival was completely covered with flowers—orchids, carnations, and many others, all contributing to the blaze of color. But the main-made films were films which were presented with the generous and splendid of the Utah desert shown in Utah.

Starting at Grand Canyon in Arizona, Mr. Midgley traveled by jeep through Monument Valley to Utah, where a hill-circled road he explored an intriguing valley where there are still families of Navajo Indians. It is interesting to know that even today, 90 per cent of the Navajo cannot speak English.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

EDITORS — Bruce Anderson, John Freeman BUREAUX —

English IV Class

Start Opening Them!

By the time this issue reaches you the bad news will be out. If report cards follow the usual pattern, it will be a day of reckoning for many of us, and one of well-earned (we hope) reward for a few. Every year we part off the time when we plan to settle down and make a few good grades. Let's not make the same mistake this year — not next year, or next semester, "Next year" and "next semester," like manawa, never come.

The opportunities for self-advancement here in a Christian school are many and varied, yet we never take advantage of them. It is smart to "get by" with little or no studying? Isn't our object in being here to get an education?

What better time is there for making decisions than now? How about cracking a few books this year! ha

The Task at Hand

We all dream of great deeds and high positions, away from the pettiness and hum drum of ordinary life. Yet access is not occupying a lofty place or doing conspicuous work; it is being the best that is in you. Rattling around in too big a job is worse than filling a small one to overflowing.

Dream, aspire by all means; but do not ruin the life you must lead by dreaming pipe dreams of the one you would like to lead. Make the most of what you have and are. Perhaps your trivial, immediate task is your one sure way of proving your mettle. Do the thing near at hand, and great things will come to your hand to be done.

—Douglas Malloch

1955 Seniors Hear Banks; Present Officers in Chapel

Who met just this morn'ing which Abraham started. Faith, action, and venture are the key words which will take you to the sea of glory. This was the challenge given to the senior class of 1955 by Elder E. C. Banks, chairman, division of religion. Elder Banks pointed up the life of Abraham as an example of faith and a challenge to those living today, as he addressed the class of 1955 during the senior class presentation in chapel, Monday, October 4.

The program was patterned after the college presentation, with a formal march-in and the seniors wearing dark gowns.

John Freeman introduced the officers, who include Don Silver, president; Jeannette Hedley, vice president; June Tompkins, secretary; Charles Shenz, treasurer; Rollan Ross, pastor; and Roger Damon, sergeant-at-arms.

"My Task," sung by Kathryn Mitchell, soprano, reminded the seniors of the responsibilities ahead in preparing for greater service. A duet was sung by Kathy Mitchell and June Tompkins — "Have I Done Enough for Jesus?"

The program closed with the recessional, "War March of the Priests," by Mendelssohn, Joy Lynn at the organ.

ATTENDANCE HONOR ROLL

These people are on the record as having perfect attendance during the first six weeks period of this school year. Congratulations and praise to them and hope they do again and others with them.

Jacqueline Anderson
John Anderson
Don Auler
Dwayne Ballard
Delphene Ballard
Gail Barber
Barbara Bean
Rose Belcher
James Bishop
Jerry Boynton
Sara Bowman
Charles Bucklow
Amy Bushnell
James Cates
Donald Clark
Ann Ruth Ellis
Beverly Full
John Freeman
Robert Gaudner
Donald Hall
Gwen Hall
Verna Henselholz
Ralph Holmboe

New Slate Named For Academy Forum

Roger Damon was elected president of the Academy Forum in chapel on Friday, September 24, 1954. Other officers elected were: Clara Davis, vice president; Selma Wetzer, treasurer; Jeannette Hedley, secretary; Roger Anderson, parliamentarian; and Silver, sergeant-at-arms. These officers will serve the first semester and will provide over all forum meetings. The officers' council meets weekly with Mr. Higgins, the principal, to discuss the various problems that arise in keeping a school running smoothly.

FIRST FORUM MEETING

The first meeting of the Academy Forum was held on Wednesday, September 29, 1954 during chapel period. Roger Damon, president of the Forum, presided over the meeting which was called to solve the problem of unexcused absences. After an hour and twenty minutes of debate, during which the various classes presented their plans for handling the problem, a unanimous vote to adopt the following plan: after the first unexcused absence the student shall receive a letter from the academy secretary with the second absence he shall receive a letter from the principal, after the third absence he will be suspended from school indefinitely. This was followed by the motion to adjourn which was passed unanimously.

Academy Fares Well In Picnic Results

In a fast and furious game on Friday of the school picnic the academy team played against a team of faculty members. After several playings by both teams, as well as some of the other land, the academy team won the game. The final score: 23-10.

The academy is also proud of one of the sophomores, Roger Hamund, who was first in the all school race that same day. Remember, he was running against professional runners!

Don Silver

Jeannette Hedley

Barbara Holland
Juanita Jones
Lionwood Jones
Shirley Jones
Lillian King
June Lewis
Barbara Lorenz
Ruth McClellan
Carolyn McHenry
Betty Reynolds
Mary Rhodes
John Saulborn
Charles Shenz
Donald Silver
Martha Silver
Thomas Smith
Helen Starr
Robert Thompson
Neil Tompkins
Clady Truby
Joe Treat
Edwena Wade
Harold Williams
Joyce Wellman
Aileen Wilson
Myrna Woolley

"Mezzanine Mechanizations"

By David Patrick AND SHARON HENNING

The good old summer time is really over now. It seems as though we had only been home for a short vacation, when it was time for us to come back to Collegiate Academy to start the new year.

What's this I hear about our new academy member asking for a case? Is it all that bad, Ned? We don't think so. We think you're a real swell guy and would make an excellent dean.

Books were flying; beds were stashed in the middle of the floor, and Kenneth was right in the middle of it all. Johnny Beel came out victorious in the tenth round. You're not trying to take advantage of your "big roommate, are you, John?"

Roger Damon, you'll make a wonderful judge some day, thanks to the academy forum and Professor Higgins. Francisco, we are glad you can be with us this year. I hope you learn to speak English better than I could learn to speak Spanish.

It has been asked if there is a new boy living in the dorm. I don't think there is—it just that Glen Clemens likes good company, right, Glen? "Ladly's" get together next year and make it the best we have ever had here at Collegiate.

Academy Choir Chooses Leaders

Officers of the Academy choir chosen by the group on September 23 are: Bobby Joe Davis, president; Jeannette Hedley, vice-president; Martha Silver, secretary and librarian; and Shadell Hilton and John Freeman, stage managers.

The group is at present practicing Christmas music and preparing to harmonize well. Director of the chorus is Mr. Kenneth E. Coulter. The choir meets every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon during the activity period in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel.

LYCEUM SERIES

(Continued from page 1)

college audience, and with this in mind we try to provide entertainment to the "uninitiated."

Included in the lyceum series for this year are noted artists, such as: June Carlson, who has made appearances at Carnegie Hall in New York City, and is considered the most promising piano artist of our day.

"Promisive Africa," lecture and film presented by Mrs. Margaret Baker, wealthy, well-to-do lady who has made several journeys to Africa taking pictures of wild life which she has very successfully presented numerous appearances throughout this country.

Donald Scott Morrison, most interesting interpreter of the classics, adds theater to his performances on the piano, combining the impressionism and interpretation of Beethoven, Bach, and others.

There are other programs which will be presented during the school year besides the lyceum series in which, according to Professor McMurphy, more emphasis will be placed upon local talent, so as to encourage and develop the artistic abilities we have among this group of students.

PRAYER BAND LEADERS

(Continued from page 1)

Biggs, Lily Brown, Evelyn Calpurner, Ardine Dearman, Lydia Milford, Joan Harpold, Jeanne Guffensmith.

Janey Jameson, Carolyn Haines, Beth Alexander, Beverly Nash, Shirley Stokes, Joyce Larsen, Barbara Thames, Evelyn van Pelt, David Hankerson, Jet Tompkins.

Glady Smoot, Frank Shepard, Lester Rahn, Frank McMillan, Johnny Hester, Floyd Greenleaf, Don Davis, Delvon Littell, Jack Johnson, John Bettendorf.

SMC Offers Variety In Curricula Given

Southern Missionary College is offering many new courses and various curricula in its instructional department this year for the first time:

Some of these courses are: new writing, salesmanship, letters, surveys and appreciation of art, advertising, introduction to sociology, and introductory to the master's degree. The director is to add these to offer students to give them the liberal view in their education to offer several new curricula in the school in fields of training that will be of interest to many students.

Prized curriculum has been recently added to give those interested in law, an opportunity to receive training along that line. The student will be required to receive a major in business or history and a minor in English or one of the two that he does not choose for his major. Another pursuing this degree may spend three years at SMC and then be transferred to the Law School at the University of Tennessee. After finishing one year there, he will receive a bachelor's degree.

SMC offers two curricula of major leading to the degree bachelor of arts with a bachelor of arts in major or to the degree, but he must have had a major in education. Bachelor of music education has been recently added and is designed to stress practical music performance by the training of music teachers for schools. This requires 35 hours of professional music course and a much heavier than a BS in music.

The curriculum offering a BS in nursing is planned so that a student will take nine months work at SMC, followed by 22 months' training at the Florida Sanatorium and Hospital in Orlando, Florida, and then complete his work at SMC in two semesters, receiving at that time a BS and an RN.

In planning a program for publishing leaders for the denomination, a curriculum in the publishing ministry was prepared. Young men who wish to prepare themselves for the publishing ministry, either as copywriters, publishing, department secretaries, proofreaders, or as news executives in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination should plan their courses in such a way as to earn a bachelor's degree with a major in business and economics and a minor in religion. The ministry curriculum has been altered from 137 hours to 125, with most of the applied theology being offered at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C.

Ward Becomes Business Manager

Walter Ward, sophomore pre-med student was the election over David Hall for the position of business manager of the SOUTHERN ACCENT.

Walter Ward

The business manager, a member of the Student Senate, has as his responsibilities the preparation of the yearly budget, the receiving of all funds and accurate system of accounting, presentation of monthly financial statements, supervision of circulation, supervision of other officers in management of the paper, working out of plans for financial improvement.

The new business manager has already taken over office and made plans for the forthcoming campaign, and has begun his campaign manager, aided by having been for a time in the hospital.

THE SOUTHERN ACCEPT

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, November 12, 1954

Number 3

Students Take Over Chapel Programs Wednesdays

SA Will Organize Three Out of Four

What are you doing to maintain the experience gained during the Week of Prayer? This was the question raised at the chapel period on October 27, 1954, which was a timely program of general interest, and centered all these present. The program was presented by the Religious Interest Committee, with Mike Kibbel as moderator, in an effort to maintain approval in the minds of the students, those resolutions which had been made during the Week of Prayer, as well as to show what others were doing in order to put into action those decisions that had been made and which would allow them to enter into a new and richer experience.

John Battistoni had the devotions and following this, Lynn Von Pehle sang the song, "Are You Ready for Jesus at the Sign."

Five students were chosen as the speakers, each one was given an opportunity to answer the question which had been formulated at the beginning of the program as to what he was doing of particular interest in order to maintain the experience gained during the Week of Prayer. No two answered alike.

Paul Edgar reminded his audience of the statement made by Elder Catch during his series of meetings which "unity can begin now." "We must not wait 'till we get to heaven to live the right kind of life, but we to live the right kind of life now, right here in Collegedale."

John Sehernd, one of our freshmen students from Watson, stressed the importance of starting the day right with devotions early in the morning before taking up the day's duties.

Don Wilder reminded us of the Golden Rule as he made a suggestion that we do more for our friends and be a more definite help to them as we would like them to do unto us.

A very interesting suggestion came from Pam Mastis another of our freshmen students from Florida. Every time someone would be responsible for bringing a treat from the Bible as well as some thoughts concerning it upon which they will meditate before they pray.

By beholding we become changed, and that is the reason we place our minds on spiritual things, not only in our daily worship but throughout the day, and so plan for worthy occupations and pleasures and by this we become changed.

Store Remodeling Nears Completion

The College Store is undergoing construction and remodeling, which will improve the facilities for storing and for serving the best interests of the community.

A new warehouse that will serve two purposes is being built now, half of which will be for the Collegedale Distribution and the other half for the Southern Mercantile. The building is being constructed by the Collegedale Maintenance Department, under the direction of Mr. George Parham.

While this construction is taking place, the old warehouse is attractively decorated as a showroom for children's toys.

Last in line, was Adrian Detamore, who made some summarizing remarks from the five previous speakers, also urging the audience to accept some of the suggestions given, so that they may keep on the campus the spiritual atmosphere of conviction and security which reigned during the week of prayer.

Sundin Stresses Need For Unity

Elder Carl Sundin, of the General Conference, was on the campus the week end of October 30. He is in charge of the placement of medical workers in the denomination, and is coordinator of the work of ministers, teachers, and medical workers.

Elder Sundin spoke in chapel Friday, at a ministerial seminar that evening, and again for the vespers service. He said that man needs the benefits of the services of the preacher, the teacher, and the doctor, because of his need to develop his spiritual, mental, and physical powers.

The speaker explained the relation that should exist between ministers, teachers, and doctors by pointing out the ministry of Christ in His preaching, teaching, and medical work for the benefit of mankind. Elder Sundin stated that there is no line to be drawn between the minister and the medical work—they are to be as inseparable as the hand is to the body.

FUTURE EVENTS
College Week	November 13
Home, Florida	November 14
Accent Campaign	November 15
Chapel	November 16
Thanksgiving	November 17
Dr. Hemmel	guest speaker at Forest Lake Academy, November 18 and 19
President Wright	guest speaker at Louisville, Kentucky November 20

Campaign for "Accent" Subs Continues; 10,000 Letters Are Circulating

College Psychological Service Is Legally Authorized

By JEANETTE MAAS

In the medical profession it is always the qualifications of the physician that receive first consideration by examining authorities. This is also true in the psychological field. The psychologist must meet the most exacting requirements. Dr. Steen's academic preparation included the B.A. degree from Emory's Missionary College, the M.S. degree from Northwestern University, and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago.

In his specialized field of Clinical Psychology, he has taken highly technical training under such international authorities as Dr. Bruno Klopfer at the University of California, and Dr. Margate Hertz at Western Reserve University, as well as Dr. Louis Cohen at Duke University, and others. While most of his applied work has been with college students in this country and in South America, he has also supervised clinical work at the Duke University Medical School and at several hospitals and institutions.

Member of Other Groups

He is a member of the "American Psychological Association," of the "Society for Projective Techniques and Rorschach Institute," and the American Personnel and Guidance Association. He is also a "professional member of the National Vocational Guidance Association," and a member of the "Southern States Psychological Association," and of several other psychological, guidance and mental hygiene groups.

Dr. Steen has served as president of these colleges in America, and as director of the principal Seventh Day Adventist educational institutions in Brazil, Argentina, Peru, and Uruguay. He

Military Setup Spurs Interest

Approximately 4000 letters had been mailed by SMC students by last Monday in the two week old Scriptures ACCENT campaign according to Mike Kibbel, campaign manager.

Organized along military lines, the subscription campaign was divided into three regiments with Bob Ingram, Janey Jenson, and Cecil Abenality as commander of the single men, single women, and married students, respectively. Each regiment has broken down into companies and squads.

During the program, the regimental commanders addressed the student body, encouraging them to participate fully in the campaign. Campaign manager Kibbel swore in the company commanders for the duration of the subscription drive.

The ACCENT Probers band group under the direction of Professor Krogh supplied the musical music for the program. Returned students Sam Cook and David Herndon told how they enjoyed making the ACCENT while in the army and stationed in Hawaii. Mike Pettiford, another returned student, turned in the first subscription of the campaign.

5000 sheets of campaign stationery was distributed in the first few hours of the campaign. A total of 5000 sheets has been made and will be given out under the personal supervision of the campaign manager to insure an equitable distribution.

The Freshman class elected the following officers Monday, November 1: Vice President, Lynn Jensen, secretary, Carol Hillingsworth, treasurer, Joe Butterfield, sponsor, Prof. Lauritzen.

The Freshman class elected the following officers Monday, November 1: Pastor, James McLeod, sergeant-at-arms, Jack Mansur, parliamentarian, John Falgout.

The Sophomore class elected the following officers Monday, November 1: Pastor, Burton Everett, sergeant at arms, Bob Geatz.

The person receiving the highest number of subscriptions in each regiment will receive a first prize of a Collegedale Wood Products study desk. A double desk was announced as an alternate first prize for the married students regiment.

The squad in each regiment which was the most successful in mailing individual sub letters.

According to Campaign Manager Kibbel, the bids are coming in from all parts of the country. He further states that he believes each student could be expected to make his berth in a "Buddy Bar" by having as only four subs.

ATS Claims 70 Per Cent Student Body

AMERICAN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY treasurer, Herman Bauman, reports that the membership in the organization is now 70% of the student body and is still climbing.

The organization of cartoons, registration late booths, chapel programs, and room-to-rooms work in the dormitories has helped bring about this surge in membership. Linda Madford has encouraged to date 28 students of Middleburg, Tenn. to join the Temperance Society. This should encourage other students to get new members, states the treasurer.

The aim, announced John Battistoni, ATS Chapter president, "is 100% membership. Every Christian young person should have a firm, permanent movement for clean living."

Dr. Steen is administering the Rorschach Test. This is the most difficult to interpret and often the most reliable of all measures of personality. Some five or six additional tests are also used to form a "history" upon them possible, and which the maximum diagnostic accuracy is required.

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published bi-weekly except for Christmas and spring vacations during the school year, and once during the summer, by Southern Mountain Culture, Collegeville, Tennessee, and once during the summer, by Southern Mountain Culture, Collegeville, Tennessee, at the Post Office at Collegeville, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress August 24, 1912. Second-class postage paid at Collegeville, Tennessee. Postmaster: Please send address changes to THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, September 29, 1947. The domestic subscription rate is $3.00 per year, the foreign rate is $3.25 per year.

MEMBER ADVENTIST COLLEGIATE PRESS ASSOCIATION

EDITOR	Vincent Buellert	REPORTERS	Fern Gibson John G. Jones
ASSOCIATE EDITORS	— Ivelina Colby — Frank Kelly — Conna Mulvey	EDITORIAL BOARD	Debra Bryan Henry Nash Lester Rice Shelby Souths John Williams John Gagan
SECRETARY	— Oneta Allen	BY-LINES	— James Rhodes — Paul Allen
COLUMNISTS	— Clarice Fisher — Wayne Tabin — George Pelen	TYPING AND BUSINESS MANAGER	— Wilma Wain — Bessie Arnold
ACPA REPORTER	— John Bonfield	BUSINESS ADVISOR	— T. W. Sten
EDITORIAL ADVISER	— Fannie Andrews

To Courtesy One-sided?

Not long ago I undertook to clean out my section of the SOUTHERN ACCENT office, which I did in an afternoon of moderate work. The results of my cleaning lay all over the floor, having filled the waste basket to overflowing long previously, and, after considerable exertion and stomping, I was able to balance all the remnants of the mess on top of the container. That accomplished, I embraced it with both arms and proceeded laboriously out and around to the side entrance of the ad building to empty it. All the while I was walking I was pondering just how I should proceed to open the door when I got there. The solution of my problem came along in the form of an attractive lady — I thought. The situation was timed just right; she reached the door just before I did, and opened it, but ignoring my hurried waddling to get there while it was still open, she closed it, lurches in front of my nose. Needless to say, I made out all right; the papers weren't too hard to pick up. But I had learned my lesson for sure—I'll clean my office more often from now on.

The Wheels of Progress?

There is a certain type of person that one can find at times on the campus of SMC, with whom, to cite freely from Job, "all knowledge will perish." It certainly must be counted a privilege to have members of that cultural society sojourn among the rest of us, who are rather primitive.

I am certain that we appreciate their willingness to be helpful—their zeal in dispelling the darkness of superstitious beliefs which engulf us, such as our abominable "ghost" and "witch" theories. We are glad that our students, usually, and our childish non-age that instructors have human feelings, and can, with some tanning, be made into freeds.

It is with pleasure that I announce the imminent enlightenment of such inexhaustibly medieval ignorance, for which the new concepts which these messengers of destiny so usefully impart, a brilliant renaissance is close at hand.

"As Thers See Us"

By SIMPSON STACY.

What does a British student think about Collegiate?

There are four young men from England on our campus who are new to us this year. Edward Vuk, Peter Reed, Norman Gough, and Mark Lewis. As most of you know by now, they are line representatives of their homeland. They don't make much comment, but we would like to know should they leave. Let's hear what they say about the United States, "of America," as we call it in our inmost esteem.

Edward Vuk: "It's taken quite a while to get accustomed to some of the American ways: but America is fascinating and new, and we like it." Edward is a married student; he has been in an engineering work and has come here for further study. He plans to stay here two years and then perhaps go to the Seminary in Washington.

Peter Reed: "Drillers are so interested that when you find one of something, more appropriate here a good word in study as was abner." Peter, who is studying for the ministry, thinks that the idea of Seminars tends to appreciate Adventist schools as they should.

Norman Gough: "I think that the idea of Seminars tends to appreciate Adventist schools as they should. For they can be put into practice. I feel that in being out with the people I can be one with them and obtain a wonderful experience." Norman is a theology senior. A Master Guide, but interests him in evangelize, and asks. He feels a great burden for his home field, where the state of Adventists to the local population is one in 15,000.

Mark Lewis: "American roads are so dead straight. American students need to learn how to study. Life at Collegiate is so busy that I don't even have time to get home much." Mark plans to be a minister, and will be here for two years.

When we "Americans" (as made more appropriate here a good word

Along with Ashton comes out nature club outfit and on the way back from the mountains. Pat Welfly put her camera in the front of the car, "so we can take the pictures as we go." The explanation Pat soon got her pictures?

Antonia returns with a bush of color. Fall is suddenly here.

The night has a sharp, breath-taking coldness.

The mornings are bright and clear. Now is the time that birds fly southward.

Send your news last Spring. Now is the time to let the leaves change.

For Nature's annual Song.

Rose Marie Grosblum, haven't you been here long enough to know that the sun almost blows one leaf before sundown on Fridays? Evidently not, for long ago you said I was a fool—on all good telephone operators should—went leaving down the hill two and the northward trying to get my shoes on as we went.

Mark, surely you know that went a fire?

The girls' club parlamentarian in Carol McClure Ann Johnson is the new vice-president of the Gulls. Forum The new secretary is Carolyn Hanes. Elections were held during the club and forum meetings to fill these offices which had been vacated.

They discussed wanted to go somewhere this, other day, and unable to express herself as she wished she started to work. do you go to Bayboro here? Tom, even though we aren't Baltians as you are, we thank you for having a very special experience.

What did you get her scarce a night ago.

... As Seen By Two ...

By LORNA M. FIFER

Here's the fall colors here beautiful this year? The brilliance of the colors in the valley now is almost comparable to that in New England. For the benefit of those of you who have not gotten around to visit your neighbors just because of those extra ten papers and such, I should like to introduce to you Bob and Nina Leard, who come to us from Stillwater, Minnesota. Of course, we do not meet for forty little Bobby, twenty months, and Kathy, six weeks old.

Bob and Nina have been raised in Christian homes. Bob graduated from Estepure Academy in Kansas and started to work as a tax collector. Stillwater under the Army needed his services.

While he was still in the Army, Bob and Nina were married. They started thinking of their education and decided that they should attend college. Bob decided that he could take a music major, a field in which he has shown considerable talent.

Having known Dr. Lauritzen and Mr. Knightal from his years in the academy, they decided to enter the Southern Missionary College to take classes applying on a music major.

The Leards' future plans are to teach in an academy or church in this country or on the mission field. Wherever they are called they will serve well.

about our country, they say strongly themselves, "Now there's a fellow who knows." But he asks: Do we hear an adverbial sentence? Then we think, "Why fellow doesn't know what he's talking about." How odd there! We can learn a few things about ourselves, too, you know.

It's glad that SMC is a cosmopolitan school—let's educate ourselves accordingly.

ahead of time. She kicked her shoes under the foot of the bed from the mountains. She gave a short scream and proceeded to see what it was. As the pencil started to come up and some hands quivered her. After that, it was one scream after another, each louder than the last.

"Come, Virginia! Let's sing together." What the music? Carol Taylor was cretching with laughter. A white rabbit figure came from under the bed and jumped into the dress just as Arlene Delamare and Irene Bishop (missionary) came rushing in.

Evel, who had kept her eyes closed from fear, said: "It's under my bed! Get it out!" When a search failed to find the cause, she demanded that the room be searched for the "felt something touch my face." It due time the music was found and sent innocently to bed.

Of course, Holloway's marks were neglected when the faulstif excuse. Very few escaped having salt, sugar, leaves, or paper in bed with them. Cans of food and tins of food in unsuspecting persons' rooms.

God gave us Spring as a testimony. The impact for flowers and tea. The winter's just about concluding beauty.

He gave us the Autumn for joy

Anner a la Mode

By CLARENCE FISHER

Some of the most interesting hobbies of our time are those of the individuals who have become collectors. In our college town, there are several who have become collectors. In our college town, there are several who have become collectors.

Some of the most interesting hobbies of our time are those of the individuals who have become collectors. In our college town, there are several who have become collectors.

Some of the most interesting hobbies of our time are those of the individuals who have become collectors. In our college town, there are several who have become collectors.

Some of the most interesting hobbies of our time are those of the individuals who have become collectors. In our college town, there are several who have become collectors.

Tales of Talge

By WAYNE TAYLOR

About seven o'clock last night of October 24, we were gathered at 8:00 in the workshop room. Suddenly the first four boys, and a few of our number, who are interested in the instrument, left the room. We quickly turned the lights off, but we were annoyed by a disturbance in the hall (we saw the light). Hall really was accustomed to such a commotion in our dormitory (A group of girls, apparently, dressed for the musical, rushed into the room carrying the fire hose. They had tags on their backs announcing the girls' reception, November 2).

Later, we learned that they had intended to sleep in with us. We were grateful for the invitation to the reception, but we were equally grateful for the fact that the fire hose was not used for such a purpose. However, they did manage to spill the water pipe loop and everybody who was present got a little of the water. The rest of the night pulling stinks in front of a cabinet to keep the water out (We're really taking a course).

One night recently, Bryan White was checking room 402, a rubber mark on his face. It was just routine procedure until he got to Charlie Tom. Charlie didn't look like a grotesque creature with skin on his face and he expressed his sentiments by throwing a shoe into his room. Johnny Reed got a new wash pot and chose Jack Mansel and Tom Davin as his victims. The pack block because Johnny Reed was still taking a cold shower with his clothes on.

Some of Jack Mansel, he has been having a little trouble keeping the license plates on his car. However, he is doing a fairly good method of getting them back.

Bob Ingram has a dog. He has named it Matis (some misnomer who has that name). It is just a small dog, but it pretends soon big problems to Bob and his roommate, Cliff. They managed to transform Bill's ministerial life into pulp.

The eyes of science will soon turn to Collegiate. Someone here has figured out a new device that is claimed to make the alarm clock obsolete. It is a fairly simple device that consists of no more than a Model T coil and a few wires woven through a mattress.

As for that, it proved itself one hundred per cent effective in getting College Colleper out of bed in record time. That's about all for now, but we hope you can wait until the next issue, when you'll come out with more experiences of the professors that live in Talge Hall.

Peppers Pay Off

Loose Strasser, a freshman this year from Plymouth, has decided to raise bell peppers for market near her home.

Loose was employed as a waitress in a nearby club organization, but left the need of further education. She planted a large number of pepper plants last spring, reported the harvest this fall and sold them to the market. She is now working in the supervisory College Lounge, a now four-year-old at the College Wood, which is now working for the American Red Cross.

This experience should be a warning to other girls to keep their eye for other opportunities to help themselves. Open for opportunities to help themselves. Open for opportunities to help themselves.

Loose was employed as a waitress in a nearby club organization, but left the need of further education. She planted a large number of pepper plants last spring, reported the harvest this fall and sold them to the market. She is now working in the supervisory College Lounge, a now four-year-old at the College Wood, which is now working for the American Red Cross.

Psychological Service Offers Clinical Help to Students

(Continued from page 1)

such as those maintained by leading universities and VA hospitals. This is just one of a line of men, Dr. Stein being at the top, to whom you might refer, who would call a "psychologist" without a star behind it.

Fee Licensed
Only a small number of psychologists have been licensed so far in Tennessee under the new law. Dr. Stein being one of the few to qualify. There are two others in what is known as the Chattanooga area of the State, one of the most rapidly growing portions. Not only are the universities and the best colleges establishing psychological service centers, but the rapid growth of Guidance Clinics in all progressive cities is of outstanding significance.

Southern Masonary College, has gone much farther in this field than any of the other Adult colleges, but is a school that they too will soon have the professional personnel necessary for this development.

Functions of the Service

The Psychological Service carries on a wide variety of activities. The one that touches the entire student body is the orientation, including the interpretation of the general learning programs. These include the battery of freshmen tests, which comprise statistical, aptitude, and reading speed, and comprehension, effectiveness, and expressive, and also a brevity personality test indicating the student's adjustment to life in a general way. The national Scholastic Tests and Graduate Record Examination, (or seniors) are other examples. This information becomes a part of the student's permanent record. The faculty members and officers use his psychological and English tests in connection with the Interpretation of the Personality Scale is a matter of individual conference between the student and the Director of the Service.

Another function of the Service is the direction of the General Education Program. All freshmen are assigned to personal counselors who are available for private conferences with each student at least twice during each semester, or so often as the student requests counsel. The counselors meet monthly for a study of problems and (or) advancement in this important activity.

Clinical Service

The main function of the Psychological Service is, of course, its Clinical Service. This work is entirely individual and confidential. The information is kept under lock in the Director's private office. Some of the tests given are individual tests of intelligence, and others are tests of vocational interests, aptitudes, temperaments, etc.

When a student asks for the most highly specialized and time-consuming is for a personality diagnosis and evaluation. For example, a student may consult to the director or be referred to him, with what seems like a simple problem. He says, "I cannot concentrate. I cannot remember what I study. I am going to fail my studies. What is the matter with me? Do I need some kind of medical care?"

In a case of this kind, the director first makes sure that the student has had a complete physical examination, or he may lead him to the Health Service for an additional examination. In any case, one of the director's assistants, or there is no medical problem involved, he then proceeds with one or more, or all, of the battery of personality tests to discover what the conflicts, worries and anxieties are that are troubling the student, and that he cannot overcome.

He attempts to find the answer is to ask questions as "Why does this bother you?" or "inferior" "Why is he so able?" "Why can I not make friends?" "Why is he so withdrawn from others?" "Why do I have no confidence in himself?" These tests can be administered only by highly trained clinical psychologists. For example, the Minnesota Test, often referred to as the "ink Blot Test" which is the most sensitive of all personality measures, requires, ordinarily four years of preparation and experience before the test can be used with the correction of his diagnosis.

Correcting Problems
In addition to making, considerable time is required for correcting the problems. For example, a psychologist cannot say to a person "I find that you have a serious emotional problem as an adult." Or, "I find that you have incapacitating feelings of inferiority," and expect the person to go away and be normal, after either it may take, or even a year or more before the individual is finally well adjusted to his life, and naturally there do occur cases in which this goal is never fully attained. This process is called by such names as "counseling," "therapy," or, more properly, "psychotherapy."

How is the Psychological Service Supported?

Most of the expense incurred in providing this important service to the students is borne by the college. Regular students in college and its laboratory schools — the academy and elementary school — are considered eligible recipients of these financial resources. A gradually increasing number of parents and students, however, are recognizing that psychological assistance is a highly professionalized service, closely related to the medical services provided by the college physician and the health service staff, and that only a limited amount is paid by the general student fees.

The fees charged to those who are not students, or to students who volunteer to contribute, are only sufficient to cover the actual expense involved.

Who Are the Clients?

The majority of those who come to the Psychological Service office are students in the college and academy, pupils in the elementary school, or members of the families of the students of the staff. An ever-increasing number, however, are coming from other facilities in the state and a few from other states. As no advertising is done, the service becomes known by the recommendations of those who are personally acquainted with it.

Some physicians refer patients for diagnostic testing and at times for psychotherapy also. Other referrals are from ministers, teachers, or institutional managers. These are also "self referrals" from persons who are concerned with the selection of the right vocation, personality appraisal, or solving personal problems.

Fine Arts Faculty Presents Recital

The music faculty of Southern Masonary College presented a recital in the Tabernacle Auditorium on the evening of November 6. This occasion marked the first of such Faculty programs to be given annually.

The recent Saturday night concert rendered the following musical offerings.

Psalm Quartet—Saint-Saens, Venezia from a Theme by Beethoven, Elsa from a Theme by Beethoven, Vera from a Theme by Beethoven, and Cony from a Theme by Beethoven.

Baroness Horn — Mozart, Concerto for Baritone and Piano transcribed by Ottaviani from Mussos Concerto—Allegro, by Norman Kropstadt.

Voice—Lully, Sombier Woods (from Le Mariage), Trubionals, Program of the Fine Arts Commission.

Vocal—Händel, Sonata IV—Adagio, Allegro, Larghetto, Allegro, by Theodore Mann.

Piano Duo—Paganini, Sonata—Prestissimo, Sonata, by Adian and Evelyn Lustrain.

Baroness Hora, Baritone, Rondo for Lily, Airon, Percussion, Mallets, by Norman Kropstadt.

Voice — Herze, Agathi, Muriel, Duke, Lohstein of Three Fairies, by Norman Kropstadt.

Vocal — Mozart, Minuet, Op 13 (from the Divertimento in D); Sawanna, from the Native Country, by Theodore Mann.

Piano Quartet—Prokofjev, March, Op. 59.

CLUB HIGHLIGHTS

An invitation from Elder D. R. Rees, president of the Florida conference, enabled the SMC Ladies' Mission Society to spend a week in Orlando, Florida, attending the workers' meeting. The club left here Sunday, October 30. It was the main speaker, giving a series of lectures on "How to lead decisions." He mapped out the road to success in leading a soul, who was steeped in sin, all the way to conversion until he becomes a worker for God.

The club came away from the meetings with a deeper realization that the sharp portion of every conference worker is that of winning souls.

Those attending the meetings from SMC were: Elder E. C. Banks, head of the division of religion, John Butterfield, Jack Behrman, Lester Risher, Tom Shepard, Norman Gully, Richard Steadman, Joel Turpin, Bill Brooks, Erik Wulke, and John Harris.

SMC-ites Attend Prayer Pageant

Several carloads of SMC students and Faculty members, attended the Chattanooga Prayer Pageant on October 31.

The pageant, entitled, "There Shall Be Peace," organized in Chattanooga two years ago and was sponsored by the Chattanooga Mayor's Committee for World's Nations Day, Elder Leaf K. Tolman, writer of letters to the SMC, was the guest of honor. The script, written by a University of Chattanooga professor, has been adopted as the official KIN pageant by the New York headquarters.

In addition to a substantial attendance, SMC contributed to the success of the pageant. Five sets of dancing 35 flags made by the modern language division. These flags were distributed by participants in the pageant during the opening prayer and also in several of the scenes.

"The Long and Short of It"

B. SHANNON

Shouting on Baby Butts and spinning top, the two boys, Sherry and Butch leapt (clashed) the hill in the direction of the men's house. Their words were low and to all appearance they were in earnest conversation. Sherry's body butch waddled up his zipper and, leaving it into the air, got it a bushy head which shot it straight off onto the campus. Sherry stopped in on his tracks, so humble shortly before his faced with a high leaped "Listen, Butch. That's just the thing I was talking about. You didn't think that you were showing poor school spirit when you knuckled that paper out there in the gym. You just didn't think. That's just the way I do, and, boy, how old Pan Handle has been working on me lately. When I tell him that I do a lot of things, just because I don't think, he says that's no excuse. That's his little mystery. Looking, if I'm ever going to do any of it."

"Suppose you'd be telling me I'm a poor crier if I don't pay it up," laughed the taller one as he ambled over to where the wacker lay in the grass. "I honestly don't know what your story you likely, I haven't heard you grumble about the grub, the dean, freshmen camp, or anything, as a matter of fact, so long that I don't know you'd better go see the new doctor up at the clinic." You're sick, if I know anything about it, I should say.

"No," it's not that. If you had a roommate like Tex you'd find out, Butch. Ever since the dean put us fellows together he's been working on me. In fact I resent it a lot and told him where to head up, especially when he took my sign down off the door. That really got me down, but when he started trying to make me study, I got him on top. After that he said that I thought I was here for anyway, that he might just as well know since and for all that if my folks hadn't made me stay I'd have left long ago. And what else did he do? He just looked at me out of paying lack, rolled up his sleeves and said, Sherry, somebody needs to take you out to the woodshed, and then with that grin of his, 'and I'm just about to do it."

"That might I got to thinking about it, thinking how I'd left my bed unmade, my desks scattered from one end of the room to the other, my books out on the steps where they got rained on, my new jacket ripped to shreds when I tried to jump the barbitone fence, showing off to those guys I had the biggest stone in the world to walk Tex up and tell him what I feel I'd been, but then I got to thinking that he knew that already before I did..."

A New Leaf
"Hold on a second, I'm ever taking on so much of this turning over-a-new-leaf business at this time. By the way, I know that I can get a word on edge-wise, with one I hear about him being a Brinret? I really fell over the other day, when he told me that the first time he'd been over to church on Saturday. I'd have sworn he was

An Adversist the way he acted and that he'd be taking it easy. Sherry had any talk with our rules here because he thought a person was honor-bound to be with them, if he came to school. Made me think that Sherry about the times I'd deliberately broken some of those rules. I'd confess he's got me to thinking.

This same day I was asking me about the servant of the Lord he had heard Elder Crotch mention in the Week of Prayer. He asked me that he meant, and when I said she was a prophet he acted real interested and wanted me to tell him more about her. She'd thought some of the things she'd written were wonderful. Boy, I was really ashamed when I got, I tell him where it says in the Bible that the remnant church would have the gift of prophecy. He was so respectful about it all when he was talking to me, his own right help remembering the way you'd had it all over in the book you and I had had it all over in the back of the tabernacle during the Week of Prayer and how we had talked to those girls instead of listening. He seems to be so earnest about everything I won't at all like he tries to help if he can.

"Not! Me! You'd catch me trying to explain the Bible, to him after the way he'd treated me. He'd heard me swear when I'd dropped my books in the mud. He'd said it was a word, just looked at it so with that condescending smile of his. But I didn't know he was a Brinret! I'd have been a lot more careful had I had it.

An Example

"That's just it, Sherry. We've been scared pretty, pretty examples around here. If you happen to ask me. Here we go, you and I, eating candy bars in the middle of the afternoon just like two little kids that don't know any better. If someone isn't on our all the time to tell us how to act as Christians, we're unable of ever recognizing our lives intelligently. And when they do tell us we resent it and grudge. I mean I do. I've got back of my mind! I've been a fighter and the fault's all home Sherry, let's try to amount to something. What do you say?"

I'm game, Butch, but it's going to be awful hard for you." So he.

The innocent wad of paper carelessly assigned to a trash can, two boys made their way toward the dorm where, instead of perching on the lounge as was their wont, they made their way directly to their rooms. Minutes later they lurk out at the dorm closet where they grinned sheepishly as they seized a broom and dust mop and again turned toward their respective rooms.

"Nope! I know it's not Friday," said the taller one. "It's not even one week around this place!"

"Hyer, guys! Look at Sherry stepping in here. What in the world would he'd happen around here anyhow?"

(To be continued)

Don't Miss an Issue!

OF THE "SOUTHERN ACCENT"

Simply fill out the handy subscription blank below and send to Circulation Manager, SOUTHERN ACCENT, Collegeville, Tenn.

Please enclose my subscription to THE SOUTHERN ACCENT for one year. Enclosed is $2.00

NAME

STREET OR P. O. BOX

CITY

STATE

SEND THIS SUBSCRIPTION TO...

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

COMMUNITY SIDE-LIGHTS

Call the fire department! The mountains are ablaze! Was just a minute long, a closer Oh! It is only the trees ablaze in the bright yellow colors of red, yellow, orange, and gold. Yes, fall is here, and winter is not far away. Get ready, now, because every time you open the door, it comes blowing inside. Thanksgiving is only two weeks away. It seems as if it were only three or four weeks ago that school began. Are you getting stiffed now? Is it really so close studying now?

To us community students whose homes are outside the Collegeville area, we are glad that Thanksgiving is so near. Some parents will be visiting here, while some students will be going home. Oh, how wonderful it will be to see the folks after an absence of three or four months!

Saturday night, October 16, was an open night for general recreation with the help of the gym and various other activities.

At the Bunkhouse a party was given by Amy. The guests included Shirley Ann, Anne Jones, Martha White, Bob Brown, Jane Becker, Donald Hill, and Knurr Hammett. Games were played and were enjoyed by all. For refreshments there was cocoa, popcorn, and apples.

All had a wonderful time at the "Hobo" party Saturday night, October 13. The community students from the bottom of their hearts wish to thank the Academy Forum for a most enjoyable evening, and from the bottom of their stomachs for such tasty refreshments.

Community students, this is your column in it will be printed continuously of Collegeville Academy. You know, that is the first time the column has appeared in the Southern Accent. From now on, your continued, contribute to it. A column cannot be successful without news to write about. If you have news, we can have a good column. Write to begin—not tomorrow, not the day after, but TODAY.

ALUMNI NEWS

By LOBBIE AUDEMAN

Class of '32

Bob McAlister, 301 W Mountain Fayetteville, Arkansas, is continuing his work as research assistant at the Institute of Science and Technology. He is also taking some class work toward his master's degree.

Joyce Gold-Meyer, "At present, I am attending the University of Tennessee Medical School in Memphis where I am a junior student. I will graduate in March 1955. Last August I married Floyd Earl May, who is also a junior medical student at the University of Tennessee.

Hazel Armstrong: "I am working as a teacher-in-charge in the Alabama State Normal College. My first year began teaching the school here in Hartsburg, Mississippi, and along the way, I met a very nice fellow who is assisting the local pastor in his district of five churches."

Class of '53

Bobby Bird, Pusan, Korea. On Sabbath there are about 20 GIs who are here in Pusan. I am sure that some of you have our Sabbath school. Some GIs are giving our Bible studies through the home. Katherine Bette, a surgical technician is still practicing. For a business student Hope to be visiting in Memphis.

Abbie Mitchell is now employed at the Georgia-Charlotte Contracting office in Lenoir, 3319 UNIVERSITY Drive, Fort Worth, Texas. "I had a job in Fort Worth, Texas, and I am enjoying my job as conference classroom supervisor. I do miss the companionship of the faculty members."

Wood has just been received that a son, Charles Frederick, was born at 7:55 a. m., 1954, to Betty and Bob McMillan.

Editors—Bruce Anderson, John Freeman
Reporters for this issue, Amy Bushnell, Clara White,
Paul Hagan
Sturlina Hill

Shelvi Hillon
Vivola Holmboe
Jesse Hottel
Dave Pugh
Tom Smith

Forum Sponsors Musical Chapel

The Collegeville Academy Forum meeting held Monday, November 8, was called to order by Roger Darmann, the Forum president. He opened the meeting with the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

The meeting held in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel was not the usual type of meeting but a special talent program in which members of the academy performed. First, the program was the poem, "Deep a Pebble in the Water," which was given by Clara White. This was immediately followed by a piano solo, played by Sarah Lou Nix. Marilla Silver read the poem, "I Saw God Wash the World." When Miss Silver had finished, Donald Hill played on his mandolin. Bruce Anderson read Robert Service's "Spell of the Yukon."

During the poem the fire bell went to sound off so that the program was temporarily interrupted while everyone fled out of the building and then back in again. When everyone had returned to seat, Roger Hill played a solo piano and Jule Aufhäuser read, "When the Frost is on the Punka."

Sabbath School Gets New Term Teachers

The Academy Sabbath School meets in the Arts Chapel at 9:30 every Sabbath morning for a lively song service which is conducted by Mr. Dave Tuttle. This is followed always by an interesting meeting.

Officers are as follows: superintendent, Dwayne Ballard; DeLoyne Bullock; and Standing Aid, secretaries, Jule and Jeannette Helly, Carl Banks, and Jule Aufhäuser, pianist, Myra Nelson, and Sarah Lou Nix.

Our sponsors are: Elder Paul Boynton and Mrs. Louise Aufhäuser. Teachers are Mrs. Frances Andrews, Miss Mable Howard, Mr. Diew Tuttle, Mrs. Marjorie Anderson, and Mr. Paul Hoar.

Halloween Party Brings "Hobo" Fun

"Donald Auster is champion painter," announced Walter Henson, chairman of the recreation committee, at the forum-sponsored Halloween party and Saturday night, October 13, in the Taberna, when all the guests came dressed in the tackiest clothes they could be found.

A hobo match so that everyone could "pass a review" made judging a difficult task for the ones chosen to pick out the best hobo. Henson went to Reellan Ross for his tattered overalls and four-cornered vest. A box of clowning gum will keep Reellan happy for a long time to come, while Donald's overgrown necktie is a fitting prize for the best hobo. Henson went to Reellan Ross for his tattered overalls and four-cornered vest. A box of clowning gum will keep Reellan happy for a long time to come, while Donald's overgrown necktie is a fitting prize for the best hobo.

The moon entertainment, headed by Mrs. Weber, provided winners: pumpkins, balloons, and black and orange streamers to add to atmosphere and cheer. Apple cider, ice cream, and chocolate cake, as well as the direction of Clarence Fisher and her committee, sent the academy students home with their amber touch of Halloween.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Dr. Ovid Volmer will conduct a health school December 6 through 18, at Collegeville and vicinity.

ARE YOU SUPPORTING?

There once was a fellow called Hort.

He gave the ACCENT campaign no support.

Now he feels awful sad,

And wishes he had,

'cause there're no fancy prizes for Hort!

I'm not campaigning, or anything like that, but there is more than one reason why you should start pulling in the subscriptions. That is, if you haven't already started. For instance, there is that inner satisfaction of doing something to help, which, of course, you don't get by sitting around and watching someone else do the work. Then, about this: the more subs we get, the better we will be able to make your paper. Naturally, the better the paper is, the more you are getting for your money. You say it's the finance company's money? Well, you are getting more for it anyway.

Seriously though, the Academy has placed its full support behind the campaign and we hope you will help us.

Band Officers Chosen for Year

The following names were chosen on the election of October 19 and 20 to officers of the Collegeville Academy band for the school year of 1954-55. Donald Silver, president, Gino Gardner, vice president, Miriam Harold, secretary-treasurer, Donald Hill and James Knibb, committee members. The director of the band is Professor Norman L. Kingstad.

With these officers plus the fine band, we believe we are going places this year.

Academy Pupils Join Voice of Democracy

Collegeville Academy is again participating in the Voice of Democracy National Contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Cecil Abernathy. Essays are being written at the present time by members of the English II, III, and IV classes; however, all students in 10th, 11th, and 12th grades are eligible to enter the contest. Those desiring further information should see Miss Frances Andrews or Mr. Abernathy for details.

ATS Officers Named; Plans Made for Year

Collegeville Academy organized its Academic Activities Society for the year 1954-55 on October 25. The 82 chapter members chose the following officers: president, Randall Fay, vice president, Gwyn Gardner, secretary, Barbara Shirley Benson, and treasurer, Steve Weber. Andrew A. Hoar has been appointed as sponsor.

The Academy is going to have a jungle and poster contest this year, and another contest called the "Boys' Night." The winner from Collegeville Academy will compete with the winners of the other secondary schools in the Academies of the Southern Union.

Plans are under way to have a group from the Academy go to a program in high schools, and alumni of the Southland. They will tell the people the harmful results of smoking and the evils of the use of intoxicating beverages.

The sponsor, Mr. Hoar, has expressed the conviction that "This year's program will be more active in the line of temperance than any recent group."

SCHOLASTIC HONOR ROLL
First Period — 8:45-9:15
Bruce Anderson	Robert Hall	Myra Nelson
John Aufhäuser	Roger Hamell	Billy Reynolds
Barbara Brans	Miriam Harold	Aida Ruiz
James Bishop	Vivola Holmboe	Charles Sherrer
Sarah Brown	Barbara Holland	Dora Silver
Amy Bushnell	Juana Jones	Marilla Silver
Jessie Catey	Lillian Lang	Tom Smith
John Freeman	Joey Levine	Joyce Wellman
Gwyn Gardner	Ruth McClellan	Myra Woolsey
Don Hall	Kathleen Maclell

NIGHT VISITORS MAR SLEEP OF CAMPERS . . .

By JOE WILLIAMS

One's nearly cold as he heard the faint sounds of the forest life, the pulse of nature. For a few moments the accelerated pace of school work was forgotten. The deed of the next week's examinations had elapsed into non-existence.

Nocturnal Visitors,

Although ample room to sleep in tents had been prepared for, some tents had slipped under the falls. Four of the young ladies had a spot some 300 feet away up the trail and across the creek. The waing of nocturnal winds of the inhabitants of the forest had been accepted and forgotten as brave hearts, with cold fingers and noses, struggled deep into their respective bags. Before the night was ended, they were destined to discover that they could go even farther to the bottom, for in the early hours of the morning a rock splashed onto the creek. The ripple was accompanied by usual sounds.

Soon four sleepy voices could be heard singing hymns and choruses at 2 o'clock in the morning. For some reason the boys felt, which turned out to be some "coon" dogs. But alas, the night was yet young.

In case you think that ten-mile hikes are punishment, just ask any of the boys who made it.

Spence Field: A half-dozen others betched this test by continuing to the top of Thunderbolt. Some of them were hiking for their M.V. requirements, but the rest were put hiking in the twilight, once again a valley of chosen ones cut across the rocks from the creek about the fire "Turn You Eyes Upon Jesus," "When We Meet at Prayer," and many more.

Singing began the Saturday night program of entertainment which was inaugurated by a series of stories by Elder Banks. Everyone seemed to enjoy the assortment of stories and a ballade brought the group to the site of the Sabbath school. The blankets were spread to sit on and the meeting began under the direction of Richard Shepard. Dr. Hamill taught the lessons, and Donald Allara spoke the word of the mission present on telling something of the causal habits of the people of his country. Honduras, and Clark, and Donald Allara spoke the word of the mission present on telling something of the causal habits of the people of his country. Honduras, and Clark, and Donald Allara spoke the word of the mission present on telling something of the causal habits of the people of his country.

Early Sunday morning the peace of the mountains was shattered by the excitement of striking tents and packing everything for the trip home. While the boys headed the fire trails and cleared the camp, the girls turned up by the dead and packed them.

By mid-afternoon the last car had been away and highwaymen to face the mountain was hindered by examinations.

Thanksgiving Lends Theme for Girls' Reception Program

The Thanksgiving session provided an appropriate setting when the young ladies of the Daughters Club entertained the young men of Upland Delta at their annual reception on Sunday evening, November 20, in Messink Jones Hall.

Ann Maxwell, club president, welcomed approximately 450 guests to the dining room, which was decorated with the traditional Thanksgiving symbols—pumpkins, parrots, turkeys, and seasonal-pictorial. Guest of honor was Mrs. Elva B. Gardner, who spoke on the subject, "Thankful For What?"

Frances Holley was chairman of the social committee, and Patricia Welch was in charge of the decorations. After the banquet the guests moved to Lynn Wood Hall for a program of songs and recitations surrounding the holiday. James Jones, chairman of the program committee, acted as master of ceremonies, and presented the following numbers:

"Beaumont," by Ardenia Mottus, "Beaumont," by Ruth Ann Pickett, "The Family Album," pantomime, by Anita Allen, "Grandmother's House We Go," solo chorus, "Beautiful Dear World," musical reading, by Jeanne Schaefer, "The House, solo by Elizabeth Cochran.

Author Releases Newest Story for MY Book Club

Mrs. Elva B. Gardner, registrar at Southern Missionary College, has been notified that her latest book, Amos: A High-Caste Boy of India, has been selected for sale by the Pacific Press, Mountain View, California. This book will appear on the list of junior reading course books of the MY Book Club.

"Amos is a real person," says Mrs. Gardner, "but of course that is not his real name. He will graduate this spring from college with a bachelor's degree in theology, and is looking forward to working among his own people."

Other books by the author are Timothy, July in the Great Child of Happiness, Love of India, and Sunday Is. In 1947 Mrs. Gardner was made an honorary member of the National Association of Authors and Journalists for her book Love of India, which she recently considered an important contribution to contemporary literature.

Mrs. Gardner worked as missionary in India for 11 years, and is well qualified to report the progress made by the "most outcast" in the hearts of the Indian people.

SOUTHERN MEMORIES
Launches Campaign.
Get Your Sub
Before January 10

Delegates who attended the SA Workshop held in Keene, Texas, are standing: Chester Damon, James Culp, Walter Ward, Vernon Hubbard, Frances Killeen, David Eason, Barbara Tinsley, Marieannette, Bettie, Kirby, Wesley, Ellen Adams, James Ray McKinney, Rebecca Binkley, Irene Austerham.

Workshop Delegates Report to SMC Student Association

Delegates who attended the fifth Annual Workshop held at Southwestern Junior College, November 3 through 6, bring with them a wealth of enthusiasm in the words of Collegedale "Power" in chapel, November 15. They had exchanged ideas with delegates from other of our colleges, and now they were ready to share some of their new ideas with the assembled student body.

It was noted by Chester Damon that the student-faculty cooperation at SMC is to be commended. Whether Ward learned how to transcribe, by proper management, keep the funds of our Associations on the right side of the ledger.

The spiritual life of the school was emphasized by Rebecca Binkley. She explained that many students have regular "Power Hours" to promote the prayer life of students.

Frances Killeen stated that the purpose of the Workshop was to improve the Association, and that a definite way of accomplishing this aim is by making monthly financial reports to make for more efficiency in the Association. Ellen Adams suggested that the dates of each article should be published.

Kathryn Wooley explained how SMC compared with other colleges in SA organizational plans. All the meetings at which the discussion of yearbooks has the theme found. David Eason, securing information and news ideas about purposes, contents, layout and type of pictures for annuals.

If a Johnny Culp's plan to establish good public relations through the medium of a good school paper.

Jean Austerham reported plans presented for improvement in the field of social education.

The advantages of having students present their ideas and points of view in the school paper was one of the ideas which Vernon Hubbard received. The president of the Student Association of Southern Missionary College, James Ray McKinney, brought greetings from the students of Southwestern Junior College. He noted that preparation for a workshop such as was attended by the IMC delegation of twelve. A word of appreciation was spoken to Director Selby, general consultant for the Fifth Annual Workshop, who because of illness was unable to attend, and to Dr. Dan Horner, president of the Student Association at Southwestern Junior College last year, for their efforts in making the Workshop a success. The different organizations within the Student Association were invited to take advantage of the benefits of the discussions held at the Workshop by seeking the counsel and advice of the delegates who attended.

Church Sponsors Cooking Classes

Cooking classes designed to improve the inadequate, unbalanced diets on which more than half of all Americans are living, began Monday afternoon in the Elementary School basement, under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Vollmer, experienced nutritionists who have conducted many such meetings.

The course is being sponsored by the Collegedale Seventh Day Adventist Church and is free to all interested persons in the community. "Ninety-seven million Americans are not getting in their diets the essentials to maintain maximum health and efficiency, according to the National Nutritional Council," Elder Harvie R. Beckler, pastor of the church, explained in announcing the classes.

The lectures by the Vollmers include practical demonstrations in food preparation and distribution of recipes and food samples at each meeting. The afternoon meetings at 3:30 and evening meetings at 7:30 were well attended by the Collegedale community.

Noted Pianist Presents Concert

Jane Carlson, concert pianist, presented the second in a series of recitals of the year Saturday night, November 13, in the Tabernacle Auditorium.

Miss Carlson, who has returned recently from concert engagements in Europe, is connected with the Juillard School of Music.

Her presentation for the evening consisted of selections which ranged from Bach, of whom she gave the "Ave Maria" phylade, "I Call on Thee, Lord," to Handel's, whose Interludium from the London Town she played.

A reception for Mrs. Carlson prepared by the branch of the Music Education National Conference operating on the SMC campus followed the concert in the ball room of Harold Miller Hall.

Combined Choir Gives Messiah; Soloists Announced

MV Distributes Food To Needy Families In Nearby Areas

Over $300 worth of food was distributed by the Collegedale Missionary Volunteers Society during the Thanksgiving holidays to needy families in the Collegedale Apria area. Twenty-two baskets, each of approximately $45 value, were distributed for Thanksgiving.

The entire project was organized by the MV Society under the leadership of Mr. Tompkins. Working with the society were the Daucus Society and the Collegedale Publisher Club. The Publishers visited each home in the community isolating food which the Daucus ladies supervised the packaging.

Additional canned goods were obtained from collection points in the college store and food donations brought to the MV meeting, November 15, which featured Elder Schoen's special Thanksgiving message.

A Thanksgiving offering taken at the meeting netted over $80 which was used to pay the finishing touches on each basket.

Students participating in the project were Charlotte Elder, Wendy Talbot, Melba Culppeper, Brian Wilcox, Glen McColpin, and Joel Tompkins.

SA Benefit Film Nets Profit

The annual SA benefit program which was given Saturday night, December 3, grossed over $100.

The film "Stanley and Livingston" which was presented Saturday's trek into the jungles of Africa hunting Leopards.

Twenty-three students sold 200 tickets to non-students. Approximately 650 persons were present. According to Norman Truby, SA treasurer, a small excess was realized from the benefit.

FIELD DAY BRINGS OVER 4000 DOLLARS

Noted Pianist Presents Concert

Jane Carlson

She has played at Carnegie Hall and has appeared in great solo with the NBC Symphony Orchestra.

The Christmas portion of the sacred oratorio "Messiah," by George Frederick Handel, will be presented in the College Tabernacle on December 18, 1954, at 8:15 P.M., according to Professor Francis B. Conroy, the director of choral activities. Participating in the oratorio will be the College Choir of 70 members, and a chamber orchestra of 27 players, which is being organized primarily for the occasion by Professor Norman L. Krugstad, the director of instrumental activities. Of special interest is the announcement that the services of 11 members of the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra have been secured, including Mr. Peter Rickett, the assistant conductor of the symphony, and Mr. Theodore Marmolejo, concertmaster. Members of the student body and community will comprise the remainder of the chamber ensemble.

The soloists for the presentation have all become prominent in musical activities of the college. They are Miss Katherine Jones, soprano, lead soprano, Miss Lynn von Pöhl, alto, soprano-principal student, Mr. John Tronzo, tenor, second music education major, and Elder E. J. McMurphy, bass, professor of speech.

Among the well-known choruses included in the Christmas portion of "Messiah" are "O Thou that Tildest Good Tidings," "Glory to God in the Highest," "For Unto Us a Child is Born," familiar areas to be sung include "Comfort Ye, My People and Ever, since last he visited for tenor, "But Who May Abide" for bass, "Rejoice Greatly" and "Come Unto Him" for soprano, and "The Shepherds Who Hark for also.

The program will be open without charge to students presenting their college I.D. cards. For those who do not have cards, a donation admission of fifty cents is to be asked. Children may be admitted free if accompanied by a responsible adult.

Teachers Sing "Messiah" Solos

The Chattanooga State Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Conroy, will present Handel's Messiah on Sunday, December 19, at 8 P.M. in Memorial Auditorium.

Professor Elmore McMurphy, of SMC's speech department, will be the soloist Mrs. J. M. Alderman, formerly vice teacher here and now connected with Madison College, will come to Chattanooga to sing the cantata solos in the oratorio.

FUTURE EVENTS
December 10—(Evening)—Dr. H. G. Veltner
December 11—(Film)—News Section
December 12—(Christmas Concert)—Lynn Wood Hall Choral-Diastemata solos
December 14—(Evening School)—Dr. Elva B. Gardner
December 17—(Evening)—Academy Chorus
December 18—(Messiah)—College Chorus
December 18—(Church)—Dr. H. G. Veltner, Baptism—Elder H. B. Beckler

COLLEGE PRESS BREAKS PRODUCTION RECORD IN BUSINESS VOLUME WHO'S WHO FOR '54-'55

By LESTER BILBA

The college press has reached an all-time high in volume of business and in net profit, according to W. R. Preston, manager. During the last twelve months the press volume of business has climbed to $1,300,000, and the books show a gain in profit over last year's record of that time. Traditionally, the press has been the mainstay of its history, and we are striving to do even better.

The modern printing plant is well equipped to do outstanding work in its field of publishing catalogs, brochures, college printing, and offset printing. Besides doing a lot of printing for the college, the press has accounts in Chattanooga, Atlanta, Tennessee, Athens, Rome and Cedarburg, Georgia, and several other surrounding areas. Being the one of our outstanding industries here at SMC, the press provides labor for about thirty-five colleges and academies situated in these areas. The heavy schedule at the press is usually bi-weekly, and monthly publications necessitate the efforts of students and full-time workers combined.

To give you an idea of what happens at the press, let us follow a copy of the ACCENT as it goes to the press in all phases through the different departments.

Who enters the press? Mr. Meyer, the plant superintendent, greets us and is happy for our visit. He introduces us to Mr. Anderson, proofreader in the composing room. Mr. Anderson taken to the press Mr. Anderson shows the copy for the layout page. He is the material for the ACCENT that is on the machine, except for some of the display type used in the headline. Mr. Philip Patterson is in charge of the typesetting department. After all the type is set, it is proofread and corrected. The different articles are then assembled onto pages and a final check is made for correct spelling and to see that everything is set up and taken to the press room where it is printed.

In the press room we see the first copy of the ACCENT as it comes off the press. It is not very clear and the type is light in some places that we can hardly read what it says. Carson Sykes, foreman of the press room, tells us that in such a large job as the ACCENT there is a lot of type and that some of it is new and some of it is high. Then proceeds to prepare the type to that it will all print even and make a nice clear paper. This process is known as "make-ready."

This is a partial view of the press room at the College Press.

After the ACCENT has been printed it is placed in the bindery. Here the foreman, Edward Edinger, hurriedly cuts and folds enough copies to be carried to the Friday morning chapel, where each student receives his copy. The remaining ACCENTS are addressed and mailed to its many subscribers. All this seems simple and rather quick but all the operations for each ACCENT require about one day. This gives you a small idea of some of the everyday occurrences at the press. There is one other department that is not visited by the ACCENT. The art department, under the direction and ink operation of Miss Langley, is a recent addition to the press. When a customer would like to have an idea of what his printing will look like, Hank draws up an attractive layout for him. Also in this department, the plates are made for the press. A real attraction in this department is the homemade camera for the purpose of taking a picture of the copy to be printed from the offset plate. This camera was made by the combined effort of Hank and a former employee, Warren Alexander.

Some of the newer equipment at the press is a proofpress, another Heidelberg press, and a subcut press. With these added pieces of equipment, the press has been able to better meet the increasing demand for better quality and quicker service. Mr. Preston informs us, "We are anxious that some prospective students prepare work here but, due to its heavy schedule and required skilled labor it will be almost necessary for them to have had some printing experience or have had printing classes. We have many students on our campus who would like to work here but we feel that we must give preference to those who have had some printing background."

Nine SMC students named will appear in the 1954 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." The selection of the nominees for this honor, according to the casting copy, is made by secret ballot from members of the Faculty and student societies. To be eligible for consideration a student must be a junior or senior having earned a minimum of 12 credits with a grade point average of not less than 1.5.

The students chosen were judged by their leadership initiative, their religious and educational standing, and by their participation in extra-curricular activities.

Fredi Whittle

Fredi Whittle, a senior from Toledo, Ohio, finishes with a major in religion and a minor in history. He plans to take up evangelism work when his formal education is completed. While at SMC he has been president of the sophomore class, manager of the radio station, S. S. superintendent, vice president of the Student Association, and for the last two years, he has acted as assistant dean.

Frank McMillan

Frank McMillan, a senior with a major in business and economics and a minor in religion, is manager of the Southern Mountain Association. His plans for work run along lines of business administration. He has been business manager of the SOUTHERN ACCENT and chairman of the student committee on publications.

Gredy Smoot

Gredy Smoot from Ellijahville, Tennessee, graduates this year with a double major in history and economics and business, a major in education. He plans to teach. Gredy has been editor of the Southern Banner, president of the Student Association, and is the president of the Senior class.

Olavi Wurt

Olavi Wurt from Loma Linda, California, plans to be heading back to work when he graduates this year with a major field in physics, and a minor in mathematics. He has held the offices of student manager of the radio station, WSMC, vice president of the Junior class, president of the Club Officer's Council, S. S. leader, president of the Nature Club.

Durichek Joins City Orchestra

The Chattanooga Symphony orchestra has added a new member, John Durichek, playing the alto, a new 14-1/2-year-old member of the eighty-member orchestra. He also plays with the smaller, forty-five member orchestra which gives concerts on Tuesdays. John considers it a privilege to play with this group.

ATS Demonstrates Caravan Program

John Botsford, student president of the American Temperance Society at Southern Methodist College, led out on the 11 o'clock worship service on Saturday, November 20, when the local chapter devoted "Christianity, Face the Issues" in the Seventy-day Adventist Tabernacle-Adamsville in Collegedale.

This meeting is a demonstration of a typical service of the Temperance Caravan, which will travel to churches, schools, and civic groups in the surrounding Southern States. The Caravan consist of three faculty members and more students and will present programs on invitation to any club, school, or church desiring to learn more about the effects of alcohol on the body.

Dr. Adrian Lantzen, chairman of the division of fine arts at this college, in sponsor of the local chapter and is qualified to launch a program of this type, having been a divisional director of the American Temperance League a number of years.

Saturday's service consisted of the following talks by students and faculty members:

"Alcoholic Beverages Defined," by Professor Norman L. Kregstad; "Why Do People Drink Alcoholic Beverages?" by Wayne Taylor, "Physiological Effects of Ethyl Alcohol," "Highway to Hell," "Alcohol and Physical Safety," Buddy Hildley.

"Alcohol and Skills" was devoted to two talks by Herman Bauman and Janey Jamon, concerning athletics and business skills.

"Alcohol, Economics, and Revenue," by Mike Kubool; "Alcohol as a Food," by Jona Lynn, Alcohol and Advertising," by John Bottlesed; "Alcohol and Youth," by Lynda Mulford, and Alcohol and You," by Ronald Jensen.

The concluding summary was given by Dr. Lantzen under the topic, "This is Not a Hopeless Fight."

The aim of our temperance caravan, says Dr. Botsford, is to enlighten more people in the movement and to acquaint the citizenry in the surrounding communities with the facts about ethyl alcohol.

College Band Elects Officers, Reveals Plans

The SMC band under the direction of Norman L. Kregstad has recently elected officers to serve for the remainder of the school year. They are the following: president, David Messinger; vice president, Lee Kniss, secretary, Arriano Mazon.

More activities are planned for the band than in previous years reports Messinger. This group has already presented one chapel program, and present plans include several more for the second semester, along with programs at the Memorial Day picnic. Then there will be the annual appearance on work festival day, and the spring concert in April.

MENC Organizes Elects Officers

Wednesday, November 3, the MENC Education majors met to elect officers for a newly reactivated organization, the Southern Missionsary College student chapter No. 377 of the Miss. Educators National conference.

This is a group composed of those who with other students throughout the nation are preparing to become more educators and function as a part of the larger MENC, composed of the nation's leading teachers of education.

The officers elected are as follows: president, Robert LeBar, vice president, Fred Greenleaf, secretary, Carol McClure, associate secretary, Fatty Gilbert.

James Roy McKinney

James Roy McKinney, the president of the SMC Student Association for this year, is a senior pre-med student. His major is religion and minor is chemistry. He has served as MV leader and president of the Intercollegiate relations club.

Fred Greenleaf

Fred Greenleaf, a Freshman from Colorado, is a senior with a double major in education and history, and a minor in secondary education. He has served in different capacities while at SMC, some of his offices being superintendent of the chapel Sabbath school, assistant MV leader, church deacon, vice president of the senior class, and former editor of the ACCENT.

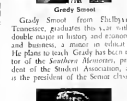

John Bottlesed

John Eugene Bottlesed is a junior in theology with a minor in education. He aims to be either foreign mission work in connection with the young people's department. John is the president of the Collegiate chapter of the ATS and also the pastor of his class.

Mike Kubool

Michael I. Kubool, from Maum, graduates next year with a major in theology and a minor in history. His ambition is to preach the gospel either in a native or as a foreign missionary. Mike has served as president of the Future Ministers Club, seminar band leader, vice president of the ATS, and as chairman of the student committee on religious activities.

Olavi Wurt

Olavi Wurt from Loma Linda, California, plans to be heading back to work when he graduates this year with a major field in physics, and a minor in mathematics. He has held the offices of student manager of the radio station, WSMC, vice president of the Junior class, president of the Club Officer's Council, S. S. leader, president of the Nature Club.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY ALUMNI NEWS

Editors - Bruce Anderson, John Freeman
REPRINTS for the issue: Amy Bushnell, Cherie Feller,
Paul Hazan,
Staufing Hill

Sheddi Hilton
Wendell Johnson
Joanna Miller
Dave Paul,
Tom Smith

Think This Over . . .

Have you ever wondered why academy students express extreme satisfaction when the professor announces that due to the fact that he has an important meeting, class will not be held for that day? I have. So have the people who work in the accounting office. They know that every class period costs the average academy student taking four and one-half units of class work 86 cents.
Are you paying for something you don't want? That type of thing is unusual. I hope you're not.

It seems that some, if not many, students' sense of values are distorted to the point that if the teacher doesn't tell funny stories and give light assignments the student would just as soon sit at home as come to school.

That's putting it rather harshly, of course, but really we're here to get an education! We're paying for it, so why miss it?
The older folks kiddingly said that the younger generation is "going to pot." Of course this isn't true, but there could be something to it. Maybe it would help if we listened to our elders more.
It is said: "Teenagers are those who know so much, yet show it so little."

Dad, your parents get a college education? If they did, did they get as much help as you? Think that over. The main purpose of this editorial is to impress upon all the need to get moving--not waste time--and above all, take an interest in school work and do some real studying.

Voice of Democracy Contest Held

State Representatives Eugene Collier and Leonard Ayman awarded
Voice of Democracy contest winners
Albert Crippack, Myers Blyden and Troy Doyles first prize when they spoke to the chapel group on Monday, November 29.
The Joyce-Kovos contest was conducted in Collegiate Academy under the direction of Cecil Abernathy, and representation of the prizes was the election of winks of deference to the part of 15 students in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades.
All three winners are members of the senior class; Albert Crippack captured first prize and received a radio Myra Nelson and Jerry Bryndon took second prize and each received a Parker 21 pen.

Other students who participated in the contest and were eligible to win it again next year are:
Bruce Anderson, Mary Bell, Velma
Holcombe, Doris Krugstad, and Tom
Smith, 11th grade;
Robert Burke, Janice Cates, Paul
Hagan, James Leary, David Paul, and
Bobby Trawick, 11th grade;
Louise Thompson, 12th grade.

Home-Ec Class Visits Bakery

Members of the Academy home economies class visited the Colonial Bakery in Chattanooga on Sunday afternoon, November 14, under the supervision of Miss Leola Castle, instructor.

As the group was shown through the bakery, they viewed the step-by-step method of making cinnamon rolls.
The group of the dough to the finished loaf wrapped and ready for delivery to customers.

Points of special interest included the large amount of dough mixed at one time, the large ovens, the cleanness, and the delicious buns given as samples.

Academy Forum Shows Improvement

By BAUCE ANDERSON
The purpose of student government is to aid the school's administration in keeping the organization running smoothly and giving the students a share in the running of his school to each student. The develops a sense of responsibility as to the part the student plays in the school. That the students of the Academy are capable of accepting this responsibility was demonstrated in the Threshing festival on November 23.
This was the second open meeting of the Student Forum during this school year. It is a contrast to the behavior on a previous occasion.

Morning Classes Provide Novelty

Men of the Academy students got up bright and early in time for 7:30 classes on Tuesday, November 23.
Since the college adjustment of the Threshing festival on the 23rd, it was necessary for the academy to hold classes on the morning in order to get the allotted number of days.

The majority of students eventually made it to the night classrooms despite the change in room numbers. Local to the meeting, the students were ranging from 7:30 to 7:00. It is a great thing for the regular 30 minute class periods, while academy classes were 40 minutes long. That necessitated our meeting with the teachers.

However, all this had its advantages, because at noon we were still through with our classes and could leave for the Threshing festival.

COMMUNITY LIFE - LIGHTS

By VELMA HOLCOMBE
The Threshing season is over, and with it, vacation I hope no one gets enough new tummy to make them tick.

We have a mock community student where I wish to welcome to this time, Mrs. Beckler. Here is an old student here at Collegedale, but has moved from the annex to the community since her parents moved here.

The community students have been energetic during the Threshing vacation. Some have been working, and some have been enjoying an other activities I don't know what all have done, but I have kept up with a few.

Both McFellan enjoyed a week-end with her parents before Threshing ended. Rose Boleau, Bobby Jean Bryson, Shirley Jones, Jacky Becker, Ruth McClair, Lillian Lang, Arlene Kar-son, Barbara Leason, and Aileen Walton worked during the vacation time.

The students from Cleveland, Tennessee--Tom Smith, Robert Hill, Buddie Lennox, Edward Hill, Joyce Wellman, and Marian Hill, spent a relaxing quiet vacation at home.

I was delightfully surprised when my mother came up to spend the weekend and she, and her husband came up the next week end. We had a wonderful time together.

One third of this school year is now over, and two thirds of the semester is gone. Does it seem possible?
It is hard to believe that Christmas is so near.

Well, so long for this time I hope everyone was satisfied with his grades for the second period. If you were not, I am sure you know what to do about it . . .

Oh, Wel Vacation is Over Now!

By JULIE AUSTERMANN

"Over so soon?" That was the wit-bered exclamation following Thanksgiving vacation. Most of the academy students went home, but there were a number--such as the Texans, the Spanish students, and other folks far from home--who had to remain on the campus.

The school here prided entertainment every night. Skating on Tuesday night, games, popcorn, delicious apples were enjoyed by all in the kitchen on Wednesday night. After folks had rested a bit from their Threshing-vacation dinner, they started to make Educational films were shown in the chapel on Thursday night.

The regular academy faculty also well used up their vacation. Here are a few examples:

Miss Frances Anderson, English teacher, visited her parents in Alexandria, Virginia.

Miss Leola Castle, home economics teacher, went to Flint, Michigan, to visit some close friends and to see some snow.

Miss Margaret Steen, Spanish teacher, got a little glimpse of a new grandchild at the home of her daughter in Britton Springs, Michigan.

We community students who have been at Collegedale, also had a fine time. Maxam Hazell was much surprised to find one evening upon opening her front door, a living room full of friends to celebrate her 16th birthday. Approximately 38 village students were present.

Thanksgiving vacation is over, but remember, it is only three weeks until Christmas vacation starts!

Students Attend Great Books Discussions

The Great Books Marathon is now well under way. Three hundreds of students under the leadership of Mrs.
Kathleen McMurphy, chairman of the Language and Literature Division, attended a discussion of Plato's Apology of Socrates at the Chattanooga Public Library on October 20. Another two classes attended a discussion of Plotinus's Republic November 3. Both groups were led by Mrs. Anderson. In addition the educational benefits they derived from discussing these masterpieces of Western literature with other thoughtful students of Chattanooga. Many were impressed with the fact that Socrates, who lived long before Christ (427-348 B.C.), taught the men of his time to love their country, should worship only God, and should die rather than commit an evil deed.

On Monday evening, November 8,
Elder Elmore McMurphy, professor of religion and speech at Southern Methodist College, discussed "The Confessions of St. Augustine" and the first two chapters of Genesis at the fourth year group. Dr. December 8, Anderson's Ethics Book I, will be the topic, and the next discussion will cover Aristotle's Politics on January 5.

Who Are Attending the Great Books Discussions?

Candidates for this year's Great Books Marathon are as follows: Wilbur Bishop, David Chapman, Johnny Culp, Edmund Fenn, Abigail Fenn, Carpenter Hoodstad, Anne Kruse, Run-don Smith, Betty Lewis, Margaret Marriott, Fattie Miller, Tom Phillips, Jay-clay Pine, Vernon Smith, Pat Welch,

Those who have attended the discussions so far include Bruce Anderson,
David Bauer, Wilbur Bishop,
Johnny Culp, Ted Deitch, Emmanuel
Fenn, Abigail Fenn, George Gager,
Fern Gibson, Norman Galley, Richard Harty, Carolyn Hoodstad, Kevin La-telle, Fattie Miller, James Ray McKinney, Tom Phillips, Peter Read, Edward Vick, Olan Vise.

Many of these have participated albeit in a discussion, but the central button of the following are outstanding.
Emmanuel Fenn, Richard Harty,
Kevin Latell, Edward Vick, Olan
Vise, and Johnny Culp.

In addition to those already mentioned, the following are planning to attend Great Books discussions occasionally during the year: Professor Clyde Bushnell, Professor Elmore J.
McMurphy, Miss Frances Anderson,
Mrs. Henry Baulch, Judith Gannon,
Carol Hoffmeyer, Larry Marvin,
Joyce Pines, Edna Marie Bell Severs, and Ava Sankelander Walter Ward, who received the Great Books Marathon award last year. Dr. Anderson attend a more advanced group this year.

Mary Phyllis-Bjers, S. J. C. '34, on the faculty at Atlanta College, where she has taught home economics for several years.

Jermie Clark Boatman, S. J. C. '30,
Miss. Monteney, N. L. Mexico.
Mrs. H. A. Broadwick, is studying medals at the University of Mexico.
They have two sons.

Arlene Chambers-Wade, S. J. C. '31, is married to a miner, Arthur E.
Wade and they have two children.
They live at 52 Court Street, Canton,
New York.

Alvin Lombard, S. M. C. '31, is now connected with the Stearns Special Road's, Bradford, Pennsylvania.

Melissa Zachary-Taylor, S. J. C. '30, and husband, who have been on the staff of Atlanta Union College for several years, have moved to 1st annex. They have three children.
Department They have a daughter,
Doona.

Katherine Chambers-Phillips, S. J.
C. '30, lives in Springfield, Missouri,
and has two children, her husband,
Dr. William Phillips, is on the staff of the Federal Prison, and they are at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Missouri.

Miss Ethel Darr, S. J. C. '27, writes: "It was indeed a pleasure to receive the directory of the Alumni of my Alma Mater. I am glad for an opportunity to bring me of my old friends and former students, for I was my privilege to teach for me at Southern Junior College." Her address is 750 E. Amherst, Englishwood, Covington, Tennessee.

Annie Alice Chambers, S. J. C. '40 is teaching English at Oklawaha
Senior College, Oklawaha, Ontario.

Shirlean Peterson, S. M. C. '52, is now working for the Lema Lead
Food Company in Kansas City, Missouri. Her address is 2912 McLaugh-lan Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri.

J. Thomas Galley, S.J.C. '31, formerly at 7505 Garland Avenue, Takoma Park, D. C. is now living with his family at Collegedale.

- (1) Teaches you how to think independently. (2) Teaches you how to reason. (3) Teaches you how to write easily and well. (4) Acquaints you with the greatest thinkers of the human race--those who have changed the course of history. (5) Helps you make friends with thoughtful people who will be leaders in our community. (6) Helps you broaden your intellectual horizons. (7)
Attracts Adventists by showing that we too are thoughtful, resourceful, people, eager to learn as well as to teach.

Already, then are students that the participation of our students in the Great Books program has gained a favorable impression to and seventh year Adventists and Southern Methodists. All of them are the part of our men and women who are leaders in the Christian community.

All who engage in the acquisition of knowledge should strive to reach the highest round of the ladder. Let the Great Books program be as firm as they can, let the field of their study be as broad as their powers can compass.
--Chambers to Teachers, p.
324.

Honors Awarded SMC Teachers

Dr. George Nelson has been chosen as a member of the executive committee of the American Chemical Society, Chattanooga section.

The election took place Tuesday,
November 30 at Brock Hill, University of Chattanooga.

Lawrence Hughes, of SMC's biology department, attended a joint meeting of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene and the American Society of Parasitologists, which was held at Memphis, November 3-5.
Professor E. M. Kennedy, now on leave to study at the University of Tennessee, was elected vice-president of the American Tropical Division of the Tennessee Association of Student Teaching.

Watch the next ACCENT for a major change in format.

THE HERALD

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, January 21, 1955

Number 5

True Courtesy Week Begins Tomorrow; Full Program Slated

Courtesy week will begin tomorrow when Professor Bushnell introduces at the 11:00 hour. Dr. Hammill will present its practical aspects in his talk at the 11:30 morning chapel period. He spent yesterday Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday nights the dormitory students, with those of the village who are able to come, will be demonstrated the night and the wrong way to make introductions, seat a lady, enter a public building with an escort, etc. For a date, conduct one's self at a jobbing program or other public gathering.

Another evening will be dedicated to the answering of the questions on the question box, while Thursday evening's feature will be the film, "Courtesy in Confession." Theory staff has been delayed Reverse Courtesy day.

Says Me Bushnell, "If courtesy is contagious, why shouldn't an epidemic sweep over the grounds of SMC like a wild fire? The flu has found no bacteria here it couldn't survive. Why should this benevolent epidemic of courtesy be checked here on the campus of SMC, known far and near for its personal hygiene and courtesy, when its success depends simply on following the principle of the Golden Rule?"

But to successfully communicate this epidemic of courtesy there must be sent many carriers. We're counting on you, and you, and you. Courtesy week comes each year in cooperation with the student and faculty committees on each education.

TO THE HIGH SCHOOL AND ACADEMY SENIORS Southern Union

Each high school and academy senior in Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida is invited to be the guest of the Student Association of Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, April 3 and 4, 1955, for the College Day celebrations.

Registration begins at 11:00 A. M. Sunday, April 3, 1955. The pastor of the nearest Seventh-day Adventist church will arrange for transportation if you will contact him. If there are any questions, please write to me for the answers.

The students of Southern Missionary College are looking forward to the privilege of meeting you April 3 and 4, 1955.

JAMES RAY MCKINNEY
Student Association President

Over 100 Student Members Assume Church Responsibilities

Three hundred and seventeen of our members were elected for 1955 by the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist church on December 15, the nominations having been presented to the church for consideration the previous two Sabbaths. One hundred and nine of the new officers of the church are students.

Among the college and academy students elected to prominent positions in the local church are Ellen Adams, a biology and history major, as MV leader; David Henikins, premedical student, as associate MV leader, and Sam C. Inouard, premedical student, as president of the Chapel Sabbath school division. Grady Simms, last year's Student Association president and this year's president of the senior class, a history and economics major, was elected to the religious liberty secretary of the church. Elected assistant MV leaders were Robert Anzures, Her-

The modern Collegedale Clinic serves the College community as well as Adventist and Quaker, in a well-lighted, air-conditioned, modern, and is equipped to handle minor surgery.

Dr. Van Blaricum Joins Clinic Staff; Treats Approximately 50 Patients Per Day

Thirty-five to fifty patients have come to the Collegedale Clinic on a daily average since the arrival of the college doctor, James Van Blaricum, on December 7, reports Mrs. Betty Suter, secretary of the clinic. Collegedale Clinic, a modern, establishment representing an investment of roughly $23,000, is the first unit of a planned sanitarium to serve the communities of Apison, Collegedale, and Ooltahaw. As the result of ten years of thought and planning, the first segment of the building program was begun in November, 1953, and completed in April, 1954.

The medical service, first located in the girls' home, where it transferred to the basement of the administration building, remained there until last April. In its present four-building site the clinic employs four full-time workers—a medical doctor, two registered nurses, and a secretary.

The doctor, James Van Blaricum, a member of the Hamilton County Medical Society, and belongs to the surgical staff at Bradley Memorial Hospital at Cleveland, Tennessee. Though he is a native of Cincinnati, most of his medical practice has been in Tennessee, beginning with an internship at Knoxville General Hospital in 1947. Dr. "Van," as he is generally called, has been on the staff of Emerald-Hodges Hospital at Sevierville, and also of the Winchester Hospital.

Serving in the United States Army from October 1953 to June 1946, he returned to the College of Medical Education at Loma Linda, California, to complete his training. He again connected with the Army in July, 1947, as chief of anesthesia and operating table at the Valley Forge General Hospital. The doctor had attended Madison College in this state from 1939 to 1937 and received his bachelor of arts and pre-medical degrees at Emmanuel Missionary College, Brecken Springs, Mich. in 1945.

(Continued on page 3)

College Officials Stage Inspection

An inspection delegation chosen by the finance committee of the college toured the Collegedale campus January 4 taking notice of ways in which improvements in operations and procedures can be made.

The committee, which is to continue periodical inspections until the end of the school year, is composed of four members with the business manager, Dr. L. N. Helm as chairman. Working with him are Prof. H. H. Kuhlman, chairman of the faculty committee on health, Mrs. H. H. Kuhlman, director of the health service, and Mr. G. R. Peerman, in charge of the maintenance department.

Dr. Helm reports that the committee has found the industries to be doing a "rather acceptable job, in most ways," but it has found a few weak spots such as unsatisfactory wiring, or positions of cleanliness that might contribute, if left, to fire hazards or unsatisfactory working conditions. These inspections, which are to be repeated unannounced every month or six weeks, will have the purpose of strengthening the organization of the college. For each department will receive a report of the committee findings, and be expected to improve in light of the next inspection.

Says Dr. Helm, "Inspections are not made with the idea of embarrassing anyone, or criticizing what he is doing, but only to be able to recognize our own weaknesses and needs, and to make improvement."

ATS Achieves 100 Per Cent Membership First Time in History of SMC

MV Presents Five-Point Program; Conference Speakers

The Collegedale Missionary Volunteer Society under the leadership of Joel Timmons presented a series of five special programs the week end of January 13 to 14. The special program for the series were: V. Scherer, MV and educational secretary for the American Union, R. W. Numbers, pastor of the Chattanooga Seventh-day Adventist church, D. W. Hunter, MV secretary for the Georgia-Carolinian Conference, L. M. Nelson, MV Secretary for the Southern Union, and E. W. Foster, MV Secretary for the Florida Conference.

Aim of the 'Five-Point Program' was "to present the world's needs and how we, as youth, can remedy them." The theme of the series was the question from the book Elevation "Will the greatest want of the world be a want of men — men who will not be bought or sold, men who in their inmost souls are free and honest, men who do not fear to call sin by its right name, men whose conscience is as true to duty as the needle to the pole, men who will stand for the right though the heavens fall!"

The first program was joint worship (Continued on page 2)

The students and faculty of Southern Missionary College are now enrolled 100 per cent in the Collegedale Chapter of the American Temperance Society. This is the first time this has been accomplished in the history of this college.

Every student and every teacher of the students. The officers of the Southern Missionary College Chapter of the American Temperance Society think each member for his legal cooperation. Special mention should be made of Lynda Maddox, at present of Maule, Jozer Hall, on leave to SMC from England. Miss Maddox is personally accountable for enrolling over 70 students to join the American Temperance Society.

Concerning the enrolling of every student and faculty member, John Stafford, president of the Collegedale Chapter, says, "This is an achievement of which each member can be proud, for it is the individual member who made this possible."

Dr. W. E. Bevens, associate secretary of the General Conference Temperance Society, and editor of the temperance periodical, Chapter Exchange, will be on the SMC campus February 10-13.

An Invitation

It is with pleasure that the faculty and the Student Association of Southern Missionary College extend to all Seventh-day Adventist high school and academy seniors or anyone ready for college work an invitation to spend April 3 and 4 as guests on our campus.

The fully accredited liberal arts college was established to provide higher education for young people who are interested in the Adventist way of life. As one of that group, we invite you and urge you to come to visit our school and to spend a day and two nights with us in order the see for yourself the type of college training that we are giving.

Although we are a growing school and our needs are many, yet we are proud of the spiritual and scholastic program being offered here to train future workers.

We sincerely hope that it will be our pleasure to have you with us our Annual College Day. The local pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church in your town will be glad to arrange the transportation. While at the college, you will be our guests, of course.

RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean

New BS Degree Given in Nursing

Recently, due to the demand for better-educated nurses, SMC has instituted an enlarged program which leads to a bachelor of science degree in nursing, according to information released by the registrar's office.

Under this new program the student spends one year at SMC, studying basic sciences. After that, the prospective nurse will study for 27 months in the state's leading nursing school at the Florida Sanitarium in Orlando, Florida. The final step is two more years of study in a state school of which the bachelor's degree in nursing is granted.

It is expected that many students will enroll in this new curriculum

FUTUREEVENTS

January 21 — President's Benefit Program

January 21 — Presentation of the Senior Class of 1955

February 5 — Temperance Society

February 10-13 — Ghana's Pavilion

February 10-13 — SOUTHERN MEMORIAL BENEFIT PROGRAM

Students have been requested to share in this program also. Along with making suggestions on the industries and areas of employment, they are urged to improve the campus by being careful about the disposal of waste paper and trash.

Helen Blanton, R. N.

DR. VAN BLARJUM JOINS STAFF
Continued from page 1
The two registered nurses, Mrs. H. Blanton and Mrs. R. C. Mirelle, are graduates from the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital School of Nursing.

Mrs. Jeanne Van Blarjum

Dr. Jeanne Van Blarjum, M. D., gives multiple physical examination. Other medical equipment covers electrotherapy, diathermy, laboratory work. The clinic is able to handle minor surgery.

Messrs. Kuhlman, R. N.

shaded by a vertical type of nylon lattice in green. Woodwork throughout has a distressed finish. Plans for expansion to be consulted with funds on hand, show the next unit to be added is a 30 bed general hospital with operating rooms, its own laboratory and the other facilities to be found in the modern hospital.

Students Attend Sandburg Lecture

Several carloads of students journeyed to the University of Tennessee in Knoxville on Tuesday, January 18, to hear Carl Sandburg. Pulitzer prize winner and famous biographer of Abraham Lincoln.

ALUMNI NEWS

During the Christmas holidays several SMAC men were on the campus. Elder and Mrs. A. H. Riffel, both of the class of '32, were here visiting.

Religious Liberty Leaders Attend POAU Conference

Grady Smoot, associate religious liberty secretary for the Collegiate Church, and Cecil Abernathy, assistant religious liberty secretary at Washington, D. C., attending meetings of the POAU Conference.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)

Janetta Cobb-Sparks, '34, and husband attended the Colporteur Institute held at SMC December 27 - January 1. They have recently moved from North Carolina to Madison College, H. P. Hill, '52, from Heidelberg College, North Carolina, also attended the institute.

1954 AS SEEN BY WESTERMAYER

Come, ye'll, and let us look Over all our annual blood
How we'll see in '54.
Days of peace, and clouds of war
Have more all other pictures of 1954

The world was so confusing, before, that even those countries to which we never did send food, money, or other assistance, went mad at us.

McCarthyism There was also pressuring, song, laughter and friendship. What a more, there was a deepening of interest in and respect for religion.

delinquency war was declared on questionable terms.
Several leaders from abroad visited the United States, including an angel — and it was about time I refer to the angel of Desdemona, our more religious liberty secretary at Washington, D. C., attending meetings of the POAU Conference.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
J. J. Miller, '53, and family are located about 14 miles east of Buena Vista, Kentucky. Miller has been a cross-mission evangelist, plus building a new church. Their address is Box 81, Louisville, Kentucky.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

By SHANNON

time came to go, not a one of them showed up. That's the kind of thing I mean—a whub-nub, let-John-do-it attitude.

something that erecing I must have touched the wall spot, for the next day Shoney was different. He made his bed, swept the floor, wrote you folks a letter, actually got out his books and studied his Resolutions. I was holding my breath.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT
By SHANNON
something that erecing I must have touched the wall spot, for the next day Shoney was different.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Betsy J. Binstock-McMillan, 301 W. Mountain, Fayetteville, Arkansas. We read the ACCENT with excitement from the front page to the back.

"I'm really happy to meet you, Mr. Austin." Shoney's mother was saying with a smile. "My husband and I have been curious to see you and find out what's the secret process you've used on our boy. Honestly, he's not the same person. For a month now we've gotten a letter from him but not once a week, and then just five weeks ago, we got a wedding anniversary, what would have been special delivery, but the booklet card addressed to the 'wonderful parents in the world.'" Dad said I thought we'd better come up here and find out what the world was happening." Mrs. McHenry's eyes were alight with interest as she looked up into the face of a young slightly mischievous young man from Texas whose hand she had forgotten to release for the moment. She suggested that they go to the waiting room where they could talk it over without being bothered by the boys who were coming and going all the while in the hall.

"No, the fact is that the datus is not full of immature ideas. By that I mean that they don't have a clear idea of how to act their part in this play. Most of them want to play the part of the clown all the time. Give me a serious part and they fold up. For instance, a week or so ago the young lady in charge of Southern Branch told me that a number of the fellows had promised her to give talks out at the Old Folks' Home or at the T. B. Sanitarium, but when the time came to go, not a one of them showed up. That's the kind of thing I mean—a whub-nub, let-John-do-it attitude. And when I saw Shoney doing something like that I just couldn't let him get away with it."

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Mrs. and Mr. Robert Lee and baby son, Robert Vernon, born November 16, 1954, in the hospital of Mrs. Robert Lee last week. Robert, '54, is teaching at the Louisville, Kentucky, Junior Academy.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Loving in a university town and being connected with the school here makes it a little more like home at the Christy system of education as found in our schools. It is superior in so many ways to the education of the world.

"Well, it's wonderful. That's all I can say. He's dead, he's not disgraced when Shoney's last bill came, and when he had he worked twenty-five dollars a week, he asked his own salary. "Frank me Mother I would be asleep Somebody must have made a terrible mistake up on that accounting office. But no, it wouldn't be as that terrible. But what's happened?"

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
L. J. Miller, '53, and family are located about 14 miles east of Buena Vista, Kentucky. Miller has been a cross-mission evangelist, plus building a new church. Their address is Box 81, Louisville, Kentucky, Junior Academy.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Loving in a university town and being connected with the school here makes it a little more like home at the Christy system of education as found in our schools. It is superior in so many ways to the education of the world.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Loving in a university town and being connected with the school here makes it a little more like home at the Christy system of education as found in our schools. It is superior in so many ways to the education of the world.

ALUMNI NEWS (continued)
Loving in a university town and being connected with the school here makes it a little more like home at the Christy system of education as found in our schools. It is superior in so many ways to the education of the world.

Senior Class Presents 55 Graduates for '55

Empathy Is a Must Says Supt. Dertwick To Graduating Class

It would be wonderful if we could be so possessed with the spirit of empathy we would draw and be drawn to others." With this remark, L. G. Dertwick, opened the main part of his address to the preparatory graduates of 1955 at the senior presentation held in chapel, January 28.

The ceremony took place in the Lynn Wood Hall chapel, and the first three rows of seats were filled with lynched men.

The class, presented by Mrs. Elva Walter, registrar, was accepted by Dr. Richard Hornell, dean, acting in place of President K. A. Wright due to his illness. Hearty congratulations from the president containing congratulatory and best wishes arrived before the presentation began.

There are 55 potential graduates in the presented class. Thirty-two of them are married, and seven are veterans. Forty-one have come from outside of Southern Union, and 10 of them are from other countries.

These young people, remarked Dr. Hornell in his speech of acceptance, "represent what this school is accomplishing."

Southern Memories Concludes Campaign With $168 in Prizes

The Southern Memories has finished its annual campaign under the direction of Francis Kellen, business manager. The campaign began on December 6, and the deadline for submissions on prizes was February 1.

December 6, the opening day for the campaign, the chapel program began in usual, but then the customs were opened to display two large year books, one with last year's cover and the other with a question mark depicting the 1955 Southern Memories and the campaign was under way. The program began with a skit on the park, showing Patsy Gilbert and Bobby Green and their unique way to ask for sales. Then the prizes were announced with special musical numbers, consisting of the trumpet trio, guitar trio, men's quartet and baritone solo. The prizes are as follows:

Grand Prize—17 jewel yellow gold Berens wrist watch valued at $50 and presented by the College Industries in gold box, for boy or girl.
First Prize—6 girls' and boys' under-Sheriff's newest sport of 1/2 in and 1/2 in set valued at $24 and presented by the College Industries in a choice of color and packed in a gift box.

Second Prize—1 set of the Testamony or Conflict of the Ages series valued at $17.50, or 1 set of the White's books presented by the Cato Ink Book and Book House.

Third Prize—1 set of the Conflict of the Ages series valued at $17.50 presented by the Georgia Cumberland Industries Book House.

Fourth Prize—1 new Seventh day Adventist Commentary valued at $8.00 presented by the Florida Book and Bible House.

Fifth Prize—1 new Seventh-day Adventist Commentary valued at $8.00 presented by the Alabama-Mississippi

Contagious Courtesy Causes an Epidemic

Along to a slogan "Courtesy as contagious, let's start an epidemic," the student and faculty committees on social education sponsored the annual Southern Missionary College courtesy week from January 16 to 22.

The Christian aspect of courtesy were presented in the Sabbath morning church service by Professor Cyril Buschell, chairman of the faculty committee on social education. He emphasized that courtesy is one of the marks of a true Christian.

Questions on practical courtesy were discussed in joint worship Sunday evening by a panel consisting of Dr. Rash and Hornell, Miss Leola Cagle, Mrs. Lorena Ausbriman, Kathryn Woolley, and Mike Kibbold. This "courtesy panel" answered questions on etiquette ranging from the proper way to answer a telephone to the greatest ways to decline a date put to them by Ann Maxwell, Bob Ingram, and Bob Addison.

Dr. Richard Hornell, in the Monday morning chapel hour, spoke on the different phases of good courtesy in a friendly, forthright manner, he pointed out specific instances of unbecoming actions that had been noted during the school year. James Ausbriman, chairman of the student committee on social education, announced the plan for the awarding of courtesy pins to deserving individuals. Fifteen students, she pointed out, had been selected by her committee to act as observers to watch for individuals displaying unbecoming courtesy traits. The pins were awarded publicly during the week.

The first courtesy pins were awarded (Continued on page 2, col 5)

Student Association Reveals Park Plans -- Amphitheater, Picnic Area, and Bird Sanctuary

SA Health-Recreation Committee Receives Dean Kinsey Chairman

Dean Kinsey, chairman

RIC Prayer Bands Get New Leaders

The Religious Interest committee of the Student Association, under the chairmanship of Mike F. Kibbold, has released the names of the prayer band leaders and assistants to officiate next semester. These prayer bands meet every Wednesday after a chapel program presented by the student or faculty committee on Religious Interest.

The leaders and their assistants are: Caryl Maddox, Joyce Banks; Myran Jensen, Frances Anderson; Delmas Mather, Margaret Hughes, Helen Cox, Geri Lead, Betty Seiler, La Rue Linder.

Ellen Adams, Marie Echols, Jeannette Meas, Shelly Hamer, Rebecca Buskley, Bernice Fillman, Ingrid Christensen, Charlotte Eldridge, Barbara Wash, Chymara Anderson.

Katherine Jones, Mae Esther Vok, (Continued on page 3, col 5)

Chairmanship of the student committee on health and recreation has been assumed by Dean Kinsey, former history major living in the college. His appointment fills the place left by the resignation of the former chairman, Dewey McJoleff.

The election, held Thursday and Friday, January 27, 28, resulted in the voting of 236 ballots. Opponent to Kinsey in the election was Julian Cogan, sophomore pre-med student. Final ballot count gave Kinsey 116 votes, Cogan 108, two votes disallowed.

Pending over the election was Chester Damm, SA vice president, killers were Don Belcher, Joyce Linton, and Kathryn Woolley.

Selection of candidates was made on the following criteria: Our Student Organization at W'ent, page 16 "to insulating nominations for the various Student Association elections, the Student Senate shall take into consideration the following requirements:

(I) Satisfactory academic standing.
(II) Grade point average of 1.00 in all courses at Southern Missionary College.

(III) Positive attitude to the ideals of the following criteria: Our Student Organization at W'ent, page 16 "to insulating nominations for the various Student Association elections, the Student Senate shall take into consideration the following requirements:

(IV) Experience in organizing activities.
(V) Special ability to register in each work as included in the duties of the particular office or position under consideration.

(VI) Special ability to register in each work as included in the duties of the particular office or position under consideration.

TENOR BEN GLANZER SINGS FOR SOCIETIES

Elder Ben Glanzer, of the General Conference ministerial department, presented a sacred vocal recital Sabbath afternoon, January 30, in the Collegedale tabernacle auditorium.

His selection consisted of well-known vocal solos. Miss Mabel Wood of the SMC music department accompanied him.

Sponsors of the concert were the Collegedale MV society and the Collegedale welfare society.

'Southern Memories' David Bauer, editor; Kathleen McMurphy, sponsor; and Francis Kellen, business manager, show the assortment of prizes for 'Memories' campaign. Winners will be announced later.

Book and Bible House
Book and Bible House
One 8 x 10 color photograph in frame with gold edge, valued at $5.00 presented by Cine Studios in Chattanooga.

Sixth Prize—One 300 page Metro Cook Book with 16 full page illustrations in color, valued at $3.00, presented by the Aluminum Manufacturing Company of Wisconsin.

Project Conceived in Industrial Arts Club Taken Over by SA

The Collegedale park project was presented to the student body Monday, January 31, in chapel.

This project was originated by the Industrial Arts club last year. The members decided to survey the area east of the little 1945, including the rock quarry and land north toward the wood shop to see if this area would be suitable for a park. After the surveying was completed they studied the possibilities of several projects. The first one included an amphitheater, picnic grounds, and a bird sanctuary.

After the Industrial Arts club had come to some definite plans for the project, it presented them to the Club Officers' Council, which in turn gave them the Student Association. The SA, with the cooperation of the club has taken up the fostering and carry on of the project.

In spite of the fact that these two groups carry most of the responsibility on initiation has been extended to all the clubs and organizations in the Collegedale community to offer support and assistance, making the plans a reality.

To this invitation many have answered quite liberally. According to Chester Damm, SA vice president and coordinator of the project, the administration has favored this idea wholeheartedly, offering financial as well as moral support. The club has donated $100 to build the amphitheater floor, and has shown willingness to help more as the construction gets under way.

Collegedale Jaycees also are supporting, having appropriated $75 for the building of forms for the tables. Enough funds were left over from this donation to build four tables and one fire place.

(Continued on page 2, col 5)

G. C. Seely's Beach Will Be Speaker, I-N Relations Week

International relations week will be celebrated on the campus of SMC, February 14-19 with Elder W. R. Beach as visiting speaker. Elder Beach, secretary of the General Conference of SDA, will conduct the meetings from Wednesday through Sabbath.

These meetings are sponsored jointly by the International Relations Club of which Carl Culpepper is president, Cheryl's Foreign Legion, Norman Collier, president, and the MV society, Elder Adams, leader.

The purpose of the week is to enlighten SDA youth to the way in which a man may find a closer understanding of the relations between the powers of the world, especially in the religious field.

Elder Beach has had approximately 25 years of service in the Southern European division, during his time between the young people's department and general administrative duties. Recently he has completed a tour of the Middle Eastern division.

In addition to his speaking appointments, Elder Beach will visit various classes held on the SMC campus, and will conduct as many individual interviews as possible, especially those desiring foreign mission service.

FUTUREEVENTS

Friday Vespers—Feb. 4, 7:30 P.M.
Chapel's Foreign Legion
Sabbath Services—Feb. 5, 11:00 A.M. Dr. C. E. Weniger, Speaker
Sabbath Night—Feb. 5, 8:00 P.M.
Beulah Film—"Paul Peter" Admittance—50c
Wednesday—Feb. 5, 11:00 P.M. World Returns
Friday Vespers—Feb. 11, 7:30 P.M.
Prayer Meeting—Feb. 11, 7:30 P.M.
Sabbath Night—Feb. 12, American Temperance Society
February 14-19, International Relations Week—W. R. Beach, Speaker

RADIO STATION WSMC OFFERS VARIED ENTERTAINMENT

By JENNETTE MAAS

This WSMC—the student voice of Southern Mississippi College—has most all of us here heard the foregoing announcement to the program of our own local radio station, WSMC. This station, though young in age, being about 4 years old, has by being an excellent outlet for student talent, and a training center for those students who are interested in radio, is building a radio station, operating one, or broadcasting.

In the year 1951, Miss Elaine Godsey, then head of the English department felt that the college should have a radio station so that the students could have practical training in live broadcasts. At the same time, Everett Tolson, a physics major and radio engineer, who lived on the trailer court began to think and plan for one way to broadcast cheap and snappy news. Mr. Tolson told that the families of married students should have the privilege of hearing the program as well as the members who attended school. He is taking a class of which his Godings was the teacher, and he has found that the way is unobstructed. Broadcasting stations he carried his own out and actually built a radio station with the control room on the second floor of the Admonitus building. Upon completion of the room, he moved to the main floor of the building. The transmitter is now located in a small house at the rear of Admonitus building. The entire outfit costs 25 cents of power.

Services Offered

At present, both dormitories, the fine courts, and the Hildegarde apartment can listen to the program. The local Communication Commission has granted them as live for a station of this kind and broadcast. Were it allowed to do so, the present station would broadcast to the entire community—two or 3 mile radius, at a cost of $100,000. This program is broadcast on Mondays, Wednesday and Friday. Dinner music is broadcast in the morning, and a special program is broadcast every Sunday night from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m. A large part of the night program is devoted to the news, and a special program is broadcast every Sunday night from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m. A large part of the night program is devoted to the news, and a special program is broadcast every Sunday night from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m. A large part of the night program is devoted to the news, and a special program is broadcast every Sunday night from 10:00 to 11:00 p.m.

listener's dream — an very few announcements, and so advertisements.

Recent pulls taken in the dormitories show that approximately eighty per cent of the dormitory students listen to the program. Women of married status are the largest group, followed by the also to the dormitory. The station has often received requests from the public, and the applicants to play various numbers.

Study is now being given to expand one. It is hoped that in the future the station will be able to serve the entire community, both with entertainment, news items and announcements.

Ollie Weir is the station manager for WSMC. Walter Ward, program manager, Ellen Adams is business director and her associates are Lynn Van Poble, Darvin McIntosh, and Wayne Taylor. Fred Eshbort is the technical director and Nelson Lettoll is his associate, with Jack Alexander and David Hicks as assistants. Professor Elmore, Ed Murphy is the faculty sponsor and Dr. Duke Goshall is the technical sponsor. In ten to your radio station—the student voice of Southern Mississippi College.

Seminar Plans to Crack Hard Nuts

Cracking the Hard Nuts is the name of the new series of meetings in the Moniteur Seminars to be held the new few Friday evenings at 6:30 P.M. in the Arts Chapel.

The subject to be presented are those most frequently misunderstood. The purpose of this series is to give the perspective disinterested worker practice in solving some of the problems which are in the minds of the new converts to the SDA demonstration.

After each meeting there will be a 10 minute open floor discussion in which questions will be asked and answered concerning the subject concerned.

This semester the moniteur and pre-medical students will be combined so that all factors will be presented to the members of the Moniteur Seminar.

The program to be presented are: January 29, The Rich Man and Lazarus—John Harris.

February 11, Meat Eating—Ollie Weir.

February 25, Nark to the Cross—Peter Reed.

March 1, Thief on the Cross—Dean Davis.

March 11, Azzazel the Scapegoat—Joel Tompkins.

Community and dormitory students are invited to be present and take part in the discussion.

College Broom Factory Provides $7 Million Dollars Labor for Student Workers

By MARLENE ENGLISH AND DAVID PATRICK

The College Broom Factory, one of the college industries, is one of the busy places on the campus. Over 21,000 dozens brooms were produced last year, according to Kenneth Boynton, assistant manager of the shop. The brooms produced ranged from a small toy broom to painter brooms that weigh up to three pounds.

The shop, said to be the largest in the Southeast, employs about 75 workers, most of which are students of the college. Many of the full-time workers are former students who learned their skills while in school at SMC.

Since its establishment the College

Broom Factory has provided half a million dollars in earnings to students.

The shop, a progressive one, is on the lookout for possible improvements, among the most recent being the new machine and the sprinker system. The sprinker, a fine protection machine, are a safety feature on the shop where the line dry dust from the broomshop has settled throughout the building.

The new warehouse, with a floor area of more than 5000 square feet, can hold up to twenty cuboids of corn. Previous to the construction of the building in 1953, the corn was stored in rented barns and other buildings in the area.

The factory produces a complete line of corn brooms, from the warehouse broom, weighing 10 pounds per dozen to toys and which brooms that weigh six pounds per dozen.

Some added to the production line is a new broom to be sold at a minimum price. It is to be called the "Mighty Mite" and has been developed to meet the demands on the part of church organizations for an article to sell to secure funds for various endeavors, such as church building, evangelism funds for church schools, Decca success, and Fishbinder jobs.

To get some idea of the broom making process, the plant is as follows. Broomcorn arrives at the warehouse in large bales which come a distance from the fields, but on closer examination prove to contain small stems which break into long straw-like fibers. The bales are taken from the warehouse, to the shop proper, where they are opened and the corn sorted and graded. The handle corn or old corn which goes on the inside of the broom is cut to length and the hair, or outer corn, goes through several steps of sorting and grading. The hair is then dipped in a synthetic oil and taken to a drying room where the plant is managed by the day.

Banning Personnel

Almost anywhere along the process one may find Mr. Frank Foy, manager of the shop. He may be hard to distinguish from any other worker in the shop, however, he may be seen with a calculator and cap he will be busy with whatever needs to be done at the time.

Leaving Mr. Foy, one finds the corn has been taken to the winders, the bales which serve as the base for the broom. Here it is where the first semblance of a broom may be seen. The corn is attached to the handle by means of a small square woven broom cord and handle. Next the broom is sorted to remove all weak and loose corn, then sorted to give it flat shape and bind the corn firmly together. The broom is next arranged for its appearance, the hair stripped off square, and the finished product is ready to be labeled and packed and on its way to the customer.

Back in the warehouse, Carl Smith is working in a large machine which recycles a giant wheel with a saddle on the end of each spoke. This is for work on a broom which will have corn and handle lashed together in its place, that will be passed around them. At present the plant broom is in the experimental stage.

The shop has two full-time and two part-time salesmen in the field, selling brooms throughout the territory east of the Mississippi, with the exception of the New England states.

PRAYER BANDS

(Continued from page 1)

Dwight, Helen, David Peterson, Jean Meyer, Winona Schreier, Nancy Matthews, Daphne Lyk, Connie Moffett, Connie Scott.

Shirley Lee Betty Bower, Don Butler, Bob Addison, James Feig, Don Hildebrand, Alex. Child, John Coggins, Helen Cady, Lee Beckler.

Ted Darnth, David Chapman, Jack Grimsby, Buddy Hanger, Jimmy Duke, George Miller, William Burkhardt, Burton Everett, Peter Reed, Johnny Ruskle.

Rebecca Lewis, Eugene Lettoll, John Pifer, Brian Wilcox, Larry Marvin, David McKeown, Harold Hildebrand, Leon Paul, Guss, Jim McClendon.

Daniel Nantz, Richard Young, Don Polson, David Hall, Dan Allen, James McClellan, Ronald Jensen, James Rogers, Larry McClure, Paul Bourles, Peter Ditzche, Winifred Lee, Thomas Thomas, Phil Grotter, Edward Vick, and Harold Wick.

Brooms produced by the College Broom Factory find outlet in many retail stores.

Don Kessy, a student worker, is shown at his job of stitching.

First Semester Honor Roll

Adams, Elbes	Garrard, Josephine	Oliver, John
Alexander, James	Gonzalez, Rene	Peterson, Elsie
Allen, Paul	Gutierrez, Jenny	Petrisko, Michael
Anderson, Cynthia	Hall, Dan	Petro, J. Vernon
Auerbach, James	Harris, Ernest	Schlemok, Joanne
Balderson, William	Hasty, Richard	Soren, Corey
Baltes, Gene	Haupt, Ronald	Scholen, Valentin
Bennett, Peggy	Hemlock, David	Smith, Carl
Betha, Don	Hix, David	Smith, Lewell
Bishop, Walter	Holmes, William	Smoot, Grady
Buttford, John	Jensen, Anne	Sparks, Vernon
Buswell, Vinson	Jensen, Lynn	Stark, Shirley
Castillo, Yvonne	Klein, Edan	Star, Volte
Christianson, Hugo	LeBlond, Robert	Standerford, Ata
Cody, Jerry	Lottel, Delvin	Swartz, Gerald
Cogan, John	Loren, Robert	Tate, Winifred
Conly, Barbara	Lyons, Bob	Taylor, Arvian
Conrad, Eleanor	Lyons, Jay	Tean, Tim
Craft, Sam	Maas, Jennette	Truitt, Norman
Cole, Johnny	McIntosh, Ardena	Truitt, Ardena
Daniel, Mary	Martin, Patricia	Van Miter, Grant
Datmore, Arlan	Mason, Lawrence	Vick, Mike
Dorch, Elbas	McKinney, James Jr.	Ward, Walter
Dorch, Ted	McMullan, Frank	Wet, Glen
Dreschner, Robert	Messinger, Harold	Wills, Harold
Dunbar, Tom	Miller, George	Wills, Jerry
Echbert, Fred	Moffitt, Connie	Wutzke, Richard
Eckels, Marie	Morse, Charles
Elms, Mary Sue	O'Connor, Joseph
Enl, Ruth

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY Four-time Premier of France Gives Views on Europe Today

EDITORS Bruce Anderson, John Freeman
REPORTERS Dwayne Hill, Clarence Fisher, Paul Hagan

Starline Hall
Dart Hall
Tenn Union

Influence! What is it?

The other day I ran across a statement which I would like to share with you.

"How little you know the bearing of your daily acts upon the history of others. You may think that what you do or say is of little consequence, when the most important results for good or for evil are the consequences of our words and actions." Testimonies, Vol. 3, p. 526.

This started me thinking about what we call influence, which is the effect on others of our actions.

Although many have tried it, no man has yet succeeded in living into himself. All of our actions have an effect, for good or for evil, on someone who is following our example. Each individual exercises an influence on those around him which aids them in attaining eternal life, or helps to pull them down to eternal death.

Ralph Waldo Emerson compared influence to tossing a pebble into a still pond, which spreads its influence over a wider and wider area until it comes back to the person who tossed the stone.

These are solemn thoughts, yet I wonder how many of us actually realize the results of some unguarded word or action upon someone else.

Let's start the new semester off well by making our influence count for the right. ba

Forum Starts Ball Rolling

The Academy forum held its first meeting of this calendar year during the chapel period of January 24, and the devotees of all the standards sold and pledged their allegiance to the flag.

Mary Rhodes, a freshman in the audience, sang the old folk song, "Just a Little Bit of Heaven." The reports that came next recaptured how the forum had progressed during the first semester. First, the report on who has been done was given by Sue Weber. Then the report on how much has been done to date was given by Janette Hobbey. These two girls were rolling and treasurer for first semester Donald Hall, a sophomore, played a medley of songs on his maracas.

A nominating committee consisting of Pat Jacobs, Kathy Mitchell, Bondell Fox, Wayne Conner, and Clarence Fisher was chosen from the floor to select names for second semester officer elections.

To close the program, Professor Higgins, principal of the Academy, announced the names of those who had attended the honor roll so far. He said:

ACADEMY HONOR ROLL

FIRST SEMESTER, 1954-55

*Bruce Anderson	Gwen Gardner	*Ruth McClain
*John Aschman	*Donald Hall	Candyn McHenry
*Dwayne Hill	*Robert Hall	*Betty Reynolds
*Davis Bishop	*Roger Hammel	*Anita Ross (2 units)
*James Brown	*Wesley Holcombe	*Charles Sherer
*Sarah Brown	*Harbata Holland	*Martha Silver
*Amy Bullard	*Pat Jacobs	*Karin Wade
*Janice Cates	*Jane Weisman	*Mona Wilson
*John Freeman	*Lillian Lanier	*Myrna Woolsey
*O'n Hon Roll all semester

ATTENDANCE HONOR ROLL

THIRD PERIOD, 1954-55

*John Aschman	*Randal Lee	*Barbara Lorenz
*Dwayne Hill	*John Freeman	*Ruth McClain
*Dwight Hillard	*Gwen Gardner	Jack McKee
*Cayle Baather	*Donald Hall	*Martha Silver
*Barbara Berns	*Robert Hall	*Thomas Smith
*Judy Boyson	*Roger Hammel	*Heleen Starz
*John Brewer	*Ralph Houshater	*Lanice Thompson
*Charles Hedrick	*Jermaine Jones	*Nanette Torres
*Donald Clark	*Shirley Jones	*Eshaw Wade
*James Databek	*Anita Ross	*Alicene Wilson
*Anna Ruth Ellis	*June LeVern
*For the first semester.

The Collegiate church has also shown willingness to support, and its contribution will be announced later. The park has not yet been examined, but will be at the formal dedication to be held College day, early in April. Says Chester Darnon, "We must think in a very special way the Federal Arts Club for its organizing this project, as well as for the generosity in donating most of the material labor involved. Also to be thanked is the Student Association as a whole for its interest in upholding the plans that have been laid."

ALUMNI NEWS

Lola Gerton is teaching church school at Boynton Beach, Florida. Her Bernice Biefer, who has been teaching the Dalton, Georgia, church school, has recently had to give up teaching due to failing health.

Four members of the class are in a medical school, Arlene Butterfield, Dinah Olmstead, and Carol Jean Hadden, all at Iowa State, and Carl Edwin Everett is studying medical school in Kansas City. His address is First South 556 Brooklyn, Kansas City 23, Missouri.

Walter Peck, Gravel Gooden, Louvenne Hayden, and Chorea Sue, all are attending the S D A Seminary, Talloma Park, Washington 12, D C.

Ellen Whitaker is in a business with her sister in Chattanooga. His address is 3506 Dodi's Avenue, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Arlene Larson, who is in the temporary station at Fort Sam Houston. His address is U S 35 252 538, Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. Anna Moore is teaching at the Atchison Junior College, Apartado 3245, Atchison, Mo. Joanna Caldwell Sparks is now dean of women at Madison College, Madison, Tennessee.

Elson Wilson writes that he and his wife are enjoying their work at McIntosh, Georgia, where he is pastor-teacher, but that they met their friends and classmates at SMC. Their address is Route 5, McIntosh, Georgia.

The Bible Workers are also in pastor-teacher work and are located in Ft. W. Third Street, Bible Grade, Florida. William writes that of prayer school is being conducted in a state home while a new church school is being built.

Oled Gubins sends greetings to classmates and friends. He writes that they are kept busy and happy teaching at their school and assisting Elder G. W. Asher in the work of the Pentecost, Florida, district.

Others engaged in pastor-teacher work: Billy Mack at Royal Oak, South Virginia, and Gerald Ketchum at Cedar Grove, Tennessee.

Thelma Grier is serving as assistant pastor in Elder Horace Conner at the Collegiate church. Fred Wilson is assistant pastor of Columbus, South Carolina, church. His address is Route 2, Morley Drive, Columbia, S C.

Two members of the class have written in about their work at the Navajo Mission school, Holbrook, Arizona. They are Alta Trapp and Robert Adams. Alvin Trapp writes, "I am dean of the and supervisor of their work program." John writes about his biology, geography, and physics 1 SMC my work, but miss my friends at SMC."

Robert Nellis writes: "I'm having a most wonderful experience out here with the Indians. I am teaching half day and helping to build a dormitory for the girls. My wife and I are enjoying. We visit our friends to come and see the work that is being done here for the Indians."

Associated with at addresses are: Jill Reid Henderson, Union Springs, New York; J. B. Henson, Springdale, Miss.; John, Louisville, June; Mrs. Fred Marshall, Birmingham, June; John, Alabama.

On the SMC staff are Alta Nellie Cooper, who is teaching the Standley Gap demonstration school, and Leila Heller Hoad, who is teaching grade five and six in the Collegiate elementary school.

Mrs. Betty Ledbetter is an instructor in the continuing department of Dunlap High School, Dunlap, Tennessee. Mrs. Alta Beans teaches grade 5 in the first of the Grayville, Georgia, public school.

Honorable Camille Chautemps, four-time premier of France, attended the Academy in French politics, addressed the audience on the Collegiate liberalistic education on the topic "Europe Today" Saturday night, January 22. Evemereste Chautemps, now residing in Washington, D. C. was secured as speaker by the local committee for the current school year.

In his introductory remarks Mr. Chautemps revealed that he had been on the campus of SMC the past year at one time, the difference there being his constituting part of the audience. "A much better place to be," he ventured. He noted, Chautemps, he felt quite appropriate, for translated into English, it means, "his time," and such denotation he thinks is quite belittling, a person who has been in college.

Entered into his subject for the evening, M. Chautemps presented a topic, "Why Europe is not free for Americans," and sought to impress upon the audience his reason for the U. S. need to care for the affairs of Europe.

SLAVERY VS. FREEDOM

The main problem of our country is a big struggle between slavery and freedom, the struggle between the forces of ruling bodies who believe the state is the best basis for the welfare of the individual citizen, and the opposing bodies who believe that the subjects of the state are but tools to be manipulated to its ends, he pointed out.

Following the close of the second period, the forces of democracy symbolized by the United States had the advantage over the autocratic system typified by Soviet Russia, in that the latter are passing the renaissance of atomic power, however, such is not the case now, he observed.

Russia has the extent of an atom, have already enslaved an additional 100 million man in the conquest of the east and now controls the half of the world's population, roughly 800 million human beings, and should Western Europe also be enslaved, with its 200 million people, there would be little equity for Americans, he commented. "All international problems are interrelated," he maintained.

SPKING OF FRANCE

Moving to France, in particular, M. Chautemps showed optimism concerning the future, in the facts that the economy is being run in good order, with very little unemployment, people happy, production having risen over 130 per cent since before the last war. The runs have been rebuilt or removed for the most part, and that is true only in France, but in England and Germany, he continued.

Speaking of the recent history of France, he stressed the fact that since 1914 it was one of the most prosperous countries in the world, but it took a great beating during the last world war, when it was invaded, much industry destroyed, and deprived of 1,500,000 young men. Now did it receive reparations when the war ended, its market, but had to do all recovery on its own. Then, when it did barely recuperated, Hitler entered the scene and concerning what followed M. Chautemps declared that the trench coats never suffered by France were due to lack of bravery or good soldierly, but "as matters is the decision France in modern times. Now did it was not completely prepared for Germany's formidable war effort, which was actually defeated twice, the first time when the Germans in 1918 overran the country." On a second when France was liberated, he asserted, "Your airforce was wonderful. It is explained in 2 million homes were destroyed, mine included."

Communism had been a factor in France since 1930, when the Communists, gaining allegiance to Moscow, worked against the French government. M. Chautemps said, however, that in 1941 when Hitler attacked Russia, the French Communists changed to a "broad way" attitude, and mounted an underground movement against Germany in their own good name. He said the men of loyal spirit, and many influential people joined their ranks.

"After the war DeGaulle made a mistake. He made Russia, a center-Communist, was president. Then, the Communists got a hold on the government."

Having a "load" of money and great influence, that party took over many newspapers, unions of workers, and 500 seats in the National Assembly," he stated. But DeGaulle was serious enough to remedy the situation, and the Communist party has had to be thrown out of government papers, the speaker declared, and in his words, "The Communists [in France] are now a nuisance rather than a danger."

CAN EUROPE UNITED

Proceeding to Europe in a whole, it reminded that its greatest problem lies in disunity, then pointed out that Western Europe, with its 230 million inhabitants is considerably smaller than the U. S. nevertheless it has 2, 23 different nations, destroying a country, this has three or four languages, other, hindering each nation to political, economic and social, he added. He pointed:

That it took the thirteen original colonies of North America such a long time to unite, despite their unity in disunity, then pointed out that Western Europe, with its 230 million inhabitants is considerably smaller than the U. S. nevertheless it has 2, 23 different nations, destroying a country, this has three or four languages, other, hindering each nation to political, economic and social, he added. He pointed:

REARMING THE TEUTON

Rearmament of Germany is a problem, as he went on to explain, "For, although statements do not make it clear with the past in view, but only the future, and therefore do not remember Germany's belittling stand in World War I, some years back, every Frenchman cannot be a statesman, he lamented. "I accept the rearmament without reservation, only because I realize that it is necessary," he declared.

Now Germany is split and war is rampant, he reminded his audience, and with its new army of 500, 000 men, and that many more returning soldiers regularly to make it into a 1 million strong army, the strongest army of Western Europe, it might seem to be a good agreement with Russia to achieve a balance of power, he warned.

"I have considered optimism concerning the future of our shaken world, but I believe that Europe is a dangerous factor, as we have no resources, skill, money, and ability to compete better ideals to fight," he concluded.

The remainder of the program is dedicated to the answering of questions by M. Chautemps.

The first question read, "Why did France back out on its obligations in the Indo-China? M. Chautemps replied, "France had no real interest in Indo-China, that while the war was being waged in Korea, the French could have been sent, and not able to concentrate on Indo China, but after the war was achieved, the Chinese could attack the country. The French had asked the United States to mediate in this situation, but Great Britain, who had the most to lose, would not do that region, protested vociferously. He agreed, that the State stayed out. He said that, "The major defect of France is that she has no major defect for France."

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Volume 10 Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, February 25, 1955 Number 7

Women's Forum Organizes Pre-Prayer Week Program

To prepare the girls — to put them in a state of mind more receptive to the spirit of Spring Week of Prayer, is the objective of the special week of prayer program that has been held this last week, states Donna Weber, president of the women's organization.

The plan for a student week of religious emphasis to precede the regularly dated college week was presented to Women's Forum by Miss Weber, who has been entirely student operated with her hold devotional periods that week. They are Janet Daniels, Martin, Ottis Allen, Ann May, Gerald Land, Kathy Winkler, Jeanne Huley, Juan Klotzger, and Von Poble, and Yvonne. Copies of music has also been provided by students of Music Jones Hall.

Miss Weber further explains, "So the girls might have had an idea in their lives which, if left, had have presented the Spirit's work that week. By this program we to have helped remove them to that the Spring Week of Prayer work to the fullest extent

Speakers Discuss Religious Liberty

Religious Liberty Day came with four speakers for the 11 o'clock service Sabbath, February 12.

Predicator Earl Ke' Toberson briefly discussed the topic. Religious Liberty, pointing out that in ancient times religious affairs were civil and civil affairs were religious — worship was state organized and regulated. The points contained the most powerful points of party. Mr. Toberson mentioned that the Hebrews and the Romans had this way but, he affirmed, Jews did not approve of such a system, for he says in Mark, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's," showing that religious and state affairs are separate and distinct.

"Our American Heritage was presented by Cecil Abernathy. He reminded of the assurance that the American government is constitutional, too, as he said, "The Anglo-Saxon race has learned not to trust in tyranny of man."

(Continued on page 3, col. 3)

Periodicals and Association Budgets Unanimously Pass Student Senate

Ellen Adams, Bob Addison, and Donna Weber

STUDENT SENATE RECEIVES NEW REPRESENTATIVES

Ellen Adams, Bob Addison, Wayne Coffer, and Donna Weber have assumed the roles of senator for second semester.

Ellen Adams was selected by the church board to be the Missionary Voluntary leader. Ellen is a junior secondary education major from Atlanta, Georgia. The academy's representative on the SA senate is Wayne Coffer, of Collegedale. Bob Addison, a presidential student from Durham, North Carolina, is the president of the Men's Forum.

Donna Weber holds the unique position of being the first president of the student senate February 6, 1955. This plan is to be open each Saturday night after a program attended by the students in general, from the class of the sophomore in initial 105. There is charge of the service are to be two members of the committee, Ann Maxwell and bus Suzuki, and they are to be assisted by the committee sponsor or some faculty member appointed by her. All secondary and college students are invited, drinks will be served on a cash basis.

The recommendation also provided that this new idea be given a trial for the period of one month, beginning February 12.

Deficit Will Be Met By Broom Sales, Benefit Programs

Budgets of the Southern Accent, Southern Memorial, and Student Association for 1954-55 were accepted unanimously by the student senate Sunday evening.

Along with the budgets the senate passed three fund-raising recommendations from the SA budget committee to meet the costs of the ACCENT. One in language indicate the ACCENT would be forced to increase subsidy, or reduce the size of its format. Nearly $8000 is expected to be raised by the students for this emergency appropriation.

The SA hopes to raise this money by three methods: (1) Under the direction of Don Bell's project will be organized to sell 800 special brooms, which are now being produced. (2) A benefit program will be given every day evening, May 21, if the academy faculty and senior class find it desirable to have commencement on Sunday morning, May 22. (3) Should the academy also be able to get permission, the Academy Talent Program II also be used as a benefit program.

Working under the accepted budget, hard to be proposed to the senate this year, the SA will handle over $15,000. This is the largest budget that the student Association has ever had," says Norman Truitt, SA treasurer.

Participants in the American Temperance Society Program

ATS Presents Orations Pageant, Music, at Rally

A temperance oration contest, a pageant, band and chorus selections, and the presentation of the color guard featured the Saturday evening meeting on February 12 at the Southern Missionary College Chapter of the American Temperance Society in the auditorium at Collegedale.

Winners in oration, as judged by the judges are Linda Medford, first, Richard Skepard, second, and Peter Reed, third.

Following the contest, the international pageant, Temperance in One World, was presented to the group. A speech choir, fortified by trumpet fanfare and drum rolls, shouted "We Welcome" as David Brier enthused the lyrics which America has held that differ from other countries on the globe. At the conclusion of the reading the Choralists, SMCC chorus under the direction of Francis Costantino, sang "America the Beautiful" with hand accompaniment under the direction of Norma Kroegard.

The Crusaders quartet, composed of Bill Jones, Monte Yandall, Art Garrison, and Brian Wilson, sang "God of Our Fathers" with trumpet trio accompaniment by Julian Coggin, David Hall, and Edwin Klein.

Miss Medford is shown here receiving Best Orator from Dr. Boyvan on Battlefield links on companiment by Julian Coggin, David Hall, and Edwin Klein.

Southern Memories Prize Winners Get Their Rewards

Prizes and winners of the Southern Memorial subscription campaign are these:

Grand prize $7,000 Jewel Broom with watch, Rene Costner

1st prize, best side, Sherrill pen and pencil set, Wainford Tate

1st prize, girls side, Sherrill pen and pencil set, Jeannine Host

2nd prize, one set of the Testimony Ann Shoen

3rd prize, one set of the Confess of the Age Sister J D Lombardi

4th prize, one volume, 50-cash day Advent Bible Commentary, Larry Marvin

5th prize, one volume, Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Monte Yindell

6th prize, one $1.00 photograph, James Roy McKinney

7th prize, one Metro Gask Book, Mrs. Leola Cattle

The College Industries presented the grand prize and also the first prizes for the boys and girls' sales. The Carolina Book and Bible House presented the second prize. The Georgia-Cumberland Book and Bible House gave third prize. Florida and Alabama Book and Bible Houses donated the two commentaries. Chas. Sheldon contributed the 50-cash photo, and the Alumnum Mfg. Co. of Winston presented the seventh prize.

Very eager and honest manager Bauer and Keller. Congratulations to each of you who has cooperated with us in this campaign. We appreciate your noble spirit!

Elder W. R. Beach Stresses Missions

W. R. Beach, secretary of the General Conference, was featured as the guest speaker for the annual Southern Missionary College International Relations week. Sponsored jointly by the

Elder W. R. Beach

International Relations Club, Missionary Volunteer society, and Christ's Foreign Legion organize band, the IRC week ran from February 11 to 19.

Various aspects of world communism were discussed by three students, Gerald Smith, Floyd Greenleaf, and Ellen Adams, in the Monday morning chapel period. February 13 Professor Leif K. Tolbassen, speaking in union worship that evening, answered and discussed questions turned in by the students concerning communism, in the morning chapel period.

(Continued on p. 2, Col. 4)

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published bi-weekly except for Christmas and Spring vacations during the school year, and also during the summer, by Southern Methodist College, Collegedale, Tennessee. Entered under the Southern Union as second-class matter June 25, 1917. Post Office at Collegedale, Tennessee, under No. 6248. Second-class postage paid at Collegedale, Tennessee. Postmaster: Please send address changes to THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, P.O. Box 129, Collegedale, Tennessee. Subscription price is $2.00 per year, the foreign rate is $2.25 per year.

EDITOR	Virginia Robinson	REPORTERS	Tom Gibson
ASSOCIATE EDITORS	Paul Kiffin		Don Henderson
SECRETARY	Constance Miller		David Messinger
CONTRIBUTORS	Ortha Allen		Walter Ward
	Clairie Tabor	BUSINESS MANAGER	Walter Ward
	Shirley Taylor	CIRCULATION MANAGER	Francis Anderson
	Wendy Starks	GENERAL ADVERTISER	T. W. Street

A Letter To The Editor

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

In recent weeks it has been brought forcibly to my attention that the ACCENT is not being adequately provided for. Let me explain briefly.

The ACCENT campaign this year fell short of the necessary goal by about $1,600. This was because less than half the students were able to turn in even one sub for the ACCENT. We got about one-half our campaign goal. The Memories faced even worse. They got only 155 subscriptions out of a target of 300. However, the annual could go to press even if it had no subscriptions from its campaign. This is because the Student Association has provided other means for its income. Such a position is not enjoyed by the ACCENT. If the campaign fails, the paper fails.

The Memories has several advantages. Aside from student and campaign income, it has income from advertising (a privilege denied the ACCENT for good reasons), a benefit program, a fee for portraits printed, and a number of assured subscription buyers from conference offices. This gives a total budget income, for the Memories this year, of $8,000.

The ACCENT income sheet looks quite different. Our income is derived entirely from subscriptions to students, college promotion, and campaign. Our total budget this year is $5,860. $720 of this is direct emergency appropriation from the Student Association for which no subscriptions are to be provided. We have no other income.

It is evident that this is a major error in distribution of student income means. Of course, this is no fault of the present Memories staff. They were given the means to publish a yearbook and I'm confident that they will do a good job.

Certain means are given to the Student Association to raise money. In the past these means have lumped on one student organization. This has resulted in unequal distribution. Yet everyone expects an adequate newspaper. Give us three fourths of $8,000 and we will print more column inches of news than any other college publication in the denomination. No gifts; just equal opportunity to produce.

Sincerely,
WALTER WARD
Business Manager, ACCENT

Post Office Progress

By FRANCES KILLEN

A $1000 gain has been reached over 1954 in the local United States Post Office at Collegedale, Tennessee. Postmaster George Fuller told an ACCENT reporter recently these figures are based on the fiscal year ending 10,31.

40,000 pieces of mail were handled by the local office during the Christmas rush. Mr. Fuller stated that "even if 40,000 stamps of the 3c and 2c class were sold, that Christmas mailing was still under its usual loads."

The post office opened in July, 1927, as a 4th class office with a fixed credit of $25 in postage stamps, and 20 post office boxes. The office then served 600 people. Postmaster Fuller was the first, and is still manager of the local office. His first clerk was Fred Cretchen who is now a medical doctor at Madison, Tennessee. Dorothy Fuller and James P. Rogers are the only assistants at the present time.

The post office moved from the administration building to its present location beside the College Store in 1946. It now serves 1600 people, has 315 postoffice boxes, and a waiting list.

The first mail comes in each morning except Sunday, at 15 A.M. The first at 11:30 A.M. and the last at 7:00 P.M. The departing mail leaves at 11:00 A.M. and 6:00 P.M. Anyone that is served by the office may receive Spring in the air has really roused some (left) spirit.

Dasaowakita Damels

By ONYIA ALLEN

Spring in the air has really roused some (left) spirit. While turning hand-prints in her room this month, she was surprised. Stacks scraped her feet against the wall. She was later 5c learned that she had lost a letter. She philosophically commented, "I don't like to lose anything."

If anyone finds a stack that isn't hers, contact Kathryn Wooler for it may be hers. Margaret Hughes and Peggy Brunson wanted it to give Jenny Hendon a reference "ring" in the middle of the night. They are hounders for a fantastically big Connie Abelfett and Kaihyra have threatened to swap the captain's clothes if it isn't from them.

Betty Bove will make a very attractive. One night while Bobbie Barber and Joyce Bove were in the laundry to her they placed orange and zip in coat pockets, shoes, under pillows, and in drawers and in other places. It was two weeks before Betty found out who had done it.

Pat Martin is having a bit of trouble with a teddy bear that gives her Someone hung a pair from a pipe with this sign attached—"M.L.T.B." (Mike's Teddy Bear). That sign was present.

College Board Lays Plans for '55-'56

The College Board met on the campus on Monday, February 14, to lay plans for the next school year. They agreed to hold the Summer Session from June 13 to August 11. Dean Hays will be the director of the Summer Session. The next regular school year will begin on September 12 and will close May 26.

After this consideration, the College Board voted to add two extensions on to the workshop because it was felt that these would allow for effective operations. One new addition will house the financial department and another addition will be for storage space.

Because so many SMC students have had their education interrupted by events at the Armed Forces, the College Board voted to ask Professor Mary Dietrich to serve as faculty corresponding to these young men. It keeps them informed of events at the school and to see that they are supplied with the Southern Accent and the Southern Memories and other information about the school.

Honors Economics Building

According to present plans, work will begin on the new new economics building in August or September. This will greatly relieve the crowded conditions under which the economics teachers are now operating. It will provide more room and also more time for the students to study in a trained dietitian and nutritionist to join the faculty as a teacher of foods courses.

Other Faculty Members Added

An official invitation to join the faculty an capacity of teacher of English was extended to Missy Merline Ogden of Fiske Valley Academy. A replacement for Larry Hughes, who has resigned in order to continue work toward his doctoral degree in psychology was made by inviting Lindsey Winkler of Los Angeles to join the faculty as Director of Health and Chemistry. Professor Winkler will have his Ph.D. degree by the time he arrives on the campus.

Persons named in this column are invited to attend the school sessions. Old faculty members to be away on leave. The board has arranged that the following teachers offer courses in the summer school sessions: Old faculty members, Paul Boynton, Theodosia Buckman, R. M. Dabbsick, Olivia Deane, Mary Deane, Owen Gaskin, W. B. Hays, K. M. Kennard, J. H. Kahlman, Adjunct Lauritson, G. J. Nelson, Lee K. Peterson, Mabel Wood.

ten on her mirrors, pictures, and placed in her bed with suit. The three instigators of the act, Jennine Hunt, Fern Gibson, and Victoria Hays were promptly brought to reality by the monitor, Iva Bohney, came running down the hall. When Pat and her sisters Fern, Jennine, and Yvonne were hiding they decided that she needed a shorter in real hair. They cut off the hair on the wall they heard Arlene Detson, another monitor, storming up the steps. Pat was instantly dropped to the floor. The moral of the story? Never give a friend a teddy bear.

Earl Cain, Elsie Peterson, and Constance Vaughn have a new method for latching pace. First, they study the habits and the regular run of the place they want to catch. Second, they measure pace by the corner around which he usually struts. It is only a matter of time until the big problem faces them. "How do you call a non-kend-walk?"

Theresa Davis and Wanda Tullock were going to impersonate some of the stars of the stage. They were to be Splendor! For those who hadn't attended the lecture program Theresa was to play the drums while Wanda acted.

The girls of Maude Jones Hall got the biggest valuation that many of us had in years ever before. They were brought it special delivery during winter. It was an invitation to the Men's Reception "Thanks Y'all"

Amner a la Mode

By CLARENCE FINNER

Collegedale has really seen some changeable weather during the past few weeks. During a surge of "real weather" weather" they were in the middle of the Spanish girls, Lydia Calles, and she surely wailed a crowd in at the scene. The girls were pink and blue.

It really would be more fascinating, wouldn't it? Pat Jacobs and Marian Harold have been helping to make life for some of the occupants of the dorm most eventful during recent Saturday nights. The ice cream and cake were greatly appreciated by those fortunate enough to have a share. You're surely welcome at any time on our dorm, girls.

Some hidden talent is being discovered here. Miss Marian Cannon is fast becoming the official beautician in the area. Beverly Foll displays some of Marian's ability with her new "people color."

Betty Reynolds was announced to be the winner of a "baby bottle drinking contest." Those competing with her were Marian Cannon and Anna Ruth Ellis. The losers declared that they were a little out of practice, since it has been a few years. (We hope) they were the faculty as a regular habit. Congratulations, Betty!—Babe Harkins, Mrs. Mann and Anna Ruth.

IRC WEEK

(Continued from page 1)

Wednesday morning W. B. Beach spoke on "The Global Task of the Adventist Movement," stressing the need for the work to rise above national views. "Personal Qualifications for Overseas Service" was brought out by Elder Brier in joint worship that evening.

Persons named in this column are invited to speak on the personal preparation for overseas mission service, emphasizing the need for a correct perception of the types of work a missionary must perform.

During three discussion Friday, the Board related the growth and extension of Adventist mission work, discussed the various types of trained personnel needed in the mission field.

TALES OF TALGE

By WYANT TAYLOR

Talge Hall has been like a different place lately. It has been comparatively quiet. Here, most days, it is so quiet that this condition is entirely due to an appointment at the hospital.

Johnny Calph had a bone for a few days and his brother came up to visit while Johnny was gone. He had a typical Talge Hall welcome. While he was gone to take a shower, someone made a few changes in the contents of his suitcase.

Our attic is a wonderful place. Almost anything can be found there. When Christ's Foreign Letter has their radio program, they found almost every device that would be heard in the attic.

We have had several good guests "speakers" in worship lately, but we particularly remembered Mrs. Gardner. Before she started, she said that her story would be long and that she would give several opportunities throughout the service. She said, "Apparently, no one wanted to take advantage of this offer, for only one person in our city enjoyed Mrs. Gardner's talk very much and hoped she could come."

Lewell Smith and Carl Calph had the measles now for a few days for an epidemic. It didn't come to anything but a normal run.

Louise Thompson and Ann Marie Kenney are running a race to see which one can successfully lose. Louise pounds fast. Calphs girls—we do what any men boys around here!—Secret plans have been chosen again, and a "spoil of mystery" has invaded our dorm. Everyone is trying to "do the dirty" person by going thoughtful regarding the situation. Here are the opinions of several of the girls about secret plans:

"I believe it encourages us to love more friendly and considerate of one another. I also think, we should be careful of our hearts to see that we are not being used if we don't have secret plans."—Carole Danquain.

"I like the idea of giving and receiving gifts at other times of the year besides our birthdays and Christmas."—Beverly Foll.

"I like a change as it helps us to learn to share with others."—Glady's Truitt.

"If you get some one's name who you don't know very well or don't like her better."—Bartha Kinkbury.

"It promotes a feeling of comradeship."—Louise Thompson.

"I like the suspense of not knowing who it is your secret plan."—Thelma Hargrett.

"I especially enjoy receiving a real nice present."—Ruth Torres.

"That's all for now—see you again next time!"

today, and spoke on the call of the individual Adventist to a global mission field.

Sabbath morning in the 11 o'clock hour, W. B. Beach spoke on "The Completion of Our Global Task." He illustrated his concept with personal experience which showed the extent of the knowledge of the second advent of Christ—the thoughts of people in various parts of the world.

Concluding, he gave us Sabbath afternoon when he emphasized that the wife of God's servant should be the chief expecter of the future mission. After his talk, he stressed the need for the wife of God's servant to be as completely trained as the husband, as well as the need for the training of the children of people in various parts of the world.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By I. N. Cog.

"Should I purchase a gorgeous Hawaiian outfit for some sweet co-ed or a plain white catanion for myself and be a light-hearted stag?" This "ain't" a new question! Living under a tight student budget a man has two choices: eating or dating.

Men of Talge have to make decisions such as these as is once did. I had the ambition of the dollar college man—to date the prettiest girl on the campus. Ten-dollar oysters and boxes of Johnson's Sausper didn't satisfy the perfect miss, So, penniless, I ended up dating a plain Jane—Dutch style.

But there is hope for the male population of Collegedale; our lady friends will now accept dandelions.

(Editor's note: Address correspondence to I. N. Cog, c/o THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, Collegedale, Tennessee.)

Attention, vocabulary builders. In the Senate agenda the words "approval of budget" have given over to the phrase "consideration of proposed budget." (gobbledygook)

Credit where credit is due. Recreation-minded collegians can give thanks to Dean Kinsey for his promoting the intramural sports program.

 Through the efforts of John Boutsford, and his associates, ATS has become a "household" phrase. Long lifeless, the ATS has now acquired recognition.

 A yeoman service is being done by our SA secretary, Kathryn Woolley. Would it be an exaggeration to say that Kathryn's handling of his bid side by side, would reach from Lynn Wood Hall to the woodshop and back?

 For thrills, laughs, and adventure visit the Science building on Thursday afternoon. Perhaps one experience is sufficient to provide my statement.

 As one aspiring nurse, Carol Avey, prepared to ignite her faithful burner, she slipped the rubber tube over the wrong neck. Instead of exhaling gas, came a clear stream of crystal clear water poured through the "bunsen." Did our chemist get excited? Not any more than a cat surrounded by four bulldogs.

 All geographically-minded scholars please note. The Tennessee River is 11 miles longer than Mobile, Miami, Alabama, and Monongahela Rivers combined.

WATCH YOUR SENATE!

By WALTER WARD

It was item four on the agenda—an amendment looking like a line that said "Appropriation of budget submitted by Budget committee." This was the second budget that had been submitted.

It contained a recommendation that the Student Association withdraw from its appropriation to the Alumnae advertising income an amount that would enable the ACCENT to continue publication. This withdrawal was deemed possible because all funds collected by a student organization of the Student Association belong to the organization as a whole. By vote of this body, the students, through their senate, may appropriate any sum to any cause they see fit.

After almost two hours of fervent debate, (in which faculty observers, student observers, and ex-student senators engaged freely) it was decided that such action would place undue strain on the Alumnae budget. The recommendation was turned down by a vote of 14 to 10. It was then pointed out again that unless something was done, there would be a great deficit in the Student Association budget. No alternative plan was moved or adopted.

In the closing minutes of the session, a plan to allow students to assemble in the cafeteria for gas sessions after Saturday night entertainment programs if time is left between programs and both bills, was discussed.

The above actions were taken at the meeting of February 2. There were 17 visitors. Welcome!

the senators accomplished some things. The SA budget was again presented, and to the extent you of practically everyone, it passed! The "amending" thing about that budget was that it showed a $1000 deficit in SA funds. Along with this budget a plan was submitted that provided a means of supplying the deficit. A committee was appointed, with Don Burkes as chairman, to organize student effort toward bringing in $400 from the sale of bromides. This is a big job, and Don Burkes is doing the cooperation and help of everyone.

Other recommendations for raising money involved two benefit programs. One was to be held in about $300, and the appropriation of $100 from the Southern staff. The Winter staff submitted a gain of $726. The balance ($426) they retain as a cushion in the event that income is less than expected.

In the "Good of the Order" the problem of soot from the Central Heat plant was brought up. Dr. Ham-mill, representing the faculty as co-ordinator Toberson's absence due to illness, pointed out that these boilers were designed in such a way (originally) intended for oil wells or something similar) that it is impossible to stop the soot without getting new boilers; they are in the plans, so take comfort from that, frateman.

A recommendation was also passed on to Mr. McKinstry requesting that two members of any organization desiring a place be allowed to sit as on his previousing committee as non-voting members. (The SA is currently represented by three students who are representative members.)

All motions and recommendations were passed unanimously.

Above: Albert Will. Below: A. E. Stein

Above: College Band in action. Below: Missionary group singing out.

SMC Concert Band Tours Ky-Tenn.

The SMC concert band under the direction of Prof. N. L. Knight, has returned from an extended week-end tour through a portion of the Kentucky-Tennessee conference. Arrangements were made to participate in a district jazz meeting at Louisville, February 18 and 19, during which the band members presented the Freshly evening vaudey variety and various meetings of the Ssb band, collecting the say Saturday night with the band concert.

Sunday evening, February 20, found the band in concert at the Southern Publishing House auditorium in Nashville; and the following morning the band performed at the chapel period at Highland Academy, in the evening at Madison College.

Public activities of the band have been limited to the chapel periods at SMC to date, but numerous appointments are in the pipe for second district and in the near future several appearances on campus and on tour, a series of spring concerts in the new park that a unit was planned to undertake the school year.

Scholars Enjoy Bacon and Milk

Monday evening, February 13, a group of students enter the justice center of Mrs. Elmore McKinstry participated in a fourth year Great Book Discussion of Sir Francis Bacon's New Organon, a work which has excited an immense interest in the development of modern science. The discussion took place at the home of Mrs. Gina Plungian, former sculptress and painter, and former professor of art at Princeton University.

A special attraction of this particular evening was the social hour which followed an appointed discussion. During this time high refreshments were served—milk for the Collegedale group; for others, and the SMC students had an opportunity to chat with several distinguished members of this advanced group and to view Mrs. Plungian's collection of her own paintings and sculptured heads of famous men and women. Among these is a plastic cut of the head of Albert Einstein, Mrs. Plungian spent one day a week for seven years making studies for the original, which is now the official portrait of the famous scientist for the State of Israel. The SMC students were particularly interested in the latter because contributed by the subject of his portrait to accompany it in Mrs. Plungian's academy Professor Einstein also contributed one.

Students who attended the recent discussion of New Organon were Delvon Little, Richard Harty, James Ray, McKinstry, Oates, Allen, Lynn von Pohlle, and Eric Gibson. Mr. Little and Mr. Harty have both led Great Book Discussions for the first year group during the past three months. Mr. and Mrs. McKinstry led the last discussion.

Students Engage In E-Day Activity

A few handfulls of students showed up Saturday afternoon, Feb. 12, at 2:00 for the E-Day, Bible Study, and rollment exercise. A call had been issued in the church service the preceding Sabbath, and also that Sabbath for volunteers to bring their cars, and for students to lead their help.

Many cars pulled up in front of the tabernacle, but a great number stayed there for lack of workers. The testimony to be given was country easy within ten miles of the college.

Two New Members Added to Staff

Two members have been added to the college staff. They are Albert Will and A. E. Stein. Albert Will, SMC graduate of 1953, is in charge of the motor pool. This organization has been set up to promote more economy and efficiency in the operation of college-owned cars. Mr. Klein, former president of the Nile Union in Egypt, has come to take the place of Frank McMillan as manager of the Southern Mercantile Agency.

Christ's Foreign Legion

By NORMAN GUILLEY

A hath had fallen upon each of the 17 students as we approached 9:15 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13, and as we waited for the signal. Then it came; the announcer spoke, the introduction was given, the narrator was speaking, and SOS, or "Spotlight on Suhl" had begun. Raphael was quick that mighty stewart's early days of poverty, to some experiences, and then on into Peru among the Incas Indians.

We recalled the experience when Elder Stall was riding on his horse down a trail leading over the edge of a precipice, and how he was just taken in time by a flash of lightning—the only flash that night in the surrounding area.

Then we heard our attention on a mob of 200 drunkards which included officials and armed Indians, and were led by two priests on a malicious mission aimed at killing the Sthls. The mob was stopping at nothing; some were being crushed through the house, and the house was just about set on fire when, suddenly the assistants all turned about and ran for dear life. They had been frightened, for they had seen an army—an army of angels sent from heaven and commissioned to save the Sthls.

Christ's Foreign Legion escaped at a privilege to present a few experiences from the life of this much concerned worker.

BASKETBALL

(Continued from page 4)

Team V—Fulphum, captain, Burck, Dale, Kennedy, Kinney, B. Walden, Winnick.

Team VI—Camp, captain, Alj, Snoot, Clark, Chapman, Wheeler, Dorech.

Club Highlights

PARLIAMENTARIAN

Several students officers for the Parliamentarian club are president, Sub Jobe; vice president, Ann Maxwell, secretary, Patsy Gilbert, treasurer, Ralph D'Arby, publicist, George Giger, publicity secretary, Malibu Howard; sponsor, Dr. A. L. Salvin.

In the Parliamentarian club students learn how to participate in and preside over meetings with ease and confidence.

The members take an active part in discussion, demonstration, and practice. You can see, hear, and ask questions without being afraid of making a mistake. This training is of value to anyone, and especially to those who aspire to be leaders.

The club used in last meeting to provide some equipment for the student pass program.

LITERATURE EVANGELIST

The Literature Evangelist Club, formerly known as the Colporteur Club, organized recently with Elder H. K. Lundquist as sponsor. The officers are, president, Herman Blyman; secretary, Carl Hoffmann; treasurer, Norman Galle; publicist, Ralph McLeod; publicity secretary, James McLeod.

The aims and purposes of the organization are to: (1) recruit at least 100 students to go out in the colporteur work this summer. This type of work will accomplish a two-fold reward for the individual: (1) It enables the student to earn his expenses for the following school year. (2) It greatly strengthens the spiritual experience. No person can walk the streets of a city in the hot sun of a full summer without experiencing a much closer communion with God.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

International Relations club elected for its new officers president, Carl Cook; pepper, M. G. president, Rene Gonzalez; secretary, J. J. treasurer, Ralph Walden; sergeant-at-arms, James McLeod.

The club has active plans for the second semester. It club cooperation with Christ's Foreign Legion and the MV society to present the annual international relations week, held Feb. 14-15.

SECRETARIAL

Awards from the Gregg Publishing Company have been given to 12 students in recognition of their achievement in shorthand and typewriting.

These students received medals for taking dictation at 140 words per minute: Jane Brown, Nancy Mathews, La Sa, Beck.

Those receiving awards for taking dictation in six material at 120 words per minute were Lyone Jensen and Kathryn Woolley. Course Moffitt, Jo Ann Ansherman, Rebekah Bentley, Lindyn Haines, and Barbara Thomas were awarded for having attained 100 words per minute.

Typing students who received passes were: second and third year students: Debrae Math—60 words per minute, Paul Welch—60 words per minute, and JoAnn Ansherman—61 words per minute.

The typing list covered a ten-minute period and included only five corrections during that time.

Says Miss Theodosia Drickman, head of the Secretarial Course branch. These girls have received awards have practiced many hours to achieve their goals, and deserve special commendation for their hard work.

THE SOUTHERN COCENIT

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, March 14, 1955

Number 8

Spring Prayer Week Brings Speakers Hunter and Edwards SMC MV Society Directs Program

The Missionary Volunteer Spring Week of Prayer was conducted by Elder Don Hunter, MV Secretary of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference and Elder Charles Edwards, pastor of Macon, Tennessee, Boulevard Church, February 23 through March 5.

Elder Don Hunter, here speaking in MV work and president of the Northeast India union division of the Southern Union, spoke daily to the college chapel hour and in union (top) each evening. He also conducted the eleven o'clock hour each Sabbath. Elder Charles Edwards was the guest speaker for the morning worship periods, and presented the work at prayer topics to the College. He asked his students last afternoon in the academy chapel period.

Using the topic "Prayer Perfect" for each of his evening addresses, Elder Hunter stressed the practical application and results that can be obtained when prayer. In his chapel addresses, the speaker emphasized the Christian's duty to the work of God in a ready world.

In his concluding sermon on Sabbath morning, Elder Hunter drew his topic, "The Times Demand Holiness." (Continued on page 4)

ATS Caravans Plan Itinerary of Trips

Caravans from the Collegedale, ATS have begun their annuals. The week of March 4 furnished a caravan in Atlanta, March 12 found another at the Birmingham church Atlanta. Rev. Road church will be visited April 23-Middle, Alabama; April 25-Jacksonville, Orlando, and Forest Lake Academy (weekend), May 7, Nashville, and May 14 will be the date of the last scheduled caravan of the year. This one will tour the Carolina coast region.

ATS ATS president, John Bradford, "The purpose of these caravans is to spread the message of clean and Christ living throughout the Southern Union, and to arouse the people to combat the liquor traffic by voice, pen, and ball."

The "New Years" are left in any organization visited. These can be a condensed form of the program from the caravan. Very thousands of these in literature are to be distributed in the Southern Union this year.

ATS Jingle Contest began March 7 Winning jingle draws $10

Students Aid Kurtz With Special Music For Dalton Effort

An evangelist effort in Dalton, Georgia, conducted by Evangelist Arnold Kurtz, has called for musical talent from Southern Missionary College during the meetings every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evening.

Former student Donald Cook is the music director for Elder Kurtz and the organist and pianist are J. D. Lambrecht and James Rhodes.

Participants in the program so far have been the King's Men quartet—Duane Steer, John Thurber, Jack Vasey, and Jim McClintock, Marilyn Dalton Cotton, former student at SMC, Mary Rhodes, Ardmore organist, Thelma Adams, former student who now lives in Dalton, has been selected as each meeting, and Dr. Earl McGhee, recently established in practice there, was instrumental in the securing of the former Dalton theatre for the meetings, which have been well attended.

Elder Kurtz uses a "Diary," which depicts graphically with the use of slides, the light side of the important doctrines of his messages to the people of Dalton.

Mrs. Klein Addresses Students in Chapel

Mrs. A. E. Klein, wife of the area manager of the Southern Missionary Union, addressed the college chapel March 8. The program was presented by the college committee on religious activities under the chairmanship of Elder E. C. Banks.

Experiences from Middle East Experiences from the Middle East was her topic, and she proceeded to recount several incidents about the work of SMC's in Egypt and Lebanon. Mr. and Mrs. Klein spent six years in that district—two at the SDA college at Beirut, Lebanon where former staff member C. T. Gott and family are located, and four at Cairo, Egypt. Said Mrs. Klein about Cairo, "It is the meek of the Orient—and at the same modest and yet the most ancient city in the world." She mentioned that the work of the denomination headquarters there is to send the SDA's maintain a 24-hour vigilance.

Native Convalesces Mrs. Alexander and her family, on the platform with Mrs. Klein, were returned in the native present dress of Egypt. Her husband's work appeared to be a managerial job of material with large sums to be held in it. To defend against fire he had a show of risk of loss.

Her illness was enveloped in black all over with the exception of one half of her face. The speaker said that some women were beginning to discard the old customs for those of the West. Mrs. Klein said that the missionary's life was not so glorious and exciting as some might visualize it. There were hardships and dangers involved, she affirmed. While the old and her husband were there, King Farouk abdicated, and the country government changed. There was real suffering by force—there was no real success. However, she was certain that if all in her heart were against, she would choose no other plan for her six years of mission work.

UPSILON DELTA PHI ANNUAL RECEPTION ENTERTAINED DASOWAKITA CLUB LAST NIGHT

110 Work field Day; 450 Will Get Bible Course

Over 450 individuals were signed up to take the School of Bible Preaching correspondence course by one hundred and two students from Southern Missionary College Sabbath afternoon, March 5. The hour and a half campaign, managed by the Collegedale Missionary Volunteer society, came on the last Sabbath of the Missionary Volunteer Spring Week.

During the week, the MV society worked through the prayer band leaders, encouraging them to sign up each member of his prayer band to go out in the enrollment campaign on Sabbath. Elder Don Hunter, MV secretary of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, who conducted the Week of Prayer, also urged the students several times during his talks to go out in the enrollment endeavor.

The Collegedale Missionary Volunteer society plans four more such School of Bible Preaching enrollment campaigns during the end of the school term this June.

Students Assume College Day Duties; Prepare for Event

Preparation and administration of the annual College Day program, April 3 and 4, are carried out by the Student Association through its committees and administrative officers. The responsibility of the registration this year has fallen upon the student administration council, and the duties involved and persons responsible for discharging them are:

1. Registration manager, Kathryn Wootley; 2. Associate registration manager, Donna Weber; 3. Registration files, Carolyn Hanes, Wynona Horrold, Phyllis Moore; 4. In charge of name badges, Conna Moffett; 5. In charge of souvenir keys, Conna Moffett; 6. In charge of parking and registration, Brian Wilson; 7. Librarian at the plate of registration, Conna Moffett; 8. Transporting guests from the plate of registration to place of housing, Walter Ward; 9. Supervising the food service, James Schmitt; 10. Dining room posters, Ken Gibson.

(Continued on page 1)

Former SMC Student Opens General Hospital

Dr. D. Clifford Lindon, Jr. Inner student at SMC, announces the opening on Sunday, March 13, of the Sequoyia General Hospital and Clinic in DuPont, Tennessee. He has been in practice there for almost a year and has been looking forward to the time when the hospital could be opened.

Dr. Lindon has sent Dr. AGENCY reporter that he is holding $5,000 in Keifer's gift of the dedicatory address and music was provided by the King's Men quartet.

Collegedale residents were invited to attend the open house at the hospital on Sunday afternoon.

Senators Pledge To Balance Budget

A group of 70 students at Southern Missionary College went last Friday evening to tell Senators. The speaker, composed mostly of student senators, left the college at 5:30 for Brainerd, later even for selling was our own, and at 11:15, before 7:00 the students gathered at the Trade Winds Restaurant to talk before their sales and cost.

Results of the hour venture were: 1500 items sold at $1.95, each bringing over 50¢ profit to the Student Association. The salesman averaged a little better than $2 an hour net.

A pair of a Shoppers pen and pencil was awarded the student who sold the most business within the allotted hour. The salesman averaged a little better than $2 an hour net.

A pair of a Shoppers pen and pencil was awarded the student who sold the most business within the allotted hour. The salesman averaged a little better than $2 an hour net.

Irish Banquet Features Music

Guests of Upsilon Delta Phi walked on green carpets down rows of pallas and candlesticks to their dinner at the Tabernacle on Sunday evening, March 13, which was the last part of the Irish Festival planned to honor the girls of Daonaid.

President Don Ingman welcomed the guests (at the junction Mrs. Andrew was presented with a bouquet of red roses for her help in the direction of the program—Editor) and Donna Weber, president of Daonaid, presided. Spiced, dinner, served under the direction of George Miller and James Peck, featured the traditional Irish potatoes and green vegetables like cream in the shape of shamrocks completed the typical meal from the Emerald Isle. During the dinner appropriate Irish music was played by Jimmy Rhodes and J. D. Lambrecht at a piano and organ did Sangre waters from Chattanooga serve the guests.

Guest Speaker Buckwell C. G. Bushell, of the division of Tennessee, spoke on the importance of law in representative from Eze. His witty anecdotes only confirm the belief that most Irishmen have not up with their language as one time or another.

In the center of the Tabernacle there were huge shamrocks and large Greek letters of the club sparkling with music which glittered under the revolving spotlights. Throughout the program the elaborate decorations were planned by a committee chairman by James Steere and Paul Bordell. Lighting effects were by Olay Wear and Dehon Lattin, and Mr. Worth Lee of Chattanooga's effort of the use of the lighting equipment.

(Continued on page 2)

Carlyle Hottel, Eugene Boone, and Carolyn Miller with type of teams sold last Tuesday.

Hi-Fi Setup Rugged In Fine Arts Chapel

A high fidelity outfit was set up in the Fine Arts chapel a few weeks ago, and has been used by the music appreciation classes. Last Monday night another outfit was added to the setup. The new one consists of a Williamson type amplifier with a new type Heilbert pre-amp, a Garrard automatic record changer, a 15 inch Quantum record player, a folded horn type enclosure, and a 12-inch in-ear University speaker, as set in an open-backed enclosure. The components of the system belong to three different individuals.

FUTUREVENTS

—March 11-16, Litchiana Evangelist Banquet held under the direction of Elder Rifeau.

—Thursday March 17, Arbor Day.

—Friday chapel, March 18, Dr. W. G. Moore, speaker.

—Georgia State Teachers College.

—Saturday night, March 19, Lectures, Western Division.

—Sunday, March 20, Faculty anniversary.

—March 20-24, Mid-semester examinations.

—March 25-28, Spring vacation.

—April 3, 4, College Days

STUDENT PARK PROJECT TAKES SHAPE

Picture from left to right: The stream that goes through the park, a group of girls taking one of the new tables, the site of the future amphitheater and wood prepared for the bleachers.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By L. N. Coo

WANTED

SMC urgently needs someone to put originality into the spring convocations. Each person owes it to himself to make the convocation talk more interesting and informative. When speaking too many of us are exceedingly listless and boring. For instance, of the 100 who talked to this writer 58 said "How do you like this fine spring weather?" Any ordinary conversationalist would readily detect this criticism.

Although I am not an expert, I believe the three following questions will make your convocation more lively and different. (1) For biology majors: Aren't those prying mantises impious today? (2) For English majors: Do you recall who coined the phrase, "crazy lived-up kid"? (3) For campology majors: Did you know that a downward trend in the sale of raccoon coats is developing?

STUMBLING

It has been alleged reported that too many collegians have a staid interest with extra-curricular activities. . . . Addison's basketball team lost its first game in a grueling contest in spite of the efforts of their ace bench-warmer Mike Kabool. . . . According to the latest press release from Bob Ingram, president of Upsilon Delta Phi, the Men's Reception will be FINE. . . . During a lecture this week Prof. Lundquist proudly told his class that Greek and history were his pet subjects. To this Herman Bauman instantly retorted that they were his two pet pees!

ORCHIDS TO: Those who work faithfully behind the dairy bar at the store. . . . All the student kitchen help who do a thankless job. . . . Those who sell biscuits to relieve the debt of the SA. . . . Miss Andrews who tirelessly assists those in need.

OBSESSIONS TO: Girls who say "no" or "boys w/hn don't ask. . . . Those who don't sell books. . . . Squeaky shoes in the library. . . . Dull lectures. . . .

Corporal Longley Is Given Citation; Made Soldier of Month at Fort Sam

By MARCOE ENGLISH

Corporal Sam Longley, a graduate of Collegiate, Andrews and former member of the SMC, now stationed at Fort Sam Houston in Texas, was recently chosen "Soldier of the Month" for his outstanding service.

Regular General Kinney, commanding officer of the MFSS, gave Sam his citation, which was not only an honor in itself, but entitles him to a housing room and other conveniences.

The citation that Sam received stated that in way for this honor were: promptness, initiative, interest, dependability, courtesy, knowledge of current events and army regulations, and military bearing.

SMC can well be proud of Sam, recognizing that he is outstanding in his present occupation, as he was also in a student life.

Corporal Sam Longley

Months in the Medical Field Service which located there Part of his reward for being chosen, was a Merit Award which was presented to him. These were selected to compete for the honor were brought to the high

The Long and the Short of It

By SHANNON

"Go on back to Texas where you belong, you snicker!" We didn't have any place for a dirty 'stool pigeon like you! Do me, fellows!" And the speaker turned to his supporters and they all burst into wild laughter as he flipped his face red with anger as he looked at him waving at us with a scornful expression on his face.

One of my boys stood just outside the walk-in door on second, still surrounded by the tall, pagoda clad form of P. H. Austin who, with back to the wall, confronted his angry accuser without uttering a word. Mike, arrested by the staid silence of the tall kid, burst into another tirade. "I've heard that you Texans are a bunch of huns, everyone of you, with your tall tales, but I never thought they could be as dirty as you are, you. But was going to catch Tex out who he was going to catch and beat the socks off him. "I guess that sock, in the jaw will hold him in line, but I never saw such a thing in my life. When I next saw him I'll clean him off his feet I nearly laughed when he started coming to me to look me around so scared like and whispering. White am I? What happened?"

He Had It Coming

"It served him right. He thinks he's got the world by the tail because he doesn't have to work, his got that sport coat and a lot of those silly things make a fuss over him I can just hear him telling them how a hell-bent fellow jumps him and how he went down slugging like a hero."

Why Allow It?

"I'll huh. But what do you think about this spouting business anyhow?" "I know Tex did tell the dean what Mike did. He told us fellows last night down in the lobby, he was going to. We said he better take it easy, but he looked at us with that quizzical smile of his and said 'Somebody around this place has got to stand up for what's right. You fellows know what I'm going on and you condone it by keeping silent. You wouldn't do a lot of these things yourselves, but you don't do the whole business by keeping silent. I just don't see it that way! And off to the dean's office he went. He didn't try to hide it at all. Somebody I admire that way. I wish I had the courage to back the crowd the way he does.'"

Might help you if you were a little bigger. Boy! My jaw aches for Mike. He'll have mumps on that side for a month."

Just at that instant a smooth shaven Tex came out of the bathroom. The group on the landing around Mike parted respectfully to let him pass. But instead he walked cross to where Mike sat and without the slightest trace of excitement or 100-to-50-to-one in his voice, struck out on his hand and said "I'm sorry. Mike. I wanted you for a friend."

Be continued

An Action Shot

Mike never finished, for there was a crowd that surrounded him the report of a twenty-two, and without his escape as a groan he measured his exact length on the landing. His followers bit ranks, some ran to his aid, some to their rooms, others simply stood looking at the Texas lad in amazement. He had all been a simple, no sudden, so tremendously effective. He hadn't said a word, hadn't made any threats, had a goatee at all except that but that one well timed kick had been eloquent itself. There wasn't a fellow there who didn't think his back legs he hadn't been on the receiving end of that lightning-like blow, and one raised his voice as Tex grabbed up his shaving equipment and went into the wash room.

The Wind Changes

Quickly the news spread through the landing where Mike sat rubbing his eye wearily, all his bluster gone. The dorm and the fellows backed to and fro, some to the bathroom, for the most part, regarding his come-down with the strange indifference that characterizes the apartment when the wind begins blowing from the opposite direction.

"Yeah. Said that Tex had squarled to the dean about his snicker, a couple of fellows over to the cafe on highway 11 and gaining some bucks. Tell me he

Daily Prayer Group "Power Hour" Offers Spiritual Asylum to Students

By ERN GIBSON

A group of students meets every day at 12:00, Monday through Friday. The group meets in "Power Hour." Actually, it isn't an hour, for it is held for ten minutes—ten minutes entirely devoted to spiritual strength-ens. A typical meeting of this group begins with a recitation of some thought-provoking text, and then, after a few moments of thought and discussion of the topic for the day, three or four prayers are offered. So very simple, and yet so effective.

Those who attend Power Hour have nothing but praise for it. Says Jack Robinson, "Prayer is essential for every Christian." The Power Hour, as the names implies, affords the opportunity of exercising this power. The group voices its opinion of Power Hour. "It is very uplifting after a morning's study to be able to relax and think about spiritual things for a few minutes. The fact that we pray as a group produces an atmosphere of spiritual fellowship."

"I really appreciate the Power Hour, and I think that those who don't come are missing a great blessing," says Yvonne Clark. Atlanta Clark says, "I'm thankful for Power Hour, for I have found it to be a source of spiritual help." Joanne Schmitt testifies that "Power Hour has been a real inspiration to me, and I think that more students should attend."

There are many who do not come to Power Hour meetings, and they are missing a blessing that they could easily enjoy. Are you one of these?

Dedication Will Be Coming This Spring

Student park project continues with plans and construction trays completed by Chester Dunton, vice president of the SA.

Plans show six units consisting of two tables and one fireplace to be constructed in the newly developed park area. This area, across the valley from the college, lies partially in the shadow of the stone cliffs of the "Rock Quarry." Numerous trees that the university grass grows quite abundantly in the open places, and a stream flows past the site chosen for the public use at work on the remaining ten.

This student conceived and organized project has received tangible assistance from these organizations:

Senior class of 1955, $150, sophomore class of 1955, $30, freshman class of 1955, $30, (total contribution to be announced later); Upsilon Delta Phi club, $30, home center club, $15, Industrial Arts club, $50 worth of tools, Nitture club, $60; Teachers of Tomorrow club, $12, Conkledor Jaynes, $75, Georgia-Cumberland Conference, $50, Southern Missionary College, $150, SMC Student Association, $150.

The contribution of the senior class will construct a natural stone platform for the amphitheater. Work on this will begin in the next month, says Dunton. The construction of the college went into the grading of the ground for the amphitheater.

Dunton says, "I'd like to challenge every organization that has not yet done so to do its share in the carrying out of the final plan. If only all could realize the benefits to be derived from the project—the possible outdoor concerts in the natural cone amphitheater—surely they would be eager to contribute their part."

Formal dedication will take place some time this spring.

Softball League Begins on April 3

The inter-mural softball is scheduled to begin Sunday, April 3. The date was set in an April 1 House interest of should sign their names on the list provided in Edgje Hall.

Dean Kinney, chairman of the Student Recreation Committee announced in meeting this week that the second tennis tournament will be held the first week in April. House interest of should sign their names on the list provided in Edgje Hall.

Football

Tomplans team returned undefeated for the fourth consecutive week by outlasting Addison 10-14 in previous games. Upsilon and Thuber fell victims to the Tomplans 6-1 by 35-35 and 7-13 respectively.

Sherrill, playing with several substitutions, lost to Calp 52-31. In a tough struggle with Addison, Calp was turned back 18-35.

A group of former SMC students now at Fort Sam Houston with President Huisquit.

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, March 24, 1955

NUMBER 9

SMC Sets Precedents in Seminar

By JEANNETTE MAAS

Who would possibly want to get up forty dawn on Sabbath morning? Not only so, it is a sure bet that there are a good many students who do just that, but who get up and leave College Hill early Sabbath morning to visit small churches within a 110 mile radius.

Southern Missionary College Seminars have over 22 churches, all the way from Cahfield to Forester, Alabama, to visit to Powell, North Carolina, or to eleven cars leave the campus every week. The members of each small help in the Sabbath services of these small churches which they visit by giving notices and teaching Sabbath School lessons, by providing special music, by telling stories in the children's divisions and, of course, by providing the Sabbath morning sermon.

Many of these churches are small, some having only 10 or 12 members. You can imagine how happy they are to have a church of young people visit their church and how they enjoy the music and special features provided. The young people, in turn, are happy to get a chance to put their feet under

(Continued on page 4)

Shown here in the group of colporteur leaders for the Southern Union who recently held the annual colporteur institute at SMC. Standing in Eric Rutledge, Union colporteur leader.

94 Students Join Colporteur Ranks

The Spring Colporteur Institute was held at Collegedale, March 11-16, and as a result of it 94 students have decided to become literature evangelists during the summer months. Each of them has signed a contract and has already been assigned the territory in which he will canvas.

Those who are waiting for the truth and our students should have an especially prominent place in this work. With this statement Elder J. M. Johnson began his sermon at the first meeting of the institute, which began with the vesters service on Friday night, and continued until Wednesday night of the following week.

The speaker for the Sabbath service was Elder Eric Rutledge, publishing secretary for the Southern Union. He told the students of their part in God's plan and that the world's great need is to hear the voice of Jesus. It is God's will that His children should be the channel through which His voice can be heard.

Meetings were held on the dormitories at the evening worship hour, and the chapel were devoted to the literature evangelists and their work. At Monday's chapel a few of the students of SMC who had previously engaged in colportering told how doing this type of work had helped them in various ways.

(Continued on page 4)

Joyce Watson receives a diploma from Professor Hest.

Students Solicit Red Cross Funds

Carol Smith and Joyce Watson are typical of the students who volunteered their services at the Red Cross drive during March. Approximately 20 girls headed the canvassing during the dinner and supper hours, and they report almost 100 per cent cooperation from the residents.

Representatives of the response at the request from Jack Asherman and Mary Rhodes who canvassed for just a few minutes during one dinner hour and visited over $28.

This annual drive at the American Red Cross during March provides funds which go to aid victims of all types of disasters.

Western Discovery: Laurel Reynolds Comes as Lyeum

By FERN GIBSON

"Western Discovery" — it would have been difficult to choose a more appropriate title for the film which discovered and explored in color the beauty and wild animals of the Pacific coast last Saturday night as one of the bytown programs of the school year. Following the trail of Cortez, St. Francis Drake, Lewis and Clark, the lecturer, Miss Laurel Reynolds, located her camera from Mexico to Puget Sound on grand elephant seals, killer whales, porpoises, and other interesting animals.

The discovery of "western discovery" ended in a superb climax of color photography in which, from dawn to dusk, all the wild spirit and beauty of birds in a western tidings were caught and recorded in a great drama of the out-of-doors.

FUTUREVENTS

- March 21-23—Spring Vacation
- March 24—Sabbath Service, Ted Govey
- March 25—Classroom Reunion
- April 2—ATS Caravan Goes to Atlanta
- Sabbath Service Here Ordinances
- Saturday Night—Southern Memorial Benefit Program
- April 3-4—Annual Southern Missionary College "College Day"
- April 4—Chapel Program of Meditations
- April 9—Kathleen Joyce contract in sacred concert at 3:30 tomorrow
- April 11-14—Union Session in Miami

SA Questions Bring Various Comments

How much good is in the SMC Student Association? Is it the true expression of student opinion on the campus, or is it dominated by petty politicians, or is it a shamming faculty? Twelve students have been asked these questions, and this is what they have answered.

The SA is a good idea for it brings students and teachers closer together, training the students for future leadership, states Tawzi Abu el-Haj, a student from Palestine. Too few use of "publics" seems to be the main objection he has to the organization as it functions. The most popular, though not necessarily the most capable, student body officer is the president.

(Continued on page 4)

STUDENT ASSOCIATION PRESENTS COLLEGE DAY '55

The purpose of the annual "College Day" is to give the young people who are going to college an opportunity to become personally acquainted with the students and teachers of Southern Missionary College. All the arrangements are planned and directed by the Student Association with President James Ray McKinney in charge. He is assisted by the other administrative officers and the chairman of the standing student committees.

Each committee member has some special duty, supervised by the chairman; the work of the various committees is coordinated by the president of the Student Association. The budget of the College Day arrangements is worked out by the Student Senate. The entire cost may this year approach $5000 provided by the local conferences and the college, in addition to contributions by the guests themselves and by the members of the Student Association.

The nerve center of the College Day arrangements is the registration unit headed by the general secretary of the Student Association, Kathryn Woolsey, assisted by a corps of able registrars. Miss Woolsey edits the "guest book" in which is included name, address, etc., of each College Day visitor; the committees dealing with housing, catering, tours and exhibitions, interviews, etc., rely on the "guest book" in order to make plans for each individual visitor. As the names are sent in to the college, daily new additions to the "guest book" are being issued.

Another task of the Student Association officers is to coordinate the parts of the 250 SMC students who in some way or another are directly associated with the College Day plans, over-lapping and confounding must be avoided and each student must know his exact function in two places at once.

President McKinney this year has emphasized that the College Day program must be consciously "individualized;" each visitor must be entertained as an individual guest and not merely as a member of a large crowd.

All the members of the faculty have been drafted by the Student Association into some part or another in the College Day proceedings; each visitor will meet at least one college faculty member for a brief personal interview.

LEIF KR. TOBIASSEN, Coordinator of Student Activities

Famous Contralto Will Give Concert

Sabbath, April 9

Kathleen Joyce-Watson will present a special concert at 8:30 Sabbath afternoon, April 9, in the tabernacle auditorium. Mrs. Watson, from England, has concertized throughout England and is recognized as the foremost contralto of that country. She has appeared numerous times with the BBC, and recently sang the contralto solos in The Messiah presented in Royd Albert Hall with the London Philharmonic orchestra.

While the London evangelist effort was being held by Elder George Vandeman, Mrs. Watson rendered sacred numbers from time to time.

Mrs. Watson was secured for the U. S. by the General Conference Mannedial association, and for the Collegedale community and students by the Collegedale S.D.A. church.

Students Suggest Ideas for Lyeum

A suggestion poll on How to Improve Our Lyeum Programs" taken recently brings these results. One student says, "To have a greater interest in lyeum programs I would suggest that we have student sponsored programs."

From James Ray McKinney, S.A. president, Student talent, Dr. I. Q., and other types of quiz programs would create interest that is unknown at SMC.

Someone else says, "I would suggest that we have an amateur hour, such as we had last year."

Another, "I think also that the mu-

(Continued on page 4)

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published by weekly center for Christmas and spring vacations during the school year and over during summer. In Southern Missian College, Collegeville, Tenn. Entered under the "Southern Miss" as second-class matter June 28, 1919 at the Post Office at Collegeville, Tennessee under No. 167 of Congress August 29, 1912. Registered as THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, September 29, 1947. The domestic subscription rate is $2.00 per year, the foreign rate is $3.25 per year.

Table with columns: Editor, Assistant Editors, Secretary, Correspondents, Business Manager, Circulation Manager, Editorial Assistants, and a list of names.

Watch Your Standards!

There are two standards of living; one is personal and the other is social. One is what we guide our lives by; the other is what we wish people to think we guide our lives by.

Southern Missionary College once gained for itself the reputation for being the "School of Standards." Such a reputation did not come about as a result of someone's minutely examining the rules and regulations that govern this institution and deducing from them that SMC was following the blueprint. The reputation came from the outer demonstration of high standards being followed in the lives of students and staff. One might say that at that time the line of personal standards more nearly coincided with the line of social standards, and such a unity was observable.

Is that the same today? Do we deserve the reputation that is still printed in reference to our college? Or are we clinging to the empty hulk of what once was a vital truth in the lives of SMC citizens?

Complaining Words

Dear Mr. Editor,

I resent the recent remarks about poodle haircuts that have been made by C. U. R. I have hesitated to write this since we are so often accused of false pride. But I believe it would be only fair for C. U. R. to discuss these present-day fad reports on the boys' sport, if he must run down the poodle hair cuts the girls are getting.

I believe girls have two very good reasons for getting poodles if they so desire. First, there is the ease and speed with which this style haircut can be managed. Often the men complain about the time-consuming art of hair combing. Now a whisk with the brush, the hair is combed, and the men—who do they do? COMPLAIN! It is so much easier to have a poodle, is exceedingly expensive in the summertime. It is so much cooler—even the high bred canine poodles get their coats trimmed.

Now if the men have nothing more to do but set themselves up as critics, I suggest they take a look at themselves. C. U. R. is undoubtedly male, no woman would ever talk like that. If I am correct (and I believe that I am) the hair upon a man's head grows as fast as a woman's hair. Men not only have hair growing upon their heads but also above their lips and on their chests. What do they do—they slither shiny grooming tools? Never; it would get in their way, so they cut it off. And they aren't saving time by trimming their mustaches, beards, and heads. They have to get a haircut twice a month. Very few girls have their hair cut that often.

And we never shave our faces. Now some young men aren't blessed with that manly growth, which is called a beard, so I am not speaking of them. But the others, at least once a day, out come their razors, off come those beards.

What is vanity? It appears to me that at least part of vanity is trying to improve one's appearances without any special need to do so. So all you barefaced, close-cropped gentlemen who don't appreciate our attempts to attain a reasonable degree of comfort, why not go look in your mirrors.

Yours sincerely, KUBRIS NUTTS

In the Way of Music

A listening room has recently been set up at the Fine Arts building. This room contains a manually operated Concert Hall record player. In conjunction with the room there is a record library where one may select his choice of records by referring to the card catalog. One of the room is by appointment held reserved for students are carried out in regular library fashion.

Two piano recitals are coming in late April and early May. Russell Field will also give his graduation recital.

One of the end of the school year. A (10-inch) LP record is being cut by the Kings Men quartet by B.C.A. Victor. Sales will be 12-14 sacred hymns that people have most often requested of this quartet as it has lured the Southern Union in preliminary work for the college.

Quartet members are: first tenor, Duane, Stork, second tenor, John Thur, baritone, Jack Veasey, and bass, Jim McComb.

The 4,000 records will be available by April 1.

Dasowathi Damsels

By ONTREA ALLEN

Mamie E. Mohr, as feeling veryrate one evening, so she made a life-size doll and placed it in Mrs. Gibson's bed. The doll appeared very lifelike with its button eyes and nose.

Elizabeth Noll, Dorothy Mull, and Kathleen Baker caused a small furore the other evening. The monitor could not find them anywhere. Perhaps it was because they turned their lights out and hid.

Everyone is wondering what Sidde Nix was doing up at the administration building without her shoes on the other evening.

A survey of the signs upon the doors of the girls room showed a great total of 14 doors with added attractions. Pat Martin and Kathryn Jones have upon their door.

Arlene Datamote has two signs and one cartoon. The cartoon shows a man three pennons arranged artistically at the breakfast table with his wife. He has just laid the morning paper down and is saying: "You wanted to know the reaction of the occupant?"

Betty Johnson and Rose Grouhall have a picture of a dog and cat on their doors. Might this be an indication of the character of the occupant?

Joye Lynn and Carolyn Haines have what appears to be two initials hanging on their entrance. Joyce Bense and Barbara Hurst have a warning for all gapers who intend to enter their room. "If you grawl all day, naturally you'll feel do-paired at night."

Of course our two polar bears, Gerid Lind and Lynda Mulford, would have had a sign indicating that they are such.

Sussex—"Baby's Asleep"—is the warning that has been posted on Phyllis Moore's and Patsy Gilbert's door.

Irene Cross and Carl Madson have added signs to a magazine. They aren't able to identify it sure they weren't guilty of placing it there. Charlotte Brien claims that she didn't do it, but she knows who did.

As a reminder of the banquet, two doors have large shamrocks on them.

Amer a la Mode

By CLAUDIE FROTH

The big social event of the semester, the men's reception is in the past, and all that is left to remember it as it is pleasant memories and wistful thoughts.

Several rather comical events which happened during the afternoon prior to the reception are still in our remembrance.

Bertha Kingsbury and her roommate, Louise Thompson and Ghysy Trebey, decided to go for a hike and eat the "sack lunches" which were provided by the cafeteria for those who desired them. Poor Bertha sprained her ankle quite badly on this excursion. The swelling and pain did not aid in the enjoyment of the rest of the hike, did they, Bertha?

In the last issue of the ACCENT the wister of the boys' column expressed the desire on the part of some of the conservative young men that the dandies would bluntem before the reception—they did! As a result some dandies' changes were given. The receipt of use of these is in our dormitory. Of course it was all in fun and the did not have to wear the dandies!

Betty Reynolds had quite a scare

Her roommates of which Anna Ruth Ellis was the chief, thought it would be fun to tell Betty they didn't think she would receive a corsage and meanwhile hid the one her boy friend sent Betty was terror stricken. Fortunately she was not Betty was ready to leave the room. Anna Ruth brought out her beautiful white orchid. You were quite relieved weren't you, Betty?

Recently some of the nature lovers in our group decided they would like to go for a short moon-light hike before going to the room one Friday night. They asked Miss Howard to go with them. The news of the walk spread quickly and when the group was ready to leave it was apparent that the majority of them in the dorm had liked the idea and had joined the hikers.

Thelma Harper is proudly displaying a brand new watch on her right arm. Congratulations, Thelma!

We are sorry Annette Kingsbury has been back in the infirmary for several days.

The following have been home, have had a visit from their parents recently: Delphine and Darlene Ball, Helen Brewer, Bertha and Annette Kingsbury. And there will be more to come. The remainder of those in the dormitory are anxiously counting the days until spring vacation.

"As Others See Us..."

By HENR VOTAN

"There is a French proverb which says, 'Tou meconnait, tout se voit.' That means that every thing new is beautiful. But," says Claude Cugelle, "I don't think that is the only reason why Collegeville has a reputation for so anonymously."

Claude Cugelle, with his pretty wife and baby, come to us from France. They plan to make America their home. "After twenty-seven consecutive hours on the bus with our baby from the time we left the boat in New York, she was adorable. Claude feels that he not only studied, but is also able to do manual work in a certain way in the industries. Claude also likes our system of permitting a student to certain amount of liberty in choosing subjects to obtain a degree. However, he would like to have the French liberty to pursue a course of study at home, and then to take an examination which would represent his knowledge.

Claude likes the people of Collegeville. He says, "A certain amount of friendliness prevails. The majority of people greet you with 'Hi—' politeness and friendliness which accounts for the good reputation of the A. S. M. C. We are glad to have Claude Cugelle and his family with us in Collegeville."

TALES OF TALGE

By WANN TAYLOR

The baseball season has commenced upon. One can readily understand that confusion by examining our north door which at one time held a pane of glass. A hit was put on the bulletin board for those to sign who wanted to play softball. Another sheet of paper was put up for those to sign who wanted sack lunches on the day of the reception. Guess what happened.

Full Coverage

Dave Guella and Arthur Sinden had another one of their battles. It is not the policy of this paper to advertise any product, but on a certain day a brand of shaving cream was on a lot for your money. Dan had used one can to enter Arthur from head to feet. Considering the vast area that was covered, this was a remarkable feat for a single can of shaving cream. Hains Fern got a black eye which plays nice. Apparently, he didn't like the idea of having one black eye and one normal eye, because he went out and played soccer again. No, he has two black eyes.

Octopus Stacks

Information please. Who was that beautiful girl that helped Duke Keefe get on his feet at the reception? Speaking of girls, we find that some of them have a strong bias on some of the fellows in the dorm. Our noble David Chapman found Jerry Odey in his room polishing his feet upon a stool. The shoe-shinners belong to Stanley Suter. Now that winter weather is here, we have plenty of heat in the dorm. Sometimes we have so much heat that you can't turn it off. I suppose you could return to the boiler at a winter's absence.

The SMC music department is acquiring these long playing records in its library. Maria Solentier, Beethoven's Requiem, Brahms; Three Symphonies, Brahms, Violin Concerto in D Major, Tchaikovsky; The Last Four Days, Gosses Mähler, Quinter for wind instruments, Hindemith, Sonata for brass instruments, Poulenc.

In the February 25 issue Herbie Buzman was listed as president of the Colporteur (Literature Evangelists Club). The president is Mike Kibbold.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By I. N. COG

OVERHEARD

Prof. Larry Hughes is offering 50¢ pieces to those who will swallow egg yolks! Johnny Clark hungry and in need of cash, accepted the challenge. He managed to get it down, nevertheless, it is believed that some came back up later. . . Ronnie Rodgers, transfer student from WMC, wants all collegians to be sure to know that there is a "d" in his last name. . . Playing magnificent ball, Jim McClintock faked two meat men and made a beautiful set shot only to learn that he hit the wrong basket! Later. . .

Onta Allen and Fern Gibson walking along the road a bright spring morning; Onta, noticing birds overhead—Look Fern, the Goldfinches are coming up!

Fern, temporarily baffled, looking for Goldfinches sprouting from ground, then catching on—You silly girl—don't you recognize migrating tulips?

*Speech is silver,
But silence is — enforced!*

It was an unusually average day for Fred West. He had just finished sleeping through three classes and was aimlessly wandering through chapel. Norman Trubey met him at the door with a newsy Campus Accent. On this news sheet he noticed some perplexing laws regarding one's conduct in the library, but having the habit of glancing quickly over this IMPORTANT paper Fred neglected to read the rules carefully. Instead of memorizing the regulations, he used the margins of the Accent for a highly intellectual game called ut-tio.

That evening Fred was amazed upon entering the library, for there were artfully painted signs conspicuously in the lobby. Some of the signs read SILENCE, QUIET, and "Tip-toeing would help." After laboriously walking through the maze, Fred chose to study at a corner table. He had hardly written the letter alpha when it happened!

With only the waning of his lumbering footsteps silence-enforcement officer Walden came totting a pencil and a handful of palm slips. But the delinquent, Monte Tindall, had disguised himself with a handkerchief tied neatly around his face. The arrest failed. But the game of "cops and robbers" went on! Forgetting the rules Fred began chattering noisily, drawing even more spectators.

Eventually the noise ceased to the extent that the silence was at deafening. Not being used to quietness Fred abandoned the idea of studying and headed for the sack. (bed for the elite).

LETTER TO I. N. COG

Dear Mr. Cog,
your column is Interesting, Newsy, and Cogntant; it also may be said that the SOUTHERN ACCENT is becoming better with age; the last issue certainly was a step upward, and we faithful readers hope the staff doesn't slip on a banana peel!

that's enough paler, or now to business: we have some brightened person age on our southern campus without the benefit of southern training; this does not necessarily mean that they haven't lived in the south all their natural life; perhaps, a terrifying experience in childhood pushed them into a college—made them nervous, maybe in infancy some other baby in the crib knopped his blocks over, which he had so stably stacked! WHATSOEVER THE CASE, all in his behaviour belongs in the crib; it doesn't need to be expressed by typing trash con and spreading the contents over the whole 40 acres; mama isn't here to spank the patten or other contents of the anatomy, so please release his inhibition.

In aid to these individuals might be constructive participation in: campus "dice bombing," "the broom brigade," or an office in the Student Senate.

Yours Unconvinced in rubbish,
I. C. Red

WATCH YOUR SENATE

By WALTER WARR

The Student Senate on Sunday March 20, 30, was fairly well attended. There was an air of fine expectation and even a little impatience expressed as we took up the work of the night. The reason was due to the fact that one of the hardest jobs, and certainly one of the most responsible, that the senate is called upon to do was to be undertaken—nominations of officers for the next year's Student Association.

The impatience was a result of having a certain amount of routine work to complete in ending the College Day committee reports. Everything is in the final stages of preparation and are almost ready to welcome the assembly sessions from all over the South. After the reports, the floor was opened for nominations of officers for next year's association.

If there was any intent on the part of senators to further their political ambitions it was not evident. Robustness was the order of the day and for every other there were many who declined to rise. Perhaps they realized the vacancies it means to accept an office on the executive staff of the senate. After due deliberation Dean Kinsey, present chairman of the committee on health and recreation, and David Bruce, editor of the Southern Messenger, agreed to run for the office of president. Don Bethea, president of the COC, and Paul Kigawa, president of the junior class were placed on the ballot to fill the seats in office. The two contenders for the secretary position are Joann Auberhan, chairman of the committee on social education, and Joyce Larson, secretary of the COC. Bob Addison, president for the Men's Forum, and Francis Killen, but news manager for the Southern Messenger, are the choices for candidates for the office of treasurer.

College day Dry Cleaning service, although not the largest industry at College day, is one of the busiest. This department employs three students who work under the supervision of Mr. Marvin Schaffner.

The process of dry cleaning never tries to amaze people. Some have the idea that a little magic powder is sprinkled on the clothes, the spots just disappear, and the clothes are clean. It is not quite that simple, however. Let's watch a pair of pants go through the process.

The clothes are checked in at the front office, and each article receives a tag to prevent loss. Then to the dry cleaning room they go, where pants, sweaters, and dresses are separated into different piles. The pants are put into a washer that agitates

The Long and the Short of It

By SHANNON

The hall was silent as the boys awaited Mike's reaction. Pulling himself into his feet, he slowly stuck out his hand and with an attempt at humor answered, "I've a feeling—with a nod to you for a friend—And then in a serious tone he added "I'm sorry you're 'Tee'." But the fellows' coat of laughter didn't drown out the rest of his answer. "And I take back what I've about you being a stuff piggin Mike but he was toward his room. I believe that crack on the jaw has brought me to my senses; a bit and a creaser and a hair, for I signal up to obey the rules of this school, and I've been doing everything, but what I ought to do is get out of here like a man at 11m.

Pheme Proecher

"No, Mike. You're not doing to keep on like you've been doing. But who am I for his something someone out here on the landing and in my pajamas to look," and with long strides he made but was toward his room where Sharty stood in the doorway awaiting his return.

Handie, you old say home, you see, you're for sure. The only will Jack you out of school for fighting."

Pecudo-hally

Fighting? It takes two to make a quarrel. But And besides I wasn't even mad.

"Oh brother, I'd hate to have you lie me if you did get mad. I'm going to tell you so what kind of a guy you turned out to be." But the pseudo-glaring on his roommate's eyes broke down his accusing front and he declared with great serenity: "Tee, this dormitory has got to be the place where even I can hardly stand. It's this tearing around at night, this breaking of teenagers this pouring of water. A doctor fellow is going to be here to come here another year unless some drastic changes are made. You'd think the administration could realize that this kind of business is going to ruin the school."

That speech doesn't sound like the Sharty. I know it the beginning of school, but at shrills my heart. I can tell you I'm worried too. Sharty. I never saw such a situation at events here. Even the better fellows try to hide the madness of their roommates—and some of them are preparing for the ministry. There is a false conception of loyalty here. The idea seems to be prevalent that no loyalty at all is demanded as far as the institution itself is concerned; no one needs to be loyal to the rules or his fellows, loyalty only means the shielding of ones fellows when they have deliberately broken their promises to obey by the rules I know, that some of the fellows knew who was stealing in the dorm and did not report the culprit until they themselves lost something. Sounds strange doesn't it? But it's the truth, Well, I for one am going to do my best to live up to the pledge I made last fall, come what may.

Boviled Morale

The fact that more men had the courage to stand for principle, had the courage to report a popular fellow like Mike for his misdeeds, and at the same time had the shielding of ones fellows when they have deliberately broken the respect of his fellows, made a tremendous impression throughout all the dorm. It was long before morale began to rise. The fellows who wanted to do right took courage, found that there were lots of men who had only been waiting for someone to lead out, found that they were actually in the majority. If it wasn't long before the dorm became what it should have been all along—a home—and a place where peace and goodwill again began to reign, a place where one could study or pray or think without being molested. Good, give us, more such men. Tee was the plea of the dean as the days went by. And God, being so good and kind and understanding, did

Quick Service at Dry Cleaning Plant

By HOWARD KENNEDY

them for 30-40 minutes in a solution of caustic soda, which is a by-product of gasoline. After this period they are extracted to remove all the solvent possible into a tumbler along with the caustic. The pants they next go (ladies' dresses and coats are hung up in the drying cabinet) and when dry, they are pressed, bagged up and are ready to wear.

The dry cleaning department is ready to take care of customers who want quick service. Clothes can be just as dirty as before, yet customers leave them in three days instead of four, a saving of 24 hours.

The service can now take garments of all sizes with the exception of the new dry cleaning cabinet—"Big or little, fat or thin—just bring them in." When you get them back they are more to let if they fit you when you brought them. The addition of a new "Adjust-Fern" and "Measure-Cent" adjusters, shrinkage, Red, yellow, black or blue, handily control lower collars like men's.

The insect repellent is tops—a special service — it removes silverfish, moths, crickets and all vermin. Your garments are treated against all self-respecting bugs.

If you remove those factors that sparkle and gleam, our equipment won't have to. Our plant is not a hot iron collecting agency, but it does a thorough job of removing them.

Drop in some time to walk out up-to-date dry cleaning service at the CollegeLife Laundry. Your service will come with a smile, and your clothes will come as you want them.

Scenes from Upsilon Delta Phi's Irish Festival

Men's Reception—Irish Festival features "Music, Irish Chorus." The stage burst into the men's profile where a brief "showdown" for the event was held. Picture at left above the Grand Entrance in a "showdown" between the Irish band and the Irish banquet attended by Upsilon Delta Phi and Downstate's. At night in Grand Van Meter playing "Two Guinness" on his accordion on the men give final approval on the "showdown."

ACCENT IN THE ACADEMY

CAMPUS COMMENTATOR
By C. U. R.

EDITORS:

Bruce Anderson John Crossan

BY EDITORS:

Bubba Bryant Dave Pugh
Bill Ascherman Claire Fisher
Sue Nix

... Student Teachers Colporteur Leaders Meet with Academy

By Jimmy Nix

Spring Fever

It seems that spring is actually here this time. With it has come to most of us that strange rise in the temperature of the human body which has baffled the men of medicine since the beginning of time. Generally we call it spring fever, and nobody has found a cure for it—yet! Many folks have thought they had a good cure, but they ended up worse than when they started. I guess the only ones who don't get the infection are those who were born with some strange immunity, and from what I have seen, there aren't very many such persons. I'm convinced that most of the teachers get it, too, but teachers have to hide some of their human feelings in order to inspire us poor, sick students.

It won't be long now until spring vacation. Come to think of it, it's a good thing we are having vacation because I'm sure there would be some who would die of the fever if they didn't have a break in the school work before the end of school. Of course, the end of school isn't far off either, but it surely seems like a long way when you have a bad case of this fatal spring fever.

With vacation so close now that we can see it, I imagine the best thing to do would be to work a little harder and try to hold off the fever until we can let go and not be bothered but relax—at least, that is what some people say we get to do, but I always seem to manage to work harder than that I was working before.

You'll have a good vacation! ipf

SMC SETS PRECEDENTS IN SEMINAR

(Continued from page 1)

a home table and have a real home end-of-term afterwards, for they are usually invited home by the church members.

Pre-med Also Included

Southern Missionary College is setting a precedent in the membership of its bands in that not only are they made up of ministerial students, but they also include medical, dental, and pre-nursing students. We have been given instruction that the medical profession and the ministerial profession are to work together in the saving of souls, and here on our seminar binds they are learning to do that. In fact, the leaders of each band of four or five members are at often pre-med students as pre-ministerial.

Students of each of these professions are learning that they can complement each other instead of working at odds, as has often been the case in the past.

Purpose Twofold

The purpose of the seminar bands is to afford the students revenue valuable experience, and training for leadership. They learn how the small church in the small town operates, and all about its problems. This will give the student a spiritual as well as the small, struggling church, and the church in town fosters a special blessing which ous says. Several of the faculty members are invited to the meetings which might be accepted through a summer's work of canvassing.

STUDENT COLPORTEURS

(Continued from page 1)

The Wednesday night was composed of a series of scenes which pictured a day in the life of a Methodist evangelist.

During their stay at SMC the colporteur leaders personally contacted almost every student to talk about plans for the summer. There were 45 of these leaders on the campus to help conduct the meetings. They were Elder Eric Ranta, from the Southern Union, W. P. Moore, W. P. Blake, and W. B. Robinson, from the Alabama-Mississippi conference, I. W. Young, W. B. Hines, and Elder Sallie, from the Carolina conference, Joseph E. Greene and Mr. Besse Vincent, from the Florida conference, William E. Coffey, S. R. Nix, and Houston Myrman, from the

You'll find most of them at the College date that you would find among any other school, and student teachers are no exception.

At present Grady Smoot, Gene Hollinger, Dave Hendon, Elder Valentine School, and Jack Griffith are in charge of the 200-day academy for students of Collegiate Academy.

Grady Smoot, secondary education major, is teaching the American History class. Mr. Hunt's biology class has been taught by Gene Hollinger. Dave Hendon, pre-med student with previous teaching experience, has been regular teacher of world history since the beginning of the year.

The Spence students have accepted the benefit of Elder Valentine School's New Testament history class in Spanish, while Jack Griffith, secondary education major, is teaching Elder Paul Boynton's English New Testament history class.

Most of the teachers are required to teach for a six-weeks term in order to receive one hour of college credit. The period of practice is offered as an opportunity to learn how to keep the attention of the students while teaching.

... Student Teachers Colporteur Leaders Meet with Academy

The publishing work of the student colporteurs met with the faculty members last Wednesday during the chapel period. They spoke on the advantages of the literature ministry.

Elder Ross, Southern Union Publishing secretary, told of the excellent success achieved last summer despite difficult conditions throughout the South.

Other speakers were Elder Robinson, Alabama-Mississippi; Elder Young Carolina; Elder Collins, Georgia-Carolina; Elder Cavallaro, Kentucky-Tennessee; and Elder Green, Florida. Each told the advantages of his conference, and his experiences of student colporteurs. They brought out the importance of soul-winning along with the financial rewards of a summer's work.

SPRING HAIR STYLES DEMONSTRATED

Spring hair styles were demonstrated by Marie Hixon, Colporteur in vision, at the regular meeting of the ladies' committee club, Monday, March 21. A luncheon was served after the session ended.

SMC Remembers Her Own

school in Kansas City. Her address is 2105 Independence Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

THE CLASS OF '53

Four members of the class are working for the U. S. Army. Robert Northrup is now attending Dental Assistant School at Fort Sam Houston. His address is 623 Jeanette Street, San Antonio 9, Texas. Keesha H. Smith, now attending school in September '55.

Richard Chisley, SU 3402 Det. No. 2, Atlanta General Depot, Atlanta Georgia, expects to be released from active duty July 21. James Jones is also at Fort Sam Houston.

Associated with academics are Clark Taylor, Arizona Union Academy, California; Freda Moore Young, Young Academy, Ohio; Rolly Jean Lynn, who is Forest Lake Academy, now studying at EMC, Rose Scholastic, Enterprise Academy, Kansas; Ada Ruhl, J. D. Bishop, Newark Park Academy, California; Fern the Class of '52 are Elaine Higdon, Mount Pisgah Academy, Condit, North Carolina; Loretta Hoyt, Grand Junction, Jason Academy, Palestine, Colorado.

Elmer Taylor and Howard Hoenesgaard are attending EMC School of Theology in Berkeley, California. Eugene B. Wolf is enrolled in is worthwhile for all students to get their fingers in the pie of administration. This student also believes that the tapping of the wealth of their ideas of students makes the organization valuable.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION COMMENTS (Continued from page 1)

"The SA is good if run by students," comments another student colporteur. "Sometimes the students are influenced too much by the faculty opinions and viewpoints, the students can't always express their convictions."

She says she doesn't know much about ISA, but what I have heard has been good.

"You can quote me on that," says Elder H. "Sometimes the students is worthwhile." One student says, "I agree it completely—we never had such a thing in the school I ever attended."

Another feels that the SA has pushed the MV society into the background, for it provides many varied interest activities, and tries out the students by the time the Sabbath comes.

"The SA also has taken over jobs that belong to the MV Society—like for instance the prayer bands."

"The SA doesn't rightly represent what the students want—does what the faculty wants," says a young lady. Continuing she says, "If run properly, it could be very good, but at the moment it doesn't take enough action on the numerous current problems."

"That goes for me," commented another who "overheard" the question and answer—"however I do like the clubs operated by the SA."

"I agree," says another. "The SA seldom comes to my mind at all, but when it does, all the impression that is left there is of student societies, student senators, students senators."

"The SA is all right," she says, "but why should I care?" laughs the twelfth student asked.

the status becomes daily more serious as spring comes on with its million afternoons, busy breezes, and sunspost clouds. Not only can one see the sun on the horizon in forms of Hanes, Shabby, birds, or stirred over the sea, but also artificial ones scattered with equal abundance throughout the scene. The outstanding difference (to a casual observer like me) between the natural and artificial beauties lies in the effort.

Well, I've signed up—I'll be out going Friday. I don't do this summer. I can sympathize with those in my being over for a pot of lentils—that's not for me, making them mark on the dated list, covering the last bit on my calendar. However there were other reasons for my decision. I learn during the institute that such is the only way allowing that an individual receives for his summer month's occupation.

I, too, one of many, enjoyed the program representing some of the types of work that a colporteur is to do, from home to home, presented by the students last Wednesday chapel. The different plans appear to have been planned with sufficient variety to appeal to all tastes.

Christ's Foreign Legion

By NORMAN GILLES

Latter and special issues. The Christian America characterized the last pre-emptive Legion meeting of the 1954-55 academic year. The first speaker was Elder Valentin School, MV leader for the Antislavery Union, studying here this year.

Elder H. B. Lundquist from the 21st district, speaking in South Africa six and seven years ago, said he was able to give some interesting facts concerning the progress of the war in these islands.

Special music was presented by B. dello Ashby, a new student in Peru, who is a talented pianist. He played a Russian piece, "El Camino de la Cruz."

The constitution committee composed of Elder Lundquist, Pat Martin Gatta, Allan, Richard Shepard, and Ferdie Watkins, rendered its report during the business session of the meeting and it was the duty of the members of the Legion to accept the new articles of the old and the official book for the organization.

STUDENTS' IDEAS ON LYCEUM (Continued from page 1)

the department could furnish an interesting program. The band and orchestra each could put on a program with the students that play the part well."

Alv. Clark, junior, says that "the twinning team would put on a 45 to 60 minute program of modified a number of 20 students."

"A few feature films would help. Also the engaging of some church groups would provide possible friends," suggested Central Carolina Theological Institute.

The Lyceum program should start promptly on time," says Terrence Carter.

Jerry Gloy believes there should be a few more of them, and that they would be something besides travelogues and lectures.

Shirley Scala hopes for more variety and interest in the program.

Student Association Will Choose Executive Council

Four Major Offices Will Fill This Week

Candidates for the four major Student Association offices were nominated in the last Student Senate meeting, held March 30. Selection was based upon the individuals' meeting the requirements listed in Our Student Organization of 11/28, page 16, which include GPA of at least a 1.00, positive attitude, familiarity with parliamentary procedure, organizing experience, four months' minimum service on the Student Senate.

David Bauer

Contestants for the office of secretary are Miss Joan Autherman and Miss Joyce Larson.

Joan Autherman, from Chattanooga, Tennessee, is a sophomore this year. Her curriculum leads to a B. S. in secondary science. While enrolled at SMC she has held the offices of associate editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT, associate MV leader for a summer term, home ministry secretary, chairman of the student committee on education.

Joyce Larson, a sophomore from Apan Park, Florida, will receive her B. S. degree in secondary science. Since she came to SMC from East Lake Academy in 1953, she has been president of the Delta Alpha club, vice president of the secretarial club, associate editor of the Southern Messenger, and secretary of the Club Officers' Council.

Running for treasurer of the Student Association are Bob Addison and Francis Kellen.

Bob Addison, born and raised in Durham, North Carolina, is a sophomore.

Joyce Larson

Dean Announces Faculty Juggling

Britishers Hints

After sixteen years of teaching at SMC, Doctor George Nelson has accepted a call to join the staff of the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, California, in the capacity of research chemist. A call is being placed for an experienced teacher of chemistry to replace Doctor Nelson, but inasmuch as this long-time developed just recently, sufficient time has not elapsed for the call to reach the professor who has been asked to replace him, and therefore his name cannot more planning is desirable. This is the first year he has been enrolled at SMC, and the office he has held are president of the Men's forum, and vice president of the sophomore class.

(Continued on page 3)

Francis Kellen, an economics and business major from Knoxville, Tennessee, completes his sophomore year this semester. He has served the last two years as business manager of the Southern Messenger, and has been a reporter for the Southern Accent.

In line for the office of SA vice president are Don Inelco and Paul Kilgore.

Don Inelco, junior pre-med student from Mobile, Alabama, has been at SMC for three years and his class president of the Upsilon Delta Phi club; representative for the sophomore class, and president of the Club Officers' Council.

Don Inelco

Paul Kilgore was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and since coming to SMC to prepare for the ministry, he has been an associate editor of the Southern Accent, pastor of the sophomore class, a member of the student committee on programs, and president of the junior class.

Presidential candidates chosen are David Bauer and Dean Kinsey.

David Bauer is a junior from Miami, Florida. In his three years at SMC he has held the offices of sports editor of the Southern Messenger, president of the intercollegiate soccer, and 1953-54 editor of the Southern Messenger.

Joan Autherman

Foreign Legion Will Caravan

A nominating committee consisting of Carl Colquhoun, Sam Craft, Harold Wertz, James Peal, and Theobald Hanson, presented its report to the 801 people at the Legion meeting, Friday, March 19.

As a result, it was voted that the following students should fill positions as officers of the Foreign Legion's Executive committee for the 1955-56 academic year.

President, Arvo Schone, vice president, Harold Wertz, general secretary, Joan Lambert, assistant secretary, Connie Wagon, publicity manager, Bruce Wilson, musical director, Ronnie Rodgers, pianist, Joyce Banks.

CME Accepts 15 Students For '55-'56 Freshman Class

"Leader - Lonely" Says Coordinator

"Loneliness is inseparable from leadership," Professor Leif K. Tolman, chairman of the division of social sciences, declared in the MV chapel service Wednesday, March 30. "Only the one who thinks and does that which is beyond the appreciation of the crowd is going leadership."

The speaker referred to the example of Moses, Paul, James White and Christ Himself, emphasizing how often they were unappreciated by their contemporaries.

Assisting Professor Tolman on the platform were Elles Adams, MV leader, John Theobald, Deane Street, Jim McClintock, Jack Veasey, Erna Bishop, James Ray McKinney, and Gene Balfanger.

Don Kinsey

Dean Kinsey, from Arkansas, is in his junior year, and plans to major in history. At SMC he has been chairman of the student committee on health and recreation, president of the gym club, summer MV leader, president of the Leaders' club, and treasurer of his sophomore class.

Elections for these offices are to be held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, April 5, 6, and 7. The Student Association has received more than the required number of candidates from

Francis Kellen

Future Teachers Receive Insignias

On Thursday evening, March 31, the teachers of Tomorrow's Community Service was held in Lynn Wood Chapel. All the educational vocationists from the Southern Union participated in the service.

Elmer Hanson presented a challenge to the young people by urging them to take up teaching for a life of service and satisfaction.

The club members separated their pledge of service together, then were awarded a sterling pin, which has a design of a lighted lamp with the inscription, "Teachers of Tomorrow's under it."

The following students received the Ten-tons of Tomorrow pin, then lit a candle to signify the work of teaching being light to people: Ellen Adams.

(Continued on page 3)

SMC Publications Constitute the Voice of SMC

The publications of Southern Missionary College are the posted voice of the college campus. They keep the students, faculty, and friends informed of all the activities of Southern Missionary College.

The Student Association has charge of the student publications, which are THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, the school paper, published bi-weekly; the SOUTHERN MESSANGER, the yearbook, published annually; and the "Campus Accent," an organ of local announcements, published every Monday and Friday of the school year. Both the editorial and the financial responsibilities of the first two publications mentioned fall to the Student Association. The secretary of the Student Association is the editor of the "Campus Accent."

(Continued on page 2)

Paul Kilgore

annual notice, (48 hours), and bulleting will take place in the front hall the direction of the vice president, Chester Danston.

Bob Addison

Eight Secretaries Earn Certificates

Eight secretarial students received certificates of achievement, March 17, from the Dictaphone Corporation for having passed the Dictaphone Pencil Transcription Test. The students were: Marie Eubank, Margaret Hughes, Nancy Matthews, Donna Weber, Helen Coo, Lyone, Jensen, Lu Ann Ralke, and Lois Allen.

To qualify for the certificate the student must first be a minimum of 125 lines of dictated material within 30 minutes. Two errors are allowed, each one deducting one line. Miss Theresa Bestman, head of the secretarial division, presented the fact that the work had to be letter perfect, and she said that even with 200 words instead of the required 125, and three errors, the whole test disqualified her.

Of the eight who qualified for the awards, Marie Eubank achieved the highest score, transcribing 166 lines.

(Continued on page 4)

Ten for Medicine; Five for Dentistry

Ten SMC students were among 96 who received letters of acceptance last week from CME (school of Medicine, Dean Hamrell, announced March 25. Those who will enroll August 29 are James Alexander, Jack Fausch, David Hecroft, Delvin Littell, Lawrence Marvin, James McKinney, Paul McMillen, Peter Peter Paul Watson, and Olaf Weir.

50th Anniversary

They are part of CME's 47th class in medicine, who will arrive on the Loma Linda campus in the midst of the college's 50th Anniversary observances.

Dean Hamrell emphasized that students from SMC were given the same consideration granted all of the approximately 200 applicants who applied. The ratio of students accepted or not accepted is not necessarily equal on all the denominational college campuses. If the admissions committee insisted on such strict standards, some potentially good students might be barred from entrance and some poorer ones might be admitted.

Selection Takes Time

Committee on Admissions Chairman Don W. E. Mispahon pointed out that the 11 man committee has been meeting since January to consider applications published and compiled by the dean of students, Walter B. Clark.

"It takes more time, effort, and funds than one can realize, to gather all, and send the application form filled out by each applicant, declared the committee. "It takes evaluations of the statements from his college faculty, the profile score on the Medical College Admissions Test, the transcript of credits, the letters of recommendation from the home community, and a summary of the data secured by successive interviews with a representative of the committee," said Dr. Mispahon.

"Qualified Applicants"

As to the meaning of the term, "qualified applicants," the committee said it meant that (1) a student shall have completed full four-year college course ending this school year, (2) a student must have been established on the application a Christian life, maturity, stability, and personal responsibility, and (3) a GPA for the complete college course of not less than 4.5.

"An applicant who has such a record and whose subjects computed satisfactorily.

Dental Students Are Accepted

Five SMC students have been accepted by the school of dentistry conducted with the College of Medical Evangelists for the 1955-56 freshman class.

Pre-dental curriculum in a two-year course, and those who will be leaving for California from the SMC sophomore class of 1955 are John Ochs, Lowell Smith, Walter Bishop, Burton Ewert, and Howard Link.

COME ON DOWN TO COLLEDALE!

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published weekly except for Christmas and spring vacations during the school year, and once during the summer, by Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee. Founded under the Southern Board of Christian Education, October 29, 1919, at the Post Office at Collegedale, Tennessee under the Act of Congress August 21, 1912. Registered as THE SOUTHERN ACCENT under Post Office No. 39177. Domestic subscription rate is $2.00 per year; the foreign rate is $3.25 per year.

EDITOR	VERNON BUSHELL	REVISOR	Tom Gilbert
ASSOCIATE EDITORS	Johnnie Calkins Paul McInnis	DEPT. HEADS	Don Herndon Leannae Marx David McInnis Martha Edwards
SECRETARY	Conna Moffitt	BUSINESS MANAGER	Walter Wood
COLUMNISTS	Orrin Allen Clifford Fisher Wayne Taylor Henry Weiss	EDITORIAL ADVISER	John McInnis
		BUSINESS ADVISER	Tom Andrews T. W. Steen

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

Over one-third of all American college students fail to graduate. Think of the loss of time, the loss of money, and the frustration involved in so many failures. What, then, are worthy motives for college entrance to Southern Missionary College or any college?

Let us contrast a few reasons given in a recent survey by a national magazine. One student goes to stay out of the army, and another to prepare for a profession. One wants a career in athletics, and another a background of culture. Another boy or girl simply wants to meet the right people, while another wants to learn how to think. I like the suggestion made by Dr. Goodrich C. White, president of Emory University in Atlanta: "A college education should contribute to the full development of one's capacities for private living and for public service."

CHRISTIAN TRAINING

A seven-day Adventist freshman should feel that he owes to God a life of full service and devotion, the training for which can be secured in a Christian college. "If you would make the road to success a little shorter, go to school a little longer" is still as true today as it was years ago when first penned. Southern Missionary College extends a very special and warm welcome to youth who want to find and follow God's plan for his life. The opportunities on our campus are certain as you learn and to serve as you train are unexcelled.

Norman Vincent Peale, noted preacher and author of the record-breaking book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," says: "There are two reasons for going to college, first, to have an effective beginning for the realization of one's full potentialities of mind and spirit; second, to be able to render the most efficient and constructive service to God and society." It takes a Christian college manned by Christian teachers and attended by Christian youth to make this ideal possible.

THE OBJECT OF EDUCATION

Why go to college? To get the best preparation possible to perform the services to mankind and to God such as He had in mind when you were created. "To restore in man the image of his Maker, to bring him back to the perfection in which he was created, to promote the development of body, mind, and soul, that the divine purpose in his creation might be realized,—this was to be the work of redemption. This is the object of education, the great object of life." This wonderful ideal in "Education," page 16, is the basic reason for the establishment of Southern Missionary College.

Your college education will be no more important than the motive which prompts you to attend college. Any member of the faculty at Southern Missionary College will be glad to take the time to counsel with you concerning your needs or plans for further training. Summer school starts June 12, and the freshman registration for the fall term is on September 12.

KENNETH A. WRIGHT, President
Southern Missionary College

An Explanation is Due.

Some complaints have come to me concerning the column we run called "The Long and the Short of It."

Of these complaints, one came directly to me.

The objections based themselves on the ground that said column maligns the messiah down here in SMC.

May I say now that this column is not a commentary on Talge Hall.

Those who have followed the column from the first have seen the two main characters through different situations which might have arisen, may be wrong, or may yet arise in any Christian college.

The author's purpose in the column is to uphold the standards of our school, not by long list of rules, but by interesting, pertinent dialogue in an allegorical form—by striving to make the right appear more desirable than the wrong—not by dogmatic statements, but by examples.

THE EDITOR

Amer à la Mode

By CLAUDE FISHER

Everyone is trying to settle down to study again after having had the "break" for a few days during spring vacation.

We are happy to have visitors on our campus during College Day. They have toured the industries and visited the different classes. To add those who have stayed in our dormitories in order to become acquainted with our dorm life and with those who make their residence in the residence halls. Maybe you'd be interested to learn a few things about the area. There are twenty-two girls and their dean, Miss Mabel Howard.

Set of these girls have come to Collegedale from countries outside the United States, such as Cuba and Puerto Rico. Others have come from as far away as New York and southern Florida in the United States. Only a few of our freshmen live in the dormitory, and there are representatives from every class in the academy except the freshman class. It seems that most of the freshmen live in the community.

If our visitors were fortunate they became acquainted with some of the following personalities to be found in the area: First of all I'll mention James Brewer, our energetic manager, who does the thankless job of keeping our dorm "ship shape" and getting up early every morning to ring the morning and evening bells. Thelma Harper is the person to look for when you need an interpreter to carry on a conversation with some of the Spanish girls. If you have any trouble with your algebra lesson, Gladys Truhey or "Cibbie," as she is affectionately called, is the official tutor and she will be glad to be of help. Marvan Conroy is the dorm lieutenant and you will be glad to give you a low hat if you so desire. Need any photographs, well done?—The Bullard team are well equipped to be of service to you. Anna Ruth Ellis is an authority on raising pets and she will be glad to tell you about raising goldfish and turtles, if you are interested. Ruth Traver is the producer of sweet music in her violin. If you are a member in the shops just go down the hall to room 203 and you will find Bertha Kampberg, a very good "tonic" for you. We all appreciate her happy spirit and cleaning skills. These are just a few of our personalities, and I'm sure the new comer will find off of our girls friendly and interesting.

The library at SMC

SMC Can't Give You an Education

VINCENT BUSHELL

Southern Missionary College does not have the power to give anything to anyone.

Not going, to be accurate, also requires receiving, and education in all its facets, cannot be given unless received. Rather, education is merely offered. Therefore this must necessarily restrict itself to what SMC is capable of offering to the prospective student.

1. Training in Leadership
Undoubtedly, every young person who comes to SMC will receive training in leadership. One reason is that in a large group all cannot be leaders, but one, to receive such training, in some cases, must have certain traits that make him popular with the student body, or else he must impress his associates as being extremely capable.

Since no course is offered in leadership, quite often the student must already have been somewhat of a leader before he enters SMC. Not every person qualified for leadership. Merits often occur when popular students are placed in office, having no other qualifications than a pleasant personality, or yet when intelligent students are placed in responsible positions on the basis of their college work. The general level of religious thought, that is, by the very nature which is given them by common student SMC cannot implant leadership qualities—merely helps to develop them through exercise and training.

2. Social Development and Training
At SMC one can either learn to adjust himself to other individuals—comes into their feelings, become more tolerant—or, on the contrary, reject from social contact more than ever. The decision must come from the person. Experience unacquainted at SMC may produce either reaction, depending on the choice and response of each individual.

Lifelong friendships are frequently developed in one's college experience. The contact with numerous types of individuals generally broadens one's outlook.

One can, with considerable effort, prevent himself out his own contact and look upon his daily life, so social contacts, as from a distance, perceiving the whole at once, the broadening influence of each experience he undergoes, or, one may draw inwardly into himself—may live entirely guided by his "present" reactions, immediate feelings, and accordingly, here his outlook narrowed. The choice lies with the individual.

3. Scholarship Achievement
One student may receive an education through studies pursued at SMC, while yet another, equally diligent, may not. The secret lies in the desire of the student to learn—to expand his mind to the ultimate, absorbing everything worthwhile, realigning values to meet (Continued on page 4)

TALES OF TALGE

By WAYNE TAYLOR

Assuming that this issue of the ACCENT will come out on time, I want to take this opportunity to welcome the academy and get up a high school to Talge Hall at Collegedale, I realize that many of the prospective students are planning to James Hall, but we welcome them too, realizing the effect they have on the morale of the fellows in Talge Hall.

There are probably many who have never been here before and who would like to know something about our dormitory. There are some rather desirable treasures living here, but they are harmless and you shouldn't let them frighten you.

Your Room
Each room is furnished with beds, desks, tables, and if you're lucky, a book case. If you're willing that it's clean just about the best you can get. You may not be able to get a beaver of the pipes, but with a dirt all the room were supplied with a three amp and about five several years old. All of these are still in excellent condition. There are probably some that have never been in.

Outside the room is a hall, where the janitor says they clean every day. This hall is equipped with a square box (P. A. system) that starts squealing whenever you try to get a belt, slip.

Men's Forum

There are two organizations with the dorm. One of these is the Men's Forum which meets every other Friday night. Many of these meetings are to be a gratuity for next day's parliamentary procedure, but most of the other meetings are of an educational nature in the dormitory can be attended by the Men's Forum.

Upsilon Delta Phi

The other organization is the Upsilon Delta Phi (UDPhi) which is a social club of the dormitory. This club spends most of their time socializing and sponsoring a reception every year and collecting dues.

You are welcome to visit our dorm any time. Third floor no longer has the bad reputation it once had so you can climb the steps. We hope to see many of you here next year.

SMC PUBLICATIONS

(Continued from page 1)
The college publishes each year its catalogue of SMC events, courses, faculty, staff, etc. This is compiled by the college administration and given to the freshmen concerning Southern Missionary College issued by New Students.

The Southern Missionary staff reports that the 1955 Southern Missionary book of surprises May 1955 was (Continued on page 3)

FUTURE TEACHERS

(Continued from page 4)
Thomas Anderson, Cecil Ballinger, Marilyn Biggs, Julie Brown, Rickie Crutcher, Evelyn Colpepper, Janet Daniels, Arlene Detamore, James D. Dyer, Conroy Dyer, Nancy Davis, Garrison, Carol Hollingsworth, Jeanette Marx, Lester Marx, Carl Maddox, Patricia Martin, Lynn Medford, Alice Peterson, Wanda Porter, Athol Shepard, Louise Silberstein, Hugh Shepard, Corina W. White, and the faculty room, which gave the prospective teachers an opportunity to be some better acquainted with their leaders in the educational field.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By L. N. Cox

Billy Jones, a freshman from Fort Pierce, Florida, was completely exhausted. He had just finished registration and orientation week, which included standing long hours in long lines, having a physical check-up, being inoculated against flu, and carrying armloads of books from the College Store to the third floor of Talge Hall.

Billy was told as he lay in the infirmary that college subjects would demand his burning the midnight oil. This revelation sent Billy into a relapse. He was wholly unprepared for this, for instead of bringing his Elbert Collegiate Dictionary and Harbrace Handbook, he had packed the trunk of the car with tennis balls and racquet, golf clubs, baseballs and glove, a towel, and other important items.

In academy Billy had had a comparatively easy time in his studies, and thinking college would be the same, he had not been overly concerned.

Snipping a glass of water, Billy began to peruse his class schedule. Uh, Dr. K. B. MacMurphy . . . Dr. George Nelson . . . Professor Leif Kr. Tobiasen . . . Professor Russell Dahlbeck . . . Did these names spell concentration and study? He was soon to find out.

Physical education proved to be a relatively easy course—no homework or outside reading. Dr. MacMurphy took pity on the neglected freshman composition students and read them a story for relaxation.

Billy enjoyed Dr. Nelson in chemistry, but he couldn't erase from his mind the look Dr. Nelson had on his face when he spoke about men and boys—"This class will separate the men from the boys . . ."

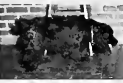

His next and final class was Ancient, Classical, and Medieval History under Professor Leif Kr. Tobiasen. By and large, Billy looked forward to this lecture, for he enjoyed the application of history to every day living as he had heard Prof. was in the custom of doing—explaining the effect ladies' hats have had on culture and progress in all stages of the earth's history—extolling the virtues of feminine leadership. Just as soon as the bell had rung, the teacher picked up a stack of micrographed sheets a foot high and began dealing them out to the bewildered students.

After listening to the lecture, which was divided precisely into three divisions; the art of newspaper reading, the correct way to lace a race book, and the deplorably one-sided masculine society with which the world is cumbered, Billy gathered his books and walked majestically to chapel. Why majestically? He had survived one day of college!

During the chapel program Billy had an opportunity to think of the hard weeks of registration, his homelickness, and his first day of college classes. He pondered and weighed the matter, and after considering the friendliness of the students, and classes that were going to prove most interesting, decided that SMC was still the school for him.

CAMPUS COMMENTATOR

By C. U. R.

The editor asked me to tell the College Day book something about the campus and grounds of SMC—the environment of the college, so.

SMC is sitting on the steps of White Oak mountain overlooking the green pastures and the scenic, interposition of the rock quarry of Collegedale valley. As you lie on the enormous sleeping lawn in front of the main building, and look toward the East, across the valley, you can see the other side of the bond, with its twisted patches of water, lower, and most of all, trees. If you look higher, on clear days, the hazy Smoky Mountains show up in the distance.

The Rock Quarry

As you walk toward the quarry (my favorite retreat) you pass by the little pasture where the riding horses graze. Then you pass the big barn, enter a gate, cross a stream, and find yourself on the little road that leads across the fields that at this time of year are bright with the yellow mustard bloom.

As one nears the old quarry he can hear the bees buzzing about the wild flowers at the base of this rutted spot with its hunk cliffs, jagged rocks, and limestone outcrops.

Another stream is crossed, and you are under the drowsy influence of the warm sun beating upon recliant boulders. As the wind shifts, the smell of the homestead's overhanging, for the area is covered by this vine. As you follow the little stream, you soon notice at your right in the third wall of the cliff an entrance that leads down.

Turning aside temporarily to investigate, you find the temperature changes suddenly from a cool, crisp-inducing level to a cool, sleep-inducing level. The temperature is always nice

(Continued on page 4)

Watch Your Senate

By WALTER WARD

This issue of the Accent is primarily for our campus Seniors. We are happy to have you and sincerely hope you enjoy your stay on our campus.

During your stay here, you will hear a lot of talk about the Student Association. Many of you wonder who it is. Well, it's just the students of SMC organized.

There are many purposes of this organization. We try to promote smooth relations and understanding between faculty and students. We carry on activities especially for ourselves. When students want to be heard, they go to their Senate and the Senate passes on to the faculty whatever suggestions, ideas, and complaints prove valid.

Student Representatives

It's evident that five or six hundred combined together could not easily and efficiently carry the objectives of the student body. The obvious solution is to elect representatives to speak for them. That is exactly what we have done. The general adviser of the student activities is the Student Association president. He is responsible for the varied activities of the associated students. He has an able assistant, the vice-president.

These two, with the secretary and treasurer make up the executive council of the association. They are responsible for keeping things going, for providing new ideas. They make up a program of aims to be discussed at Senate meetings.

In addition to these four executive officers who are elected a general elector, we also elect, at the same time, seven students to be the chairman of seven committees. Four of these are in the publishing of our school periodical, the SOUTHERN ACCENT and the president and secretary of the Club Officers Council.

These seniors represent the will of the student body at a whole. In addition to them, the senate also selects the four Senate officers: the president of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes, and the vice president of the senior class. The associate NV leader, if a student, also will be a full-fledged voting member of the Student Senate.

That makes quite a group of students, 26 in all. With their organization each student is represented on the senate three or four different ways.

The seven committees deal with scholarship, religious activities, health and recreation, labor, public relations, program, and social education.

These committees form the backbone when a problem arises or an activity is planned. The aim is to secure the appropriate committee, which must investigate and report back as its findings.

Seniors and Publications

The four forums are the married couple, single men's, single women's and Collegedale Association.

It is in these forums that issues are taken directly to the associated students for approval or disapproval after the senate has navigated through them.

The four publications officers who sit on the senate are the editor, business managers of each of our publications.

On our campus there are a large number of clubs. Each of these clubs has an extra-curricular activity of the school. The executive officers of each club are members of the Club Officers' Council. The president of all the officers of the council sits on the senate.

The faculty is represented on the senate by one member, the coordinator.

That is a brief breakdown of our senate. It is a very important body. Our senators have had charge of some phase of preparing for this College Day. The senators have had the corroborative support of the president of all the students. We hope you have liked it and will come back next year to help us make SMC a better college.

Work Opportunities Are Varied at SMC

By RENE GONZALEZ

If education is considered as growth, we must recognize the important place the development of skills in the individual has in it," says Dr. L. N. Holm, business manager of SMC.

Southern Missionary College believes, as expressed in the school in signs, in the harmonious development of the mind, the heart, and the hand.

To this effect a carefully-studied and well-organized work program has been established as part of the institutional program, contributing to a large extent to raise the name of Southern Missionary College way above many others of the same category in the South.

Of the 591 enrolled in the school, 350 are being employed by different industries and departments. Of these 350, 40 are paying their entire work

Students have the opportunity to work in any of the 24 departments. Four of these, the broom factory, the laundry, the press, and the woodshop, are under the minimum salary regulation, providing substantial pay to those who have definite skill in different lines.

Apart from the work provided on the campus, the administration allows students that show sufficient aptitude and dependability to work in Chattanooga. According to Dr. Holm, around 100 students help finance their education in different occupations in the city and surroundings, acting as salesmen, nurses, laboratory technicians, printers, etc.

The value of the industries in the school is not primarily one of supporting the instructional program, but one to allow students who otherwise would have the funds, to receive their college education. Last year the school paid over a quarter million dollars to students.

"It has been demonstrated," Dr. Holm commented, "that as a rule, students who have found it necessary to work while attending school have done better work scholastically than the others."

The outlook for the future is better than last year's. Better quality products are being introduced in the market, which will utilize skills, and consequently, help needed.

Southern Missionary College will continue to develop its industries which provide a great number of youth from the Southern Union with the opportunity of acquiring a Christian college education.

Students may earn a portion of their school expenses by working in the College Laundry and Press

FACULTY CHANGES FOR '55-'56

(Continued from page 3)

be announced at this time.

Larry Hughes, instructor in Biology and Chemistry for this year has declined to continue his graduate work and has resigned. To carry the classes he has been teaching, the college has secured the services of Professor Linday Winkler. Professor Winkler has served in Indiana as a nursery teacher for some years. He is currently finishing the research for his Ph.D. dissertation in California where he has a fellowship in biology. He will receive his degree during the summer.

Doctor Deane Gaskill, who has been in the lead in physics and mathematics this year is resigning to go back into the research work in which he has been engaged for the past several years. SMC is fortunate to secure the services of Professor Ray Heffner to take over the classes in physics and mathematics. Professor Heffner has been doing graduate teaching and part-time research work at the California Institute of Technology. He will join our faculty at the beginning of the summer session of next plant work out, or at least by the beginning of the fall term.

The college board has granted Elder E. C. Burt a year's leave of absence to complete the work for his B. D. degree at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. An invitation has been extended to an experienced teacher with a doctor's degree who is currently teaching in one of our other senior colleges. Further announcement will be made concerning this new faculty member when there has been time enough for the official call to reach him in like manner, the college board has invited the head of the physical education department in one of our sister colleges to join our staff to replace Professor Dahlbeck which means it necessary to resign in order to return to the West Coast so that his family can be nearer their aged parents.

At the end of the summer Mrs. Ruth Huggins will receive her M. A. degree in Home Economics at the University of Tennessee. Assisting her, especially as teacher of the foods and dietetics classes, will be a mature, experienced teacher, Mrs. E. M. Huggins, who will be an honor student to join our faculty next September.

Doctor T. W. Stearn, who has so helpfully served as chair of our Division of Education and Psychology and head of Training and Counseling, will be on leave during the next year assisting Doctor Anderson of Washington D. C. in the capacity of clinical psychologist. Doctor E. N. Holm, who has served the college this past year as business manager, will become chairman of the Division of Education and Psychology and will be in charge of Training and Counseling. Professor K. M. Kennedy, who has been on leave and who will receive his doctorate next fall, will assist in his department, specifically in the area of teacher training.

The college board has voted to add an additional member to the English Department and will be in charge of English. Dr. A. M. A. degree has been invited to join the faculty as teacher of English.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

Editors
R. H. 1913133

Oliver Anderson
John Freeman
John Auerbach

Barbara Beazley
Clara Fisher
Clara Fench

Think This Over...

New Monday most of the Christian world will be celebrating a holiday which is known as Easter.

For most people, this is not a time to think about the resurrection of Christ, but rather an opportunity to sport their new spring outfit. Yet nearly everyone seems to be able to find time to go to church on Easter morning, if at no other time during the year.

Although the Seventh-day Adventist church does not recognize Easter as a religious holiday, and although Easter is not observed according to the Jewish Passover, it does seem to me that this would be a good time to think of the Lord, whose resurrection Easter commemorates. ba

ATTENDANCE HONOR ROLL

*Anderson, Jolt
*Ballard, Darlene
*Ballard, Delphine
*Baynton, Jeff
*Bullis, Charles
*Dunbar, James
*Finley, Clarence
*Freeman, John
*Gardner, Gwyn
*Hall, Donald
*Hall, Edward
*Hall, Robert
*Harper, Thelma
*Jones, Juanita
*Jones, Shirley
*Lang, Lillian
*Loren, Ione
*Lynn, Barbara
*McNeill, Kathleen
*McHenry, Carolyn
*Pawl, David
*Pugnot, Rosetta
*Sasser, Martha
*Smith, Tom
*Starr, Helen
*Tompkins, Neil
*Wicks, Edwin
*William Joyce
*Woodie Myrna
*On Honor Roll were September

SCHOLASTIC HONOR ROLL

*Anderson, Jesse
*Auchman, Jolt
Aster, Dan
Beane, Barbara
*Bishop, James Brown, Sara
*Bushman, Amy
*Cox, Randall
*Hall, Donald
*Hall, Robert
*Hammill, Roger
*Holladay, Barbara
*Daly Kathleen
*Ling Lillian
*McClellan, Ruth
*McNeill, Kathleen
*Michell, Kathleen
*Pitts, David
*Runt, Andy
*Stier, Charles
*Stier, Martha
*Wade, Leon
*Williams, Joyce
*Woodley, Myrna
*Wright, Orville
*Honor Roll ends September

Forum Presents "Spring" in Music

The Forum gave a program in chapel, the theme of which was "Spring." On the stage was a musical staff decorated with nuts and spring flowers. The young ladies in the program were formally Wagon Collier, president of the forum, was master of ceremonies. The various musical numbers were:

A piano duet by Sodee Nix and Roger Hammond, and a piano solo by Marian Hall.

A quartet consisting of Janet Butler, Shirley Jones, Barbara Beane, Sarah Brown, David Brown, and James Durschel, played "Campus Run."

Soloists were Thelma Harper singing, "April in Portugal" in both Spanish and English, and John Freeman, who rendered "O What a Beautiful Morning."

Clara Fench gave a reading entitled "When Lent was Was Blas." A mixed quartet composed of Sue Weber, Jeanette Heltzer, John Freeman, and Bobby Joe Davis, closed the forum program with "Just Singing Along."

The forum's bouquet of red and white gladiolus was presented to Dr. Sabze and Mrs. Stanley Brown.

Secretaries [Cont from page 1] Nancy Matthews followed with 154 The letter that Miss Brinkman received from the Deafblind Company states. Most of the work was above average and some of the net line rates were quite high.

Academy Chapter Holds Annual Temperance Contest

Albert Coppock was first prize in the Collegible Academy Temperance Contest.

The contest was presented during the chapel period March 25. His topic was "Education or Legislation?"

Second prize went to Roger Hammill, who told the story of Ira Hayes, a great soldier who because of drink became a drunken wretch.

Paul Hagan received third prize with his speech telling of the evil effects liquor has on the body.

Honorable mention went to Jerry Higgins. His speech depicted a meeting of persons where "narcotics" was trying to be admitted as a member.

The winner, Albert Coppock, will compete with contestants from the other academies at the Southern Union during College Day, April 5.

Judges for the contest were Henry C. Beach, Bible teacher at SMC, C. D. Wellman, pastor of the Clear Lake, Tennessee church, and Mrs. John Garner from the Collegible Academy.

Foreign Legion [Cont from page 1] During the nine remaining weeks of this school year the Legion will organize three campaigns to visit various churches within a range of 300 miles. The purpose of these campaigns is to present the challenge of the mission field through live representation, opportunity to date new reports, and other means of interest.

CAMPUS COMMENTATOR

(Continued from page 3)

in the case, and the little detour is refreshing. For speakers, the case is one of the attractions of the campus, for it offers numerous subjects, passages, underground pools, many interesting statistics and statistical formations.

Plans are for the clubs to be used in the back and sides of an open-air amphitheater with natural stone platform and concrete benches. I sort of hate to see the changes taking place, but I almost seem to have a vision of a majestic street and haunts—but I guess one shouldn't stand in the way of progress.

Anyway, it's exciting news, and the spotted Holsteins are heading back across the valley toward the barn. As you head toward the college again, you get the first time, take it as it is a whole. From left to right you see the housing, the hidden laboratory, next the dark brown Telfe Hall with its white porches, the central building somewhat behind it, then the modern science building with the flowing lines and flaming bed of tubes in front. Lynn Wood Hall, the administration building comes up next, with its white pillars against the sky of the building—then another modern building, at least it looks the same, but no, it's the library. Maude Jones Hall, and the newest addition, the Harold A. Miller Hall. Behind it you can't see the buildings in the hall, behind the main building, but as you prepare to enter the cafeteria for supper, you see the college precentral heat, campus building, kindly mistakes you, almost making sure, and broomshop with their stream of the dead employees getting off work.

SMC CANT GIVE YOU AN EDUCATION

(Continued from page 2)

his philosophy. One student takes a course for knowledge of the subject, and reads for it. The other takes the course solely for the credit, and does not surpass the bounds of the classroom. This one receives an education, but only incidentally from SMC. His education is broad and comprehensive due to his thirst for knowledge. The question of how much education SMC can give lies in the student and his thirst for knowledge.

4. Spiritual Progress
While the spiritual program is more intensive at a Christian college, it doesn't necessarily build the student's religious life. The wall can remain an independent view through the body taken part in division of activities. SMC cannot force the will, nor does it attempt to, for the will is unknown-able except to God. The more set of being in a Christian surroundings says no one, unless he responds lovingly and thus sets out on his own in the quest of salvation.

Some times students are even harmed by the religious program of the college. They, under influence of associates, build up an emotional resistance to things spiritual, which might not happen in an environment with less hypocrisy and less Christianity in some groups. The better it harm derived from the Christian in the college is determined by the individual's will.

5. Work Program

The work program can make a possible life a student to earn his entire way. Although not usually so long years. This SMC offers, but again, as before, the student can take advantage of the opportunity, or reject it.

Conclusions

SMC is what the students make of it. It is a quality in what it can offer, having a fine library, active Student Association, inspirational spiritual program, and work opportunities, but it cannot give these benefits in the student—can only offer the means, urging that we as present students and prospective students accept and use these means for personal character building and self-realization.

SMC PUBLICATIONS

(Continued from page 2)

Most of the work was above average and some of the net line rates were quite high.

"Yellow students, stand back of your publications," says Johnny Culp, publications committee chairman. "Do all you can to strike them the best in the history of the school. A college is not a college without students. There is a publication a genuine publication without students' support. The publications committee members need your suggestions, so give them to us and we shall receive them gladly."

Above, Telfe Hall. Lower, Maude Jones Hall. Academy grounds here you see years at Southern Missionary College.

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, April 22, 1955

Number 11

Culp and Hess Will Head 1955 Accent; Jansen and Miller Lead Committees

The SOUTHERN ACCENT has received its new administrative officers for next year from the election held at SMC.

John Culp, sophomore member of Phi Kappa Phi, was elected to be editor for the 1955-56. The editor to be edited is a weekly paper, the Sentinel at M. S. C. Academy, has been associate editor this year, as well as chairman of the student committee on publication.

Business manager, to succeed Walter and David Hahn from Florida, will be a business and economics major, sophomore, has had experience in accounting, having worked in the accounting office and at the Southern Lumber Co. David has been treasurer of the Upsilon Delta Phi.

Two student committee chairmen, that fill in the lobby and study and recreation committees.

The student committee on library. George Miller for next year, charge in a junior year dental student from Somersdale, Alabama. While at SMC he has been a member of the program committee, and secret assistant for the Upsilon Delta Phi.

Carl Jansen, a married student, will head the student committee on health and recreation. Carl, a pre-med from Lake Charles, Louisiana, has been a member of that committee this year.

John Culp and David Hess discuss plans for the "Accent's" future.

College Day Draws 350

By DAVID HENKIN

SA Benefit Film Makes a Record

The Living Desert, 35mm color film presented by the Student Association at SMC in a benefit program last Saturday night, grossed $3,914.95, the highest amount ever received by the Student Association.

The 3000 people who attended the film showing and the $3,914.95 net go to make a record for SA benefit programs. Mr. Tracy believes that 1500 Ashley and high school seniors from every state of the South and Union were guests of Southern Missionary College for the annual College Day, April 3 and 4.

Staying with registration at noon Sunday, the guest seniors were treated to a day and a half of SMC style Southern hospitality. All guests were welcomed and registered, under the direction of Kathryn Woolley, in the A. G. DAVIS Memorial library. Until supper, they had an opportunity to stroll around the campus, watch an unusual intramural football game of two elite friends.

The Sunday evening reception program featured a welcome by the president of the Student Association, South Union temporary, ornamental committee, college band and the chorale.

Monday morning after a brief review of the program organized by the MV society, the College Day guests were given a complete tour of the 1100 campus. They observed everything from mass production of modern furniture to quantitative analysis. Students trying to determine the percentage of silica in limestone.

President Kenneth A. Wright officially welcomed the guest seniors to SMC.

A. W. Johnson Speaks at MV Vespers Hour

Secretary of the G. C. religious library department, Alan W. Johnson spoke at the Vespers hour at SMC on Saturday last Friday night at the MV Vespers service.

Dr. Johnson pointed out that the world is hard on those who stand up for their convictions. He stated that the man who said that the prisons of the world contain two kinds of people, the worst and the best, was right.

Taking the example of Jesus and His crucifixion companions, the two thieves, the speaker remarked that the Romans divided two kinds of people—robbers who lived below the level of humanity, and Saviors who lived above it.

The majority is seldom, if ever, right," said Dr. Johnson, and he gave examples of times when the majority was always wrong. As a man who dared an overwhelming majority in order to defeat law convictions, the speaker used Martin Luther.

SA Administrators College Program, Faculty Visits Sister Schools

Students Discuss Three SDA Women Leaders

Three college students presented the MV organized program held in chapel last Friday.

John Brown, Carl Hollingsworth, and Phyllis Moore spoke about women who are considered to have been outstanding in the history of the SDA denomination.

The first speaker, John Brown, told the life story of George Barnet-Barzaga, the first missionary sent by the SDA denomination to India.

Carl Hollingsworth told the life of Elizabeth Wiley, who was the founder of the youngster divisions in the SDA school organization.

Miss Ellen Harmon White was the subject of the last speaker, Phyllis Moore. Miss Moore brought out that even in her early youth, Ellen Harmon was actively active in religious activities.

A challenge to the young ladies mentioned Miss Moore's talk—a challenge to the girls of SMC to follow the examples of the three dedicated women in their endeavors for God.

Kinsey Is SA President for 1955; Bethea, Addison, Ausherman to Assist

Election results on the four major SA offices filed April 5, 6, and 7 show Dean Kinsey as SA president for 1955-56, Dan Bethea as vice president, Bill Addison as treasurer, and Joann Ausherman as secretary.

These four students will comprise the Student Administrative Council and their duties as outlined in the handbook are these:

The student administrative council serves as the speech and the executive committee of the student senate, and shall consist of the four executive officers of the Student Association, meeting with the sponsor of the Student Association.

The student administrative council shall hold said in readiness to (a) cooperate with the college president and other college officers, as well as the college administrative council, in executing all college, program and procedure involving the student body, and (b) advise the college president and other officers, as well as the college administrative council, on all matters concerning student discipline, student morale, and student participation in college projects and enterprises.

The secretary of the Student Association shall conduct the official agenda for each senate meeting to each student, when possible, come days in advance.

SA vice president, Chester Dunbar, reported in chapel, Wednesday, April 13 that the election held April 5, 6, and 7 which elected the student administrative council showed the best percentage of student participation in the history of SMC.

Of the 388 qualified to vote 215 went to the polls, showing a percentage of 55.4% in a strike the majority of the water returned to the States in the fact that student elections are held in public instead of in group meetings such as chapel periods.

Carl Jansen and George Miller will assume their duties as Health and Recreation Committee and Labor Committee chairmen next September.

College Heads Are Re-elected for 1955

At the quadrennial session of the Southern Union Conference, held in Miami, Florida, from April 11-14, all administrative offices of the college were returned to their posts of service.

President Kenneth A. Wright, Dean Richard L. Hazzell, General Manager Charles J. Jernung, Jr., and Dr. E. N. Helm, business manager, were unanimously elected to serve in these capacities.

In addition to the above named delegates to the Union session, Elder E. C. Burke, chairman of the department of Religion, and Elder H. H. Beckner, pastor of the Collegedale church, were also delegated to attend the meetings in Miami.

SA and MV Society Inaugurate Cooperation System

The two student organizations at Southern Missionary College, the MV society which has the larger membership, and the Student Association, have inaugurated a system of cooperation. Ellen Adams, the MV leader, and James Ray McKinney, the SA president, have agreed on a number of ways in which student needs can be met by joint action and cooperation between the two units.

Many SA chapel sessions this year have been turned over to the MV officers. Some of the SA clubs have sponsored projects jointly with the MV organization. The two groups of officers have endorsed and supported (Continued on page 2)

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published biweekly except for Christmas and spring vacations during the school year, and once during the summer, by Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee. Entered under the "Southland Scroll" as second-class matter June 28, 1915, at Chattanooga, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress August 24, 1912. Postmaster: Send address changes to THE SOUTHERN ACCENT, September 25, 1947. Domestic subscription rate is $2.00 per year; the foreign rate is $2.25 per year.

EDITOR	Victor Bushell	REPORTERS	From Gibson Dale Herndon James Mast David Metzner Martha Egan
ASSOCIATE EDITORS	Johnny Gilre Paul Kalar Gonos Kalar	BUSINESS MANAGER	Walter Waid
SECRETARY	Flora Allen	CIRCULATION MANAGER	Elmer McElvain
EDITORS	Clayton Fisher Wayne Taylor Helen Vogt	EDITORIAL ADVISER	Ernest Andrews
		EDITORIAL ADVISER	T. W. Stern

Why Settle for Less?

The chapel program last Monday was of the type of which there should be several at our college.

The topic was "Trends in Congregational Singing," and the speaker, Dr. Adrian Lauritzen, tried to show the difference between the degraded music that is creeping into some Adventist churches, and the truly wholesome religious music. He described the cheapness of the verse, sentiment, and music of many of the popular "gospel" songs.

The speaker also stressed the importance of an accompanist's accompanying rather than performing amazing stunts designed to draw attention to himself.

This type of chapel program, which we need more of, is destined to point out the mediocrity of so many of the accepted standards in our society. This type of program, not limited to music, can present examples of the excellent and the mediocre by contrast.

We as SDA Christians should subscribe only to the very best in all fields of achievement. If the best is not appreciated by us, we certainly need to learn its worth, for any young person who esteems himself, his future, and his religion, will not be satisfied with the mediocre level of accepted values.

Come to the Annual Breakfast of the Collegedale Alumni Association on Sunday morning, May 29, at 7:30 A.M.

Mail your reservations to Elder Paul C. Boynton, president, or Miss Frances Andrews, secretary, Post Office Box 1015, Collegedale, Tennessee. We hope to see you there. Come and reminisce about your days at SMC and SJC.

Purchasing Department Saves Time and Money

By FRANCIS KILLEN

The purchasing department of Southern Missionary College has estimated that it will save the college thousands of dollars annually through the systematic organization that they have been using since they first began operations this school term. Mr. Ed J. Carlson, assistant manager has stated

Mr. John Goodland is the purchasing supervisor who directs purchasing in all departments, including central trucking and central supply companies, whose headquarters are on the campus of Southern Missionary College. Salesmen must telephone Mr. Goodland instead of contacting the department heads, not only saving the time of supervisors, but keeping the purchasing department up-to-date on all purchasing done.

The larger savings are made by Mr. Goodland, who contacts the government surplus depots where he purchases equipment and supplies at great savings which amount to 50% and more. The cafeteria alone saves over $1,000 a year through this medium.

Mr. Carlson, assistant to Mr. Goodland, processes all the purchase orders and sees that all invoices are returned for discount rates before the specified time expires. Mr. Carlson also supervises all posting of records, postmarking of all purchase orders, and takes care of all correspondence pertaining to invoices or purchase orders. All business correspondence and bills are made by the assistant manager.

The secretarial staff of the purchasing department is composed of Miss Corinne Moffitt and Miss Lorraine Penner.

The two departments that are connected with the purchasing department, are centrally supply, located in the maintenance building, which warehouses all supplies for the campus, such as food staples, etc., and central trucking, which is responsible for all deliveries on campus between departments, makes deliveries to town and other important points. This organization has recently purchased a 1955 GMC, 21,000 lb. gross weight truck for all the major hauls it will be driven by Guyver Edgeman, who was formerly head of the college steering department but who is spending full time with the trucking concern. Dick Northrup, former student of SMC has just returned to operate the other truck, which is also a 1955 GMC and will be used for town trips. The 1953 Chevrolet truck will be confined to campus deliveries.

Mr. Carlson explained that purchasing for all departments of the school including the enterprises, the industries, restaurants, cafes, supplies, garage, recreation, and all other departments, is done through the purchasing department.

When any staff member wishes to purchase anything he submits a signed requisition by the department head to Dr. I. N. Holm, business manager of the college, who must approve all requisitions from all departments if a large item is desired, it must be presented to the finance committee for approval, then to Dr. Holm who puts the requisition on a card and forwards it to the purchasing department for the order to be made. Mr. Carlson said

The purchase order is made out in four copies. One copy is sent to the firm from which the order will be sent, the next copy is sent to the college department which originated the purchase, the other copy is kept in the purchasing department's numerical file and the last copy is kept on record near the firm's name from which they are ordering to keep a record of all material ordered from that company.

The ostentatious stand behind a neighbor's door and appear unannounced was too well understood by the neighbors of any other third floor residents.

Some of the singers met Lynn Von Pohle and Anne Jensen, who befriended a poor homeless cat. They named him St. Jon, and fed him at the back door of the dorm for several days. They were understandably surprised when they discovered "he" had kittens.

Two baby chicks and a duckling had a noisy and necessarily brief soprano in their throats.

Johnson Addresses Ten College Classes

Dr. Alvin W. Johnson, international secretary of the General Conference for religious freedom, addressed ten college classes Thursday and Friday, April 14-15. Fundamentals of Christian Faith, Professor Brasher's and American Free-Enterprise, Professor McMurphy's sections, Afrocentric History, Professor Lundquist, Professor Tobackson's courses in Sociology, Modern Christianity, Contemporary International Relations, and both sections of Modern Civilization.

Pauline Epistles, Dean Hammill, and American State and National Government, Professor Brown.

In his class discussion Dr. Johnson dealt with a wide range of topics within the fields of religious liberty, nationally and internationally.

Dr. Carlson explained that purchasing for all departments of the school including the enterprises, the industries, restaurants, cafes, supplies, garage, recreation, and all other departments, is done through the purchasing department.

When any staff member wishes to purchase anything he submits a signed requisition by the department head to Dr. I. N. Holm, business manager of the college, who must approve all requisitions from all departments if a large item is desired, it must be presented to the finance committee for approval, then to Dr. Holm who puts the requisition on a card and forwards it to the purchasing department for the order to be made. Mr. Carlson said

The purchase order is made out in four copies. One copy is sent to the firm from which the order will be sent, the next copy is sent to the college department which originated the purchase, the other copy is kept in the purchasing department's numerical file and the last copy is kept on record near the firm's name from which they are ordering to keep a record of all material ordered from that company.

Dasowakita Daniels

By CONITA ALLIN

the dormitory. They were named Lord Archibald Kenneth Reddy, Jr., Lady Victoria, Elizabeth Burlington Barrymore, and Sir Carlyle Marlowe Scott. Contrary to popular opinion, several people collaborated in providing the names.

There is also a rabbit staying in the dorm— a stuffed one—which Shells wrote by hand several pieces of bright colored paper which had been hidden in the dorm. The rabbit was named Edna Sue Westall.

We have a confectionary, hand-outrunning, fun-loving group of girls here: Merildene Dalstrom and Winona Schreier, are well aware of the last named group of girls. During supper a cake in their room disappeared. A search covering all of second and most of 10 led to produce it. Winona was sure the cake had been found when Gladys Marshall and Corde Trivedi came down the hall with a box in their hands. After they found it was empty no one would pay any more attention to the cake. Gladys and Corde delivered the cake in front of a dozen people. No one suspected a thing because it was so close to the home base.

The girls of Dasowakita club have voted to change the club's name. Dasowakita is a Cherokee Indian name meaning happiness.

SA AND MV SOCIETY

(Continued from page 1)

each other's projects. The MV administration uses the Compass Accountancy Publicity.

The MV leadership is assisting in the administration of the SA part development. The MV society has made a $100 contribution to the student debt budget. The student part, recreational and assembly facilities, will be used by MV units.

The MV leader is a permanent member of the student senate. The SA governing body, Several MV officers are members of the SA committee on religious activities, as are also officers of the college temperance chapter and the local Sabbath school society.

The SA prayer bands, organized by this committee, had a part in the MV week of spiritual emphasis and in the organization of several MV missionary efforts.

MID-SEMESTER HONOR ROLL

This honor roll is made up of the students who have earned at least eight hours of class work for the first nine weeks of the second semester and who have earned at least an average of "B" with no incompletes or failures.

Adams, Elmer	Drachenberg, Robert	McKinney, James Ray
Alexander, James	Dunlap, Freda	Messenger, Harold
Allen, Paul	Evrett, Burton	Miles, George
Ammons, Robert	Fink, Ruth	Namath, Ed
Anderson, Clynesa	Folch, Ruth	Nowak, Ronald
Arish, Richard	Franklin, Robert	O'Day, Pat
Austinman, Joan	Greenleaf, Floyd	Park, Leslie
Beckendorf, William	Hall, David	Paulson, Donald
Bilfinger, Gene	Hasty, Richard	Ruffel, Waldemar
Brown, Herman	Hauk, Ronald	Schneck, Joanne
Bronnst, Peggy	Heintzmann, David	Schoen, Valerie
Burford, John	Hinton, James	Swain, Gordon
Burdele, Julie	Jensen, Carl	Sutton, Goady
Burdette, Emma	Jensen, Anne	Sparks, Vernon
Bushell, Vernon	Keb, Bob	Sundelander, John
Cantilo, Vernon	Kelly, Nancy	Swartz, George
Cook, Jiggan	Kim, Edwin	Tubey, Norman
Cook, Barbara	Landman, James	Van Meter, Grant
Coff, Sam	Lambert, Lorne	Wilk, Edward
Dattford, Janet	Larson, James	Wills, Gladys
Davis, Dean	Marx, Jeannette	Wear, Olavi
Deux, Clyde	Matson, Patricia	Wicks, Harold
Dickerson, Merildene	Martin, Lawrence	Williams, Jerry
Durbin, Marilyn	McClain, Nancy	Wynn, Kenneth
	McClain, James

(This list is incomplete since all teachers did not turn in grades)

TALES OF TARGE

By WAYNE TAYLOR

Big things have been happening around Targe Hall lately. In the lobby of the building, a group of students, some of them are students, but some of them are staff, have built in them from now.

The biggest news, however, is that the Food Response Committee has been selected, and it is the new latehatches. Here is a list of the new latehatches: a sink, and a room full of food with nothing to put in them.

Speaking of food, one of Jerry Swartz's favorites is an ice cream sandwich. The Swagie ice cream sandwich is not to be confused with the ordinary ice cream sandwich that most of us know. Jerry makes his ice cream sandwiches by spreading a slice of bread with ice cream.

One night Francis Kilian had come in late and was standing around his room in the dark. He was aware of some creature moving around his room. When it ran across his foot, he felt a little shock. He was aware of a little chase in the dark. Francis ran up two stairs and quickly dropped it on the floor. When Francis saw a little surprise Francis still showed a little surprise. He was aware of a little surprise when he went to the door.

While Johnnie Palgrave was sleeping, Dean Davis sprayed him with a can of air with a little bit of dirt, but returned to the scene of the crime in the middle of the night. When Francis saw the little surprise on his finger on the inside. At least he smiled a good when he went to the door.

Wright Suggests Personality Check

President K. A. Wright added to the student body a check, April 17. In his message he mentioned the task confronting all in the school's personal lives, and in order to be a good salesman, he pointed out, must possess an attractive personality.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By I. N. Cox

CONCOCTIONS

Without appearing overly curious, sometime this week take a peck at your table mate's avarice. You will probably be astonished and amazed at the concoctions he is eating. For instance there are Kenny Lynn and Hans Fenz slowly munching on diced apples and bananas, peanuts, and grape juice. Ingrid Christiansen relishes vanilla ice cream and Kelllogg's grape-nut flakes, while Donna Weber prefers sliced bananas in her flakes and ice cream.

But with Lynn Von Poehl and Anne Jensen this conglomeration varies—peanuts are the third ingredient. A combination of bread and gravy with a sprinkling of peanuts is Herman Baumann's favorite dish. Of course we shouldn't forget the alleged originator of the cereal an opium mixture, Don Polam.

Did you notice the generous use of peanuts? Maybe we are entering the neo-peanut age.

FLATTOPS

It is not the policy of this column to write disparagingly of fellow students, but I was wondering if I could mention Carl Jansen and Ralph Walden's latest haircut. One critical student remarked that it appears that Carl and Ralph have started mowing early this spring. I suspect their wives are the guilty babbers. Anyway their haircuts resemble a flattop with a wicked hair twist.

ORCHIDS

To the campus crew for its merited job of beautifying the landscape in front of the brown-shingled Lynn Wood Hall. The addition of the small, well-placed scrubs give LWH a cleaner, tidier appearance. . . . To the SA officers for obtaining Walt Disney's Academy Award winner, "The Living Desert," for the SA's benefit program.

ONIONS

For the incessant rain at SMC. . . . To the athletic field's crowd crew. . . . To those scholarly collegians who never give us lower-limes a chance.

SPRING CROP OF QUIZZES

SMC's professors, suspicious of a spring fever epidemic, are conscientiously presenting more quizzes. Of course one must realize that such doings are only done in the interest of us supposedly under-worked collegians. As we mature with age and acquire a near-outlook on life, we students will give many thanks for our "fessors'" intense interest in our scholastic welfare.

SMC-ites Enjoy Candlelight Hour

By JAMES STEINER

SMC students are again enjoying the feels all apparatus, this SA function night atmosphere of Candlelight Hour. Organized as a project of the student committee on social education, and cosponsored by Ann Maxwell and James Suzuki, Candlelight Hour provides 30 minutes of soft music and refreshments after the evening programs attended by the students graciously.

Candlelight Hour is not unique to this campus, having been introduced by a sister college at the last intercollegiate workshop. SMC Student Association appreciates their detailed idea of giving couples an opportunity to visit with each other would be met with enthusiasm.

Plans for a trial period were considered—the idea met with the approval of both Faculty and student bodies. Opening night drew a large group, and

Dr. Steen Will Take Leave of Absence

Dr. Thos. W. Steen, who for the past sixteen years has served SMC as chairman of the division of psychology and education, and who during these years has organized and developed the Southern Missionary College Testing and Counseling service now known as the Psychological Services, to its present professional stature, has taken effect a year's leave of absence to be completed the end of April.

In his new position he will be associated with a clinical hospital which Dr. Henry A. Andren, the psychiatrist at the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, and who is also director of the 50-bed Cedarcroft Sanitarium,

Dr. Thos. W. Steen

Cedarcroft is located in the country some five miles from Takoma Park and lends its work especially to the care of patients with emotional disturbances.

Drs. Andren and Steen will maintain offices in both the sanitariums and will care for out-patients as well as those who are hospitalized. In their division of work, Dr. Steen will do the psychological testing as well as sharing in the interviewing, counseling, and psychotherapy. Some 5,000 Advocates live in or near Takoma Park and a share of their work will be with that group.

Inquiries are being made by Dr. Steen concerning his confidential records. He states that all non-confidential records, such as aptitude test data, will stay in the students' personal folders, but that he is taking to his new office in Washington all individual personality test data, records of interviews and other confidential papers. In this way he will be able to supply data for his former clients as they may require.

The Steens have rented an apartment at 8809 Plymouth Street, Silver Spring, Maryland. Mrs. Steen is returning on Collegedale until academy graduation. The office address is in care of the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, Takoma Park, Washington 12, D. C.

Watch Your Senate

By WALTER WARD

It is always a let-down to pass from a period of intense activity to one of comparative rest. That is what has happened to the senate. Most senators were very busy preparing for College Day and seeing the job through to its successful end. Then we had two closed sessions of the senate to nominate candidates to run for positions soon to be vacated by this year's senators. Now, with these tasks done and elections almost over, we settled back into the routine of budget-balancing, park building, and other regular duties.

The meeting of April 10 occurred as usual at 7:30 in Hickman Hall. It seems as though the first item on the agenda on most of our senate meetings has been consideration of means to balance the budget. We still have about a few hundred dollars to go before we break even. It was voted that a chapel fry be held in the new student park. The fry will be followed by a picture to be shown in Lynn Wood Hall.

Park Project

Our student park project is something that can be proud of. It is a responsibility to maintain and continually improve the park. To accomplish this, it was voted to set up a permanent student park commission responsible to the senate. The Industrial Arts club has supplied the park that has kept the project alive and growing. It represents much work for sleep and to a definite asset to SMC. Chester Damon, SA vice-president, has been quite active in raising funds from clubs, classes, and other campus organizations for the purpose of putting in grills, tables, and benches. To date he has succeeded in raising $265.

Broom Sales Adventure

Another money-raising activity to which the SA is a little farther out of the hole is the Broom Sales Adventure Day. It was voted to have an adventure day April 22. The students will close in the afternoon and supper will be served early so that EVERYONE will be able to participate. College and academy both are encouraged to go out. A broom-selling demonstration will be given in chapel.

Senate Appoints Park Commission

A student park commission was constituted by the student senate recently to supervise the development of the Student Association recreation area.

The Industrial Arts club has been participating in the improvement of the student park, assisted by the Student Association recreation area. A number of other clubs, several classes and the Collegedale MV society have made contributions to the park development budget.

The new student park commission includes Chester Damon as chairman, Dan Belzha, Ellen Adams, Kathryn Weller, Norman Tolber, Herman Baumann, Adolph Anderson and Clifton Keller. The president of the Student Association, James Ray McKinney, met with the commission, the Faculty sponsors are Leif Kr. Tabbisson and Gerald Boynton.

Soon a debriefing assembly will be held, attended by the joint agencies of the Student Association and the MV society. A guest speaker will deliver the main address. Among the other speakers will be Professor Boynton, James Ray McKinney, Dean Kirtley, Ellen Adams and Chester Damon. The college band will participate.

If you are among the group who think that candidates for student offices are just chosen at random, you would have been very likely to hear the frank discussions carried on relative to candidate worthiness. Did you think that the small job given you by College Day would have been very important and therefore not worth your effort? Well, it was probably reported in the senate that you were not capable of performing even small jobs and therefore could not possibly be a candidate for a major office.

Qualifications

On the other hand, were you one who did a small task with enthusiasm and efficiency? You probably are on the ballot, or are being harbored for further consideration. You might be interested in knowing that the phrase, "He is sincere and energetic about his work" is a very important reason given by many of you when they speak for the person whom they nominate for an office. Remember—when you work behind the scenes, the one who put you there will be glad to see you are capable of taking greater responsibility.

Offices Well Distributed

Maybe you have heard that the senators place themselves in office each year, and that the elections are "cut and dried." It might be interesting to note what percentage of the candidates for this year's offices come from the senators at large. It turns out that 76 per cent of all candidates chosen in general elections by the student body are without previous senate connections. This may not take into consideration the COC president and secretary nor the executive council officers who have not had previous experience before being eligible for executive offices.

With such a turn-over in personnel, I believe the positions of leadership are fresh and new. It is a commendable fact. The training thus obtained is an invaluable asset to the individual concerned, and we can all be thankful for the opportunity of serving in positions of responsibility.

Lauritzen Discusses Church Music Trends

Trends in congregational singing were discussed by Professor Arthur Lauritzen, chairman of the division of fine arts at SMC last Monday in chapel. The program was sponsored by the Christian Student Association.

Dr. Lauritzen stated that religious songs are divided into two categories—hymns, and gospel songs. "Hymns and worship and praise to God, whereas gospel songs represent a personal experience and need," the speaker explained, and he went on to say that both types of music are appropriate for worship.

However, he reminded the audience there is a sharp type of music paucity in "religious" gospel music that has had its origin in dance halls, and is inspired by the devil himself.

Treating briefly the topic of accompaniment of congregational singing, the speaker emphasized the need for subdued, solid playing, with these words: "It is a sin to cover up the message of the music with spectacular, attention-drawing rags, jazzing, syncopation."

As a sample of the good in gospel music, "Tell Me the Story of Jesus" was sung by Professor McKinney as a sample of the other type, brief excerpts of "gospel" music were played over the high fidelity equipment.

Collegedale Wood Products Gets Addition

Photo by Murray

The Woodshop as it looks now.

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Volume 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, May 13, 1955

NUMBER 12

Five Committee Chairmen Are Named for 1955 Senate

The five standing student committee representatives of the student senate through their chairman, have received their new officers. The chairmen, as elected last month are: Walter Ward, Bob Ingram, Gene Billinger, Jerry Williams, and Joanne Schmale.

The publications committee will be under the supervision of Walter Ward, special business manager of the SOUTHERN ACCENT. Walter, a sophomore from Alabama, is an outside student was held, March 13.

Gene Billinger will head the committee on religious activities in 1955. A special student this year, having previously completed his BA, Gene is preparing to teach. This has been his first year at SMC.

The committee on scholarship has as its chairman Jerry Williams, a pre-med student from Florida. Next year will make his third at SMC.

Joanne Schmale, the only lady com-

From left to right: Gene Billinger, Walter Ward, Bob Ingram, and Joanne Schmale will assume chairmanships of the five standing committees. The fifth member, as elected last month, is Jerry Williams. This responsibility will include the coordination of the publication activities, namely the ACCENT and the NEWSLETTER, and in the publishing of the budget—something that they are followed.

Bob Ingram is the chairman of the committee on programs, a position formerly held by Mrs. Joan Hedgepath. Bob is a freshman business major from Tennessee. He has been president of the Upsilon Delta Phi, having been in office when the men's reception was held, March 13.

One of the major trials confronting these committees, chairmen is the preparation for the administration of College Day. Each will select his members, whose names will be presented to the student senate early next school year (see opposite).

Forty SMC Students Hold Singerspiration

Forty students and faculty members went to the First Free Church in Alabama Sabbath, April 23, where they held a singerspiration combined with instrumental music, and organized by Frances Kilgore, under the sponsorship of Dean J. L. Edwards.

The themes of the program were Christ and heaven. Several of the students read poems, and the meeting ended with "What a Day of Victory This Will Be," sung by the King's Men quartet, composed of Duane Stier, John Thibault, Jack Veachy, and Jim McClellan. More than 200 people attended the program.

Fresh-Soph Picnic Goes to State Park

By BURCH COOK

The mass luncheon of the sophomore freshmen class began at the early hour of 7:00 with a mighty cloud of dust which streaked northward along the highway to beautiful Cumberland National Park. Yes, it was the day of the annual freshman one, the gala evening of potato salad, chicken-broccoli, punch, and all the familiar picnic accoutrements. It was the freshman-sophomore picnic!

(Continued on page 3)

MENC Gives Music Program in Chapel: Hi-Fi Setup Assists

Music of the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries was played at Monday chapel last week over the high fidelity equipment of the music department.

As an introduction to the program, Carol McQuinn, general secretary of the SMC chapter of the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) spoke briefly about the baroque and then placed in the education of people to the beauty of life, as contrasted to science, which strives for truth.

Bob Leibard, the MENC president, gave a short preview of the program and then turned the tone over to Professor N. I. Krogstad of the music department of SMC. Mr. Krogstad announced the names, which were the: Mrs. J. H. Hays, representing the city type of music, then the Allegrato from the Symphony No. 100 (18th century program).

Before each selection Mr. Krogstad gave an explanation of the musical form, and some details from the life of the composer.

The crew lined up in front of Maude Jean Hall to receive the 84 students who participated in the Broom Sales program sponsored by the SA.

Tulge Hall Builds A New Kitchenette

Tulge Hall citizens may now cook legally. Having the coat with the college, the men's forum recently installed a kitchenette.

All the equipment is new, including in the kitchenette are a refrigerator, electric range, sink, table and chairs, and steel cabinets. Dean Edwards said that there are ample utensils and dishes for the preparation and eating of a full-course meal.

According to Johnny Palgrove, treasurer of the men's forum, nearly $500 above the college's share was put into the kitchenette. A majority of the kitchen had $25 placed on their statements, while some money was contributed by sources outside the college.

President Bob Addison told the forum members that the new kitchenette could be used by individuals who missed meals purposely or accidentally, and for parties.

The new kitchenette is located in what was formerly the men's office.

Hylandale Seniors Inspect the College

Six students from Hylandale Academy, with their principal, visited SMC last week end. The tenets of this small academy in Wisconsin annually visit SMC, Madison College, and SMC.

The visitors were: Margie Lyberg, Lucille Jenkin, Mary Reichenbach, Elizabeth Gert, Marjorie Phillips, and Donald Brant, with the principal, Mr. Percy Hallan. They were shown the school by Joanne Schmale.

SMC students this year who have attended Hylandale Academy are: Joanne Buanan, Herman Buanan, and Herman Buanan.

Tumbling Team To Visit Nashville

Members of SMC's tumbling team will make their fourth off-campus appearance in Nashville, Tennessee, May 15. Wearing their new uniforms of green and white and the college crest plus the addition of several feature demonstrations to their act, the tumblers will perform many exercises.

(Continued on page 3)

Kilgore, Manuel: New Annual Heads

The Southern Messenger has selected its editor and business manager from the student body in April.

Paul Kilgore will assume the editorship next year. Paul, a theology student from Rochester, New York, has already called the first meeting of the staff council in order to set up a budget to be approved by next year's senate.

During his two years at SMC Paul has been the junior class president, program committee member, publications committee member and associate editor of the SOUTHERN ACCENT. After two years in the men's residence hall, Paul will move out into the community.

Jack Manuel, a punter from Virginia, has been selected as the business manager. Although this has been Jack's first year at SMC, he has held the position of treasurer of the MV twenty. Jack's major is business and economics.

The administrative group of this publication is the staff council.

The Staff Council of each student publication consists of its editor (Chairman, ex officio), its associate editor or editors, its business manager, and its circulation manager. (The

(Continued on page 3)

SA Broom Sales Will Help Balance Budget

453 BROOMS SOLD; VENTURE NETS $234

Last week 46 students, netted $234 by selling 453 brooms in Chattanooga and surrounding area. This amount added to the $85 made by the previous broom sale offsets the deficit incurred by the operation of the SA during this year.

Don Bether, chairman of the broom sale committee, on senate Sunday night said, "We appreciate and thank the ones who went out for their cooperation. Others serving on the committee were Gerald Swain, Ann Maxwell, Ellen Adams, and Jack Behrensman."

Those who participated in the sale received a free sundae at the college dining room. James Ray McKinney again won first place in sales with 17 brooms. A Sheffer smudged pen and pencil set will be awarded McKinney soon.

The combined broom sale profit was $459.86 resulting from the sale of 415 brooms.

SMC Choral Groups: Choralists & Choir, Give Final Recital

At the final presentation of the music department concertmastering Music Week, the choral groups, under the direction of Professor Frances Constantine gave a program of sacred and secular music last Saturday evening.

The choral groups participating were the college choir, and the smaller group, the chorists.

The program was as follows:

- O Be In God in the Land - Fred Scholman in C major
 - How Firm a Foundation - John Thibault, duet
 - Alleluia - Theodore
- (Continued on page 3)

Paul Kilgore and Jack Manuel are the new "Southern Messenger" editor and business manager.

ACADEMY TALENT PROGRAM LYNN WOOD HALL CHAPEL, MAY 14, 8:30 P.M.

Once Over Lightly . . .

By I N Cox

The Loyal Order of the Scorpions originated last week much like a surprised volcano, interrupting the calm life of Tangle Hall. With their instrumental record, "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom" began their evening meeting and "dinner."

What a menu they had! If you are inclined to faint, please don't read the following. The Scorpions devalued a fruit salad, composed of peaches, pears, bananas, apples, blueberries, oranges, raspberries, ice cream, and ginger ale, and choplets "all the way." Being rather modest, the Scorpions don't publicize the notable deeds they perform, but I am told that they do receive personal satisfaction in seeing a job well done. Such an organization is organization. One comment. Here are just a few:

"It stinks! Little too noisy, rather amusing, a much needed organization." One Britisher said, "They seem to have a jolly good time."

MUMBLING

A revengeful collegian wanted everyone to know that Lynn's full name is Theresa Evalinda Von Poble. . . On the recent performance tour to Orlando, Richard Shepard decided that the Sunnary is the ideal place for him next year. Several student nurses will affiliate in D. C. . . Although the passmen couldn't get off for the broom sale, they tried to sell each other used Nighth Mite brooms, supposedly donated by the doers outside. . .

SOUTHERN MEMORIES

Why sponsors have a standing invitation to attend their respective staff meetings? The editor of each student publication (with the approval of its loyal sponsor) nominates to his staff council for confirmation any and all editorial assistants he deems necessary, and the business manager of each student publication (with the approval of its business sponsor) nominates to the staff council for confirmation any and all business assistants he deems necessary. Our Staffs in Organizations will look page 29.

TUMBLING TEAM

Expectation and pre-arranged excitement are counted of each member. Tumblers perform the last week of 24-25 stunts on the trampoline, and also back flip on the mats. Bobby Sherrell, "Quick and Fast" leaves no corner unturned but is one of the most active in the evening program.

The appearance of this team is not unfamiliar to the Southern Union. Included are their team have, Forest Hill Academy, Orlando, Florida, Mr. Hugh Academy, Fletcher, and last year's Youth's Congress in Chattanooga.

Heading the tumbling team is Tom the chairman of the physical education department, Coak Russell Dahl. The coach who has spent many hours in preparing the team for this event states that the possibilities of the team and its members are unlimited.

Assisting the coach is the team's captain, Bob Jibe, and co-captain, Bobby Sherrell. Members are named from the organization by the tumblers themselves, and acceptance is based on perfect co-ordination, proficiency in action and general performance.

CHORAL GROUPS

(Continued from page 1)

The Concert Chorus
 Brenda Stevens (Tenth)
 The Singing Over Hills (Tenth)
 "Think" Merle Johns
 For All the World
 THE CHORUS CHORUS
 The Girls Who Give Us Life - Thornton
 Myriam Lullish (Assistant)
 The Emerald Earth America
 "Work Song"
 THE CHORUSISTS
 Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child Boyd Adams
 Madeline Johnson Marjorie
 The Shocks Kearns

THE LYRICISTS
 Joyce Lynn and Professor Norman
 Kearns supplied the music during the intermissions.

SMC Concert Band Concludes Season

The SMC concert band concluded its activities of the year last Wednesday evening by presenting the third of a series of outdoor concerts, this year given on the library lawn.

The band has been busier this year than in preceding seasons. It began with a concert performance in December, and later took a week and tour in February, playing at Louisville, Ky., Norfolk, Tenn., Highland Aetna in North Carolina, and Madison College in Nashville. The band also participated both in fall and by ensemble in the College Day program, April 3 and 4 at Collegeville.

April 25 saw the band at the Appin grade school to assist in a program in conjunction with the academy, grade school, and twelve bands, the college band presented a program entitled "Crescendo of Bands."

Plans are already being made for another fall program next year, states band director N. L. Kingstad, with a tour of the South probably in March, more outdoor programs, and at least one, and possibly two Saturday night programs.

1955 ATS Officers Chosen

ATS officers for 1955-56 were approved on their one-man ballot as these:

- President—John Botsford
- Vice president—David Messenger
- Secretary—Lynda Medford
- Assistant Secretary—Patsy Gilbert
- Treasurer—Herman Bruman
- Assistant Treasurer—Wayne Taylor

... Sorry You Missed the Discount!

By HOWARD KENNEDY

"Mrs. Hall—I would like to have a book's voucher." That is what you would probably hear if you entered the office of Mrs. J. T. Hall, assistant to the business manager.

Mrs. Hall does more than just fill out book vouchers for students, however. Through her office parties almost everything that deals with the finances of the students. All of the statements pass through here, and to those people who owe money to the school she sends a reminder that if they will pay their bills by the 15th of the month, they will receive a discount.

If the bills aren't paid by the 22nd of the month, she sends them a card stating that she is sorry they didn't take advantage of the discount.

In her office you will find the names and addresses of all those who have left the school with unpaid bills. To these each month the office staff sends a small calendar to remind them of Collegeville. One person wrote back and said he got the reason he hadn't paid his bill was that he enjoyed hearing from Collegeville.

There are two young ladies who work in the office of Mrs. Hall and Dr. Holm. They are, Miss Kathryn Woolley and Miss Carolyn Bradford. Miss Woolley is the receptionist and Mrs. H. Bradford helps with the grading of papers and is typing out of camertons for Dr. Holm.

This office also takes care of all student housing and student loans.

Mrs. Hall comes from Tallahassee, Maryland. She and her husband both attended Southern Junior College and they had always hoped that their three children might do the same.

Watch Your Senate

By WALTER WARD

The session has just adjourned and the students pass to discuss the issues presented, the outcome, and other items of interest. It is after the adjournment is used, the beneficiaries in mind that was one deterring the real question, for it is their Ball President McManey says "Will the senators please help us recognize the student?"

1954-55 ATTENDANCE RECORD FOR SENATE

NAME	Attended Regular Sessions	Senates Attended Regular and Special
Ashworth, Clarence	100	100
Adams, Lyle	100	100
Adkins, Robert	81	90
Anderson, Bruce	100	95
Bauer, David	75	99
Belcher, Donald	82	89
Burke, Robert	100	76
Bolton, Jack	75	75
Bushnell, Vernon	91	84
Clark, Alex	100	100
Conley, Wayne	100	100
Cook, John	100	100
Daniels, Chester	77	69
Danner, Bruce	74	69
Davis, Bob	71	73
Greenleaf, Fred	91	87
Hickel, Fred	74	81
Kelso, Mel	50	64
Kidney, Paul	100	100
Kilts, Frances	100	88
Kirby, Gene	100	100
Lauch, Joe	82	84
McIntosh, Deane	72	84
McKee, James Earl	100	100
Swartz, Jerry	91	74
McKee, James Earl	100	100
Tracy, Norman	100	100
Ward, Walter	90	92
Ward, Deane	67	87
Worley, Keith	100	100
AVERAGE PERCENTAGE	85	82

FRESH-SOPHY PICNIC

(Continued from page 1)

Ingering at the spottings of the natural spring water.) Ambitious swimmers quickly found to their displeasure that the waters evidently flowed from the Acacia springs. It was barely above the freezing point. Some whose constitutions are suitable for polar bear skins, actually took "refreshing" dips, and they have the goose pimples to prove it.

Sharply at noon the water-torn line shifted to the food counter now seething "heavier," more filling stimulation. The host was high noon and the food was on the counter. It didn't last three for long to be sure. The hawking, staving passed through like a cloud of insects, leaving behind a scene staving in stave amusement. They did, however, have enough left for supper when the same procedure was repeated.

Senator of Year: Floyd Greenleaf

Floyd Greenleaf, a senator of the year was selected at the last student senate session of the 1954-55 officers.

Floyd Greenleaf, a senior, was almost unanimously chosen by the one whose contribution to senate discussion and activity was most outstanding.

The food counter had taken care of the appetizers and freshmen separated off for the annual softball game. For six minutes a fierce struggle ensued, but in the seventh the sophomores broke forth with a multitude of runs to win, gang away in a cloud of dust to the tune of 20-7.

The food counter to show that they were highly capable in the athletic department, challenged the boys to a showdown on the softball field right after the sophomore football game ended. The boys, however, were to dress like girls, and a "battles-tale" ensued. Work from laughter at the spectacle, the audience and participants drew themselves from the premises at the conclusion with the "battles-tale" (Continued on page 4)

Leading up for the SA home sales venture. See story on page 1.

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

EDITH ... Little Anthon
 Jule Freeman
 Joe Aulshammer

Barbara Brown
 Circe Frost
 Dixie Pugh

Think This Over . . .

Well, the big day for picnics is over, and almost everybody on the campus looks just that way—red, that is. But all things pass, and this also—it's turning brown now! It was lots of fun while it lasted, but now we have to settle down for the serious business of studying for final exams. You know what that means! Real study, because many things are depending on the grades we get on these exams.

But, as you can imagine, studying is not the easiest thing to do in this kind of weather. You sit, concentrating hard on the studies, and directly the corner of your eye catches the window. The sun is pouring in, all the trees are green, the lilies carry the scent of flowers, and the birds sing as if it were their last chance. It takes a gigantic amount of will power to keep a fellow studying under these situations. Then you come suddenly to the realization that if you don't study now the bottom might fall out of things later, so off you go again.

It will soon be over, and then it won't be long until we start wading it weren't. So now we study, study, and study how to keep studying.

Sherer and Freeman Excel

Scholarship honors were given to two Collegedale Academy seniors when the announcement was released by Principal W. H. Higgins that Charles Sherer and John Freeman had been chosen valedictorian and salutatorian.

Charles has attended Collegedale Academy two years and will go to SMC to major in business administration.

Charles Sherer

John has been in Collegedale for two years, yet it is not certain that he will return to his father, a minister, who has been transferred to California. John says, however, SMC is the best school I have ever attended in my whole life. If I have my way about it, I'll be back in September.

Both students have been participants in academy functions and have held student offices in several student departments.

John Freeman

Scholarship Honor Roll

*Bever Anderson
 *John Aulshammer
 Don Ayler
 Darlene Butler
 Barbara Breen
 James Bishop
 Suzie Brown
 *Amy Bushnell
 Owen Gardner
 *Donald Hall
 Robert Hall
 *Roger Hammill
 *Barbara Holland
 Jeannette Holliday

Pat Jacobs
 Juanita Jones
 *Lillian Long
 Kathleen Mitchell
 Myrna Nelson
 David Pugh
 *Aida Ruiz
 *Aida Ruiz (2 units)
 *Charles Sherer
 *Joyce Williams
 *Myrna Woodley

*On honor roll all year

SMC REMEMBERS HER OWN

CLASS OF '52
 Associated with the academics are Elaine Higdon, Mona Pagah Academy, Condit, North Carolina; Emory Hoyt, Grand Junction Junior Academy, Palmdale, California.

Maribel Parler - Schreiber writes that this is her third year teaching at Forest Lake Academy, Johnny Wilson Ryals who is teaching at Lakeland Junior Academy, writes that he, enjoys the alumni now - in the ACCENT.

Donald Kenyon is district pastor at Russell Springs, Kentucky. Wallace Welch, who has taught school for two years in Panama City and Pensacola, Florida, is now associate pastor under Elder H. J. Canabro in Mobile, Alabama, district. A son, Stephen Hensand, was born to Willard and Jo Ann on July 22.

John Stanley is pastor of Pury-Madison district and lives in Perry, Florida. William Hancock writes: "Since the first of December we have been in Austin, Texas, in district work. Here I have the responsibility of three churches. There is a good interest, and we are, naturally very happy in our work."

Five members of the class are in medical school. Joseph Poole, Wilford Stevenson, Sileen Sutherland, and Layton Sutton are attending CME at Los Angeles, California. Layton writes: "This is my third year of medicine, and the most enjoyable year. There are many former SMC students in this area, and we meet with the Lions Ladies Alumni chapter. It is a joy to hear the news from SMC, and to learn of the progress the school is making."

Joyce Cobb-May is attending U T Medical School, Memphis, Tennessee.

Gerald Haas, who is teaching in San Anselmo, California, writes: "We are living in the midst of the Mother Lode gold mining country. Hills are all around us, and old abandoned mines are scattered all over this area. Our school is located on a hill overlooking a beautiful valley."

Bernice Hollister-Gibbs, '24, writes that she, her husband, and two younger children recently returned from an extended tour of Europe. While there they visited many of our institutions, as well as seeing the interesting part of western Europe and Britain. They arrived in 2921 West Avenue, Burlington, Iowa.

Abney Liles, '52, visited Collegedale recently after spending his time in the army, and is now working with the Professional Business Managers, Atlanta, Georgia. His home address is 319 Madison Avenue, Duval, Georgia.

Dorothy J. Urick, Jr., '52, is now living at 1183 Mack Trail, Decatur, Georgia.

Don Heter is teaching church school in Fort Myers, Florida. Raymond Blaise teaches grades 1-4 at Knoxville, Tennessee, church school. He writes that he and family look forward to being on the SMC campus during camp meeting. Thomas Stone is with the Greater Orlando church school.

Those serving in lands afar are Jesse Hixman, Tanganyika, East Africa; Esther and Samuel Alberto, Argentina; Rene and Waldana Alonso, Costa Rica; Virgil Reschamp, Colombia; South Africa: Nicholas Chair, Montagu, Drungay, Andrea and Ruth Biffel, Havana, Cuba; Doris Draehenberg, Santa Clara, Cuba.

Shows here is a group of boys enjoying themselves in the newly installed kitchen on Topge Hall. The Men's Forum and the College shared the expense of this project which occupies the former men's room.

College Offers Summer Courses

RICHARD HAMMILL, DEAN

The annual summer session of the college will be held this year from June 13 to August 11. A variety of courses will be offered to fit into the program of students following many curricula. It will be possible to earn credit, or in some cases meet semester hours of credit. In this way, students may advance their college training and those who are planning on entering professional schools may finish some requirements they are lacking.

Helm for Education

An outstanding feature of this year's summer session will be the strong program of courses in the field of education and psychology. Dr. L. N. Holden will assume his new position as chairman of the division of education and psychology and will offer courses in: Test and Measurements, General Psychology, Mental Hygiene, and Philosophy of Christian Education.

Professor K. M. Kennedy is also joining the division of education and psychology beginning with the summer session. Professor Kennedy has finished the resident requirements for his doctor's degree. This summer he will offer: Human Growth and Development, Materials and Methods of Elementary Teaching, Teaching of Reading and Organization and Administration of Elementary Schools.

Teacher Labs—Freshman Camp. Also, in connection with the division of education, is the elementary laboratory school that will be offered to elementary students. This will be taught by Mrs. Ruth Jones, and in connection with this, Mrs. Jones is offering a two-semester hour course in Directed Observation and Teaching.

Dr. Kathleen McMurphy and Mrs. Myra Dietel will each offer a semester of Freshman English. In addition to this, Mrs. McMurphy will teach a first-semester hour course in World Literature, lower biomass.

Several of the most popular courses of the summer session last year will be repeated. These are Survey and Appreciation of Art, Survey and Appreciation of Music, and School Music. These will be taught by Dr. Adrian Lauritzen. Private lessons in voice, organ, and piano will also be offered by other members of the fine arts division.

Of interest in pre-nursing studies is the fact that Survey of Chemistry and Anatomy and Physiology will be taught. The popular course, Field Psychology, will be offered by Professor Paulman, and Dr. Duane Gaskill is offering an eight semester hour course in General Physics.

Academy Day Treats Possible Students

Collegedale Academy held its annual Academy Day April 25. Approximately 45 visitors came from surrounding junior and elementary schools.

The visitors registered at the fine arts building. From there they were conducted on tours through the industries, and returning, they received their free mail tickets.

Academy chapel was held at 1:00 Monday afternoon. The academy band, under the direction of Professor N. L. Krigstad, opened the program. A series of readings and musical numbers were presented.

Classes were cut to 20 minutes in length and the visitors were invited to visit any class they wished.

School was dismissed at 4:00 for recreation on the ball field, after which supper was served in the student park at 6:00. Workshop was held after supper and the group was then dismissed.

"DOWN UNDER"

By DAVIS PATTON

Red faces and arms, alive, and sleepless nights. The days after a picnic are no wonder if picnics are worth while, but one doesn't turn down the opportunity next time one gets a chance to go on one.

Joe Sears and Lynnood Jones weren't satisfied with the suburbs they got on the picnic, last week end they and Donald Gray went into the Smokies on a camping trip and returned with lots of neat complexes.

Neil Gairton and Johnny Reed have the imagination of getting the mumps in this final stage of the school year. Let's hope they aren't too generous with one of us; it seems to have an aversion to winning fall faces.

Frank Sepp, photo.

(Continued from page 3)

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in more relaxed activities, the strenuous actions of the morning beginning to tell on a few. The peddle boats work great again, and the ice-cream, hard-shoe pit, and many park benches.

Supper came at six and followed a tiddly, happy group gathered towels, blankets, sun tan lotion, and fiercely burnt faces and arms together for the journey back to Southern Missionsary College, with memories of a never-to-be forgotten southern freshman picnic.

HOW TO APPLY FOR ADMISSION FOR THE SUMMER SESSION

Students entering Southern Missionsary College for the first time should write to the Office of Admissions for an application form.

Students who have attended Southern Missionsary College but who are not enrolled in Southern Missionsary College for the spring semester of 1954 should write the Director of Admissions for a permit to re-enroll.

The following form may be used in writing for an application or in obtaining a catalog for the 1955 Summer Session Admissions Office:

Southern Missionsary College, Collegedale, Tennessee

I would like a catalog of the 1955 Southern Missionsary College Summer Session.

I would like a catalog for the 1955-56 Fall Session.

Please send me forms for enrollment.

Name _____

Street _____

City _____ State _____

Please send information about the Southern Missionsary College Summer Session to:

Name _____

Street _____

City _____ State _____

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

VOLUME 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, May 31, 1955

NUMBER 13

55 Seniors Hear Speakers at Commencement Exercises

W. R. Beath, secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, Arthur Beath, president of the Inter-American Division, and Robert Pearson, president of the Kentucky Tennessee Conference addressed the senior class during commencement exercises, May 27-28, 1955.

Arthur Beath

Robert Pearson

Robert Pearson addressed the class in the convocation service Friday evening in the Tabernacle Auditorium. Arthur Beath spoke at the hour of the service Sabbath morning, and W. R. Beath was the commencement speaker Saturday night.

Kenneth A. W.ight, SMC president, conferred the degrees in the convocation at 8 o'clock.

W. R. Beath

The fifty-five seniors in the 1955 senior class include eight summer school graduates who will receive their degrees in August. Two of these will be majoring in chemistry, two in economics and business, two in teacher education, one in home economics, and one in industrial education.

There are seventeen foreign majors. (Continued on page 7)

CME Accepts Ten To Medical School

All applicants from SMC to the College of Medical Evangelists, Loma Linda, California, who had the required grade point average, were accepted this year.

Ten small-acre admitted to the medical curriculum, seven members of this year's SMC senior class and three SMC graduates who had taken advanced work—Jack Lancaster, Paul Watson, and Paul McMillan. The seven members of the current senior class admitted to the CME were James Alexander, David Huerfano, Larry Marvin, James Ray McKinney, John Pifer, Otis Wear and Delvan Letell.

While SMC currently has 300 per cent of all students enrolled in advanced senior colleges in North America, almost ten per cent of the students admitted to the CME medical curriculum come from SMC.

West Assumes Duties As Business Manager

Donald West, a graduate of Southern Missionary College in the class of 1939, has been elected by the college board to join the faculty and staff of Southern Missionary College in the capacity of business manager of the college. Mr. West will devote attention to the business and financial matters of the college department while Mr. Charles Herrell, general manager, gives total supervision to the industries, enterprises and the college.

Since being graduated from Southern Missionary College in 1939, Mr. West has served as business manager of Forest Lake Academy. Prior to founding his college work during 1947-49, he served successfully as publishing secretary of the Carroll County Enterprise. After that, he spent some time in the mission field, particularly in Egypt.

Mr. West and his family will be managing in Collegedale during the first week of June and he will take up his duties before summer school begins.

Promotions Listed For SMC Faculty

Professor Leif K. Tøbenhavn, director of the social sciences division has been promoted by action of the College Board from associate to full professor of history. Professor Tøbenhavn has taught with distinction at Southern Missionary College since 1916.

Professor Tøbenhavn finished the master's work and he will take up his degree while at New York University a year ago. Besides being busy occupied this past year with a full load of classes and his duties as supervisor of the Student Association, he has been engaged in research for his doctoral dissertation.

This coming summer he will teach only a light load of classes in order (Continued on page 5)

Kinsey Interprets Campaign Platform In Inaugural Ceremonies of New SA

STUDENT ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The method of the Student Association for the school year of 1955-56 is very good.

The senate has been elected, with the exception of three from presidents and four class presidents. This senate has not drawn up a budget which has been approved by the Student Association.

One of the new features of the Student Association for next year is the lack of campaigns for the Southern Accent and Southern Alliance. Instead of devoting so much time to campaigns, we plan to use more time in developing Student Association projects.

I intend to each young person in our Southern Union my personal invitation to become a member of the school family, to join our Student Association, and help us to make next year the best year yet.

DEAN KINSEY, Pres. Elect

New SA President Explains Budget, Outlines Plans

By JENNIFER MAAS

Monday, May 16, was a red letter day in the history of the Student Association of SMC. For a week during chapel time on that day that the annual convocations for the new Kinsey administration took place.

After a service reading by the secretary, elect Mrs. Joan Ausherman and prayer by the vice president-elect Don Bellows, 1954-55 president James Ray McKinney introduced the president for 1955-56, Dean Kinsey, who in turn introduced every member of the senate for the coming year, all of whom were seated on the platform.

The newly elected presidents of dress was short but highly unostentatious. Mr. Kinsey stated that he hopes to have short hair and only suits, but from any one who has a good idea. He hopes to hold open forums. We will expect to enter Southern Alliance, better Southern Accent, better pilgrims, better dominions, and good overall planning from the senate convocations.

New Era

Mr. Kinsey also told the students that they will inaugurate a new era of student activities. His administration wants to do away with Alumni and Accent campaigns, and he went into detail to explain how this would be done.

He also spent some time explaining the proposed budget, which though a bit radical (he said) would be the most stable in the history of the student association.

If it is Mr. Kinsey's hope that Southern Missionary College will have the best student years during the coming year that the college has ever had.

After the remarks by the new president, President Wright introduced the faculty convocations for the coming year. Dr. L. E. Nolan and then gave the commission charge to the entire new senate.

Business Manager Suggests Plan For Finances

I. N. HOLM, Business Manager

The approximate cost of attending Southern Missionary College in 1955-56 will not vary greatly from the present school year. It will be about $1100 per the year.

The amount of cash required varies from $100 to $200, and the college administration is ready to assist any worthy student in working out a financial and labor program that will be a credit.

Any young man or young woman with sufficient determination can get to college through assistance from home, from relatives, through odd poster work or through his own earnings.

May I help you plan your program?

The 1955-56 student senate, with the exception of four class presidents and three senior officers during President-elect Kinsey's inaugural address. From rear: Bob Addison, treasurer; L. R. Bales, coordinator; Don Bellows, vice president; Dean Kinsey, president; K. A. Wright, college president; James Ray McKinney, as president (and in 1955-56 senate); James Zehmske, social education; Bob Ingram, and treasurer; Gary Zehmske, religious activities; Sherman Baines, MV leader; Jerry Williams, scholarship; George Mullis, labor; Carl Jensen, health programs; Jerry Williams, forum; Carolyn Howell, GOC secretary; Sam Clark, GOC president; Walter Wreck, public relations; David Hope, Accent; business manager; Johnny Culp, Accent; editor Jack Mizell, Memorial; business manager; Paul Edgson, Memorial; editor; J. E. Cutha, (committee member).

Several committee MV officers: John Breen, Hermina Bauman, David Huerfano, Henry Matthews, Patricia Blanta, Ellen Adams, Lester, president; John Breen, George Lind, B. L. Hammon, speaker; Larry McClure, Glen McLaughlin, Joseph W. Lewis, Bob LeBar, Nelson Schmitt, speakers; Otis Wear.

Gerd Lind Takes Greetings to Europe

Gerd Lind, a Norwegian student whose father is the MV secretary of the Northern European Division, in chapel, May 18, was given an official letter from the Collegedale MV society to the young people assembling in Stockholm, Sweden, in August, for the Northern European youth rally.

Mr. Lind, Ellen Adams, suggested that Gerd's ambassadorship emphasize the world-wide nature of the MV movement.

Gerd Lind is a Newcomer, born in East Africa where her parents, who now live in London, were missionaries from 1944 to 1951.

Christ's Foreign Legion

By NORMAN GULLY

Another milestone was happily reached for the CFL organization on Saturday, May 16, when a caravan of 17 people in three cars visited the Chattanooga church to present a program entitled "The Macedonian Call."

After the invocation and Elder Nunn's invocation, all joined together in singing that stirring missionary hymn, "Far and Near the Fishes Are Teaching."

Elder Paul Boynton then directed our attention to the Divine gospel commission and the Macedonian call from the Bible, and following the proceedings with the news of the MV societies' advance on that eastern land, but also the lack of challenge to present, for the waiting multitudes are ever increasing, and the fields are white to harvest, but the laborers are few.

"At this juncture, Elders Klein, Lravelle Smith, and John Grogan blended their thoughts in the music of "When God Is Near."

The last call was sounded from British Guiana by George Gagst, who related the experience of his family's accepting our message just five years ago, as a direct result of missionary

Members of Christ's Foreign Legion who participated in the organization's last convention at the Chattanooga church, beginning with local Mrs. Aileen Dunsinger, Aileen Loh, Laura Morrison, Barbara Lewis, Carol McClure, Fern Glavin, Edna Anderson, Geneva Glavin, C. Peewee, Luella Grogan, Edwin Klein, George Gagst, Elder H. B. Landquist, sponsor, Norman Gully, president.

nal prayer, the CFL president set the scene for the program in the introductory remarks.

Elder H. B. Landquist told the congregation a few times about the three speakers for the evening, after which Laura Morrison from Peru stepped into the pulpit to tell us of the wonderful work being done in her country, and also of the acute need that prevails at present in her homeland, and therefore appealed to us to "come over to Peru and help us."

In response to this challenge, Kathryn Torres sang the consecration hymn, "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go."

Next came the scene from the United States. Mrs. Glavin warned our work. "Believe me, missions really pay," said George.

In her conclusion, Fern Glavin asked us to respond to the ever-present Macedonian call, both in our obligations, sons and daughters, and in ourselves, so that this "Christians of the Kingdom" might be preached in all the world, and the end come.

Not more fitting climax than Hans Terje's violin solo which has been selected and as those melodious strains of "Ging's" "To Spring" faded softly away, the chords on the church organ sounded the hymn of response, "Anywhere with Jesus I Can Safely Go," after which Elder H. B. Landquist closed the meeting with prayer.

Faculty Plans Busy Summer

Dr. Ambrose L. Sullivan, resident educational consultant and professor emeritus of Southern Mississippi College, in Hattiesburg, Miss., will be in the area and will remain there for some time. His new 450 page book, Teacher of Teachers: Sixty Five Years of Teaching, will be out in a few weeks.

Professor Robert M. Craig, chairman of the division of applied arts and associate professor of business and economics, will soon return to SMC after completing courses for his doctorate in business administration.

The chairman of the division of religion, Professor Edward C. Banks, has been granted fifteen months' leave of absence to obtain his PhD degree from the Theological Seminary.

This summer Professor Leif K. Tobrassen will continue developing his doctoral dissertation in international law dealing with the diplomatic and legal relations between the United States and the UN.

Dr. Thos W. Stoen has a year's leave to engage in special work in the fields of counseling and moral theology in connection with Washington State and Hospital.

Professor Leah Cattle plans to Bushnell Receives $23000 Grant-in-aid

Professor Clyde Bushnell

Professor Clyde G. Bushnell, associate professor of modern languages, has been granted one year's leave of absence by the college board to complete the work for his doctoral degree. Professor Bushnell will finish his studies in Spanish language and history at the University of Texas in Austin, Texas.

According to word that has just been received, the Southern Fellowship Board has awarded Professor Bushnell an outstanding honor. To enable him to complete his studies, they have granted him a $25,000 fellowship in addition to the year 1955-56. In addition to this cash amount, the Southern Fellowship Board will pay all his tuition and other required fees at the University. The Southern Fellowship Board is an agency of the Council of the Southern Universities, Inc.

Christensen Joins Home-Ec Division; Higgins Master

Mrs. Dorothy Christensen, wife of Doctor Otto Christensen, district chairman of the division of religion, will assist Mrs. Ruth Higgins next year in the home economics department.

Mrs. Christensen's special field of study is in foods, diet and nutrition.

At the end of this current summer Mrs. Ruth Higgins, who holds special field of study in clubbing, continuation and selection and home management, will receive her MA degree from the University of Tennessee. It is the plan that the offerings in home economics at Southern Mississippi College will be revised and enlarged so that the graduates of the department will be eligible for receiving international diplomas from the American Dietetic Association.

Kennedy Will Hold Summer Workshop

For two weeks, from August 7-18, Professor K. M. Kennedy will conduct a special summer workshop for faculty teachers. This workshop will concentrate on orientation to the teaching task and the problems of organizing and administering the elementary school English class, also be placed on community, club and conference relationships. The beginning teachers will be instructed in how to keep their records, how to make lesson plans, how to set up daily, weekly and yearly schedules.

The conference educational specialists and other specialists will join with Professor Kennedy in conducting this workshop. The workshop will cover two semester hours of credit and the planning of organization and administration of the elementary school. We're desiring to have part in this workshop are urged to write to Professor Kennedy and their educational superiors.

Fall Prospect Sees Greater Enrollment

More applicants for next year have requested admission to Southern Mississippi College than last year on May, Dean Richard L. Hammill, chairman of the committee on admissions announces. A year ago the number of accepted applications was 241, this year, 370 students have applied so far. Three hundred more applicants are expected in June and July.

Most of the applicants prefer plans II and III, although several have been admitted at cash students on plan I, or as students under plan IV which means they work more and take a lighter class load.

Dean Hammill urges all applicants to explore every possibility for obtaining more cash so that the student can get through college in the regular four years, students on plans IV and V will be probing their studies for five or more years. Plan III students and all who will continue to concentrate on their scholastic work may get through in four years, the student is through plan II, the Dean advises.

PLANS II, III, IV, V

Plan II provides for $220 in earned labor at the college industries approximately 14-18 hours per week, and $700 in cash in installments throughout the eight months.

Plan III requires $500 in cash during the year and $580 earned in college, with the student working about 15-22 hours per week.

Plan IV involves a cash payment of $516 over eight months and 23 1/2 hours labor per week, accumulating $516 throughout the year, the student's class load is maximum 10-12 hours, approximately two-thirds of the normal load of 16 hours required for graduation in four years.

In a few exceptional cases a student may be admitted under plan V, requiring 35 1/2 hours weekly labor and $500 in cash from other sources, such a student may take only half a regular class load and must spend a longer time in college.

S. African Worker Receives Diploma

William H. T. Bishnour, a member of the 1955 Senior Class

Some years ago he graduated from Hildeberg College, near Cape Town, later he became pastor, evangelist and home missionary secretary at the National Transvaal Conference of the United South Africa English Babelosher preaches in English as well as in Afrikaans, but speaks tongue. With Mrs. Babelosher he will go to Washington, D. C. in June to continue his

SMC REMEMBERS

(Continued from page 2)

"I've been Oahu in located about 500 miles west of us. We hope to take a cruise in the Oahu in a few weeks to give our greetings to our friends."

CLASS OF '50

Jack Berger sends greetings from Tokyo, Japan. "We are well and happy in the Lord's vineyard here in Japan. You may be interested to know that on December 19 of last year it was my privilege to perform my first baptism, four people were baptized with their Lord, and we were blessed by profession of faith."

Everett E. Fuller writes concerning our graduates in India. "As suggested, I believe Brother J. A. Crews would be a good organizer to sponsor an alumni chapter here if it felt that one could be expected. He is president of the Karnataka Mission and is located in Bangalore. While there are quite a number of graduates in the Poona area, there is still a large number scattered throughout India, and while their being in the same country at least makes them feel near to us as compared with our friends in the United States, yet the distances between us are sometimes quite great, and we do not often come together. At one time I counted as many as 32 former SMC students. I don't know how many of them actually graduated, I'm sure there are not that many now, for some have gone, but following is a partial list: J. F. Ashlock, Mrs. Marcella Ashlock, and Roscoe S. Lousy in Poona, Thomas Ashlock, Betty Zedinger-Ashlock, Scudderbarb, Doc, Forrest Laxone Fuller, Neoms L. Meyer Fuller, Poona, William Forrest Zill, Mary Alice Zill, Newport, J. A. Crews, Lois Tunison Crews, J. A. Swale, Thelma Swale, Bangalore, H. Ralston Hooper, June Swale-Hooper, Marie Gunn, Missions, Catherine Easman Scott, Galveston, Carolyn, Halbe Thomas, Karshu, Charles O. Treadwell, Poona."

Dr. Hammill to Attend Boulevard Convention

From July 22-28 Dean Richard Hammill will attend a meeting of Seventh day Adventist college administrators at Boulder, Colorado. His wife and family will accompany him after the conference, he and his family will spend their vacation camp in the Colorado Rockies.

Also representing SMC at this conference will be President Kenneth A. Wright, Mrs. Edna Stonebaker, dean of women, and Eileen Jones Edw-ards, dean of men.

Studies at the Theological Seminary Religion is his major and history his minor at SMC.

1953-54 ATG officers—center, Warren Taylor; left, Lynda Hurdell, Adena Leutchen, sponsor, Herman Soumen, John Hurdell, president, Patsy Gilbert, David Morrison.

Dr. Holm and Professor Kennedy Will Offer Education Courses

Doctor L. N. Holm, whose past accomplishments include serving as business manager for eleven years in one of our colleges and president of two Adventist colleges, has newly been elected chairman of the division of education and psychology at Southern Missionary College. Doctor Holm joined the faculty a year ago in the capacity of business manager and acting chairman of the division of applied art.

In this capacity he has labored very effectively. However, the administration of the college has desired ever since Doctor Holm has been on the campus to utilize his wealth of experience in the instructional division of the college. When Doctor T. W. Steen resigned as director of the college administration was pleased to have at hand one well qualified to assume this important position in the educational staff of the college.

In his new capacity, Doctor Holm will offer courses in general psychology, mental hygiene, guidance, and philosophy of Christian education. He will begin his teaching work at the beginning of the summer session, June 15. An especially strong schedule of courses will be offered in this division during the summer months. In addition to his duties in teaching and administering the division, Doctor Holm will serve as director of testing and consulting. Acting Doctor Holm in the division will be Professor K. M. Kennedy who has been in the office of absence during the past year completing the course work for his doctor's degree at the University of Tennessee. Professor Kennedy will be charged with the special oversight of teacher education. He will offer courses in materials and methods of elementary teaching. He will also teach human growth and development, and materials and methods of secondary teaching.

Professor Kennedy is well qualified for his work of guiding the education of young teachers, inasmuch as he has taught successfully for many years. In addition, Professor Kennedy is an ordained minister of the Seventh-day Adventist church, having held successful pastorates in Indiana and Alabama. The college board and administration therefore have great confidence in the division of education and psychology, and in the men who will carry on its work.

(Continued on page 8)

Famous Artist Joins College Staff To Instruct Interested Students

By K. B. McMurphy

Mrs. Gina Plaugwitz, international 35 years sculpture and water color painter and former art teacher at Princeton University, has agreed to conduct weekly classes in painting, drawing, and sculpture at Southern Missionary College.

Mrs. Plaugwitz was commissioned by the state of Israel to sculpture the effigies of Albert Einstein for the Tel Aviv museum in Palestine, where at more or less ten years she would appear this portrait of the famous scientist, who was a personal friend of hers.

Mrs. Plaugwitz has had many years of experience as an art teacher. Her students have come from a wide variety of classes and age groups, including poets and professors, nannies, secretaries, working men, and children. Besides her own genius and experience, the greatest contributing factors to her success as a teacher are her infectious vitality, friendliness, and enthusiasm. Mrs. Plaugwitz is a woman of broad interests and sympathies. She is a people person and out of this line she is able to produce great art herself and draw out the creative impulse in those who perhaps never dreamed they had it.

Paintings and portrait busts from Mrs. Plaugwitz's hands have appeared in an exhibition all over this country, and her work has received many favorable reviews by important art critics.

The study plan tentatively suggested by Mrs. Plaugwitz is as follows: She will spend one day a week on the campus. Students will drop into the studio to work at any regular hour convenient to them. When not occupied with instruction Mrs. Plaugwitz expects to be engaged on painting or sculpture, or her own in the studio where students are working.

During the past year Mrs. Plaugwitz became acquainted with Southern Missionary College through the Great Books discussion program, of which she is an enthusiastic member. From time to time Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, who are the executive members of the Great Books Association, have participated in Mrs. Plaugwitz's group and enjoyed the warm hospitality of her home on Madison Avenue in Chattanooga, to which she and her husband, Mr. Mark Plaugwitz, returned two years ago from Princeton, New Jersey. As a result of the acquaintance formed, Mrs. Plaugwitz decided that she would enjoy teaching our young people at Collegedale, for the results there faces interesting, that outlook on life stimulating, and the wonderfully program of the school worthy of respect.

Christensen Becomes New Division Head

RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean

Professor John Christensen of Emmanuel Missionary College has accepted an invitation of the College board to join the faculty of Southern Missionary College as professor of chemistry and chairman of the division of natural sciences. Doctor George Nelson who has served the college in this capacity since 1939 has resigned in order to take up research work with the College of Medical Technology. Professor Christensen and family will be moving to Collegedale in August.

Professor John Christensen

Since graduating from Union College in 1939, Professor Christensen served for two years as instructor in science and mathematics at Shelton Academy. Following that, he taught at Union College for four years. From 1945 to the present, Professor Christensen has taught chemistry at Emmanuel Missionary College and has taken graduate work on his master's and doctor's degrees. Inasmuch as Professor Christensen's main field of interest is biochemistry, it is the plan to expand the offerings in that field of chemical studies as soon as possible.

L. R. Winkler Joins Science Staff

RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean

Professor L. R. Winkler, who will receive this summer his Ph.D. degree with a major in zoology, will join the natural sciences division of Southern Missionary College, for the fall term. Professor Winkler received the B.S. degree from Madison College in 1942, BA from Walls Walls College in 1947, and MA with a major in zoology from Walls Walls College in 1953. Since 1954, he has been teaching as a graduate associate in zoology at the University of Southern California. He has been granted the covered Alcala Huxley fellowship.

Professor Lindsey Winkler

After serving for four years in the armed forces during World War II, Professor Winkler took a refresher course at Walls Walls College. Then he was called to the manure field in the East where he served from 1948-51 as director of the Celebes Warming School. His addition to the faculty will greatly strengthen the department of biology.

Doctor George Nelson helps some delicate matter, Olavi Vain, Charles Tien, and John Oliver, over the intricacies of a laboratory in chemistry.

New Physics and Mathematics Teacher Comes South from California

RICHARD HAMMILL, Dean

Professor Ray Hefflein, currently teaching and doing research work on his doctoral dissertation at the California Institute of Technology, has accepted a call to join the division of natural sciences at Southern Missionary College in the capacity of teacher of physics and mathematics.

Professor Hefflein received his BA degree from Pacific Union College in 1951. Since that time, he has been engaged in graduate study and research at the California Institute of Technology. On May 20, he had his final oral examination, and will receive the Ph.D. degree on June 10.

In addition to taking graduate courses and carrying on special research projects in the field of spectroscopy, or photoelectric measurements, Professor Hefflein has taught physics courses for the engineering students of Caltech.

SMC Sophomores Above Average In English Test Given Recently

By JEANETTE MAAS

The National Sophomore Testing Program is conducted annually by the Cooperative Test Division of the National Testing Service. Readily increasing numbers of colleges have been using the services provided by the program to augment their own guidance work. The purpose of the program is to offer objective tests of achievement in the various fields and provide a means for comparing and gauging student scores as they plan their years of specialization.

Objective Tests

The objective evidence of academic strengths and weaknesses provided by the test results gives much of the information necessary for a student's self-appraisal. The student who understands himself can do a great deal to develop his own educational and vocational plans in relation to his capabilities and limitations.

Evaluation of student performance in terms of national norms provides a reference for institutions of education. The establishment of an educational program will help the college to know how well it is achieving its objectives and maintaining its academic standards.

Southern Missionary College has participated in the National Sophomore Testing Program since 1950. The first administration of the test of this year with 80 sophomores participating. The test is divided up into three parts, an English test which covers reading speed and comprehension, mechanics of English and effectiveness of expression, a General College Institute of Technology is one of the outstanding technological institutions in America. Its courses and studies concentrate on the sciences and particularly the physical sciences. Although it is one of the youngest universities, it achieved a place of fame through the efforts of the great physicist and Nobel prize winner, Robert A. Millikan.

The gates to Caltech do not swing open to everyone who knocks. In a recent survey there it was found that the average student's IQ was placed at 142, the lowest score is (122) being a young foreigner who was still having trouble with his English. Caltech is dedicated to justice and excellence, its laboratories out-number those of any one school.

Southern Missionary College is proud to add another teacher of the highest standing of Professor Hefflein to its faculty.

test, then which covers five areas—total tests, literature, science, mathematics and fine arts, and a test in contemporary affairs of the past year.

General Culture

Southern Missionary College made an excellent showing on this year's test. Especially remarkable was the performance of the sophomores on the English test. The national average for the total test was percentile rank 47. Our students showed an average percentile rank of 60 on the total test. Our hats off to Dr. McMurphy and the English department! Our students were also slightly above average on the Southern Missionary test, with very good scores being made in mathematics and science and poorer scores being made on literature and fine arts. This success in our preliminary affairs, the Southern Missionary College test scores were somewhat below average on the contemporary affairs test. The national average being around 47 and our average rank 40 on percentile rank. Perhaps we are too busy studying other things that we do not have time to keep up with contemporary affairs. The student who took part in the test was supplied with a Student's Interpretative booklet on which each student was asked to indicate the percentage and by which he could rate himself in comparison with the other 19,000,000 sophomores who took this test.

Mrs. Gina Plaugwitz, SMC art teacher for next year, is shown here at work on the bust of the late Dr. Albert Einstein commissioned by the state of Israel.

Summer School Plans Announced

The summer school schedule has been planned by teachers and veterans especially in mind, announced Professor Richard Hanson, dean of SMC. Although general students will find courses being offered that meet their needs, teachers who wish to qualify for higher teaching certificates have been considered most in deciding which courses to offer.

Special consideration has also been given veterans whose education has been interrupted by their service in the armed forces. By taking advantage of the summer session, such students are able to accelerate their graduation.

Doctor Hummill announces that a number of professors will be offering courses. Professor Leo K. Tubansen, Doctor Adnan Lamin, Doctor Kathleen McMurphy and Doctor Diane Gaskill are included in the summer school teaching faculty. "These teachers, along with others, are offering a selection of courses that should make the summer session well worth attending," says the dean.

MY SOCIETY PRESENTS LAST CHAPEL PROGRAM

Collegiate's MY society directed its final MY chapel program of the year, Wednesday, May 18. Ellen Adams, student secretary leader, was chairman of the program, and she gave a condensed view of some of the activities of the MY society during her administration. She especially stressed the Bible school enrollment program that has been carried out. This branch of MY activity has exceeded its goal of 1,000 enrollees during second semester.

Miss Adams introduced Herman Brown, next year's leader. Herman, a junior theology student from Winston, previewed next year's activities for the students, and predicted the "busical program year."

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

(Continued from page 1)
to devote his main attention to his research work.

Professor H. B. Landquist, veteran missionary and teacher, was promoted from instructor to associate professor. Mr. Ruth Higgins was advanced from instructor to assistant professor.

Practical courses in industrial arts are offered. Here Professor Gerald Boynton shows a model known to three of his students.

New Catalogue Entries Listed in Several Divisions in College

RICHARD HANMILL, Dean

The faculty senate has approved the offering of a BS degree in medical secretarial science. For the past several years, a two-year terminal curriculum in medical secretarial science has been available at SMC. Since there is a demand for further training in that area that would carry with it a BS degree, the college has decided to present this new major. The requirements for graduation from this course are set forth in the new 1955-56 catalogue which has just come off the press.

The new catalogue also describes a two-year pre-engineering course. This curriculum enables a student to spend his first two years of engineering at SMC and then transfer to an engineering school without loss of time. This engineering course is a heavy concentration of mathematics plus a few of the general education courses such as English, Bible and Science.

Also of interest in the catalogue is the field of curricula in the pre-occupational, pre-physical therapy, and pre-law curricula. Despite the fact that opportunity to an excellent profession with good income and outstanding opportunities for missionary activity, very few students are choosing this course. I would urge that more of the freshman students for 1955-56 consider carefully the advantages of pre-occupational.

There is also a great shortage of well-trained physical therapists. Every year finds the demand greater and the money higher. This is one phase of the medical work that gives opportunity to bring physical relief and control opportunities for witnessing for one's faith to people of the world.

I would advise that some young men and women look toward the pre-occupational rather than toward dentistry and medicine.

For years, law has not been considered the best profession for a Southern Adventist. However changing conditions now indicate that Southern Adventist work of firm and settled convictions may engage in law with benefit, particularly those phases of law that have to do with taxes and property settlement appear to be especially adapted in an Adventist profession of law.

With the move pre-professional curricula available at Southern Missionary College, capable young people of the Southern Union are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity to prepare for a field of world service.

Secretarial Dept. Gets New Machine

The Secretarial Science department has recently purchased a new National Front-Feed Carriage Bookkeeping Machine. Machine bookkeeping has become a very intricate and important part of the modern business world. By means of secretarial training, one may receive a more adequate training.

In difficult today the bookkeeping machine has become almost as common as the typewriter; therefore, hand bookkeeping is going almost out of date.

A trained secretary in a small business will be able to take care of the bookkeeping as well as her secretarial duties if she is trained to do machine bookkeeping.

With this machine the student is now able to justify the cost, take a trial balance and make out the statement in one operation. As Miss Theresa Breckman, head of the secretarial department, says: "It's a good investment."

Students Earn Money By Unique Methods

By FERN GIBSON

Are finances keeping you from coming to college? There are many ways in which one may work his way to college, depending on the type of work, adaptability and initiative. Some of the students at SMC are working most of their way through college, some only half, and others just a part.

It is advisable to do all you can in order to help yourself on a financial way before coming to SMC, for the large amount of student spends is far more on board. One who works a great deal must reduce his class load considerably, and therefore cannot finish in four years.

Bring Cash with You

This is how some of our students have managed to come to SMC.

Work on a construction job last summer brought David Messenger the cash to come to SMC again this year. Here he works at the College Press and earns a portion of his expenses.

Joann Schmitt, came over last summer as Winston union member, and earned a scholarship.

Quinn Smith has done carpentry and carpentry work during his summer, and has been laboratory assistant this year for Professor Kabinas.

Miss Kiboh has financed his education by employment in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference. At school this year he has sold vacuum cleaners to pay the remaining bills. Contrary to appearances, he is not planning to be a salesman. He is a ministerial student from Miami, Florida.

Nursing, Selling, Growing

Nursing is the chosen profession of Shirley. The firm Likeland, Florida, Carverville during the summer and working in the laundry have helped to make possible, her education and preparation for her life work.

Elmer Peterson is a college girl who enjoyed raising rabbits on a flower farm in Alabama last summer. Besides bringing enjoyment her occupation also financially needed money for this year at school.

Varied Occupations

James McClellan worked last summer and made a scholarship which, with the money he earned at the laundry this year, has seen him through his freshman year at SMC.

Besides all those there are many many others. Ardous Alanous work of at the Southern Publishing Association. Richard Young was foreman of a construction job, Herman Buntan, James Peel, and Eugene Boothe covered the summer previous to this year. In the Photo Center, George Brison was a bookkeeping clerk. David Boice worked as an electrician, and Mamie Eshel was a teacher for a while before coming back to finish her education.

Victor Bushnell worked for the U. S. Forest Service, that just started, spending three months as the incumbent of northern California. He was a member of a crew of ten Adventist boys who were on duty in case of forest fires in the Plumas National Forest. Paul Allen worked in a bakery in his hometown, Cincinnati, last summer to purchase for his freshman year in college.

Louise Swartzbacher, a freshman from Plymouth, North Carolina, earned $150 for her scholarship by raising beef peppers for markets near her home.

Louise was employed as a waitress in a nearby club organization, but felt the need of further financial assistance to attend school. She planned a large paper patch last spring, reaped the harvest last fall and sold them on the market before coming to SMC.

Professor Bunker enters in Teachings of Jesus in possibly the largest class of Southern Missionary College.

Dr. Christensen To Visit Near East This Summer

Doctor Otto Christensen, currently professor of biblical languages at Eastern Missionary College, has accepted an invitation to join the faculty of Southern Missionary College. During the coming year he will be acting chairman of the division of religion in the absence of Elder Banks.

Thanks to a special grant-in-aid in connection with funds being granted by the New York University, Doctor Christensen will be enabled to spend the summer months in archeological study in the Holy Land. He will leave by plane early in June. After several months of intensive studying and traveling to excavations in Palestine, Professor Christensen will make a short tour of Western Europe before returning to the States and moving to college in time for the opening of the fall term on September 12.

Doctor Christensen comes to Southern Missionary College well qualified for the work of helping to train young ministers. An ordained minister himself, he served as pastor in the Minnesota Conference from 1924-30. He also held pastorates in Mahoning and Illinois Conferences from 1931-47.

In addition, Doctor Christensen has served for ten years as a missionary from 1910-40 he was the only Seventh-day Adventist missionary in the land of Mongolia. Very few missionaries of other denominations have ever lived and worked in that far-off land bordering on Siberia. During his work in that country, Elder Christensen translated a portion of the Bible into Mongolian. It is the only portion of the Bible existing in that language.

After the outbreak of hostilities in the Far East forced him to leave his country.

(Continued on page 6)

Alumni Graduate From CME in '55

William Dyringer and Joseph Gardner will in June receive their doctor of medicine degrees from the College of the Holy Evangelists in Loma Linda, California.

They both graduated from SMC in 1951, Dyringer having served as vice-president of the Student Association and member of the committee that drafted the SA constitution.

Gardner and Dyringer demonstrated their faith in Southern Missionary College in a unique way in 1950 when they were about to enter the senior year, they were determined to qualify for the College of Medical Evangelists. SMC was not yet fully accredited.

The accreditation program was under way but would not be completed until the middle of the following year, pending favorable action by the Southern Association. While the college was fulfilling the requirements, official accreditation was not accorded. But Dyringer and Joe Gardner, however, had sufficient faith in the excellence of their college and started their senior year at SMC. Their faith was rewarded. SMC received accreditation, and they were accepted into the Loma Linda medical school.

Miss Lisa Kiboh, a secretarial major, demonstrates the new bookkeeping machine.

1955 Junior Class Dedicates Prayer Chapel

The junior class of 1955 presented a gift to Southern Missionary College on Friday chapel, May 20.

The gift, dedicated to the service of prayer, was the project conceived by the junior class as their class project. The class had taken one of the rooms behind the chapel platform and transformed it into a prayer chapel.

Two oak pews line the short aisle toward the altar with an open Bible on it. Above the altar is the picture of Christ. Dark mission draperies cover two of the walls, and the same color carpet covers the floor. Two modern lamps give indirect lighting.

This chapel is to be placed set aside for no other use than that of meditation and prayer, said President Paul Kilgore.

Receiving the chapel, representing the school was President Wright. Among those who contributed time and effort to the preparing of the chapel were Mrs. Robert Sabin, Mrs. John Goodrich, Miss Leola Cantle, Bob Leiford, Mrs. Conde, Mrs. A. H. B. Landquist, Mrs. R. G. Bivens, Mrs. L. N. Holm, and Mrs. Dan Jensen.

The prayer chapel is a fine work worth $100 plus all the hours spent in building it.

Says Kilgore, "Special credit must be given to Dr. Adrian Lauritzen, the class sponsor for his outstanding work and support."

OTTO CHRISTENSEN VISITS NEAR EAST

(Continued from page 5)

missionary activity. Elder Christensen spent one year in studying at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C., where he obtained his M. A. degree. Following that, he registered with plural assignments in Michigan and Illinois, he studied in the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

He was granted a Ph.D. from that institution with major fields of study in Hebrew and Semitic languages, and ancient Near Eastern history. With this wealth of experience and professional training, Doctor Christensen will add much strength to the domain of religion as he fills the professorial duties here at Elder C. E. Winkler's left the college a year ago to join the faculty of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary.

SMC Offers Unique Leader Training

By KATHRIN WOODS

One of the most outstanding features of the educational advantages provided at Southern Missionary College is the uniquely rich opportunity for leadership training in the Student Association, in the MV society and other church organizations, and in a number of additional units under student management.

Within the Student Association 35 regattilla clubs, four fraternities, four clubs, organizations, three periodicals and live over others are active under student direction, each of these thirty-five organizations having seven or more officers.

These officers are given training in the preparation of agendas and minutes, in decision-making and policy formulation, in building budgets, in platform techniques, and in parliamentary procedures. The coordinator of student activities and his twenty-three associate faculty sponsors are constantly giving attention to the training of student officers.

The Collegedale church offers a wide variety of opportunities for education in religious and missionary lead-

The 1955 junior class project—the prayer and meditation chapel.

Students Capture GB Marathon Award

By K. B. McMINN, PH.D.

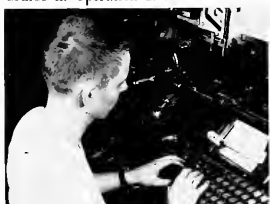

Four students are receiving the Great Books Marathon award for reading twelve of the most famous books in the world, and for participating in eight discussions of these masterpieces at the Chattanooga Public Library.

These are Emanuel Fenn, Delvin Liskell, Richard Hixey, and Fern Gibson. The first three have also led discussions on the city.

Interest in the Great Books program has grown steadily this year as about 30 SMC students have participated in the discussions at one time or another, have learned to exchange ideas and sometimes share their faith with a very thoughtful group of Chattanooga citizens.

From these discussions SMC students have come to realize that great works of literature are not dead but are living, of practical interest to ordinary people in this work-a-day world.

Southern Missionary College Press Adds Third Intertype Course in Operation Is Available to Six Students

Paul Allen Intertype student at 1255-55. Also a regular operator.

Full expansion of work at the College Press has made it necessary for the plant to add another Intertype typetting machine.

With the growing volume of work, we also hire the demand for workers in the printing plant.

A student who might desire to obtain work in the print shop should register for the class in Fundamentals of Typography. This class, taught by the head of the composing department, Mr. Albert Anderson, meets twice a week, with 2½ hours lab per week. Credit earned is 3 hours per semester. Second semester lab can be counted as work, and will be paid for by the press. Capacity of the class is approximately ten students.

Collegedale Missionary Volunteer Society Presents Resume of Semester's Activity

No Christian college can unfold the full program of Adventist education without an extensively organized and systematically active MV society including all the students and teachers. Ellen Adams, this society's MV leader, emphasized in a recent interview with a representative of the SOUTHERN ACCENT "Student missionary activity is an indispensable part of Christian college training, no other student activity has so definitely recommended by Ellen G. White, said Miss Adams.

"Our Collegedale MV organization has been expanding this year," Ellen continued. "Systematic distribution of literature among non-Adventists has been organized in close cooperation with the home missionary leadership of the church.

Almost ten thousand leaves have been visited by student missionary volunteers, and more than a thousand persons have enrolled in Bible study courses during the recent campaign. Approximately two hundred students with a number of their teachers have shared their faith in this effective way. The Master Guide work has included more than 30 students, and 13 of these became Master Guides last Sabbath at the apostrophe service in the chapel."

Future Needs Outlined

The greatest need of the college MV society, Ellen Adams suggested, is for more close coordination among the various units that organize the students into religious activities on and off the campus. The activities of the American Temperance society which has an active local chapter, the Christ's Foreign Legion which is sponsored by the department of religion, and the Missionary Seminar which is also under the direct care of the religion professors, might advantageously be coordinated with the MV activities so that cooperation will be advanced.

"Close fellowship and contact should also be established between the MV and the SA, and the MV and chapel division Sabbath school. The planning of projects and the assignment of special "days and weeks" should be done under a system of coordination to avoid conflict and overlapping," Miss Adams said. The Student Senate was weeks ago voted to recommend closer association with the MV society, and it is hoped that the Student Committee on Religious Activities could well serve as a clearing house and an instrument of cooperation between an instrument of cooperation should be studied, the MV leader suggested.

She pointed out that a well organized system of decentralized leadership, similar to that developed in the Student Association through the years, is operating in a large college MV society, the individual college officers, however devoted and talented, has not time enough to supervise a large MV society with many hundred active members, nor is it large under a leadership method that would be a firmly formulated system, she pointed out.

Gratitude Expressed

Miss Adams wished to express her thanks to each of the MV officers who has made this year's work a success and to each member of the faculty and student body who has been active in his support of the MV society. "Without the cooperation of each society member," she continued. "The projects and dreams of a good year could never have been realized. A good MV society, the cooperation of each society officer, both active and inactive members. This year's organization has felt the influence of some very active members, and I believe that the same is only beginning to begin. We shall give you our task of warming a sleeping world."

Third Intertype Students

tion, carefulness, and accuracy—that active building factors.

It is a pleasure, under good congenial surroundings, under good supervision.

How does a student get a job in this important college industry? What does printing offer for future assurance of a living?

1. Classes are given on both a diploma and college levels at SMC, where one might learn to type.

2. As the student progressively follows the printing curriculum, completing a minor, he has become prepared to get a job as an intertype.

3. If the student is among the best in the class he may be employed in the College Press, thus not only earning money while still in college but also getting college credit for part of his work.

4. A student can learn type composing, linotype operation, plan work, both letterpress and offset, platemaking and handset work. If interested in English the student can take a course in proofreading.

Three SMC Students Win Story Awards

Three students from Southern Missionary College received awards in the 1955 Young Authors Pen League contest. These are Fern Gibson, third prize for missionary stories (59), Roger Jacobs, first prize for true stories (65), and Paul Allen, second prize for "I share your youth" stories (74). The "share your youth" stories were written by students of Mrs. Helen McMurphy, and the third prize was won by Mrs. Doreen

Four 1955 Seniors Are Granted Honors

Four seniors are graduating from Southern Missionary College this year with special honors voted by the faculty: James Ray McKinney and Vladimir Schoen, with high honors (summa cum laude); James Alexander and Olliv Weitz with honors (honoris causa). These honors were voted on a basis of high scholastic standing and excellent in student leadership. James Ray McKinney has been president of the Student Association and member of the Missionary Volunteer society, the two highest positions on both sides are elected, he has also served as president of the International Relations Club. James Ray's year is religious. He has been elected into the School of Medicine at the College of Medical Evangelists. Vladimir Schoen is a man of several cultures, he was born in Estonia and was a minister in the Baltic union. He was caught here to move away from the Sovietized Baltic region, for a while he worked in Berlin, then he was for some time in Soviet union. After the war he went back his wife and son to the International division where he is working as MV and educational secretary of the Anatolian union. Elder Weitz's major is history, he has been officer of the senior class and of the International Relations club. James Alexander and Olliv Weitz are both pre-medical students and both have been accepted into the Adventist College of Medical Evangelists in Loma Linda, California.

Newbold College Is Represented

The SMC seniors this year are graduates of Newbold Missionary College, England. Vladimir Schoen, Hugo Christensen, Mark Leeds, Norman Gulley, and Peter Red, Edward and Hugo graduated from the British college in 1950, the other three in 1951. Edward Vick was a waiter in the South England Conference before he came to Collegedale to complete his studies for a college degree and a Religion major. For two years he has been in the ministerial seminar work on surrounding churches. Hugo Christensen was dean of boys at the Danish general college until he came to SMC two years ago. Last year he was president of the International Relations Club. His majors are History and Religion. Hugo's wife is Betty and Edward's wife is Anström, the sister to three other SMC students: Walter, Emanuel and Hans Fernz. The other three Newbold graduates are all religious majors and history minors. All five plan to take advanced work at the Washington theological university this fall.

The four students who graduated with honors were left in right. McKinney (summa cum laude), Olliv Weitz (honoris causa), Vladimir Schoen (summa cum laude), and James Alexander (honoris causa).

ACCENT ON THE ACADEMY

President Donald Silver and Vice-president Johnson Holley march at the head of three class Assembly procession, May 31, in the Tabernacle Auditorium.

SENIORS HEAR SPEAKERS

(Continued from page 1)
Senior educational majors, six teacher education majors, four chemistry majors, four economics and business majors, four music education majors, one business major, one history major, one music education major, and one physics major.

Progressive Activity Characterizes Division of Fine Arts

By JOVA LYNN

Something new was inaugurated in the fine arts division of Southern Missionary College in the early part of this school year. The music faculty presented their various talents in a combined recital. The music faculty recital will be a regular annual event, taking place on the first Saturday night of each school year.

In December, the 70 senior college boys sang the Christmas portion from Handel's The Messiah. Accompanying the choir was a student chamber ensemble (sung by members of the Chattanooga Symphony orchestra).

Candlelight Main

Another Christmas season event was an early morning candlelight main held in the Fine Arts Chapel. It was sponsored by the SMC chapter of the Music Educators National Conference.

Of interest to all active instrument players on the SMC campus is the band. Under its Tennessee-Kentucky tour, two complete Saturday night concerts, and three informal new concerts, it has been very active this year. The schedule for next year indicates that it extended tour to Florida is to be added to the itinerary, which formerly has included only Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, and Georgia.

Among the many innovations in the music department, and semester inter-classes between the music faculty and with music majors is one of significance. In their interviews, teachers and students study the abilities, possibilities, and progress of the student in his field.

of study. Both teachers and students benefit greatly from these discussions. The month musical activity on the campus has been intense. During the first week of May, National Music Week, two chapel programs were devoted to music and some of its aspects. The first of these programs was sponsored by the MEMC. The last was a recital presented by students from the studios of Dr. Laurman (piano), Mr. Cosentino (violin), Mr. Mumford (violin), and Mr. Kregstad (bass wood instruments).

Musical Climate of Year

The choice of Music Week was a program presented on Saturday night by the choir group of SMC. The college choir and the chorists. The choir directs a smaller, more select group than the college choir, it is new organization this year.

In a series of seven recitals held during Music Week and the following week, students from the studios of Adrian and Evelyn Lawston, Francis Cosentino, Mabel Wood, Margaret Stoen, and Norman and Eleanor Kregstad were presented in piano, organ, vocal and instrumental performances in Linn Wood chapel and the fine arts auditorium.

An outstanding addition to the fine arts division staff next year will be Mrs. Gena Plungman, art instructor. More information about her, as the special article devoted to her in this publication.

Henny Matthews, the dean's secretary, is shown here with one of the new typewriters. There are 20 such in the central room that are used by upper division and second year sectional students.

WATCH YOUR SENATE

By WALTER WARD

The Final meeting of the 1954-55 student senate met May 8 in the regular place, Hayden Hall lecture room, at 7:30 P.M. This was the twelfth regular meeting and about the fifteenth, including the special sessions.

Appreciation for Leadership

Special appreciation was shown President James Ray McKinney for his leadership. A mild round of applause showed each senator's appreciation of the counsel and guidance of our coordinator, Professor Leif K. Tebberson. We were happy to find that our budget was finally balanced and that there would be a surplus left for next year.

The senate elect for the year 1955 '56 is now functioning. The first meeting was held May 13 at 7:30 P.M. in the Library Faculty room. Due to the fact that the offices of the class presidents are not yet filled, there seemed to be a pretty small social gathering to hear President elect Dean Kinsey's opening address. There were two senators elect absent.

Coordinator Nominated

After greetings were exchanged all business was proceeded to the business at hand. The first item of business was nomination of a coordinator of student activities.

From the ones nominated, President Wright selected Dr. L. N. Holm to fill the office. Dr. Holm is very well qualified to hold the position, having been engaged in comparable activities in other Adventist colleges.

A committee was chosen to consider several suggestions for association party this next year. Carl Jensen was chosen as chairman. He was given several suggestions to work on.

No senate meeting would seem complete to me without the problem of a budget being brought up. This one was very complete. The budget committee has been busy again and a really revolutionary budget has been turned out. In my opinion, this budget marks a new era in understanding and co-operation between the major student office. The revolutionary aspect of this budget is found in the income section.

In times past the income from the campaigns of both publication, and the income from the advertising of the Southern Accent has been listed sep-

Collegiate Academy's 26 seniors held their commencement exercises May 19 to 21 in the Tabernacle Auditorium, Collegedale, Tennessee.

Elder W. Foster, Missionary Volunteer leader of the Florida Conference, was the speaker for the commencement service on Friday night. In response to Elder Foster's commendation, Charles Sherrill, class pastor, represented the senior class in his reply, as the seniors extended their thanks to him.

The horticultural sermon was presented by Elder G. R. Nash, president of the Georgia Cumberland Conference.

Elder R. L. Oumerson, principal of Foye Lyle Academy, gave the commencement address.

The speaker based his talk on the class motto, "Today We Are Building Tomorrow," and the class aim, "To Give the World Our Best." Special music for the commencement exercises was given by Donald Hill, marimba; Melvin Rhodes, Lyon Van Public, gely trio; vocal: Harold Hill, vocal solo; piano: Harold Hill, piano solo; vocal solo: Harold Hill, vocal solo; vocal solo: Harold Hill, vocal solo.

arely in budget "belonging" to each publication, not to the associated students, from whom they derive all power and authority to operate.

Budget Revisited

This split budget has resulted in some difficulty with one of the publications having money to spend while the other is short of money. While the other publications try vainly to meet an ever diminishing budget. In formulating and passing the new budget, the students have got to be so sure of their accuracy. Now all income to both publications, from whatever source, is put into the SA treasury. The publication which a budget shows is anticipated expense. If it is passed, the association guarantees that the money will be on hand to meet the expense.

Absorbent Association

If there is a loss from president of either publication, the association absorbs the loss, and if there is a surplus, it remains on the association list. In the past, the SA has merely absorbed the loss, while any gain has gone into a reserve fund to be drawn on solely by the publications.

The second revolutionary aspect of the new budget is that it deals with subscription campaigns. There will be no tab campaigns carried by the publications next year. This is made possible by the fact that we will be 50% per year outlay by the students.

The elimination of the campaigns takes a great strain off the business managers of the publications, and reduces their duties to a level that more nearly corresponds to the articles carried on file by the other SA officers. Also each student participation on venture forth unified into the publication of an ACCENT or MEMORIAL.

It is significant to note that the budget that has been passed is the first in quite a while that has been passed within the time set forth in the constitution.

For this we can thank the aggressive leadership of our new senate. Of course, it wasn't all done in one day, or even one year, so we must acknowledge the help of past Student Activities team, for their work in this direction. I hope to see many of our ACCENT readers in college here next year. Till then, "I'll be seeing you."

In the surrounding office students may earn part of their expenses by doing accounting, the operation of an adding machine and the handling of accounts.

"Senator of Year" Is Floyd Greenleaf

Floyd Greenleaf, a business student from Orlando, Florida, is speaker of the Senate for 1955-56.

Floyd Greenleaf

Greenleaf, senator of Year 1955-56, is a business student at McKean in Miami. He has also been speaker of the Senate for several years and was speaker of the Senate in 1954-55.

EDUCATION COURSES

(Continued from page 1)

Mr. Dean's Work

Mr. Ollie Dean, who for many years has helped in the work of teaching students in the division, will continue to serve as part-time instructor according to the need and as her health permits. Her main work is to take care and control of the operation of the division and the continuity of the college.

August 1954 to 1955 was marked by the first for her assistance in presenting his views on senatorial duties, his personal attitudes, his skill in public relations, his helpfulness in the functions of the senate that year. Floyd served the year as senator of the SA committee on constitutional revision.

His committee approval granted Floyd an honor as he received an 18-month paid diploma from SA President McKean.

Seniors Entertained At Reception by Faculty Members

The faculty and staff of Southern Missouri College honored the college seniors and their wives in a semi-formal garden party in the Tabernacle Auditorium Sunday evening, May 15. The guests were greeted by the couples by faculty ladies serving as hostesses.

The招待ment was decorated in a garden ribbon coloring, and a triple-decked water fountain stood a big drop of garden shrubbery and wild flowers.

President Kenneth A. Wright, officially welcomed the guests on behalf of the faculty and introduced the evening program. Professor Lewis Costerton gave a vocal solo, "Sweet by George," Gene Spiker of the faculty, was Elder Donald Hunter, who discussed current problems in local schooling with many personal illustrations from his days as Area Director and Adult Institute Director and piano solo.

Seniors Presented

The seniors were officially presented to the faculty under the direction of Dr. Richard Hamrill. Each senior was introduced by his division head. Professor Norman Kuestel played a solo on a lute horn, and Dr. George Nelson gave a reading depicting the adventures of one Ode Ode. A P. M. Don Southern Union treasurer gave a two-minute speech advancing the cause. How to keep out of debt. Benediction was offered by Professor E. C. Burt.

The general chairman for the program was Professor Elmer McMurray. Chairman of the entertainment committee was Mrs. Eva Gardner. Pastor Horace Pollock was chairman of the devotion committee and President Wright was chairman of the entertainment committee. Mrs. Lottie Williams was chairman of the food committee.

1951-55 Student Association Handled Over Twenty Thousand Dollars

More than twenty thousand dollars were handled by the Student Association 1951-1955, President Jimmy Ray McKinney announced the student body in chapel on May 15.

He told the members that the year the Student Association was in business. Not many dollars had been spent on social affairs, in fact all of it had been used to maintain the College. The great subsidies the three student publications, develop the new student park, maintain the club program operating nearly four clubs, maintain the project of the two college clubs and care for administrative costs.

This year the Student Association possible for more individual grants and for students who devote so much amount of time to the direction of organization.

The year all budget for the Student Association is conducted by a budget committee headed by resolution treasurer Norman Tuley, an economics major from Warton Park. Funds the budget is conducted by the student senate and submitted to each of the three Student Association forums for discussion and approval.

Each student this year has been allowed $7.50 by vote of the Student Association additional income, has been made by way of benefit programs and campaigns.

For 1955-1956 the new budget committee under the chairmanship of R. R. Addison, an economics sophomore from Durham, North Carolina, has proposed a budget providing for new campaigns and a reduced number of programs. The plan a Student Association for next year will be $4.50 per semester. The budget was approved by the Student Association forum, but will after procedure that Dean Kinney's chapel address, May 16.

The amounts of the various student organizations are included by members of the faculty and supervised by the association of student activities and the business manager of the college. The planning, budgeting and financial direction is exercised in the various student committees and records and stored by the student body as a whole.

The lamps of learning are ever burning in the A. C. Daniels Memorial Library.

The last year seniors with their wives from left to right beginning with the front row, are: Matine Echols, Mabel Howard, Ann Maxwell, Aylene Dufreneau, Nonnie Lou Sankers, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Greenleaf, Mrs. and Mr. John Karna, Lu Lane, and Leola Wiles (with graduating); Mrs. and Mr. E. J. Collier, Mrs. and Mr. Leonard Stokien, Mrs. and Mr. Ruben Ammons, Harba and Ted Doolittle (both graduating); Mrs. and Mr. John Piler, Mrs. and Mr. John Oliver, Mrs. and Mr. William Hagan, and Mrs. George Foster, Gladys Foster and husband, Mrs. and Mr. Roger Christiansen, Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander (from inside); Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones (with graduating); Mrs. and Mr. Paul Henderson, Mrs. and Mr. William T. Bushmaster, Mrs. and Mr. Carl Brown, Mrs. and Mr. Robert Dickschick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. Valerius Scherer (commencement leaders); Norman Gentry, Orlan (with graduation); Russell Rich, Frank McMillan, Silas Alvarez, James Grant, Buckner Sheppard, Gladys Smart, Ferdinand Wittke, Dean Dewey James, Ray McKinney (commencement leader); Mark Leide, Adolpho Amedeo, Peter Reed, Donald Frazier.

THE SOUTHERN ACCEPT

VOLUME 10

Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, August, 1955

Number 14

A Message from the President...

John Ruskien is the author of one of the most quoted observations on education. He said: "Education doesn't mean teaching people to know what they do not know. It means teaching them to believe as they do not believe." We can agree with Mr. Ruskien but I believe another pertinent thought could be added, for it is not enough to teach students how to behave. There are many people who get into trouble even though they know better. To me the most essential thing that any young person can learn is self-discipline and to learn to want to behave.

A wise man is supposed to have said that reputation is what a man brings to a place and character is what he takes away. Southern Missionary College is referred to as "The School of Standards" and a training and proving ground for character building. It takes to me that character is catching and I believe that every student should come to Southern Missionary College with a firm desire to develop his own character in the right lines and that his influence will lead others, who have had less advantage to date, on the upward way.

The summer is more than half spent and all eyes are now directed toward September and the new school year. New things are always interesting—a new baby, new purpurs, a new book, a new car, yes, even a new pair of shoes being thralls in varying intensity.

(Continued on page 2)

Dr. Thomas W. Walters Elected SMC Dean Hammill Accepts General Conference Post

Dean of Three Years Will Become Associate Education Secretary in General Conf.

Dr. Richard Hammill, dean of Southern Missionary College for the last three years, has accepted a call to the education department of the General Conference. He is scheduled to take on his duties there in August and will be in the office served by Dr. Keld Reynolds who is now dean of faculties at the College of Medical Evangelists.

Dr. Hammill's experience in ministerial and educational work began in 1936 when he graduated from Walla Walla College and entered the Washington conference as a ministerial intern. He performed pastoral and evangelistic services until 1940 when he accepted a call to the Mayday Union. He served as an evangelist in Touraine, Annam, a central province in French Indo-China. When the Japanese invaded that area early in World War II, he was transferred to the Philippine Union where he was the general missionary and Sabbath school secretary.

The center of the United States into the war and the resulting Japanese occupation of the islands caused the retirement of Dr. Hammill and his family first in the Santa Teresa prison camp and then in Los Banos camp in Luzon. After his release, Dr. Hammill resumed his studies at the Theological Seminary, graduating with a master's degree in Biblical languages. In 1946 he connected with Southern Missionary College. During a two year leave of absence from 1948-50 he completed his doctorate in the field of Old Testament Literature at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Hammill was elected dean at Southern Missionary College in the spring of 1952 when Dr. Ruth Hanson was called to be the dean at Eastern Missionary College.

In his new position, Dr. Hammill will serve as the editor of the Journal of The Educationist and as a consulting editor of the Youth's Instructor. He will also serve to consult for denominational boards and the general council on all policies and procedures, and will work with the educational secretaries of the world divisions on educational surveys and accreditation problems.

Dr. Thomas W. Walters

New Dean Has Doctor of Education Degree - Major in School Administration

Dr. Thomas W. Walters has been elected by the college board to serve as the incoming dean at Southern Missionary College.

A graduate of Walla Walla College in 1936, Dr. Walters has been in educational work most of the time since graduation. He spent four years as dean of boys and 19 as years as a teacher in history and Bible at Laureate Academy, Gaston, Oregon. In 1949 he was elected principal of Glen Star Academy, Caldwell, Idaho.

After three years in Glen Star Academy, he was recalled to Laureate to serve as principal. During the six years he was principal at Laureate the academy plant was greatly enlarged to the extent that it became the largest secondary boarding school in the denomination.

During an extended leave of absence in 1949-1950, he pursued graduate studies at Lehigh Standard University, receiving the Master of Arts degree in School Administration in 1950.

In the summer of 1950 he accepted a call to become educational secretary of the Washington Conference, where he has served until this year. He has also served conference secretary of the Washington Conference, he often counseled with several persons during a tour out for Korea and the Far East through the Seattle Port of Embarkation.

Having completed his dissertation in the winter of 1954, his Doctor of Education in School Administration was conferred by the Lehigh Standard University this spring.

Dr. and Mrs. Walters are the parents of two sons, both of whom will be freshmen this coming year, one in the college and one in the academy.

Summer School Graduation On August 11

Five degrees and three professional degrees will be honored at graduation exercises Thursday evening, August 11. A high degree senior will be graduated in dentistry. The guest speaker for the summer session will be B. Hassenpflug, evangelist for the Southern Union.

Seniors who will have degrees conferred upon them are Mrs. Emma Beardsley, with a home economics major, Mrs. Elizabeth Carraway with a major in teaching education, Mrs. Maryann Jensen with a chemistry major, Silvio Alvarez with an industrial arts major, and Mrs. Homer with a major in elementary education.

The three professional seniors who will all receive a two year teacher training certificate are Mrs. Medford, Evelyn Colpepper and Mrs. Reba Crutcher.

The summer graduates, who are now being organized in a class or recited class officers: Mable Howard, however, has been chosen to act as chairman in making arrangements for the summer graduating exercises.

Elder B. L. Hassenpflug, Week End of Prayer Speaker.

B. L. Hassenpflug Conducts Week End of Prayer; Urges Christ-centered Life

The annual summer week end of prayer emphasis was held at the academy July 14-16. Elder B. L. Hassenpflug, evangelist for the Southern Union, was the guest speaker.

Speaking in a special chapel session which had been transferred from Wednesday evening to Thursday evening, Elder Hassenpflug levered his stress of talks. He pointed out that Christ should be the focal point for all the activities of a Christian. He urged his listeners to make a complete surrender to the ideals of Christian standards.

Finding room in the Missionary Volunteer vesper services, Elder Hassenpflug utilized colored slides to continue his theme of making Christ the center of a Christian's life. Sabbath morning he asked his listeners for a complete consecration to the Word of God. His conclusion by having a standing call for those who would make the step.

Teacher Workshop Planned in August

A workshop that will provide an opportunity for teachers to be oriented for the teaching job will be offered by Southern Missionary College for the first time this summer. The workshop is to be conducted at the college August 10-11.

The course will give two semester hours of credit in Organization and Administration of the Elementary School. Experience will be provided in making lesson plans for daily, weekly, monthly periods will be devoted to problems that occur early in the school year. Discipline, parent teacher relationships, programs, projects and Missionary Volunteer work will be only a part of the activities.

Educational secretaries will meet with the groups to help the teachers (Continued on page 2)

Summer Session Attended By 118 Students

If you should visit the campus of Southern Missionary College just now, you would find 118 students who are earnestly seeking that type of education which the world cannot give—the type that prepares for service to God and man.

We do not boast the largest summer school enrollment in the history of SMC, but we do feel that we have a very fine group of students this summer, all of whom are eager to learn. The summer school group is composed largely of the church school teachers in the Southern Union. We are glad they can be with us. Their enthusiasm for their studies is contagious and is greatly passed on to others not included in their profession.

The courses that are offered at SMC during the summer months are carefully planned, so as to meet the needs of all. The church school teachers are given particular attention. Mrs. Nelson is a class in Arts and Crafts is among the most popular offered mainly for teachers.

Professor Tobiasen has the largest enrollment in his Pivotal Epistles class. Another Bible class that is always popular on the campus of SMC is Teachings of Jesus. This summer Elder B. Hassenpflug has the second largest enrollment in any particular class in Teachings of Jesus.

We do not have as many students (Continued on page 2)

Summer Graduates: Mable Howard, Maryann Jensen, Lynda Medford, Emma Beardsley, Reba Crutcher, Elizabeth Carraway, Nell Peterson, Ted Durich, Silvio Alvarez, Evelyn Colpepper.

THE SOUTHERN ACCENT

Published biweekly except for Christmas and spring vacation during the school year, and issued during the summer. It is published by Southern Missionary College, Columbia, Tennessee, at the Post Office at Collegedale, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress, August 2, 1947, entitled "THE SOUTHERN ACCENT," No. 275, 1947. Domestic subscription price $2.00 per year; foreign rate $2.25 per year.

APPOINTED EDITOR: David Meredith
ASSOCIATE EDITOR: John A. Austerman
CONTRIBUTORS: Margaret Hines
Kathryn Wooley
Kenny Wirt

BUSINESS MANAGER: Walter Wade
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Glen McColpin
EDITOR: Kenneth A. Wright
LIT. ED.: John H. Johnson
L. B. Hines

Revelations of an Honor Roll

The honor roll for the second semester has been recently released by the registrar's office. It lists all the students who have a grade point average of 2.0 or a "B" average. A study of the names on the list can reveal several interesting facts. One hundred and one students made the honor roll for the second semester while there were 97 on the list for the first semester. Fifty-one students have appeared on the honor roll for both semesters. There were 40 on the list who were not on the honor roll for the first semester. There were 69 men listed for the second semester compared with 32 women on the roll.

There are also many facts about an honor roll that are not revealed in just a list of names. For some there exists a natural ability for certain subjects and to be listed on the honor roll usually does not denote any special effort. For many it has been only through long hours of study coupled with determination and grit to master a subject that their names are on the list. An honor roll cannot reveal or compare the amount of effort used by an individual in making the grade. This latter group of students especially should be congratulated.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE (Continued from page 1)

The new college year of 1955-'56 should and can be the best in the history of the college here in our valley. Unfortunately, there are a few students who will return to the campus on a scholarship probation. This means, of course, that they must study harder this year than they did last if they are to continue their work on the campus. Occasionally a student who has not done his best the year before regains with another type of probation. However, the large majority of former students add all new ones with a clean, white page.

Why do students come to Southern Missionary College? If you are a new student, try writing down a list of your objectives. Are they honestly of the type which you can ask God to grant and burn into its way into my thinking which said: "Live today as most people plan to live tomorrow." Regardless of the past, we invite you to come to Southern Missionary College this fall and start anew. Take Jesus as your friend, counselor, and guide and make the Philippines a reality. It was Kant, the German philosopher, who said: "A man ought to live in such a way that all men might follow his example." What a wonderful place Southern Missionary College would be if every student, teacher, and worker would make it his goal to live such a life.

We shall be looking for you on September 12 when you will enroll in the college that endeavors to make "character catching."

KENNETH A. WRIGHT, President

Wedding Bells

Compiled by JULE AUSTERMANN

The following SMC students have been married this spring and summer. The ACPAF staff wishes to congratulate these individuals and wish them a lifetime of happiness.

Murdal Adler	John Baker	June 12
Donna Weber	Jack Bohannon	May 31
Billicie Kelly	Paul Bordick	June 12
Thelma Harper	Fernando Cardona	June 1
Pat Welch	David Chapman	June 5
Alcen Wilson	Johny Cooper	July 4
Shirley Stacks	Jerry Cody	June 7
Dorothy Mull	Tom Davs	May 29
Laura Montoya	Alfonso del Aguila	June 12
Athene Deaton	Homer Dever	July 21
Gilda McNelly	James Haney	May 29
June Tompkins	Howard Kennedy	May 29
Joan Mayer	J. C. Linebaugh	June 1
Lynn Von Poble	Delvin Littell	June 26
Jeanne Graves	Jimmy Lynn	March 27
Lola Marie Webb	Glen McColpin	June 17
Kathy Mitchell	Alvin Ringer	June 5
Florence Rozelle	Grady Smoot	May 30
Melba Colpepper	Paul Tullock	February 13
Carolyn Haynes	Olavi Weir	June 12

SMC MV Sponsors Popular Sundown Meditation Program

The Collegedale Masonry Volunteer Society has been conducting the Sabbath evening sundown worship service at Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee.

Sundown Meditations by the MV officers, a devotional program of songs, music and prayer is presented each week. Under the direct supervision of Lydia Mulford, the student associate-nursery school leader, the worship program has proven to be increasingly popular. The typical program will last around a half hour in length. Usually there are two vocal selections and one instrumental number. These are interspersed with a scripture and a poem or Spirit of Prophecy selection related to the central theme. A student speaker presents a few thoughts, usually for ten or fifteen minutes long, on the evening's topic. Student speakers this summer have been James Ray, McKennan, Richard Shepard, Janet Daniels, Peter Waite, John Botsford and Mike Kalish. Organ music is provided by the SMC choir, John Lane, and either the MV choir, Delores Mathe or Joyn Lynn, accompanying the instrumental and vocal music.

The MV officers feel that attendance at the sundown meditations program has been very satisfactory. There has always been a minimum of 150 present and occasionally it surpasses the 250 mark.

An honest politician keeps cool by sticking to cold facts.

KENNY'S KORNER

By KENNY WYNN

Buzz, Buzz, Buzz. Say, buddy, you once tell me what all of the noise is about in your dorm. I had a letter turned into an aerial testing ground. What's that? You say that the noise you hear is being studied and you need a new coat of varnish? I'll bet the fellows that sound there next year will really be proud of that. They may even be well enough to keep their sheets clean.

Could anyone tell me where the sum of pi is coming from? Oh, you say that the rooms on second and third are getting a new coat of paint too? Now I know that the fellows will want to keep them looking nice.

As I was coming into the dorm the other day I noticed that the north end of first floor hall is getting a new life support. I for one will really appreciate this—I live on that end of the dorm.

As you who have been to summer school in the past know, there is not too much time to do anything but study. At least that is what some of the boys who are taking physics this summer told me.

Last Friday I looked at all of us were going to have several more fellows in the dorm for the summer. But it turned out that it was only seven.

SUMMER WORKSHOP

(Continued from page 1) with an understanding of reports to parents, the conference, and cites. The salary and other financial benefits of the Southern Union will be explained. Guidance will be given for professional growth while reaching. Conference and church relationships will be dealt with. Book lists will be available and the ordering of supplies will be explained.

There will be time for recreation and some relaxation. The workshop will be the first year teachers and students out a good strong program from the start of the school year.

Conference secretaries, specialists in mental, reading, school organization and administration will give instruction. Laboratory classes, problem discussion group and group projects will be part of the full two weeks of the summer workshop.

KATHRYN'S COLUMN

By KATHRYN WOOLEY

Hi, Y'all.

No doubt you would like to know what is happening around here. James Hall during the summer. All week every evening some type of recreation is provided. Students are not taking classes. These of us taking school work enjoy the Lyceum program, Saturday morning school. The music was enjoyed by all on July 11.

On Sunday evening, July 10, the girls of Madeira Jones Hall held to the Student Party for the evening worship hour. After worship a delicious party was enjoyed by all.

Janet Daniels has, over the past two years, been receiving some anonymous gifts signed "your secret pal." Her detective tactics are a lot better, so someone please "keep up."

Lynda Mulford will be leaving us at the close of summer school to return home to England. Next year she will be teaching in the elementary school at Newbold Missionary College. We have enjoyed having you with us during the past two years. Good luck and wish for you every success in the future.

Excuse it me needed in Madeira Jones Hall. At seven o'clock each morning, Pauline Searles favors her neighbors with early morning melodics over her accordion.

As usual musical talent abounds in our dormitory. Lettie and Jane James have favored us a number times with their vocal duets. Artists of the party are Joyn Lynn, Delores Mathe, Nora Padgett, and Helen Allisted. Vocal ability has been demonstrated by Betty Johnson, Joyce Weltman, and Winona Schrick.

Miss Irma Jean Kuptake, acting dean of women for the school, has been planning to be absent to receive an honorary degree. Her absence will have been most unusual and inspiring. She has spent much time in preparation for her exciting worship periods. It seems that when Frances Clark, a better known as Clark, tries to look up her class these days can't find her. She is in Clark, but not through the air to find relief in your serene gaze.

Virginia Henderson just doesn't seem to understand how to be a preschooler. She woke up in the morning in a good mood. Perhaps Lorraine Penner and James Lambert, two of our dormitory enthusiasts ("72 could go for one more).

The elementary school has been kept amazingly clean, thanks to the good work of Janette Hostetter, Barbara Harris, Beatrix Konorsch, and Antonette Danes.

Times is quite a popular sport among us girls. The game is played on the gym by the girls. The team is headed by the team captain, Margaret Steem, Lynda Mulford, Coosie Beale, Mary Matthews, Ann Maxwell, Bertha Kingsbury, Tote Emme, Lorraine Penner, and Joyn Lambert. Summer school and its activities are in sight, but we like to see you look forward to the fall term when we shall renew our acquaintances and make new ones. See you next fall!

SUMMER SCHOOL

(Continued from page 1)

enthusiasts during the summer as well as the regular school year. However, the course in Psychology, Dr. Gaskill's psychology class is proving to be very interesting.

Psychology graduate students are also studying the nature of the summer. One student informed me the other day that she really dislikes the summer. She said that she would be content to be maybe that will be a privilege to some others who attend the summer school.

Southern Missionary College is proud a new teacher to its faculty this year. This season, James Ray, Ed Brubaker, and Ken Kenney have been assigned as instructors in chemistry while waiting for the fall term to start at Leesville. He teaches Survey of Chemistry and Food Chemistry.

Mr. Kuhlman is leaving teaching Field Biology, Anatomy and Physiology 18. Students relate that they enjoy his classes very much. These courses are not new, but with a determination to succeed, and with time well spent, one can learn to like the natural sciences as much as any other courses in the curriculum. It is a privilege to be under the direction of Mr. Kuhlman that many a student has found themselves so interested in the subject that a contribution to make to the welfare of mankind.

Dr. Linton says that his class is small, but composed of a group of students who are not only willing to do extra work, but are willing to do it. Mr. McMurphy is teaching English and literature classes this summer, and Mr. McMurphy is studying students in the fall.

During the summer, students find that if they need assistance, it is much easier for an instructor to give more individual assistance to students. The students of the SMC may, at any time, but especially true during the summer.

GRADUATES ORDAINED
Reports from the various camp meetings in the Southern Union show that so far this summer, two more have been ordained. One is the ministry Raymond Wooley, 30 years of age, and the other is the ministry of H. L. Linton, 34 years of age. Both were ordained during the Alabama-Mississippi camp meeting.

Chapel Conducted During Summer

Chapel sessions is conducted every Wednesday during the summer term. The speakers, so far, have been Richard H. Beck, L. E. Wolf, H. H. Kenney, North A. Wright, L. K. Johnson, and Stanley D. Bruns, at that order. Dr. Adrian Lutzman was the speaker on July 27. Pastor Horace R. Bunker is in charge on August 3. The Friday voice speakers this summer have been Kenneth A. Wright, Henry E. Beck, L. E. Wolf, L. K. Johnson, Horace R. Beckner, B. L. Hesserling, and Adrian Lutzman. The future voice speakers will include Richard Hamblin, Manning and group meetings are conducted on the residence halls under the chairmanship of the dormitory deans.

SUMMER SCHOOL ROSTER

Azevedo, Juan
 Adams, Robert
 Allen, Edith
 Alford, Helen
 Alvarez, Siles
 Anderson, Florence
 Armstrong, J. S.
 Baker, John
 Baker, Myrdal
 Balle, Constance
 Benjamin, Mary E.
 Bennett, Bernice
 Bethlen, Don
 Bessard, John
 Blevins, Thomas
 Blodgett, Emma Bokich, Peggy
 Bunker, Fred
 Casavien, Elizabeth
 Caudill, Carole
 Calkins, Arnold
 Clark, Frances
 Cochran, Babe
 Clayton, Doris Cramwell, James
 Crippen, Evelyn
 Danner, Arnette
 Dickinson, Ruth
 Drexler, Ann
 East, Robert
 Ellis, Charlotte
 Feltz, Abigail
 Finch, Charles
 Fisher, Pauline
 Fish, Roy
 Garrison, Leaphane
 Gales, Paul
 Godwin, Katherine
 Grooms, Shirley
 Gullick, Jack
 Guffey, John
 Hall, David
 Hallway, Marie
 Komer, Shelby
 Harrison, John
 Harwood, Virginia
 Hill, Vienna
 Hines, Lois
 Howard, Noble
 Kyles, Ella
 Lemaire, Jean
 Lester, Scobie
 Linton, Betty
 Lister, Virginia
 Johnson, Joyce
 Johnson, Harold
 Jones, William
 Kingston, John
 Knapberger, Barbara

King, Dean
 Knepp, Maxwell
 Lambert, Isaac
 Lewis, Frances
 Lewis, Betty
 Lick, Alice
 Lintsbach, J. C.
 Linn, Mary
 Linscomb, John
 Linn, Ann
 Longquist, Mary Lou
 Lyons, Inez
 Mann, Leatrice
 Mann, Leatrice
 Lyell, Eva
 McCall, Jean
 McCallum, Ann
 McDowell, Irene
 Neillinger, Harold
 Moore, Sheila
 Moore, Shirley
 Mulford, Lynda
 Nelson, Myra
 O'Day, Pat
 Palmer, Lorraine
 Pappert, Maurine
 Peeler, Louis
 Peters, Wanda
 Potts, Marjorie
 Reed, Irene
 Rhoads, Mary
 Rife, Mary G.
 Sanchez, Manuel
 Sargent, George
 Smith, Barbara
 Soles, Richard
 Soles, Harold Soles, Helen Soles, Mary G.
 Schwan, Arne
 Seaman, Virginia
 Shook, Barbara
 Smith, Virginia
 Smith, Gentry
 Smith, Gentry
 Snow, Marjorie
 Snow, Diner
 Sorey, Mary
 Tink, Maurice
 Van Housen, Margaret
 Voss, Frances
 Voss, William
 Work, Walter
 Wacker, Loretta
 Wise, Harold Walman, Inez
 Wank, Jean
 Whitener, Winona
 Wooley, Katherine
 Workman, Ralph
 Workman, Dorothy

Georgia-Cumberland Student Literature Evangelists Hold Week-End Rally at SMC

A special meeting for all the student evangelists of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference was held in Collegeville, the week end of July 22-24. Conference and Union workers here in the study workshop were Eric Ritten, publishing secretary of the Southern Union, W. L. Crutson, S. R. Mall and Harold Meerman.

In the Sabbath morning service Elder Ritten preached in his sermon a survey of the growth of the publishing work of the 15-week-day Adventist in the last 30 years. He pointed out $20,000,000 worth of literature was distributed. In the second 30 year period when the literature was sold, the amount distributed amounted to $100,000,000. In the third 30 year period the amount sold amounted to $100,000,000.

During the fourth half 30 year period over $100,000,000 of literature was distributed. On a world-wide basis this figure is repeated every 10 years. Elder Ritten stated that in the Southern Union alone it is expected that $2,000,000 worth of literature will be sold this year.

During the service the speaker also pointed out that the church literature program and the church evangelism in hand the literature work. Elder Ritten presented, in a moving program and the evangelist work is a harvesting program.

Experiences of the student literature evangelists were related in an afternoon panel program. Student speakers were Herman Bauman, John Bostwick and Mike Kibbold. Sunday morning a sales workshop was conducted and in the afternoon a softball team of student bookmen played a game with other students from the summer school and institutes.

Georgia-Cumberland student literature evangelists with publishing department associates.

Regulations Revised For Older Students Regarding Social Privileges

New regulations governing chaperoning and mixed group travel have been issued by the President's Council and the Dean's Council on Government, with modifications from the Faculty Senate. The new rules have been under study by students and faculty members for several months. They are outlined in the 1955 edition of SMC and You.

A student who is above 20 (women students need only to have passed 100) or who is an upper classman, who has a satisfactory citizenship grade, who has a scholastic grade point average of at least 1.00, and who has demonstrated his adherence to Adventist ideals of social conduct, can be entered on the Dean's List of Students Excluded in Particular Privileges. A wide range of social opportunities is extended to these students that to non-registers and to students who do not fully demonstrate social maturity. The students on the Dean's List may during daylight hours go off the campus for shopping, or to concerts, without chaperones. They may travel on trips without chaperones. They may take to religious services and they may use private cars to parties on the campus without special chaperones. A woman student on this Dean's List may serve as chaperone for younger students.

The new edition of the student social handbook has been edited under the direction of Dean Richard Hamrell. Associated with him as de facto editor of the new regulations have been John Bottford and Joan Hedgcock, representatives of the Men's and Women's Forums; Joan Asherman, chairman of the Student Committee on Social Activities; Principal W. H. Higgins; Professor E. C. Banks and Leif K. Tobiasson, and two residence hall deans, Max Edna Stoenberger and Phyllis E. Edwards.

Ellen G. White's counsel concerning social regulations in Adventist College Life has not all students should be treated alike, age and maturity should be taken into account. The idea of stipulating particular privileges for students of high standing originated in the Student Committee on Social Education in a joint session with the corresponding faculty committee. A comparative study of regulations now in force in other North American colleges, Adventist and non-Adventist, were made. Reports were received from administrators in several sister colleges; they were analyzed in the light of Ellen G. White's instructions to students, parents and teachers regarding social conduct. The new rules will place a greater premium on good citizenship and widen the student's freedom of choice.

Miss Inez Jean Kopeckie, secretary of admissions, assisted by Margaret Hugdon, is busy making the new SMC and You to all who have been accepted for enrollment.

SMC ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS ATTEND BOULDER CONVENTION

President Wright, Dean Wilbers and the residence hall deans, Max Stoenberger and Elder Edwards, are attending the educational administrative conference at Boulder, Colorado, the last two weeks of July. Some of these college officers are taking their vacation in connection with the trip to Colorado in their absence Professor Leif K. Tobiasson is acting as dean while Inez Jean Kopeckie is in charge of Madeleine Jones Hill and Bill Ford, Wirtzie of Tallie Hill. While the Committee on Admissions is continuously at work during the summer, the President's Council and the Dean's Council on Government are continuing their agendas. The Finance Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Charles Fleming, Jr. meets every week to plan for next year's student employment in the various industries and departments.

Chapel and Academy Division Sabbath School Officers: Inez Hill, Assessor, academy co-supervisor, John Deann, chapel division superintendent, Pat O'Day, chapel division associate superintendent.

Chapel and Academy Sabbath Schools Hold Joint Meetings During Summer

Richard Forrester Chosen as Physical Education Teacher

Southern Missionary College is fortunate to secure the services of Richard Forrester for the past 4 years has served as assistant to Professor Napier, the head of Physical Education at La Sierra.

Recently he prepared a syllabus for inter-natal retreats in Seventh-day Adventist schools. Mr. Forrester visited SMC recently on his return trip from the Officers Medical Cadet School at Grandfield, Michigan.

524 College Students Accepted for SMC This Fall; Increase Over Year Ago

Watrous Granted Fellowship

Everett T. Watrous, assistant professor of history who has been granted an extension on his leave of absence, has recently been granted a teaching assistantship at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. The fellowship in the university's department of curriculums and instruction. Listing half a year, the fellowship will extend from the July to next January.

Professor Watrous is scheduled to complete his class work for his doctorate in August. He has tentatively selected his dissertation topic as "A Study of Teacher Education Needs of Adventist Elementary and Secondary Schools in the Southern Union." This should be completed, Professor Watrous believes, by next June when he plans to receive his Ph.D. degree.

ANNUAL SUMMER PICNIC FEATURES SOFTBALL, SWIMMING

The annual summer picnic for all SMC workers and students was held Monday, July 11. The picnic consisted of two phases, one on and the other off the campus.

The morning's schedule featured two softball games, one for women and one for men. Roland Stone's team and Bob Johnson captured the men's softball game with Roland Stone's team coming out the victor.

A typical picnic dinner of swalloped pork, sliced hamsteak, swalloped corn, mac and cheese salad and completed with cherry pie and ice cream was served at the new picnic area near the new quarry.

In the afternoon all the picnickers were transported to the Harrison Bay swimming pool where water games, swimming and diving in T.V.A. fed water were enjoyed in the cool of the picnic day.

The Chapel Division and Academy Division of the Sabbath School have been meeting together during the summer months. The officers of the two divisions alternate every second in conducting the meetings. The classes, however, meet as Academy classes and Chapel Division classes. Superintendents for the Chapel Division are Julie Brown Her associate, are Shirley Gody and Paul O'Day. Inez Asherman and Clydes Anderson are serving as the secretaries for the division.

Julie Asherman and Barbara Skyles are the co-supervisors for the Academy Division. Assistant superintendents are Sara Heman and Donald Gray. Mrs. Gray is the academy secretary and Amy Bushnell is the assistant secretary.

So far, 524 college students have been accepted for the new academic year beginning on September 12. Twelve months ago the accepted enrollment figure was 494. Many more applications have been received but have not been accepted, but a greater number will in process. Faculty referentials are being sought and transcripts from the secondary schools are collected and financial statements must be made before an acceptance is voted by the Committee on Admissions. Dean Richard Hamrell and Professor Leif K. Tobiasson are serving as chairman of this panel. Mrs. Elva B. Gardner and Miss Lois Jean Kopeckie are the secretaries. Other members include Professor H. E. Lintsbach, P. J. Hour, H. H. Kibbold, W. B. Hugdon and D. L. W. Jones. The two residence hall deans, Inez Stoenberger and Max Edna Stoenberger, also meet with this important committee.

160 APARTMENTS AVAILABLE TO SMC MARRIED STUDENTS

One hundred college apartments, including trailers, are ready for married students at Southern Missionary College the coming year. In addition, 60 or more apartments are available privately in the Collegeville area. The apartments are available for $15 to $20 per month, although the rates vary according to the size and quality of the apartments. Some apartments are furnished.

swimming pool where water games, swimming and diving in T.V.A. fed water were enjoyed in the cool of the picnic day.